UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL
ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 15

THE LIBRARY OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

December, 1931

To the Association

DEAR FELLOW MEMBERS:

As soon as one American Library Association meeting has passed we begin anticipating the next and so, already, we Louisiana librarians are looking forward to welcoming you to New Orleans next April. We hope to make you share our enthusiasm for the fascination and charm of this French city. We are already making plans for the Illinois Library School reunion and dinner and hope that many of you will be with us.

Among the different items of business discussed at the New Haven meeting last spring the one which particularly aroused my attention was that out of an alumni body of 1200, there are only 306 members of this Association. One hundred and eighty-four of these are life members, and only 122 others have paid annual dues during 1930-31! This statement struck me with such force that it seemed to me as if this was the first time I had heard this appalling fact. As I have recently re-read the files of News Letters for the past eight years, however, I see that this matter has been emphasized in each issue and the minutes indicate that it has been discussed at every annual meeting. In spite of the fact that I never miss reading a word of the News Letter and have attended five annual meetings in the last six years, I am just becoming aroused to the significance of this fact. In hoping to increase our list of members this year, I am relying on the fact that perhaps you, too, may be as slow as I in realizing how many have not paid dues; that if you are one who has neglected this, you will send your check to Miss Houchens at once; that if you are paying annual dues, you may decide to increase this to a life membership; and that if you are one of us who are already life members you will make it your responsibility to solicit memberships among your friends. Let's all pay our dues in this year of 1931 A.D. (Do you know that A.D. now means "After Depression"?)

As you all know, the annual membership fee is $1.00. Can't every one who is not a life member afford this amount? And hasn't the training which you received at the Library School been worth a dollar a year to you? Of course it has! Then send your check. Income from these dues is used for current expenses, the expense of the News Letters and loans to worthy students.

In 1927 the Constitution was amended to provide for life memberships at $25 each, to be paid in a lump sum or at the rate of $5.00 for five years. That's easy, isn't it? The principal derived from this source is to be kept inviolate, the interest on the money to be used for scholarships. From the first it was thought that two hundred such memberships would have to be secured before interest on the sum would warrant issuing a scholarship. For five years we have been striving at the goal of two hundred life members. There are now 184—still sixteen short of the goal. However, with some gifts and interest the fund now amounts to a little over $5,000.00. We want to start issuing a scholarship just as soon as the income will be large enough to warrant it.

I am hoping to have an active campaign for memberships soon after the first of the year, so if you are not a member now, and don't send in a check within the next few weeks, don't be surprised at getting some friendly solicitations for dues in this Association. There has been a suggestion of limiting the circulation of the News Letter to members of the Association in order to cut expenses. We dislike doing this unless necessary, however, as we feel sure that all former members of the School would like to continue receiving the letter as you are doing now. If so, won't you bear your share of the expense?

I am counting on each of you to help make this a successful year in the history of the Association.

Most sincerely,

LOIS F. SHORTESS,
President

ALUMNI MEETING AT NEW HAVEN

The Association held its annual dinner and meeting in the Palm Room of the Hotel Taft, on June 24, 1931. There were one hundred and fifteen alumni present, almost every class having at least one representative. Miss Fehrenkamp, President of the Association, was unable to be present, so the First Vice President, Mr. Ayers, presided.

A report on the Endowment Fund was given by Mr. Cleavinger, who spoke of the fact that it had been over five years since we had started a drive to obtain two hundred life members so that we might establish at least one scholarship for the school. Only one hundred and eighty-four people had taken these memberships out of an alumni body of over twelve hundred. The original goal was set at five thousand dollars, but conditions had changed of late and safe investments brought lower rates of interest. It now seemed very desirable to increase the capital sum if possible, so that the amount offered for the scholarship would be at least three hundred dollars. He urged the alumni to join as life members as rapidly as possible so that the granting of the first award would not be deferred too long.

Miss Boyd then told of the very successful appeal of the committee appointed to solicit a gift for Miss Simpson on her retirement. There was only one letter sent out and the response was so spontaneous and generous that the committee was able to present her with a check for eleven hundred and eighty dollars, to use on her trip around the world. The alumni in Champaign and Urbana arranged a dinner for her about commencement time, to which the alumni in the state were invited. Quite a number of them came and this occasion was chosen for the presentation of the alumni gift so that she could use it in making plans for her trip. The present was a complete surprise to her and she was quite overcome on receiving it. Miss Boyd then read the following letter from Miss Simpson:

Since it is manifestly quite impossible for me to send personal letters to several hundred Illinois Library School alumni, I am forced to use this method of conveying to my friends and fellow alumni a message of sincere appreciation and profound gratitude for the many expressions of affectionate interest which I have received during the past few weeks. In particular may I take this opportunity of acknowledging most gratefully and most humbly the generous words of recognition as well as the concrete expression in the form of a very liberal check, which, it was suggested, I might find useful in carrying out my cherished plans for this coming twelve months.

This letter is harder to write than I had anticipated. Words fail me! Surely no school ever had a more generous and loyal body of students. I wish I could believe that I have merited half of what my friends have said about me. My own feeling is that my work itself has been such a joy that it could easily have been its own reward.

I bespeak the continued loyal interest of the alumni and former students in the success of our school; if the one who follows me has half as good a time as I have enjoyed, she is to be envied, for the work itself has been most interesting and delightful.

As I go on my various pilgrimages this coming year, there will be numerous occasions when I shall say to myself, "I could not have done this if it had not been for those generous, loyal people." Will you please thank them all for me most sincerely.

Faithfully yours,

FRANCES SIMPSON.

The report of the Secretary-Treasurer was read and accepted. The alumni were urged to join the Association, either as life members or as annual members. It was explained that the funds from the dollar annual memberships were used to defray the expenses of the News Letter, and also to lend money to students who would be unable to finish their year without help. There were always three or four such loans out and sometimes more applications than could be taken care of.

Mr. Stone then presented the report of the nominating committee and the slate was elected by unanimous ballot.

After the reports, both Miss Ahern and Mr. Strohm gave delightful short talks in which they spoke of their affection for the school, their appreciation of the work it has done and their hope for the future of Librarianship in the readjustment through which the country is passing. Mr. Windsor then told about the new President of the University, Harry Woodburn Chase, and of the many changes which he has proposed or welcomed which would undoubtedly affect the school. The retirement of Miss Simpson and the appointment of a new assistant director would also be a factor in bringing about changes. He then introduced Miss Amelia Krieg, who had just been appointed to succeed Miss Simpson. Miss Krieg, as a former president, and always a loyal and generous worker for the school, needed no introduction to most of the alumni present.

Secretary-Treasurer

SCHOOL NEWS

The school opened this fall with a registration of 106 in the first year class, and 50 in the graduate school.

There was an unusual number of changes on the faculty. Miss Simpson retired as Assistant Director and became a Professor Emeritus of the University, and Miss Amelia Krieg, one of our own alumni, was appointed to fill her place. Miss Krieg received her A.B. in 1917, and B.L.S. in 1920, from the University of Illinois. In 1923 she received an A.M. also from the University. She was for several years Librarian of the Departmental Library for Romance Languages at the University of Illinois. After that she was Cataloger for the Society of Western Engineers Library in Chicago until 1925, when she went to the University of Iowa Library, as Superintendent of the Catalog Department.

Miss Anna P. Durand, for several years instructor in Reference, resigned to become Assistant Professor of Bibliography at the Carnegie Library School at Pittsburgh.

Miss Rose B. Phelps, an instructor in the School in 1928-29, returned to a position on the faculty. She was granted a Carnegie fellowship in 1929 and took her A.M. degree from Columbia University in 1930. Since then she has been Supervisor of Branch Reference work at the Queensborough Public Library, Jamaica, New York.

Miss Florinell Francis has been appointed instructor in Cataloging. She received her A.B. degree from the University of California in 1925, and her A.M. degree in 1930. She has, for several years, been in charge of the Cataloging at the North Texas State Teacher's College, Denton, Texas.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

Extracts from the unofficial correspondence of Frances Simpson, traveler-at-large:

August 28, San Francisco

The fatal day has dawned and I am beginning to feel like a sure enough traveler. Sailing from Los Angeles seemed only like going over to Catalina, but now I realize that this will be the real thing. The ship, President Hoover of the Dollar Line, is delightful beyond description and those who came on her from New York say that she is also very steady and sea worthy. My little cabin is cozy and comfortable. I had a nice visit in Los Angeles and some of the alumni had a delightful luncheon for me on Thursday before I sailed. When I reached here the people in Berkeley and San Francisco gave a lovely dinner for me at the Women's Club in Berkeley, where I saw many old friends. My cabin is overflowing with candy, nuts, books, letters, cards, and telegrams. Everyone is certainly kind to me.

September 15, Tokyo

It does not seem possible that I left Champaign five weeks ago today. I never knew five weeks to pass so rapidly. I am staying in Tokyo indefinitely because I must wait until the 28th, when the Bureau of University Travel picks me up. I am rather enjoying this week or so of doing just what I please, and when I please. Yesterday I got a chauffeur who could speak a little English (very little), and drove around Tokyo so as to get my bearings. This hotel is just across the street from the Imperial Grounds, and all government buildings are here, so we are quite at the center of things. I saw the Emperor's Mother out driving, and the Empress' younger sister and her husband are staying here. I saw them in the dining room.

I had a fine trip over, only one rough day before we landed, and I didn't mind that at all. The ship was wonderful and the people very nice. I met a number of very pleasant Americans who live in Tokyo.

October 5, Miyanoshita, Japan

I had two very pleasant weeks in Tokyo. I went out to the Methodist School one morning and was shown around by one of the deans. Among other matters of interest was the new library, recently given by a Japanese graduate of the college. It is very modern, steel stacks, D.C. arrangement, two catalogs, English, and Japanese.

I had luncheon with Mrs. Wainright, who lives in the Methodist Compound and whose husband is at the head of the Union Christian Publication of Japan. The Wainrights live in a Japanese house with American furniture, and as we were sitting in the living room, with all of the sliding glass doors rolled back, the house began to rock, and Mrs. Wainright made one flying leap out on the lawn. When I didn't follow her at once, she called me, so, of course, I went out, but not so precipitately. The earth was heaving very noticeably, and the shake lasted for ten minutes, according to the papers the next morning. Of course we did not feel it as long as that, but it seemed interminable. This was the worst quake since the great one, eight or ten years ago, and did considerable damage north of Tokyo. I didn't feel afraid, my only reaction so far is a curious interest as to what will come next. We have also been treated to a sample typhoon, a week ago Saturday when between six and seven inches of rain fell in Tokyo in twenty-four hours.

We spent two days in Nikko, a charming place in the Japanese Alps, north of Tokyo, almost a hundred miles. While there, we had a delightful drive in the mountains. The roads are fairly good, but not very wide, so that one in particular is controlled, since passing another car would be very risky. The autumn foliage was just beginning to show and in about ten days Japan ought to be gorgeous.

Today we should be seeing Fuji, but alas the rain continues to pour, so we are storm-stayed here in the best hotel in Japan and are very comfortable. Yesterday we drove up here from Kamakura, on the sea shore, and we are now on the top of a mountain, about four thousand feet up.

October 8, Nara, Japan

We are traveling along towards China, but shall be in Japan another ten days or two weeks. This week we have had bad weather, four days of almost uninterrupted rain and that when we were in sight of Mt. Fuji. It was too bad, for we had no sight of the mountain at all, and if I hadn't had a good view on entering the harbor at Yokohama, I should be obliged to leave Japan without seeing her famous mountain. We are in a lovely spot now and the sun is shining. I am enjoying every minute of my trip.

October 19, Inland Sea

We are leaving for Korea and China this evening. There seems to be no particular danger along the route we have decided on, and the American consul at Kobe assured our leader that he had no information which would justify our change of plan completely. So we leave in about an hour for Shimonoseki where we take a boat for Fusan, arriving there tomorrow morning; then an all day trip to Seoul by rail, a day or two there; another long rail trip to Mukden, another day there; doubling back to Dairen, as the railway journey to Peking from Mukden is quite out of the question; a day's sail to the port of Tientsin, and a relatively short journey to Peking by rail.

We all hate to leave Japan which has been interesting and beautiful. Our week in Kyota was delightful and the journey from Kobe here scenic beyond description. I had no idea that Japan was so mountainous.

We shall spend a little more than a week in Peking, our time being cut short because we must make connections with a Chinese boat from Tientsin to Shanghai, a four day sail which will not be pleasant. I hope Peking is worth all of this!

Peking, October 30

Japan was delightful but China is fascinating. We reached Peking on Tuesday afternoon, having been held up by rough weather for two days crossing the Yellow Sea from Dairen. The railway from Mukden down is now impossible because of the Sino-Japanese situation in Manchuria. We should have been about twenty hours crossing to Tientsin but we were three nights and parts of three days in a tiny steamer crowded to far more than capacity. Well, it's over now but it was quite exciting while it lasted.

Yesterday I visited the National Library of China which has recently gone into its new building near the Winter Palace. I found the library very modern in many ways as Mr. Yuan, the librarian, and several of his staff are American-trained librarians and all speak English. They had tea for me and I had to make a little speech, in English naturally. This morning we visited the Temple of Heaven and the Altar of Heaven, over in the Chinese city, both most impressive and very beautiful. On the way back, we saw a Chinese wedding procession, the bride in a red and gold palanquin, screened from sight of course. A few minutes later we saw the wedding gifts being carried in large baskets and some of them were magnificent—porcelains, bronzes, lacquered chests etc. Just after that we encountered big crowds on the side walks (we were in rickshaws) and noticed great excitement. We learned later that we had just escaped participating in an execution, as the crowd was waiting for the prisoners to be brought along.

The hotels so far have been more than comfortable and the food is good, tho one tires of the menus after a while. Tonight we are going to see the most famous Chinese actor of women's parts (a man of course). I did not have a chance to see a good Japanese play as the season had not opened.

Mail for Miss Simpson. Letters must leave Chicago on these dates, care Bureau of University Travel.

December 15th, for Delhi, India, Hotel Cecil.

December 31st, for Bombay, India, Taj Mahal Hotel.

January 9th, for Colombo, Ceylon, Galle Face Hotel.

January 18 to February 8, for Cairo, Egypt, Travel, 9 Kimel street.

Between February 22d and March 8th letters sent to this Cairo address will be forwarded. Postage to all countries is five cents for one ounce.

ALUMNI GOSSIP

It is interesting to note how many of our former students are at present directing the policies of established library schools. Harriet E. Howe is Assistant Director of the new Library School in Denver. Jackson E. Towne is Director of the Library School at Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville. Charles H. Stone is Director of the Library School at the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro. Clara E. Howard is director of the Library School at Emory University at Atlanta, Georgia. Mary E. Baker is Director of the school at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee. Amelia Krieg is Assistant Director of the University Library School at the University of Illinois. Margaret M. Herdman is Assistant Director at the Library School, University of Louisiana, and Mary S. Buffum is Director of the School at the Texas State College for Women at Denton.

Mary Eileen Ahern, '95-'96, will retire from active work as Editor of Libraries, when that periodical discontinues publication in December. Miss Ahern was at one time Librarian of the Indiana State Library and became the first editor of Public Libraries in 1896. Under her able management this publication has grown to be one of the best known professional journals.

Adah Patton, '02, head Cataloger of the University of Illinois Library, died at her home in Urbana on October 7, after a period of ill health. As head of this department, she is known to most alumni, many of whom had their first experience in cataloging under her supervision, and some of them have written back to tell how much their brief association with her had meant to them, professionally and spiritually.

Under her administration the department has grown to be one of the largest in the country and one of the best known for the scholarly quality of its work. Not only was she an able administrator, but her friendliness and interest in people, her quiet charm, and generous spirit, won her many friends.

Perhaps the general feeling of the staff is best expressed in these words from one of her own department. "Her calm, dignified presence overshadowed the department. Her strength lay in unswerving devotion to duty. It is not given to everybody to have her unhurried efficiency, her tact, her fairness, her sense of justice, her executive ability, and the unusual combination of common sense and judgment, combined with the technical knowledge that she possessed. We, who have had the privilege of working with her should let her ideal of loyalty and service always be an inspiration and an example to us."

M. Gertrude Buckhous, Librarian and Professor of Library Economy at the State University of Montana, died after an operation on May 18. Miss Buckhous took her library training at Illinois in 1901 and was with the Wisconsin State Library Commission in the summer of 1902. She was appointed Librarian of the State University of Montana in the same year. In her 29 years as Librarian of the State University, she pressed the development of the Library with unflagging zeal, and she was rewarded by seeing it finally housed in the finest building on the campus.

The 1929 legislature, largely through her efforts, created the Montana Library Extension Commission, of which she became Chairman and Secretary. Her death came before funds had been provided to develop its work.

Mabel Hayward, '03, head Cataloger of the Joseph Schaffer Library of Commerce, Northwestern University, died in Chicago on September 6. She had been in this position since 1927, but previous to this she had been for a number of years on the staff of the John Crerar Library.

Edward Flaig, Librarian of Center College, Danville, Kentucky, died in June. He had attended several summer sessions of the Library School, the last one being 1930.

Delia C. Sandford, '00, formerly head Cataloger at the University of Wisconsin, spent last winter having a vacation in Florida with some of her family.

Ida Sawyer (Mrs. W. G. Tait), '00, gives her address as 800 North Harper Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

Edna Goss, '02, has resigned from the University of Minnesota Library, where she has been head Cataloger for a number of years and has been made Cataloger of the Hoover War Library at Leland Stanford University.

Grace Kelly, '03, has resigned her position as Chief of the Catalog Department at John Crerar Library and is continuing her graduate work at Leland Stanford University.

F. K. W. Drury, '05, who for several years has been in charge of the Adult Education work of the A.L.A. has been appointed Librarian of the Public Library at Nashville, Tennessee.

Grace D. Phillips, '05, Librarian of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, was written up for the Librarian Author's page of the Library Journal, November 1, 1931.

Lyda Broomhall, '06-'07, Librarian of the Irving Trust Company of New York City, was elected Vice Chairman of the Financial section of the Special Libraries Association.

Sara Abbott, '06-'07, is doing editorial work with the Editorial Division of the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Margaret Hutchins, '08, received her A.M. degree at Columbia University School for Library Service in June and has been appointed instructor in Bibliography at the same school.

Reba Davis (Mrs. Clinton Clevenger), '11, is living in New Orleans, Louisiana, at 2127 Carondelet Street.

Jessie Arms, '11, has been made head of the Catalog Department of the University of Minnesota Library.

Margaret Herdman, '14, for several years instructor at the Library School at McGill University, has been made Assistant Director of the new Library School at the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge.

Roma Brashear, '14-'15, sends a new address, Willowlake, Fishkill, New York, but does not tell us what she is doing.

Fennimore Schwartz, '15, spent last winter in Florida, but returned to her old home at Knoxville, Illinois, for the summer and fall.

Grace England, '15, chief of the Civic Division of the Detroit Public Library, is chairman of the Civic-Social Service Group of the Special Libraries Association.

Rose Mather, '15, is now on the staff of the Evanston Public Library.

Mary Nichols (Mrs. E. G. Woodward), '15-'16, lives in Centralia, Washington.

Charlotte Bussey (Mrs. Darnelle), '15-'16, of Oak Park, Illinois, is in charge of some of the reconstruction work in the Veterans' Hospital there.

Jessie Weston (Mrs. H. S. Culver), '16, lives in Milwaukee at the Hotel Astor.

Clara Brooks (Mrs. Ralph A. Bennett), '16, has returned with her family to Saunemin, Illinois, from Brazil, where her husband has been engaged on an engineering project. Though not now in Library work, her feat of tutoring her two children, in a place where there was no school or library facilities, so that they were able to enter the proper grade in the public schools, is worthy of mention.

Margaret S. Williams, '16, Assistant Professor of Bibliography at the School for Library Service, Columbia University, was married on June 2 to Dr. Edward H. Jones of New York City. They expect to spend the next two years in European travel, but will maintain an apartment and a permanent address in New York at 390 West End Avenue.

Nannie G. Sanders, '16-'17, has accepted a position in the Catalog Division of the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

Bess Lowry, '19, has resigned from the Iowa State Agricultural College Library to become acting Reference Librarian at the University of California, Berkeley, California.

Miriam Clay, '19-'20, is Cataloger in the Frick Art Library in New York City but had a winter vacation on the Mediterranean last year.

Isabel Downey (Mrs. S. F. Douglas) received the degree of M.S. from the School of Library Service, Columbia University in 1930. Since then she has been Reference Librarian of the White Plains Public Library.

Nellie Coats, '21-'22, has been appointed head Cataloger at the Indiana State Library.

Leonie G. Krocker, '22-'23, is now Mrs. H. W. Thornsburg, and her new address is 721 Marshall Avenue, South, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Emma Rhoads Nickolay, '23-'24, is spending the winter in Urbana where her husband, who is Dean of the American University of Beirut, Syria, is visiting professor of economics at the University. Her daughter Katherine is studying at the University.

Phyllis Crawford (Mrs. Cyril Kay-Scott), '24, has taken a temporary position at the H. W. Wilson Company, New York City.

Alma Hook, '24-'25, has been made head Cataloger at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

William B. Hunt, '25, received his M.S. degree from the School for Library Service at Columbia University in August, 1931, and has returned to his position at Doane College.

Sylvia Laithwait, '25-'26, is Librarian of the Public Library at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Charles Flack, '26, Librarian of the Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette, has been elected second vice president of the Louisiana State Library Association.

Esther Stallman, '26-'27, has resigned from her position as Reference Librarian at Bellingham, Washington, and is at her home in Martinsville, Indiana.

Martha M. Parks, '26-'27, who was High School Librarian at Denver for several years is now Assistant Supervisor of School Libraries, State Department of Education, Albany, New York.

Helmer Webb, '27, librarian of Tulane University, was elected President of the New Orleans Library Club at its organization meeting.

Blanche Lane, '27-'28, is cataloger at Berea College, Berea, Kentucky.

Elaine Boylan, '27-'28, has been appointed instructor in Library Administration in the new Library School at the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge.

Eleanor Conway, '27-'28, has resigned from the University of South Dakota and is now first assistant cataloger at the Indiana State Library, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Lois B. Payson, '27-'28, received her M.S. degree from the School of Library Service, Columbia University in June, 1931.

Lelia S. Wilson, '27-'28, has been appointed Librarian of the Traveling Library Division of the Iowa Library Commission, Des Moines, Iowa.

Arthur G. Renstrom, '27-'28, has returned from a year in the Royal Library at Stockholm and has been appointed to a position in the Catalog Division of the Library of Congress.

Helen A. Ridgway, '27-'28, is now Acting Supervisor of Branch Reference at the Queensborough Public Library, New York.

Frances M. Battles, '28, is an Assistant in the Reference Division of the Cleveland Public Library.

Charlotte Newton, '28, has been appointed an instructor in the new Library School at the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge.

Thelma Van Ness, '28-'29, has resigned from her position with the Queensborough Public Library and has been appointed First Assistant of the Public Library at Bloomington, Illinois.

Florence Woods, '28-'29, has resigned her position at the University of Missouri Library and accepted an assistantship in the Circulation Department of the Public Library at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Barbara Bowlin, '28-'29, was married the first of September, 1931, to Mr. F. E. Williamson. Her address is now Apartment 104, 115 North Parkside Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Norris M. Talley, '28-'29, has been made one of the reader's advisers at the Indianapolis Public Library.

Harold W. Hayden, '28-'29, is now in charge of the Periodical Department of the University of Iowa Library, Iowa City, Iowa.

Hannah M. Scott, '29-'30, is Librarian of the Helen Plum Memorial Library at Lombard, Illinois.

Marguerite Anderson, '29-'30, has been appointed instructor in Library Science and Children's Librarian at the Teachers' College at Terre Haute, Indiana.

Helene R. Miller, '29-'30, is Librarian of the Law Library at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

Louise Clark (Mrs. S. B.), '29-'30, has given up her plans for entering active library work at present, because of the illness of her father, and is living at home at Bad Axe, Huron County, Michigan.

Esther May Hile, '29-'30, has resigned her position as instructor in Cataloging at the University of Illinois Library School and has gone to the University of Redlands, Redlands, California, in charge of the Catalog Department.

Bertha K. Wilson, '29-'30, is Librarian of the U. S. Veteran's Hospital at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mary F. Parmalee, '29-'30, is organizer with the Iowa State Library Commission, Des Moines, Iowa.

Lucy A. Babcock, '31, has returned to her position as Librarian of the Teachers' College at Tallequah, Oklahoma.

Irene Doyle, '31, has been appointed Assistant Professor of Cataloging at the Library School of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee.

Arthur K. Gropp, '31, has accepted the position as Librarian of the Middle American Research Department of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Mildred D. Kohlstedt, '31, is Librarian at Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Missouri.

Ruth C. Kruger, '31, returned to her position as Librarian of the State Teachers' College at Madison, South Dakota.

S. Metella Williams, '31, has been appointed instructor at the Library School of the Public Library, Los Angeles, California.

Margaret Morris, '30-'31, was married this summer to Mr. John George. They will be at home at 2 Crawford Street, Apartment 4, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Doris Marsh, '30-'31, was married this fall to Mr. Glenn Murdock at San Bernardino, California, where she had a position in the San Bernardino County Library.

Kate D. Ferguson, '16, wrote about the luncheon given Miss Simpson in Berkeley the day she sailed: "The card room was reserved for us. It's a pretty room with Chinese red tables, chairs and hangings, and seemed to set off Miss Simpson's white hair and black and white gown. She looked so sweet and seemed so happy to see her many friends. Those present were Nelle U. Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bumstead, Mrs. Inez Sachs Colby, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foote (Margaret Kingsbury), Winifred Forbes, Antoinette Goetz, Mary Kingsley, Mr. Sidney Mitchell, Helen Price, Lois Wood, Miss Farnsworth and Mrs. Dwiggins."

Margaret Mann, '96, Professor of Cataloging at the Library School of the University of Michigan, gave two lectures before the School in December on "The Accessibility of Books" and "Some Practical Problems in Cataloging and Classification."

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL

ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 16
THE LIBRARY OF THE
OCT 10 1939
REUNION AT A.L.A.—WILL YOU BE THERE?
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

April, 1932

To the University of Illinois Library School Association

DEAR FELLOW MEMBERS:

I cannot tell you how eagerly I am anticipating the A.L.A. meeting and the opportunity which it gives of welcoming you to Louisiana and New Orleans. Those of you who have had the pleasure of visiting New Orleans will, I am sure, want to get back and wander again under the overhanging galleries with their hand wrought iron railings. Those of you who will be seeing New Orleans for the first time have a treat in store for you.

Our Illinois dinner is to be held Wednesday, April 27, at the Patio Royal, a charming French restaurant with a fascinating open courtyard in the heart of the Vieux Carré. I won't tell you in detail about the things you are going to see for I don't want to lessen your pleasure of discovery.

Please watch the bulletin at Headquarters and sign for reservations for the dinner on Monday, as the number must be reported Tuesday morning. The price will be $2.20, which includes tips.

I hope that we will have a large representation of alumni in New Orleans.

LOIS F. SHORTESS, '23
President

To the Class of 1931:

Greetings from New Orleans! Although the last News Letter shows that we are scattered to all parts of the country, it is time for a reunion. Let's have a big one on April 27th at the Library School dinner. There is no need for me to write of the interesting things to do in New Orleans, or of the fine meetings which are being planned. I just hope that most of us will be here, for we "Intimate strangers" must have a grand time at this—our first A.L.A. Meeting.

POST-CONFERENCE TRIPS

Dear Alumni—North, South, East, and West:

As a new-comer to the south I urge you to come to New Orleans the last of April if you can possibly arrange to. The charm of this old southern city will repay you for a long journey, as will also the hospitality of the southern librarians and library workers.

I also want to extend to each and all of you a cordial invitation to visit Baton Rouge on the post-conference trip, for there you will find the new state capitol of Louisiana, the Louisiana Library Commission, the State Supervisor of School Libraries, and the new School of Library Science of Louisiana State University.

MARGARET M. HERDMAN, '14

School of Library Science,
Louisiana State University

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNI:

Perhaps you have visited New Orleans before and perhaps not, but unless you have seen the country along the upper Teche river reaches, you have not seen Louisiana, for here, in the region made famous by Longfellow, are the full-blooded descendents of the ancient Acadians, who came to seek a new home free from the heavy hand of the British régime in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. A more bountiful land could scarcely be found, yet in spite of all nature has done, man has managed to first adorn and then spoil. Up and down the Teche from Patterson to Arnaudville one finds old homes once the pride of the country and now rambling ruins. Houses which once re-echoed to the laughter of the children of Evangeline's happier companions now serve as homes for the rat and owl.

A few, however, have been preserved or restored and the Barbour Home not far from Franklin is one of these.

Mrs. Flack and I have visited most of the places of interest in the Teche country and were quite pleased when we were asked to take charge of the proposed Teche post-conference tour, for we were glad to feel that we might help others see and appreciate the things we had grown to care for—the land of wonderful moss-festooned oaks, silent streams and chattering French people dwelling in the teeming rushing new world. A land where time seems to have stood still while the rest of the country was ever gathering momentum.

We trust that we will see many familiar faces in New Orleans next month and that many of our friends will be with us when we visit the grave of Longfellow's Evangeline in the quaint old town of St. Martinsville.

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1931-1932

President—Lois F. Shortess, State Department of Education, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

First Vice President—Marian Leatherman, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia.

Second Vice President—Jerome K. Wilcox, John Crerar Library, Chicago, Illinois.

Secretary-Treasurer—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library, Urbana, Illinois.

Member Ex-officio—Winifred Fehrenkamp, Avery Library of Architecture, Columbia University, New York City.

Trustees of Endowment Fund—J. S. Cleavinger, 1929-1932, Margaret Hutchins, 1930-1933, Anna May Price, 1931-1934.

DO WE HAVE YOUR LATEST ADDRESS?

During the year demands have been made upon the Library School office records for information of several kinds which it has been a bit difficult to answer as quickly as might have been desired. For example, our graduates are always interested in knowing who the other alumni in their state or region are. Lists showing the geographic location of former students have been compiled from time to time, but, as is customary with lists on sheets, they were often out of date before they were completely typed. The record is now being made on cards, so that with each item of news showing change of position or location, the individual record can be shifted and the whole file always kept up to date.

Again, it has been hard to know how many people we had in specific types of work. In the cases of the few recommendations which it has been necessary to make, information concerning the experience and salaries of specific types of workers has only been available, if at all, after searching several records. In consequence, an index by position is being compiled.

Other questions we are called upon to answer constantly are: "What is Miss Former Student's married name?" "We are writing to Mr. Former Student—what is his title?" Latest addresses, changes in position, honors acquired, date of death, are other details which we are expected to know accurately. We cannot keep our records accurate and exact unless the alumni help us.

If you have not sent us news of yourself recently, may we hear from you, so that our new records may be as accurate as possible?

LETTERS FROM MISS SIMPSON

Penang
January 1, 1932

We got out of Manchuria quite safely, but none too soon, in my opinion. I judge that our party has been the only group of tourists who ventured as far as Mukden this fall; at least, I haven't heard of any others!

Since I wrote you last, I have been through the Dutch East Indies and found them, particularly Bali, quite up to specifications. Bali is beautiful and not like any other spot I shall be likely to see. There are no railroads, so all of our travel was by motor and we had a splendid chance to see the country and the people. We spent four or five days there, and then went back to the port where we landed to get the next ship for Java.

The most interesting thing in Java was the Barabudur Temple, almost our first day. Java is much more sophisticated than Bali, but otherwise is much like it. We had fine weather most of the time—I recall only one rain—and not too warm. In fact, I have been agreeably surprised at the coolness of the tropics. Except for the middle of the day, when we stay indoors it is quite comfortable, I have experienced more discomfort in Urbana!

Singapore, where I received most of my Christmas mail, while a thriving and busy, and in some parts, beautiful city, was a disappointment to me. We stayed at the famous "Raffles" Hotel, and it is living on the memory of its past glories, I judge, for it is one of the poorest places we have experienced. The little hotels and rest-houses in the Dutch East Indies, were clean, and very attractive, but the less said about Raffles the better! We came from Singapore here, stayed a day and two nights, and took the train to Bangkok, where we had a most enjoyable four days on our way to Angkor, where we arrived Christmas Eve. Angkor-Vat, Angkor-Thom, and the rest of the ruins which we were able to see were beyond description. How such groups of stone buildings could have disappeared from human ken for over five hundred years is to me still a marvel, though the Jungle will explain much!

By the way, we stopped for the night at the border between Siam and Cambodia, en route to Angkor, and learned that a tiger hunt was planned for that night to get rid of a beast which was troubling the farmers in the neighborhood! At last account, the tiger was still alive! Two days again in Bangkok and train back here, where we stay until tomorrow noon—then all aboard for India!

I am writing in a little balcony which looks out over the lower part of the Bay of Bengal. All of the bed-rooms in the tropics have verandahs or balconies, a very pleasant and comfortable feature! This climate is cooler than Siam and has fewer mosquitoes! They were terrible in Bangkok. (Time out for afternoon-tea!)

Later—Since we lunch at 1 P.M. and dine at 8 or 8:30 P.M., tea at 4 is almost a necessity, and I am becoming a devotee, I fear.

I must close now and pack the bags!

Bombay
February 1

Bombay is a very pretty place and the cleanest city I have seen since we left Tokyo. Of course, there is a strong western influence in evidence here. We had feared that we might be annoyed here because of being taken for English as most of the Indians do not discriminate, and, of course, this is a strong Ghandi locality, but so far we have had no trouble whatever aside from a little annoyance from some Hindu women in Benares, and that didn't scare us at all. They simply lined up as we passed and cried "Bombay martyr! Bombay martyr!" meaning of course Ghandi as it was soon after his imprisonment.

It is hard to foresee what will happen here. Mohammedans (about 70,000,000) and Parsees (perhaps 12 to 15 millions—perhaps not so many!) are likely to go against anything that the Hindus want! So there you are! Most of the native states, we were told, do not allow Ghandi doctrines to be promulgated, and they include about a quarter of the population, part Hindu and part Moslem. (Oh! I'm learning lots over here! In fact, I'm so crammed with information all the time that it's a wonder I don't burst!)

I am enjoying India much more than I had feared I would. It is not nearly so dirty as I had been led to suppose, and we have had wonderful weather. Only one or two rains since we left China or rather Japan,—one in Java, and one in the Malay states, and both times we were traveling by train and were under cover all of the time! This is their cold season, of course, and it is unusually dry and somewhat dusty, but aside from that, we have been most comfortable all of the time. For the next four days, we shall be going south to Madras, Madura and Ceylon, and it will be very warm, I suppose. Every one says Ceylon is lovely, and I am looking forward to the few days I shall spend there.

I spent Christmas at Angkor-Vat, a spot about as removed from the idea of Christmas as could be imagined, but we had a wonderful four days there climbing about among the ruins. New Year's day we were back at Penang, waiting for our boat to Calcutta.

I never imagined the stone carving and sculpture we should see here. The Taj Mahal is only one of many beautiful marble structures. This morning we went over to an island (Elephanta) to visit some wonderful temples in caves, and again found remains of magnificent carvings, over 1200 years old.

I reach Egypt (Suez and Cairo) on Feb. 22, and expect to take a 16-day tour in Egypt and Palestine, between two Dollar ships. I shall get my tickets, etc., from Cook's and will have almost no responsibility for details myself. On March 9 I sail for Naples on the Van Buren, and after that my plans are not entirely fixed.

Red Sea
February 18

Last night we passed Aden on the southern tip of Arabia, went through the Straits of Babel-Mandeb, and are now in the Red Sea steaming up the coast in sight of the islands off of the Egyptian or Abyssinian coast. The Red Sea is much choppiest than the Arabian Sea was, and the ship is rolling considerably this morning.

I leave the ship next Monday morning at Suez and shall spend the sixteen days between the two Dollar ships in Egypt and Palestine; if my plans as made now are carried out.

The trip in Ceylon was delightful but too short, as the Monroe changed her schedule and sailed two days sooner than had been advertised. That gave me only three days in Ceylon and it was far too short a time to see much. I left my party at Kandy in the mountains, and went alone by train to Colombo where I spent a day and a half and then came aboard.

I am very comfortable; have a nice cabin for two with no roommate, the food is good (it seems like heaven to have lettuce, fresh tomatoes, cucumbers, hot cakes and decent coffee once more!) and the people are very friendly.

India was marvellous and I wouldn't have missed it for anything, but travel there is not easy and my impressions are confusing and contradictory. I don't think that I care to go back. China and Japan, particularly Pekin, I feel quite differently about. The weather has been wonderful almost all of the time, but it was the dry season and the dust was terrible. I think I have swallowed or inhaled not pecks but bushels of dirt this winter. It seems so strange to have had no winter, at all, and I simply can't realize that spring is already on the way. We were warned that the Red Sea would probably be hot, but the breeze is so fresh this morning that I had to put on a jacket and finally came inside to write.

After the early part of April, until about May 1, I shall be in Rome, Italy, c/o American Express Co., and from May 1 until about June 1, c/o American Express Co., Florence, Italy.

March 11
Mediterranean.

I have been "on the jump" almost literally since we landed at Suez considerably over two weeks ago, as I tried to "do" Egypt, Palestine and Spain, in sixteen days! It can't be done, is my verdict, though I made a fairly good attempt. As I have probably written I was "personally conducted," (literally) by Cook's office. I had no traveling companions except my drayman and driver for 16 days, and I recommend it as an excellent way to get about all there is to get from one's guide; to my surprise, I was not lonely for a minute! I suppose I hadn't time to think about being alone!

We did Cairo Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, seeing the usual sights—Pyramids, Sphinx, Mosques, Bazaar, etc., and on Thursday evening, I took the night train for Luxor where I spent two very interesting, and (except for the pestiferous flies) pleasant days. Again I saw about all there was to be seen there, including the Valley of the Kings, King Tut-Ankh-amen's tomb, the Tombs of the Queens, the Ramesseum, and Memnonium Colossi, as well as the Temples of Karnak and Luxor, both of which, or all of which, are exceedingly interesting. I was fortunate, both in Cairo and at Luxor, in having intelligent guides who spoke fair English.

I did not get up to Asman, much to my regret, but if I went to Damascus and Baalbek, there wasn't time! The most interesting thing I have seen in Egypt was the Cairo Museum, to which I returned by myself the last day for another visit! At King Tut's Tomb, I saw the Inspector-General of the Dept. of Egyptian Antiquities, with no less a person than Mr. Carter, who is still there, planning new excavations!

The night train again to Cairo and a day at Shephard's Hotel where I had been earlier, and I was ready for the trip to Palestine. I was most fortunate in having a single compartment both nights in Egypt, and no one over me on the way to Jerusalem, my last night journey, I hope!

Cook's man met me at the station, took me to the hotel, did everything except eat my breakfast for me! and after breakfast, my Palestine guide and I started out for the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, which kept us busy for most of the morning. Somehow, I wasn't thrilled! Too many ornate chapels built by warring faiths do not incline one towards reverence. There are five Christian bodies, all claiming representation at most of the sacred spots in and around Jerusalem! They don't always agree, I am told!

In the afternoon we drove to Bethlehem, where unluckily, we ran into a big cruise, just arrived, and quite noisy. That would have spoiled the Church of the Nativity for any one! On the way back, we stopped at the Garden Tomb, which many believe to be the real site of Calvary and the Tomb of Our Lord. After that the Mt. of Olives, to me the loveliest place, except Gethsemane, near Jerusalem.

The second day was devoted to a drive down to the Dead Sea and Jericho, stopping at the Garden of Gethsemane as we left the city. I was agreeably disappointed in the Dead Sea, it is a beautiful sheet of water. We had luncheon at Jericho where there is not much of interest remaining, and drove back to Jerusalem to find the rain which we had left in the morning, had stopped, but the air was bitterly cold, a sharp contrast to Jericho and the Sea where it had been warm and balmy.

The third day we devoted to Jerusalem, visiting the great Mosque (Dome of the Rock) on Mt. Moriah, via Dolorosa (of course, the real street lies about thirty feet below the present level, and one goes down to the chapels marking all the sites!) In the afternoon, Mt. Zion near the hotel took some time—King David's Tomb, which no non-Moslem may enter, the Citadel, David's Wall and Gate, and one or two other spots occupied a couple of hours. Then I went to Cook's to arrange about the remainder of my tour, and get money changed. When I left the office, I was carrying five kinds of money—Egyptian, Palestinian, Syrian, British, and Italian! Can you beat it? I'm from now on a firm believer in an international medium of exchange!

The rest of my tour in Palestine and Syria must go until another letter, as we land tomorrow at Naples and I must finish packing. (I could do it now "with my eyes shut and one hand tied behind me!") The eleven o'clock beef-tea has just appeared and it is cold enough to make a hot drink very acceptable! I hope Italy will be warmer!

ALUMNI GOSSIP

The December number of Libraries and also its last appearance as a periodical was in honor of Mary Eileen Ahern, its editor since its beginning in 1896. The number contained many letters and articles from librarians all over the country expressing their appreciation of Miss Ahern's contribution to the library profession, many of the letters were deeply appreciative of the great personal inspiration and help which Miss Ahern had always given, especially to the beginner. Her warm interest in people, her keen wit, her wide knowledge of affairs and her insight into the real needs of the profession won her many warm friends and made Public Libraries (later Libraries) a real factor in library progress.

Harriet E. Howe, '02, is director of the School for Librarianship at Denver, Colorado, not assistant director as stated in the last letter. Her home address is 960 Sherman St., Apt. 5, Denver.

Helen T. Kennedy, '03, is at present cataloging the Museum Library at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Josie B. Houchens, '05, will again be an instructor in the Summer Session of the School for Library Service, Columbia University.

Mary B. McClellan, '05-'06, formerly reference librarian at White Plains, N.Y., is in charge of the Inter-Racial Service Department of the Hartford, Conn., Public Library.

Elizabeth E. Wilson, '07, is on the catalog staff of the Public Library at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Fenimore Schwartz, '14, is taking a prolonged vacation and is living in Knoxville, Ill. She visited the University not long ago and says she is having a good time remodelling her home, searching for antiques, and incidentally she is a board member of the Knoxville Public Library and is giving some assistance in cataloging the library.

Stella Galpin Trowbridge, '14, has been working half time in the catalog department of New York University, taking the place of Frances Klank Stunkard, who is spending the year in Europe. Prof. Stunkard is on the faculty of New York University, and is on a sabbatical leave.

C. H. Stone, '16, librarian of the College for Women at Greensboro, N. C., will give several courses this summer at the School for Library Service, Columbia University.

Spencer Robinson, '18, is resigning from the University of Rochester medical library to become librarian of Wilmette College at Salem, Oregon.

Jackson E. Towne, '22, who has been librarian and director of the Library School at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, has resigned and on April first will become the librarian of the Michigan Agricultural College at East Lansing, Michigan.

Octavia Rogan, '24, resigned from her position as reference librarian of the Rosenberg Library, Galveston, Tex., to become the librarian of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas at Waco.

Claire Luger, '24-'25, was married September 3, 1927, to John H. Gillen. They have a daughter Joanne Claire and are living at 1617 Thorne ave., Chicago.

Julia C. Pressey, '26, has resigned from the faculty of the Library School of Emory University, Atlanta, and will become Head of the Office for D.C. numbers, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

Dorothy Cornwall Lewis S.S., '26, is map librarian in the library of the Department of State, Washington, D.C.

Louise Edmondson, '26-'27, has been appointed librarian of Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia.

Frances H. Norris, '27-'28, who had been teaching for some years at the J. Sterling Morton High School at Cicero Illinois, died on the 3rd of August, 1931, after an operation. She was recovering nicely when she had a fall which caused her death.

Madeline Canova, '28-'29, is now loan librarian of the University of Texas Library at Austin, Texas.

Gordon Gray, '28-'29, has resigned from the reference department of the University of Missouri to become a member of the reference department of the College of the City of New York.

Eileen Velde, '27-'28, formerly an assistant in the State Library Extension Division at Springfield, Illinois, is now Mrs. Ralph Surman and is living at Carlinville, Ill.

Anne Jensen, '28-'29, is librarian of the Graduate School of the American University at Washington, D.C.

Phoebe Ruth McHenry, '28-'29, is librarian of the Christian College Library, Columbia, Missouri.

Myrne Moffit, '28-'29, is in the Veterans' Hospital Library at Lexington, Kentucky.

Gladys M. Smith, '28-'29, resigned from the University of North Carolina Library and is now assistant librarian of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S.C.

Estella Roy, '28-'29, was married March 12, 1932, to Mr. Fred

Crane of Chicago. She will continue, for the present, in her position at the Southern Illinois State Normal University, Carbondale, Ill.

Anna L. Thrall, '28-'29, is a cataloger at the Public Library at Evansville, Indiana. Her home address is 709 E. Powell ave.

Henry G. Statham, '29, has resigned from his position as librarian of the American University at Washington, D. C., and has accepted a position with the Library of Congress.

The Class of 1930 has issued number 2 of their class News letter and it is full of interesting news from many members of the class. A few of the following items were found there.

Dorothy Heyl Jones (Mrs. Roger Warren Jones), '29-'30, is assistant librarian of the School for Library Service at Columbia University. Her home address is 434 West 120th st., N.Y.

Helen R. Miller, '29-'30, is assistant librarian in the law library of the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Arthur E. Gropp, '29-'30, was married Jan. 16, 1932, to Miss Dorothy Geddes. He is librarian of the Middle American Research Department of Tulane University, New Orleans. Mrs. Gropp has been in library work at Mackenzie College in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Wave L. Noggle, '29-'30, was married on August 16, 1931, to Miss Elizabeth Grace Conard. They are living in Champaign and Mr. Noggle is continuing his work for his A.M. degree.

Ruth Rinkle, '29-'30, was married on September 3, 1931, to Ray Spaeth. They are living at 48 Boylston st., Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Spaeth is a student in the Harvard Business School.

Mary J. Scrimger, '29-'30, is now Mrs. Ray Treichler and has a position in the library of the Texas A. & M. college, College Station, where Mr. Treichler has a position on the research staff.

Zona Gale Stevenson, '29-'30, was married on April 10, 1932, to Mr. Lucius Fitch. They are making their home in Des Moines, Ia.

Margaret Eckels and Rachel Minick, '29-'30, are both on the staff of the Enoch Pratt Library at Baltimore, Maryland, and are enthusiastic about their work and life in Baltimore.

Gretchen Knieff, '29-'30, has an interesting position in the County Library at Santa Monica, Calif. She describes her department as a cross between Reference and Circulation work.

Edmon Low, '29-'30, is still at the East Central State Teachers College, Ada, Okla. He and Mrs. Low say that the most important event in the last two years is the arrival of their daughter Frances Kathryn on June 1st, 1931.

Leone Mayer, '29-'30, is librarian of the Junior-Senior High School at Iron Wood, Mich.

Susan E. Miller, '29-'30, is librarian of the Henry Clay High School at Lexington, Kentucky.

Margaret C. Woolward, '29-'30, was the assistant librarian of the Wisconsin Telephone Company until October when she was appointed head of the North Avenue Branch Library of Milwaukee Public Library.

Irma M. Woods, '29-'30, is in the Circulation department of the City Library, Wichita, Kansas.

WHO'S WHO IN LIBRARY SERVICE

Have you filled in your blank for the Who's Who in Library Service? Please do not be over modest, and say "This is not intended for me." The scope of the Who's Who is to be very largely that of a directory of members of the profession. It will replace for the next few years, the directories which individual schools have been issuing. Its many uses to the individual are evident. It will be the basis of many statistical studies. Naturally we are interested in having our School as completely represented as possible. If you discarded your blank, write to Dr. C. C. Williamson, 531 W. 116th St., New York City, for another. Please make every effort to fill in the blank completely.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 17

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNI:

It is our hope that this will be one of the most active years the University of Illinois Library School Association has ever known. To accomplish this we will need the cooperation of every alumnus. At present, of approximately 1250 alumni eligible for active membership, 194 are Life members, and about the same number are annual members, which would indicate that only about one-third are giving their support to the Association. The support of the remaining two-thirds is urgently needed in order that the News Letter may be continued, that the Association's Loan Fund to help worthy students through the second semester may be increased, and that the Endowment Fund which is to establish a Scholarship at the School, may be completed.

We plan to organize a group of regional secretaries, whose duties will be to stimulate the active participation in the Association of the alumni in their districts. Every alumnus should take it upon himself, or herself, to notify Miss Houchens or Miss Krieg of changes in position or changes in address. It is hard to get accurate items for the News Letter unless all cooperate. This is especially true with the alumni publications. Let no false modesty prevent your sending in the notice of your book or article. Clip newspaper and periodical articles about yourself and send them in. Remember that self advertising may some day bring in dividends.

This is a particularly important time for a closely knit alumni body. Salaries are being cut, positions for new graduates are few, and some of our most experienced and efficient alumni report "depression vacations." Those alumni in positions can help the School a great deal by their interest and active support of the placement work. Of course, just now you cannot create positions, but if you do know of vacancies, or if you have a position to offer, why not tell the School about it?

Your attention is called to the recent action of the University of Illinois Library Club in establishing the Adah Patton Memorial Fund, a notice of which will be found elsewhere in this letter. This project to publish occasionally worth while publications in the field of Library Science, is one that merits your support if possible.

The purpose of this fund leads me to speak of a dream of mine, which is, that some day the alumni body will issue a publication which will contain some of the more valuable theses which are being completed by the candidates for the Master's degree in the Library School. Before such a project could be undertaken, it would take a good deal of careful thought and the guarantee of continued financial backing on the part of the alumni.

For several years there have been informal gatherings of alumni at the Mid-winter Meeting. This year we plan to have a dinner which we hope all alumni present will attend. If you are going to the meeting, please drop me a card, so that we can know approximately how many to reserve places for. There will be a notice of the time and place on the Bulletin Board at the Meeting.

Sincerely yours,

JEROME K. WILCOX, President

ALUMNI MEETING AT NEW ORLEANS

The annual dinner meeting of the Illinois Library School Association was held Wednesday evening, April 27, 1932, at 7:30 p.m., in New Orleans at the Patio Royal. Miss Shortess, the president, presided. One hundred eighteen people were present, including the following New Orleans guests who were introduced by the president: Mr. and Mrs. Usher, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, Miss Virginia Fairfax, and Mrs. Oswald McNiece.

Greetings were read from Mr. Windsor and Mr. Wilcox.

Miss Shortess expressed the regret of the Association at Mr. Windsor's absence, but presented Mrs. Winsdor as his representative.

A motion to waive the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was approved, since these minutes had already been printed. A brief report of the secretary-treasurer was read by Miss Hostetter, and the trustee's report by Miss Price.

It was reported that a total of 194 life memberships had been secured to date, and that only 185 alumni had paid annual dues this year.

The nominating committee proposed the following names for officers for the coming year. They were unanimously elected.

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1932-33

Jerome K. Wilcox, John Crerar Library, Chicago, President.

Mae Parkinson Webb, Library School, University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge, First Vice-President.

Trustees of Endowment Fund—J. S. Cleavinger, 1932-35; Margaret Hutchins, 1930-33; Anna May Price, 1931-34.

The secretary was instructed to send greetings to both Miss Simpson and Mr. Windsor, and also to Miss Conat and Miss England, who had been in an automobile accident.

The following resolution of appreciation relative to Miss Ahern's work was passed:

Resolved: That the Illinois Library School Association records its appreciation of the distinguished services of Mary Eileen Ahern in behalf of library science, not only through the pages of Public Libraries, but in the personal encouragement and inspiration given to librarians in all parts of the country.

A resolution expressing the sense of loss of the Association through the death of Miss Adah Patton of the University of Illinois Library staff was then proposed and adopted.

Miss Krieg brought a message from the Library School and Miss Louise Krause, '98, told of the work done by some of the alumni in the South.

The final talk of the evening was given by Mrs. McNiece, who told in a most delightful manner, interesting bits about old New Orleans and the charm it holds for visitors.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

MARY LOIS BULL,
Acting Secretary.

THE ADAH PATTON MEMORIAL

The University of Illinois Library Club is establishing a Memorial in honor of Adah Patton, long a member of the Catalog Department of the University Library, and head of the Department for fourteen years. This Memorial is to take the form of a fund of one thousand dollars and over, the income from which is to be expended for publishing in the general field of Library Science, especially in cataloging, classification, and bibliography.

As soon as the principal reaches the desired amount the fund will be administered by the Adah Patton Memorial Board, consisting of: (1) the director of the University library, (2) the catalog librarian of the University library, (3) a member of the Library School faculty, (4) a member of the Library staff, (5) a librarian, not necessarily a member of the University Library staff.

This Board shall determine the conditions under which the income shall be expended and in general carry out the purpose of the Memorial. At present contributions to the Fund are being handled by a standing Committee of the Club, of which Miss Eleanor Robertson is Chairman. This Committee has already received over five hundred dollars in cash and pledges from the University Library staff and the Library School faculty. While the alumni body as a whole will not be approached for the Memorial, it is felt that those former students who knew Miss Patton, and especially those who had the privilege of working with her, will wish to be given an opportunity of participating in this Memorial.

A TRAVELER'S LOG

My record of last March seems to have left me rather abruptly in Cook's office in Jerusalem, weighted down (literally) with the burden of carrying five kinds of foreign money! On the following morning, my dragoman (not "dray man" as my last letter misquoted me—my luggage didn't quite run to a dray!) appeared, and soon after eight we left for northern Palestine. This guide, by name Dmitri Solomon, proved to speak fair English and took excellent care of me for the next five days. After getting my passport properly checked up to see that all was in order, we left Jerusalem by the Jaffa Gate on the south wall, drove along the eastern wall, past the Damascus Gate at the north, which automobiles do not use as a rule, since the other pavement is far better, and—we were off for Tiberias and ultimately Damascus.

As we drove northward out of Judaea into Samaria, the near approach of spring became increasingly evident; though the fruit trees were not yet in blossom, the little red poppies were blooming along the roadside, as well as other flowers which I did not recognize. The countryside became more and more delightful, and soon we were in Samaria, driving through the old city of Shechem, still a flourishing town, now called Nâblus, and in process of rebuilding, the result of an earthquake in 1927.

Now we began to see famous hills or "mountains." About noon we saw Mt. Gilboa, a little later Mt. Tabor and then far to the west along the coast, the long line of Mt. Carmel.

After making a detour of several miles to see Jacob's Well and the ruins of Samaria, we returned to the highway and soon came out into a broad, fairly level plain, quite extensive and dotted with small villages, with the ruins of Crusaders' castles standing out boldly against the sky from almost every hill-top. This proved to be the famous Plain of Esdraelon, called in Old Testament accounts the Plain of Jezreel; and from the days of the tribal wars of the Israelites to those of Napoleon, this plain has been the camping ground of warring nations. Even as late as the World War, a retreating Turkish army fled across its fields.

It was long past noon, and I was beginning to feel the pangs of hunger, having breakfasted at seven; but at last Solomon pointed out the hill town of Nazareth where we were to have luncheon. After a very poor meal, we drove to the "Workshop of Joseph the Carpenter," to the alleged birthplace of Mary, and, most interesting of all, to the Church of the Annunciation which lies within the inclosure of the Franciscan Monastery.

We were now, of course, in Galilee, and on leaving Nazareth, we soon saw far to the north the snowy top of Mt. Hermon, "Little Hermon" having been visible earlier. The road wound through the hills, taking us past many places of sacred interest—"Cana of Galilee," now marked as are most of the places of note by a church or chapel; the picturesque hill called the "Horns of Hattin," and misalled by the Crusaders the "Mount of Beatitudes," though a later tradition makes it the scene of the "Feeding of the Five Thousand," and also the spot where Saladin won a famous victory.

Just as we crossed this ridge I had my first glimpse of the Sea of Galilee. I had thought that I had seen the world's most beautiful lakes;—I was wrong, I had not seen the Lake of Gennesareth as it is often called. As we drove toward the lake, having decided to visit Capernaum before going on to Tiberias to spend the night, Mt. Hermon rose before us, seemingly just at the head of the lake, but in reality many miles to the north.

Capernaum, the home which our Lord chose after he was driven from Nazareth, must have been a lovely little town, lying on the lake shore, surrounded by fertile fields and shaded by splendid trees. The location is now the home of a Franciscan monastery, whose members are carrying on archaeological work begun many years ago. Not much of interest has been unearthed except the remains of a large building, probably the Synagogue of our Lord's time which is in excellent preservation.

As time was passing rapidly, we decided not to continue to the mouth of the Jordan, but to retrace our way toward Tiberias which we reached shortly before sunset. Here I made a serious mistake. As the Sea of Galilee was only a short distance from my hotel, and the day was still warm and pleasant (Tiberias, like Jericho, lies far below sea level) I ought to have insisted upon a sail on the Sea; but alas! I was tired, having been driving, looking, dismounting, remounting, and driving some more since eight that morning; and I postponed my sail until morning. There was plenty of time next morning, and I was rested, but alas! the Sea had a voice in the matter, and as I can't swim, I decided regretfully to defer the sail on the Sea of Galilee until some future visit! The moral is obvious.

There is not much of interest in Tiberias itself—just a modern, rather picturesque, walled town, noted chiefly according to the Arabs, for its hot baths (natural) and for its fleas (also natural, I assume) neither of which I sampled. The hotel was comfortable—not luxurious—and I was tired enough to go to bed early and sleep fairly soundly.

Next morning, the air was warm enough to be out of doors, and I spent the time between breakfast and the hour of departure, looking at the views, reading my guide-book, and regretting my error of judgment of the previous day, already mentioned. At about half-past ten I and my luggage were packed into a car and we started for the railway station several miles away at the foot of the Sea, a place called Es Semakh. At first, I was disappointed to learn that I should leave the car at Es Semakh for a railway train, but the journey progressed, I changed my opinion, for the afternoon furnished an interesting contrast to the drive of the preceding day.

When we left the car I asked Solomon when the train would be in, and I noticed he evaded the question. When I insisted upon an answer, he seemed to think that perhaps it might be along in a half hour or so; but it couldn't be depended upon! This was about 11:30, and that wretched train never showed up until after one! However, it was interesting to watch the people who came and went, for no particular reason, so far as I could see, as few of them turned out to be fellow-passengers. At last the train pulled in and I climbed on. I seemed to be the only first-class passenger in the entire long train, "Solomon" traveling second-class, but coming frequently into my compartment to make sure that I was still there! We waited just thirty-five minutes at Es Semakh, so I utilized the wait by eating my picnic lunch provided by the hotel as the train carried no restaurant car. The lunch was abundant, but not particularly appetizing, and my luncheon-hour was soon ended. Then I amused myself by watching three very attractive and also very dirty children who seemed equally interested in my movements. I probably violated several British railway regulations by throwing remains of my luncheon, consisting of hard-boiled eggs, apples and some kind of cold meat which I did not identify—probably cold roast goat—to the children, apparently to their great joy!

As the train pulled out, I had my last glimpse of the Jordan, which emerges from the Sea of Galilee just here, and a few minutes later, we said farewell to the lovely lake, and began to penetrate a gorge, following a mountain stream which proved to be the Yarmuk, a tributary of the Jordan, and a most picturesque stream. Following this gorge to the top brought us into another famous plain which extended in every direction as far as the eye could reach, and which also bears a name more or less familiar in our Sunday-School days—the Land of Bashan. In about two hours we reached the main line of the Transjordanian railway, and were coupled to a through train from Medina to Damascus.

This whole country was interesting as a contrast to Galilee, though not so beautiful. The mountains of Hauran stretched like a great wall on the eastern horizon and in the far north we had our first glimpse of the Lebanon range, with Mt. Hermon in the middle distance. Scattered here and there not far from the railway, I could see small Bedouin encampments, similar to those I had seen the day before en route to Capernaum. We were going through the country of the Druses, those strange people who have in recent years made things rather unpleasant for the French in Syria, for by this time we had crossed the Syrian frontier, had complied with customs and passport formalities, and were actually in Syria. By eight o'clock we had arrived at the station in Damascus, and I was ready for dinner and bed, at the end of two very "perfect days."

My two days in Damascus and my journey to Beirut across Mt. Lebanon must wait for telling at some future date.

SCHOOL NEWS

Placement—All Library Schools would be glad to find themselves in the paradise described in Gaylord's Triangle of June, 1932, as follows:

A FAIRY STORY

While graduates of the different colleges of education in the city who majored in other subjects have found it difficult to land jobs, those who majored in library science have had jobs thrust upon them. The demand for trained teacher-librarians is so great at present that the Bureau of Education has given library positions even to those who only minored in library science.—The Library Mirror, University of the Philippines, Manila, P. I.

Unfortunately conditions are not the same for the graduates of our last two classes. Even many of our older alumni find that cut budgets have resulted in unemployment for them. The brunt of the depression is being felt by all ages, by experienced as well as by inexperienced people.

One hundred students received the B.S. in L.S. in 1932. Ten students were placed by the office, fourteen found library positions for themselves, seventeen returned to positions in libraries in which they had formerly worked, and four are employed in other fields. Considerable correspondence concerning positions is carried on, but too frequently the information sent is for future use, or the position itself does not materialize.

The students with the Master's degree are not much more fortunate. Of the fifteen Masters in June, August, and October, six are on the University Library staff and continue in their positions, one is on the Library School staff, two returned to positions, one found part time employment, one was placed by the office, and four have no work.

Some of the alumni may not know that the Library School is largely dependent upon them for aid in placement in that the School Office does not circularize the field to learn of vacancies. In consequence, continued loyal effort in bringing to the attention of possible employers the School placement service, and first consideration given to fellow alumni when one is an employer, will be most highly appreciated by both the School and unemployed graduates.

Class of 1932-33—The registration for 1932-33 has fallen to fifty-seven first-year students and thirty-one advanced students (most of these are part time students, members of the Library staff). Every effort was made to discourage students of mediocre ability, and as a result, twenty-two applications which met our formal requirements were refused consideration. Moreover, accepted applicants were warned that there probably would be no work for them at the end of the year.

The first-year students come from nineteen states, the proportion from Illinois being larger than is customary. Indiana and Ohio rank second and third, respectively, in numbers. The north central and southern states are represented by eight states each. Only one student comes from the far West, although a number were accepted from western states but found it impossible to come at the last minute due to financial difficulties.

The class as a whole is made up of very young people, seventy per cent being university graduates of '30, '31, '32. There are ten men and forty-seven women. Five have the Master's degree. Only three present degrees from teachers' colleges. English and History are the favored combinations for major study in the undergraduate work. Over half the class have studied three languages, and nine more have studied four languages. Eighty-one per cent of the class have had previous library experience and thirty-one per cent have had some previous library training.

In February the class will be enlarged considerably due to the relatively large number of students returning then to complete work started in the summer. These people fortunately nearly all have positions.

Certification—It is probable that about ninety of the University of Illinois Library School graduates will be among those to receive certificates from the Certification Board of the Illinois Library Association.

The Board voted that members of the class of 1932 might request certification if they so desired, regardless of whether they are at present in positions or are residents of Illinois.

Application blanks may be obtained either from Miss Anna May Price, Superintendent of the Extension Division, State library, Springfield, Illinois, or Miss Elsie McKay, Librarian, Public library, Oak Park, Illinois. They are to be returned to Miss McKay.

Alice Harrison, librarian of the High School, Austin, Texas, is High School editor.

Upper Peninsula Library Association

ALUMNI GOSSIP

Sarah Elizabeth Montross, '97-'99, a member of the staff of the John Crerar Library from 1899 to 1931, died on September 11, 1932. She was a member of the first class of the Library School after it moved to the University of Illinois from Armour Institute, Chicago, in the fall of 1897.

Sarah Ambler, B.L.S. '00, librarian of the Superintendent of Documents Office since 1907, retired from active work in June. The staff of the documents department gave a party in her honor and presented her with a twenty dollar gold piece as a mark of the appreciation and friendship.

Linda Clatworthy, B.L.S. '00, librarian of the University of Denver, must have been gratified to see many years of work realized when the new Mary Reed Library was dedicated with elaborate ceremonies on October 28th, 1932. The program occupied several days and consisted of a series of Symposia on the Contribution of the University Library to Civilization.

Anna May Price, B.L.S. '00, head of the Extension Division of the State Library at Springfield, Ill., is to put on the first demonstration of a County Library to be held in the state, in Putnam County.

Mary E. Todd, B.L.S. '01, planned to resume her library work this fall, as she and her parents have almost completely recovered from a serious automobile accident which occurred some months ago, just after she had returned from a two-year trip to Europe and California. Her home address is 50 Morningside Drive, New York City.

Grace Osgood Kelley, B.L.S. '03, has been appointed Readers Consultant at the Queens Borough Public Library, Jamaica, New York. Last year she was registered in the Graduate Library School of the University of Chicago, where she is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree.

Wilhelmina E. Carothers, '03-'04, formerly assistant professor at the George Peabody College for Teachers, is now head of the Catalog department of Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia.

Erma Moore Binder (Mrs. F. H.), B.L.S. '04, is living in Council Bluffs, Iowa, 830 Fourth Ave. Her many friends will wish to express their sympathy over the tragic death of her husband last May. Mr. Binder was caught in a burning building and was killed instantly.

Mary Josephine Booth, B.L.S. '04, was written up as a librarian-author in the Library Journal, 57:710, September 1, 1932. She is librarian of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College at Charleston, Illinois.

Elsie Andrews, '04-'05, has been appointed librarian of the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, Michigan, where she had been reference librarian for some years.

Elizabeth Greene, B.L.S. '05, writes that she has been working for the past two years in the library of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, Massachusetts, on the last letters of Sabin's Dictionary of books relating to America; she thinks that the work will be finished in another year.

Marcus Skarstedt, B.L.S. '11, Ph.D., is professor of mathematics and director of the Library, Whittier College, Whittier, California.

Reba Davis (Mrs. C. B. Clevenger), B.L.S. '11, is at present living in Columbus, Ohio. Her address is 306 West Eighth Street.

Mary Torrance B.L.S. '13, head cataloger of Emory University at Atlanta, had a leave of absence last year and did graduate work at the University of Michigan receiving her A.M. degree in library science.

Nellie Roberts (Mrs. R. E. Kennedy), B.L.S. '15, has moved from Chicago to Wilmette, Illinois, 801 15th street, where she keeps open house for friends and Illini. Her daughter, Alice Ellen, aged three and one-half years, has all her mother's graces, a few of her own thrown in, and has already learned to read.

Grace England, B.L.S. '15, head of the Civics Division of the Detroit Public Library, had her many interesting hobbies exposed in an article which appeared about her in Special Libraries for April, 1932.

Marian Leatherman, B.L.S. '16, died on August 20th in Decatur, Georgia, where she was librarian of Agnes Scott College. The news was a great shock to her many friends. Apparently she was ill only a few days, and died of granular cytic angina, a rather unusual disease, usually fatal, and in her case brought on by consistent overwork. Those who remember her ambition to do everything as well as it could be done, and her amiability about taking on extra tasks, will readily understand how the conscience we used to tease her about was actually her undoing.

She was a graduate of Cornell University in 1907 and of the Library School in 1916, also in 1929 she received her Master's degree from the University of Michigan. She was for several years librarian of the Political Science and History Seminar at the University of Illinois. On the declaration of war in 1917 she was one of the first to volunteer for service, and was a librarian in the Camp library service until 1920. She was offered a Corps librarianship, but decided to return to civilian life. After this she was in charge of Serials at Princeton University Library; librarian of the State Teachers College, Kirksville, Missouri; librarian of Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa; assistant librarian at Pennsylvania State College and for the last two years librarian at Agnes Scott College. Her work here and in every position was most successful and her untimely death is a real loss to the profession as well as to her friends.

Beatrice Prall, B.L.S. '16, reports that at last the consolidation of the three public libraries of Saginaw, Michigan, has been effected—the Hoyt Public Library, the East Side Library, and the Butnam Fish Library. The Hoyt Library building will be the central library for the system. Miss Prall has been in Saginaw since 1925 and librarian since 1927.

Dorothy Cook, B.L.S. '19, cataloger, the Standard Catalog Series of the H. W. Wilson Co., N. Y., addressed the class in cataloging at the University of Denver School of Librarianship during the first week of school.

Jesse Lee Rader, '20-'21, librarian of the University of Oklahoma, is director of the newly accredited Library School at that University.

Florence Blackburn (Mrs. W. S. Thorne), B.L.S. '21, writes that she believes that it is very advantageous to take out life memberships in college and professional organizations. She is a life member in her college alumni association, the Illinois Library School Association, and the A.L.A. She is in charge of the Catalog division of the Library of the Board of Education of Los Angeles, and spent the summer touring in the Northwest with her husband.

Sally Woods (Mrs. J. R. Hamilton), B.L.S. '22, announces the birth of a daughter, Mary Frances, on October 24, 1932. She is living at Greenfield, Iowa.

Icelle Emma Wright, S.S. '23, cataloger, Oklahoma A.&M. College Library, Stillwater, Oklahoma, has been granted a year's leave of absence to accept a fellowship leading to the Master's degree at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C.

Alice Strong (Mrs. Arthur O. Alben), '22-'23, is now living in Shreveport, Louisiana.

Ruth McCaughtry, B.L.S. '23, died at the home of her parents in Crane, Missouri, on August 8th, of typhoid fever. At the time, her father, the Reverend James D. McCaughtry, was so dangerously ill from the same disease that it was impossible to tell him of her death. The funeral was delayed until his recovery, and took place in Springfield on September 29th. Miss McCaughtry was a graduate of Drury College in 1912, and received her professional degree at the University of Illinois in 1923. For the past seven years she had been in the Catalog department of the Springfield Public Library, and had made a host of friends for herself in that city. Previous to this she had held positions in the University of Illinois Library, the University of Iowa Library, and the University of Missouri Library. Miss McCaughtry was a most courageous person; a good many years ago she developed a serious heart trouble, but so strong was her desire to work that she never stopped, tho at times she was able to work only part time and sometimes had to take long periods of rest.

Gladys Baker, B.L.S. '24, has resigned from the University of Missouri Library staff and has been appointed cataloger in the University of Idaho Library, Moscow, Idaho.

Helen Meisinger, '25-'26, is children's librarian in the Public Library of Lincoln, Nebraska, and is well known there for her interesting work in story telling.

Betty Jean Britt, '25-'26, has been transferred from the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Dwight, Illinois, to the Hospital at Salt Lake City, Utah. Previous to this she organized the Library of the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Roberta Dulin (Mrs. F. M. Stewart), B.L.S. '26, writes that they are leaving Austin, Texas, as her husband has accepted a position in the Political Science Department of the University of California at Los Angeles. She may be addressed care of that department.

Esther Horr (Mrs. George Hodges), '26-'27, has recently moved from Decatur to Meredosia, Illinois. She has a young son, now several years old.

Louise Winn (Mrs. M. W. Getchell), B.L.S. '27, had a position from January to May with the D.C. Classification division of the Library of Congress. Her home address is 1631 S. Street N.W., Washington, D.C.

Mary La Rue, '26-'27, of the General Division of the State Library at Springfield, Illinois, had charge of the Illinois luncheon which was held at the time of the State Library Association meeting last month.

Esther Stallman, '26-'27, is instructor for this year at the Library School of the George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee.

Jerome K. Wilcox, M.A. '28, associate reference librarian of the John Crerar Library, and Mrs. Wilcox, announce the arrival of a son, Luman Edward, on May 18th, 1932. Mr. Wilcox is President of the Chicago Library Club and the Illinois Library School Association.

Gertrude Suess, M.A. '27, resigned as head of the Circulation department of the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, and was married on July 5 to Mr. Sheldon Brumbaugh, an architect. They have gone abroad for some time, but expect to make their home in New York for the present.

Mildred Kenney, '27-'28, of the Reference department of the Denver Public Library, was recently the representative of the University of Illinois at the dedication of the Mary Reed Library of the University of Denver.

Vera Kreiss, '27-'28, formerly in the Catalog department of the Public Library of Los Angeles, California, was married on March 25 to Mr. W. T. Neiman, and is living at 112 E. Frank street, Freeport, Illinois.

Genie J. Preston, '27-'28, has resigned her position as head of the Catalog department of the Montana State College, Bozeman, Montana, and is studying for her Master's degree at the University of Illinois this year.

Helen T. Geer, '27-'28, is reference librarian at the Flushing Branch of the Queens Borough Public Library, Jamaica, New York. Helen Ridgeway, '27-'28, is acting superintendent of branch reference work for the Queens Borough system. Both were taking work at the School of Library Service at Columbia last year, and are candidates for the A.M. degree.

Madeline Canova, '28-'29, who has been in charge of the Circulation department of the Texas University Library, has been granted the Mrs. Frederick Kahn Scholarship in Librarianship, and will start working for her Master's degree at the University of California.

Margaret M. Field, '28-'29, librarian of the Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, South Dakota, was awarded the first prize of $25 for the best article on "Why every high school should have its own copy of the latest edition of the Standard Catalog for High School Libraries." The prize was offered by the H. W. Wilson Company.

Dolores Fenner, '29-'30, died on the 23rd of May after a brief illness at the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul Avery, in Lawton, Oklahoma. After graduation she had a position for a year in the Queens Borough Public Library, Jamaica, New York, but for some months had been with her sister in Lawton. "Dolly," as she was known to her classmates, was so full of the joy of living, that it seems tragic for her career to have been cut so short.

William Baehr, '29-'30, who was working last year in the Graduate School of Librarianship at Chicago University, has had his fellowship extended for the first semester of 1932-33.

Raymond H. Shove, '29-'30, was married on July 5th to Miss Edna Bradbury, Carthage, Illinois. Mr. Shove has a position in the Order department of the University of Illinois. They are living at 606 W. Iowa Street, Urbana, Illinois.

Richard Burl Sealock, '29-'30, was married to Mary Margaret Morrow the 22nd of September at Eureka, Illinois. Mr. Sealock is on the staff of the Queens Borough Public Library, Jamaica, New York, and received his Master's degree from Columbia University this June.

Rutillia J. Eubank, '29-'30, who has been the librarian at Lubbock, Texas, was married in July to Mr. Dewitt Branch and has resigned from her position.

Lola Mae Rozzell, '29-'30, has been appointed librarian of the County Library at Lubbock, Texas, returning to her native state after several years on the staff of the Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Jacqueline Cravens, '29-'30, had a letter published in the H. W. Wilson Contest on Problem number two, see Wilson Bulletin for November, p. 192.

Beatrice Odell Green, '29-'30, was married August 17 to Doctor William H. Wilson. Her home is in Lawrenceville, Virginia. She was for a year librarian of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia.

Nellie R. Myers, '29-'30, was married August 20th to Mr. B. L. McNabb, at Ottumwa, Iowa. Mrs. McNabb will continue her work as assistant in the Library School. They are at home at 1102 W. Oregon Street, Urbana, Illinois.

Margaret Hager, '30-'31, is now librarian of the Public Library at Rushville, Indiana.

Edna M. McGrath, '29-'30, who has been librarian of the Public Library at East Moline, Illinois, was recently married and is now Mrs. Primm.

Allen D. Wilson, M.A. '30, librarian of the Junior College at Virginia, Minnesota, died August 1st in Denver, Colorado, after a severe illness from heart trouble. He leaves a widow and a son, James Allen, fourteen months old.

Frances E. Wallace, '30-'31, has resigned from her position as librarian, Cossit Avenue Public School Library, LaGrange, Illinois, because the Board lacked money to pay her all last year, and is working temporarily at Berea College Library, Berea, Kentucky, for the remainder of the school year.

Lucille G. Yunkers, '30-'31, has accepted a position in the Loan department of the Public Library at Evanston, Illinois.

Clovis Flanders, '30-'31, has a position in the Public Library at Berwyn, Illinois.

Merlie Damerau, '30-'31, resigned as assistant in the High School Library at Hibbing, Minnesota, and was married in July to Mr. Earl G. Johnson, Extension Specialist in Agricultural Engineering at the University of Illinois. They are at home at 404 Vermont Street, Urbana, Illinois.

Esther M. Phares, '30-'31, was married last February to Mr. H. S. Whalin. She has a position in the Catalog department of the University Library, and is doing graduate work. Mr. Whalin is also a graduate student.

Addie E. Smith, '30-'31, writes that she is on the staff of the Oklahoma State Agricultural Library, and is for this year in charge of the Catalog department.

Marian Phillips, '30-'31, is librarian of the Public Library at Moorhead, Minnesota.

Metella S. Williams, M.A. '31, is instructor at the Library School of the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge. Last year she was an instructor at the Los Angeles Public Library School which is no longer open.

Lucile Wilcox, M.A. '31, was married on August 29 to Mr. George G. Cox of Urbana. They are living at 35 Temple Street, Boston, Massachusetts, where Mr. Cox is attending the Theological Seminary of Boston University.

Allen D. Stowell, '30-'31, was married on September 3rd to Miss Emily Cramer of Winfield, Kansas. Mrs. Stowell has been a dietitian in a Chicago hospital. Mr. Stowell is at present a graduate student at Oberlin.

Evelyn Perkins, '30-'31, was married on February 20 to Mr. Harold Baldwin of Chicago. Mrs. Baldwin has retained her position as a cataloger in the Illinois State Library at Springfield, Illinois, while Mr. Baldwin is completing his law course in Chicago.

Maysel Baker, '30-'31, has been appointed assistant reference librarian at Northwestern University Library, Evanston, Illinois.

Elizabeth Dorcas, '30-'31, is librarian of the Albert Lea Public Library at Albert Lea, Minnesota.

Harry Griswold, '30-'31, received his Master's degree in History from the University of Illinois last June.

Helen M. Phillips, S.S. '27, '31, resigned her position as librarian of the Belleville High School last June because of ill health. After a long rest she has recovered and was present at the High School Conference at the University of Illinois, November 17-19, where she led the discussion on "Some Problems of the Smaller High School Library."

Elma Esther Kelly, '30-'31, is assistant in charge of the Reserved Book room at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio.

Ebba E. Hammarlund, S.S. '31, was married last spring to the Reverend Roy M. Smith. They are at home at 809 S. Fifth street, Champaign, Illinois.

Eleanor R. Kyle, M.A. '32, has a part time position in the Steele High School Library, Dayton, Ohio.

Lee F. Zimmerman, M.A. '32, has been appointed librarian of the Junior College library at Virginia, Minnesota.

Harriet Wirick, M.A. '32, has been appointed assistant librarian of the Armour Institute Library, Chicago, Illinois.

Harriet Rinard, M.A. '32, has returned to her position as Training School Librarian and Instructor in Library Science in the State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Indiana.

Arnold W. Rosaan, '28-'29, and Mrs. Rosaan announce the birth of a daughter Andrea on November 23rd. Mr. Rosaan is librarian of the Chemistry Library at the University of Illinois, and is continuing his work for his Master's degree.

STATISTICS OF LIBRARIANSHIP

The following article by Rebecca B. Rankin, Secretary of the Special Libraries Association, appeared in the November number of Special Libraries, and may be of interest.

"Total population of persons in the United States of 10 years old and over in 1930 is 98,723,047, and of this number 48,829,920 or 49.5% are gainfully employed, according to the latest U. S. Bureau of Census 'Occupation statistics.' Of the number employed 10,752,116 are women.

"In the professional service we find that a total of 3,253,884 persons are classed, almost equally divided between men and women—to be exact 1,727,650 men and 1,526,234 women. Librarians are included in this class of professional pursuits, and the total thus employed is indicated as 29,613; 2,557 of which are men and 27,056 are women.

"Other professions which have approximately the same number as librarians are the architects, of which only a small percentage are women, and social and welfare workers wherein women predominate as they do in the library profession. Teaching, a profession similar to ours but much older and more established, has more than a million in its ranks.

"The library professional ranks are filled almost entirely by native whites, there are only 1,497 foreign whites and 210 negroes. It may surprise us to know that about one-fifth of the librarians of the country are within the age group of 20 to 24 years, and about half the profession are between the ages of 20 and 34 years of age."

JOIN THE ASSOCIATION!

To carry on the work of the Association, as planned for this year, we must have three hundred annual memberships and as many Life memberships as possible. Annual membership fees $1.00 are used to defray the expenses of the News Letter, and to provide Loan Funds for promising first year students, who would otherwise not be able to finish the year. Life membership fees, $25.00 payable in five yearly installments, go towards the Endowment Fund which is to provide a permanent Scholarship for graduate study.

Please detach this blank and return it with your check to the Treasurer, Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library.

ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 18

June, 1933

THE LIBRARY OF THE

THE FIRST ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP

The Executive Board of the Association and the Trustees of the Endowment Fund decided during the winter that the time seemed favorable for granting the first Scholarship from the funds which the Association has been collecting for that purpose since 1925. The principal sum had reached $6,000 (see report of the Trustees in News Letter No. 17, December, 1932), and interest to the amount of $300 was available. This was in accordance with the action of the Association at Toronto, which decided that no awards should be made until the principal sum had reached an amount to yield $200 or more. It was the unanimous opinion of the Executive Board and the Trustees that the amount was now sufficient for the first Scholarship.

Accordingly, Mr. Windsor presented the matter to the Graduate School of the University, recommending that no tuition, incidental and laboratory fees be charged to the holder of the Scholarship, and that the Library School faculty or a committee of that faculty, consider all applications and recommend the best candidate to the Graduate School. The approved plan was then presented to the Board of Trustees of the University and they accepted the gift of the Association.

The Scholarship will operate according to the following plan:

1. The amount of the Scholarship shall be $300 for the coming year and for succeeding years, with the understanding that the Board of Trustees of the Endowment Fund has authority to reduce this amount, notice of such reduction to be sent to the Library School faculty by January 1st of any year, so as not to delay the advertising and other regulations concerning the award of the Scholarship which will usually be made in March.

2. The money for each Scholarship will be paid to the Comptroller of the University each year before the formal appointment of the candidate and this money shall be paid out to the holder of the Scholarship in accordance with the established practices of the Comptroller's office in the payment of other scholarships.

3. The Scholarship shall be given publicity each year and the candidate shall be selected by a committee of the Library School faculty who will consider all applications and choose the candidate who in their opinion is best qualified to receive the award.

The announcement of the Scholarship was made in the January Library Journal and a number of letters were sent out to alumni who might qualify; after the applications were received the faculty committee acted on them and decided that the award for the first year should go to one of our own alumni.

Miss Lucy Brown Foote, head cataloger, Louisiana State University, will be the first recipient of the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship. Miss Foote received her degree of B.S. from George Peabody College, and her first library degree with the Class of 1930. Her experience and personal traits eminently fit her for the honor bestowed.

Miss Foote's proposed thesis is "A study of the official state publications of Louisiana since 1899"—a project on which she has already begun work and which is in line with the current interests of the Public Documents Committee of the A.L.A.

This first Scholarship will be known as the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship and is named for the organizer of the School.

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1932-33

Jerome K. Wilcox, John Crerar Library, Chicago, President.

Lois F. Shortess, Education Department, Baton Rouge, La., Member Ex-officio. Trustees of Endowment Fund—J. S. Cleavinger, 1932-35; Margaret Hutchins, 1930-33; Anna May Price, 1931-34.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Strange as it may seem the Association needs members. Only 28 alumni have paid their dues this year. Do you enjoy the News Letter? If so, remember that it takes money to print it. We must have 100 annual members each year to pay for its publication. We should have more than the minimum of members, however, for the surplus funds in the general treasury are used to make loans to Library School students, who would be unable otherwise to finish the year. Such loans are made only to promising students on the advice of the faculty, and not a year goes by in which several students have not been assisted by this fund. The recipients of these loans have always repaid them promptly and the School feels that this fund is a very worth-while service on the part of the alumni. Annual memberships are only a dollar.

ADAH PATTON MEMORIAL

Miss Jutton, chairman of the committee, reports that the fund already amounts to seven hundred dollars in cash and, that they are very much pleased with the response to their letter which was sent out to former members of the University Library staff. The replies have been most cordial and many have indicated a desire to make a contribution as soon as economic conditions improve.

SCHOOL NEWS

Placement.—Rarely does a notice of a vacancy come to the School office. People even hesitate to take leaves of absence for further training for fear their positions cannot be held for them. Salaries have dropped in most communities. Statistics compiled the last of December show the following averages for the Class of 1932: M.A. degree, $1,665; B.S. in L.S. and experience, $1,200; no experience, $900. There are 142 alumni desiring positions and 67 who are interested in a change because of the likelihood of a loss of position if further reductions are made in their libraries.

In June we shall graduate 50 students with the B.S. in L.S. degree and 12 with the Master's degree, who will need positions. Altogether twenty men are interested in positions; 10 of them received their degree prior to 1933; 10 are in the present class; 9 will receive the B.S. degree, and 1 the M.A. degree. The Class of 1933 is larger than the above figures indicate, but the other members have positions.

The largest number of the unemployed alumni (including the Class of 1933) are from the following states: Illinois 51, Indiana 17, Iowa 18, Nebraska 12, Wisconsin 9, Missouri 8, Ohio 8, California 8, and Minnesota 7. Twenty-three other states are represented by 1 to 5 former students, now without positions. It is interesting to note that the New England states and several of the Atlantic states are not included in the list as well as a few of the far Western states.

If you are interested in helping reduce the number of unemployed fellow alumni in your own state, information will be gladly sent to you by Miss Krieg, the Assistant Director of the School.

Knowing that the alumni are always interested in new projects which are being carried on in Library School courses, the following members of the faculty have consented to tell about several of them:

Miss Boyd: "Recent graduates of the School who had a part in selecting books for the Browsing Room may be interested to know that this semester the classes in Book Selection are holding a series of book clinics (or something like that!) to try to discover the causes for the unpopularity of some of the books in the collection. Working in groups of seven—or committees as we call them—the students have diagnosed about four hundred books which have not circulated more than once or twice this year. All of the incurables (whether due to internal or external weaknesses) have been ordered back to the stacks; those which promise partial or complete recovery under proper advertising or re-shelving are allowed to remain in the Room, but only on the condition that they immediately show signs of improvement in popularity. You would be surprised to know how many with just this little attention have found delighted readers.

"Even more exciting has been our experience in 'going on the air!' Yes, we have written radio book reviews again this year, but we have broadcast them (that is, a few students have, who possess the proper radio voice—discovered through tests given at the Broadcasting Station.) Our program is called 'Airing New Books' and is to be heard over the University Station, WILL, every Wednesday and Friday morning at 10:45. By the end of the year we will have given fourteen broadcasts. . . ."

Miss Gramesly: "The class in Advanced Library Administration has just finished two rather unusual projects. They are folders to be used in the state wide publicity campaign to be carried on by the Illinois Library Association.

"The first leaflet is an appeal to the citizen for his support in keeping the Library running. Much has been made of the increased use of libraries in the present economic conditions; the lack of funds has been touched on lightly. Specific instances as to the increased use among libraries have been given, taken for the most part from library reports.

"The second leaflet has to do with endowments, or gifts and is an appeal to the citizen who wishes to create a public memorial, an investment for the future. The back of this leaflet bears a legal form in case any one wishes to remember his local library. These leaflets are to be distributed broadcast throughout the state."

Miss Hostetter: "In the High School Library Administration course, Anna H. Heyer, a member of the class, is preparing with the cooperation of the University Art and Design department, a study of the interior decoration of school libraries. The floor plan and elevations will probably be available for the School Libraries Section Exhibit during the A.L.A. Conference in October."

A new course in Children's Literature to be offered during the second semester of 1933-34 will emphasize the books which best meet the reading interests of children. Miss Hostetter will teach the course.

Miss Florinell Francis, who has been with the School for two years as an instructor of cataloging and classification, is leaving at the end of the summer session in order to take a similar position on the staff of the Library School of Louisiana State University.

Elizabeth Windsor, librarian of the Public Library at Charleston, Illinois, and Secretary of the Class of 1932, has just issued a mimeographed Class Letter which is full of news and gossip from the members of the class. Those who do not yet have positions write cheerfully of their various adventures in unemployment, some have found temporary positions in other types of work, others are pursuing hobbies, reading, or studying.

We realize that some of the above items about alumni may not be "news" in the real sense of the word, but they have come to us as news since the last Letter was issued. We are interested in securing such news items as quickly as possible and the cooperation of all the alumni is earnestly requested. Drop a card if you have no time to write letters, send a wedding invitation, a clipping from a newspaper about yourself, a copy of the journal with your latest article. You can't "make" the News Letter if we don't know what you are doing, and you have no idea how much your fellow alumni are interested in your movements.

LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 19

Dear Fellow Alumni:

The Executive Committee of the Illinois Library School Association extends to each one of you its greetings and best wishes.

We wish that it had been possible for all of the 1200 former students of the School in active work to have been present at the reunion in Chicago in October during the meeting of the American Library Association. Pride in our organization which numbers among its members many in the front ranks of library endeavor who are serving their communities gallantly and unselfishly, and the spirit of good fellowship in a group whose members have the same heritage of professional training and ideals, prompt us to suggest that we establish a "new loyalty" for ourselves or reaffirm an "old loyalty" that has been allowed to fade with disuse.

There are two ways that we may give expression to this loyalty at this time. One is by joining other alumni in our vicinity for a reunion when meetings are arranged by district chairmen. Another way is by giving financial support to our alumni organization. In these small ways we may manifest our personal appreciation of our professional alma mater and give evidence of our approval of its efforts and accomplishments.

It is the common experience of all of us, I know, to read through the Alumni News Letter, when it comes, from the first word to the last. It is not in the scheme of things for the publication and distribution of this News Letter to be undertaken except through the expenditure of funds from the Association treasury. During the year 1932-33 only 87 out of 1200 possible members paid annual membership dues into our treasury. Shall we not turn down this page of our organization history as soon as possible? Let all who are able send dues at once. We want to receive news of the School and its graduates, so get out the check book and make out a check for $1.00 payable to Miss Josie B. Houchens and mail it to her. Let us make her so busy receiving checks that she will have to enlist the help of several assistants.

Above all things do not stay away from a district alumni reunion because your dues are not paid. Go and get acquainted, cement friendships already started, and try to get in touch with those who are temporarily "standing and waiting" to enter their chosen profession. Let this be a year of strengthening our loyalties.

From now until June keep a watchful eye upon that vacation savings account so that we may look forward to a large representation of Illinois alumni at our reunion during the A.L.A. meeting in Montreal.

May you all wear seven league boots in your professional strides this year!

Sincerely yours,

BERTHA M. SCHNEIDER,

President.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING AND REUNION

The annual meeting of the Association was held in Chicago, October 18, at the International House, University of Chicago. The dinner was attended by 224 former students of the School and was the largest gathering the Association has ever held. The dinner was in charge of Adele Whitney, Dorothy Martin, and Mary Lou Nichols of the University of Chicago Libraries and was most successfully managed.

After the dinner Jerome K. Wilcox, the President, talked for a few minutes on the aims and hopes of the Association and then called for a roll by classes. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer was read and accepted. Ethel Bond then told of the Adah Patton Memorial fund. The Nominating Committee composed of Miss Simpson, H. Einac Mose, and Anita Hostetter then presented their report which was unanimously accepted, electing Bertha M. Schneider, President. This concluded the formal business meeting.

The president then called on Mr. Windsor, who spoke of the unusual conditions which had faced the University of Illinois and the effort which had been made to adjust its reduced income so as to cause the least unemployment and injury to its work. He said he believed in self-examination and would welcome the scrutiny of the Library School by University authorities feeling confident that the existence of the School was amply justified by the fine professional standing of the alumni, and by the loyalty of its former students which has been evidenced in many ways, and more recently by the fact that they have raised an endowment fund for an annual scholarship. The aim of the faculty has always been to keep the course alive and in line with new trends, and the curriculum of the first year has been worked out from two points of view, first to prepare for beginning work in libraries and second to give sufficient foundation of professional knowledge and professional attitude to prepare a student for continued progress in the profession either through active work or by continued formal study.

Miss Simpson was called on amid much applause and amused every one by saying that although she had no formal duties at present, she was so busy catching up with all the things she had always wanted to do, but never had the time for, that now she had time for nothing else and was busier than she had ever been. Miss Ahern expressed her pleasure at being one of the Illinois Alumni and said that she had great pride in the fine strong body of alumni which had grown out of the spirit of the School. Mr. Utey, the only honorary member of the Association, spoke with appreciation of his long acquaintance with the School and of his pleasure at having a number of its alumni on his staff. Mr. J. Christian Bay, Librarian of John Crerar, and a guest of the Association talked a few minutes on the pleasure he felt in looking back on his library experience and recalling the Illinois graduates he had known in the Library of Congress and in John Crerar. He urged the recent graduates to remember that youth was the period in which they should accumulate those aspirations with which they would have to live and that part of the pleasure of greying hair was to see those aspirations fulfilled.

ADAH PATTON MEMORIAL

Generous gifts from the Patton family have made possible the permanent organization of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund Board, much sooner than could have been done otherwise. The Board consists of the following members: P. L. Windsor, Ethel Bond, Frances Simpson, A. H. Trotier, Eleanor M. Robertson. The Fund, at the present time, amounts to $1,310. It is the desire of the Board to increase this to at least $3,000 within the next two or three years.

ALUMNI AND THE NEW DEAL

In a good many states CWA and CWS funds have been made available for library service. The School has sent lists of unemployed alumni to the officials in charge of this work in the various states and many former students who were out of positions have secured at least temporary employment.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES OF ALUMNI

Owing to lack of space this section will be printed in the next News Letter. If you have read a paper at any meeting, if you have been elected to an office in a professional association, if you have taken part in any library or civic movement, be sure and send in a notice.

THE NEWS LETTER! YES? OR NO?

The time has come for the alumni to decide whether they want a News Letter; it's theirs to cast the deciding vote. A vote in favor is of little purpose unless it is backed up by a check for annual dues. With over 1200 alumni in active work only 87 paid their dues last year. The Executive Board feels that the Letter should be self-supporting from the dues each year, and that the small reserve fund which has been so useful in making loans to students, should not be drawn on for this purpose. If the Letter has brought news of friends, if it has made you feel that you are more closely a part of a professional group, then it has done something which deserves recognition. Think it over and see if you can not send a check for one dollar, for annual dues. Do not wait for some one else to do it, they may be waiting on you.

ALUMNI DISTRICT MEETINGS

The Executive Board at its last meeting decided to make an effort to promote more acquaintance among the alumni located in the same states.

With this idea the President appointed several district chairmen to arrange for reunions among the alumni gathered at state meetings. It was so late in the fall that very few appointments could be made. However the following interesting reports were received:

Indiana.—Norris Talley wrote that she "gathered the alumni together for a breakfast at the Indiana state meeting. Those present were Esther Schlundt, Ruth Rothenberger, Ella Hodges, Nelle Coates, Bernice Dunton, Helen Clark, Hazel Whiteleather, Verna Pate, Dorothy Hurst, Margaret Hager, Norris Talley, and Elizabeth Ann Hinckley. The informal meeting was so much enjoyed that Helen Clark was appointed, President, and Elizabeth Ann Hinckley, Secretary, to arrange for a similar meeting next year."

Kentucky.—Margaret H. Tuttle writes: "I want to tell you of the enthusiasm which bubbled over at our second state reunion, which was held when the Kentucky Library Association met at Richmond in November. The ten alumni registered at the meeting, held a breakfast together, and all of them paid their dues. Later in the day another arrived and she also paid her dues. Were we proud of our 100 percent record? Those of us who had attended the Illinois dinner at A.L.A. tried to pass on some of the inspiration of that occasion. We intend to round up the other alumni in the state and form a Kentucky Club. Our aim is to promote sociability among our group, in time we might even undertake a project of some kind. Margaret H. Tuttle was elected president and Susan E. Miller, treasurer. I do hope that the alumni in other states have as good times as we do. The eleven paid up members are Mrs. Murison Dunn (Ada Barter), Elizabeth Hanson, Lena Nofcier, Perma Rich, Edna Rothe, Susan E. Miller, Frances Wallace, Annie Sue Montgomery, Ione Williams, Mary Elizabeth House, Margaret H. Tuttle. Evelyn J. Schneider, who was not able to attend, is a Life Member.

ALUMNI GOSSIP

Virginia Odor (Mrs. H. N. Rickey), 1895-96, gives her address as the Shoreham, Washington, D.C.

Minnie Earl Sears, B.L.S. '00, died in New York on November 28, 1933. She is widely known to the library world for her work as an editor of reference books. The first twenty years of her career were devoted to the scholarly study and practice of cataloging, her first position was in the catalog department of the University of Illinois; after that she was head cataloger in Bryn Mawr College Library, and then in the University of Minnesota Library, leaving there to become first assistant in the Reference-Catalog section of the New York Public Library. In 1920 she joined the editorial staff of the H. W. Wilson company, entering on work which enabled libraries throughout the country to enjoy the fruit of her wide knowledge and experience. From 1927 to 1931 she taught advanced cataloging in the Columbia University School for Library Service, organizing one of the first thoroughly graduate courses in this subject. She found time outside of her editorial work to engage in some cataloging activities for the A.L.A. and other library groups.

Twenty published volumes bear her name, those which are more familiar to the whole library world are the "List of Subject Headings for Small Libraries," "The Song Index," "The Essay Index," "The Children's Catalog" and the "Standard Catalog for Public Libraries."

Adaline M. Baker, B.L.S. '02, has a temporary position in the catalog department of the Public Library, Evanston, Illinois.

Ruth Abbott, B.L.S. '03, died at Presbyterian Hospital, October 28, 1933. She had been on the staff of the University of Chicago Library since her graduation, and since 1916 had been Librarian of the School of Education. She was widely known in the library world for her fine professional work and her generous, attractive personality had won for her many friends.

Margaret A. Gramesly, B.L.S. '04, will teach at the Louisiana State University School of Library Science, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, this summer.

Alice Louise Wing, B.L.S. '04, is acting librarian of the Public Library at Albion, Michigan, during the leave of absence of the librarian.

Margaret Hutchins, B.L.S. '08, now instructor in the School for Library Service at Columbia University, returned to the campus last June for Commencement. She wrote to a number of her classmates thinking that the time might be ripe for a reunion, and received several replies which may be of interest to other friends.

Anne Fraser Leidendeker, B.L.S. '08, wrote: "Life has been very strenuous these last few years and I haven't had time to renew my old friendships. I wish I might come to the reunion. . . I am being sent to the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Convention in Chicago in July, and I did wish I might have combined the two. I have been on the Board of the National Federation for the last two years, and as Librarian as well as woman, have been very interested in the problem of the unemployed girl. Since 1928 I have been the head of the Science and Industry division of the Los Angeles Public Library. It's a grand library and of course this department—20 on the staff—is the finest group in the library."

Fleda Straight Myers, B.L.S. '08, wrote: "I would love to come back for a reunion but the distance is so great for a college professor's wife. I haven't seen any of the Library classmates except the very few I have seen in Urbana on the two occasions when I have visited there. However I have not forgotten all I learned; I cataloged several private libraries when I first came to Cornell and three years ago I worked in the Library at the University of Nanking, China, when I accompanied my husband there on some agricultural work he was sent to do. We have two children, a boy of nineteen, who is a student at Cornell, and a girl almost ten. Six years ago when Clyde went to China the first time I took the children to France and had a wonderful year and a half living in France and making short trips to nearby countries."

Mrs. Reba Davis Clevenger, B.L.S. '11, is working in the loan department of the State College Library, Raleigh, North Carolina, for the present.

Mary E. Goff, B.L.S. '11, has been appointed assistant librarian and cataloger in the State Library, Austin, Texas.

Edith Harley Ford, B.L.S. '13, for a number of years librarian of the Filger Library at Minonk, Illinois, resigned in September, 1932, and became Record Librarian at the Margaret Hague Maternity Hospital, Jersey City, New Jersey.

1933 ATTENTION! CAROLYN FOLZ ANNOUNCING

"The class of 1933 news letter may appear soon if sufficient gossip can be gathered. Each member is requested to send in at once to the secretary, Carolyn Folz, University of Illinois Library, a newsy note about himself. If in doubt as to what information to include, think of what you would like to know about the group that were your special friends and do as you would be done by. To date about twelve of the promised Christmas letters have arrived. Send yours in today, (it will be early for next Christmas!) and we'll answer with a column equal to Winchell's."

Number 20

June, 1934

"THE RARE BOOK"

Well, in spite of the prognostications of the "doubting Thomases" and "gloomy Jonahs" who said that it couldn't be done, we did it! In other words, we succeeded in surprising Mr. Windsor, and we regard that as some accomplishment! Of course, it was quite essential that Mr. Windsor should know that the Library Club was planning a dinner on May 5 in recognition of the completion of twenty-five years of service here, with himself and Mrs. Windsor as honored guests, but aside from that information, the other features of the occasion were a complete surprise—so he says, and he has a habit of speaking the truth.

Probably you will all be interested in learning just how we went about it. As you already know, a Committee of Arrangements was appointed in February, consisting of Emma Jutton, Josie Houchens, Fanny Dunlap, Katherine Doyle, Christopher Faye, Isabelle Grant, Mary Lois Bull, Amelia Krieg, and Bertha Schneider, with Frances Simpson as Chairman. The Committee held four or five meetings at the home of the Chairman, who was directed to conduct all correspondence and decide matters of minor importance.

The first letter sent out by the Chairman went to one hundred and ten of Mr. Windsor's personal and professional friends on February twenty-first, and over ninety replies were received—a very remarkable response, indicating the high esteem in which Mr. Windsor's profession holds him.

The second letter, to fifteen hundred and forty-five alumni and former students of the Library School, was sent on March eighth, and two hundred and fifty-five responses have been received to date. These numbers do not include members of the University Library Staff, the Faculty of the Library School, and students now enrolled in the School, whose letters represented groups and not individuals, as a later statement in this account will show. Because of a threatened deluge of letters, the co-operation of the University, aside from the Library Staff and Library School, was not solicited. In fact, most of the general Faculty knew nothing about the plan.

Quite a number of alumni who are on the staff of the same library, or in adjacent libraries, signed group letters, twelve such letters, bearing seventy-five signatures, having been received. The letters from the University Library Staff were grouped in departments at their own request, and nine such letters, signed by ninety-two persons, are in the volume.

One letter, the one from the Shipping Department, which is manned by our old friend, Ted Wharmby, is so original and characteristic as to deserve special mention.

Thirteen members of the Library School Faculty signed a letter; one emeritus member wrote her own letter.

The letter from Mr. Windsor's graduate seminar class, Library 102b, was signed by ten graduate students, and the one from the Library School, in black-letter Latin by the way, and illuminated, bears fifty-two signatures.

The "Book" itself is a rare one indeed, and is a thing of beauty, thanks to the generous co-operation of our friend, Edward Hertzberg, who asked permission to do the binding as his personal contribution. It measures $8\frac{1}{2}$ by $11\frac{1}{4}$ by 2 inches, making a sizeable volume. The book is bound in blue crushed levant, with five raised bands. The name, Phineas Lawrence Windsor, in gold roman lettering and gold tooling are the only adornments. In place of end papers, Mr. Hertzberg has used gold silk moiré very effectively. A dark blue cloth case, lined with flannel and edged with leather holds the volume, and a bookmark of heavy blue and gold ribbon enables Mr. Windsor to "keep his place" when reading.

The book contains three illustrations, a frontispiece showing the east entrance to the new Library, a really artistic picture; one showing the east facade and part of the north wing, said to be Mr. Windsor's favorite view of the new Library; and a picture of the old Library, familiar to all older alumni.

The Title-page, was done on Whatman paper in black letter and illuminated. This is followed by the Foreword, also done on Whatman paper in black letter with a little illumination, and signed by the members of the Committee under date of April fifth.

The collection of the letters themselves begins with those from the Library Staff "following," as Miss Sharp used to say, "the order of the book," beginning therefore with the Order Department and closing with the letters from the departmental and college librarians. The letters from the Library School Faculty follow. Eighty-four letters with eighty-six signatures from Mr. Windsor's personal and professional friends come next, arranged alphabetically with the exception of the one from Dr. Herbert Putnam, which heads the list. This part of the book includes a letter from the Chicago Library Club, and one from the Lincoln Library at Springfield, Illinois.

By far the larger part of the volume was filled by letters from the alumni and former students. Two hundred and thirty letters reached us in time to be included in the book; the other twenty-five will be bound with other relevant material in an appendix. Ten letters from groups of former students and two letters from members enrolled this year close the volume. In all, the volume contains 337 letters and 550 signatures.

The dinner on May fifth, when the presentation of the volume to Mr. Windsor took place, proved to be such a delightful occasion that it deserves more than passing mention. It was held at The Southern Tea Room on Green Street, Champaign, and was attended by over one hundred and seventy of Mr. Windsor's friends. The local attendance was limited rather closely to library people, with the addition naturally of President and Mrs. Daniels, President-elect and Mrs. Willard, Mrs. Windsor, and Professor and Mrs. Litman, from the University Senate Library Committee. Mr. Windsor rather expected to see those friends, but he was surprised indeed to greet nearly fifty librarians from a distance. We must not omit Mr. Hertzberg who, with his daughter, drove down that afternoon and deposited the precious volume in the hands of the Chairman. The food was good. The floral decorations were unusually lovely and the company very happy.

Beautiful and appropriate place-cards were designed for the occasion and contained a list of speakers with the toasts to which each responded. These were as follows, Anne Morris Boyd acting as toastmaster:

A Great University Library.....	Dr. Koch
25 Years of Service to Faculty and Students.....	President Daniels
The Librarian and His Staff.....	Miss Jutton
	Mr. Trotier
I Hold Every Man a Debtor to His Profession.....	Mr. J. C. Bay
	(read by Mr. Mose)
Librarians in the Making: The Students.....	Mrs. Bertha Cooley
The Finished Product: The Alumni.....	Miss Bertha Schneider
Greetings from New York and Texas...	Mrs. Margaret Williams Jones
The Rare Book.....	Miss Simpson
Response.....	Mr. Windsor

The speeches were quite brief, rather informal and well received by the auditors. We had learned that Mr. Windsor had been wondering just what kind of a speech he was expected to make but as one of us said, "It doesn't make any particular difference what kind of a speech Mr. Windsor prepares, he won't give it," and he didn't! His response was brief and quite to the point and was the climax of a very happy occasion.

A good many telegrams of congratulations were received during the dinner, among them were messages from groups of alumni in Denver, Evansville, Chicago, Kansas City, Berkeley, Akron, Pasadena, Iowa City, who, unable to attend the celebration in Urbana, were having dinners of their own in honor of the occasion.

The following out-of-town alumni were present, Frances Ambuhl, Mary J. Booth, Wintress Brennan, Carrie Patton Clark, Jane Craig, Helen Dawley, Thelma Thornsburg Greer, Mae Hessler, Isabel Horne, Anita Hostetter, Jessie P. Jenks, Merle Damerau Johnson, Margaret Williams Jones, Nellie Roberts Kennedy, Ethel Kratz, Mary LaRue, Dorothy G. Martin, Alberta Hughes Marvel, Nellie P. Morris, H. Einar Mose, Mary Lucille Nickell, Verna H. Pate, Grace D. Phillips, Anna May Price, Myrtle Renz Roberts, Bertha Schneider, Bethania Smith, Mae Smith, Norris Talley, Thelma Van Ness, S. Ambrose Wetherbee, Jerome K. Wilcox, Elizabeth Windsor.

To the Alumni:

You will not expect me to reply to each of the hundreds of letters and telegrams sent for inclusion in my 25-year Book, but in this News Letter I do wish to thank you one and all from the bottom of my heart for those tokens of appreciation so generously given. I knew there was to be a Library Club dinner for me, but the Book and the fifty out-of-town friends were a complete surprise.

And no one knows better than I that the tributes were partly due to Mrs. Windsor, who joins me in this brief but nevertheless sincere, "Thank you."

DISTRICT MEETINGS

A representative of the Illinois Library School Association has been appointed in each state. This representative has been asked to be responsible for arranging each year reunions of Illinois alumni and former students at the time of the annual state meetings of librarians. The purpose of these meetings is three-fold, to foster professional friendships, to maintain an active interest in the Library School and to collect dues for the Secretary-Treasurer of the Association.

In the coming days of a planned society we shall be able to exchange experiences and promote the best in our communities through such organizations as our alumni association. The following reports of reunions have been received.

From Gretchen Knief, Los Angeles County Library

The California Library Association had a reunion of Illinois Library School alumni at its meeting in Pasadena early in May. Our dinner was held at the Arroyo. Around the large round table in a private dining room, twelve Illini gathered to renew acquaintance, become acquainted, and to do honor to Mr. Windsor. Those present were: Jeannette Drake, Librarian of the Pasadena Public Library; Mrs. Anne Fraser Leidendeker, Helen Laughlin and Gladys Sandifur, all of the Science and Industry Dept. of the Los Angeles Public Library; John Paul Stone and Geraldine Kirkham of San Diego State Teachers Library, with Mrs. Stone; Mrs. Ada Nelson Whiting, Librarian of the Hyde Park Branch of the Los Angeles Public Library; Alice Coldren, Reference Librarian of the University of California, Los Angeles; Mabel V. Miller, Jessie J. Glass, Librarian of the Olive View Branch of the Los Angeles County Library, and I.

As far as entertainment went, we fared better than most groups, I believe, since Miss Drake had just completed her five-month tour of the world, traveling around the southern hemisphere chiefly. She held us spell-bound with her tales, particularly of Japan.

From Mildred A. Kenney of the Public Library of Denver, Colorado

Illini of the Library School in the Rocky Mountain district were invited to a dinner at the Ohio Hotel in Denver on May 5th, the night of the dinner at Urbana in Mr. Windsor's honor. The seventeen alumni and former Library School students in this vicinity are: Elsie Baechtold, Vera V. Campbell, South High School Library, Denver; Eleanor Davis, Natrona County Public Library, Casper, Wyoming; Anne F. Dudack, School of Commerce Library, University of Denver; Minnie B. Duncan, Western State College Library, Gunnison, Colo.; Edna E. Gustafson, West High School Library, Denver; Harriet Howe, School of Librarianship, University of Denver; Mildred Kenney, Public Library, Denver; Mary Marks, University of Wyoming, Laramie; Mary Ella McConnell, Colorado Springs; Mrs. Anne McKinstry, Florence Pickett, Colorado Springs; Irma M. Riegel, Grant Junior High School Library, Denver; Mrs. Earl U. Rugg, Greeley; Nina Schaeffer, Casper; Mrs. Mary L. Wakefield, Denver; Margaret A. Wisherd, Garden Place Junior High School Library, Denver.

From Lois Shortess of Baton Rouge, Louisiana

I wanted to report to you the delightful breakfast that the former students of the Illinois Library School had here one Saturday morning in April. There were fourteen of us present and a letter addressed to Mr. Windsor, signed by each of us, was mailed to Miss Simpson.

From Columbus, Ohio

On April 11th ten former members of the Illinois Library School in Central Ohio met for a dinner and reunion at the Faculty Club on the Ohio State University campus. There were two from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware and the rest were from Columbus. It was a delightful occasion arranged by Miss Margaret Oldfather and it was decided to get together for a like affair in the fall. Those present were: Miss H. Louise Edmondson, Librarian of the College of Education, Ohio State University (Honor: Chairman, Library Section, Ohio State Educational Conference, April 5-7); Miss Maurine Irwin, Ohio Wesleyan University Library, Delaware; Miss Esther Kelly, Ohio Wesleyan University Library, Delaware; Miss E. Louise Lewis, Central High School Library, Columbus, Ohio; Miss Dorothy V. Martin, 369 Northridge Road, Columbus, O.; Miss Ena Oertli, Miss Margaret Oldfather, Miss Bertha M. Schneider, Miss Gladyce Scott, Ohio State University Library; Mrs. Imogene True, 2537 Glenmawr Avenue, Columbus, O.

From Barcus Tichenor, Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana

On April 6th the former students of the Illinois Library School living in the vicinity of Muncie held a delightful reunion and dinner.

From Harold W. Hayden, University of Iowa

The University of Illinois Library School alumni of Iowa City held a reunion dinner Saturday evening in the Dutch room of the Hawks' Nest. Similar reunions in Mr. Windsor's honor were held by alumni throughout the country.

A message of greeting and congratulations was sent by the local group to Mr. Windsor at the reunion at Urbana, Ill. Mr. Harold W. Hayden was in charge of arrangements here, assisted by Miss Sarita Robinson and Miss Doris Foley.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hayden, Miss Robinson, Miss Foley, Miss Bessie Stover, Miss Lillie Cilley, Miss Margaret Wardell, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Jencks, Miss Nina Frohwein, Mrs. Aletha B. Redman, Miss Helene Miller, Miss Anna O'Donnell, Miss Irene Steidl, Mrs. Genevra P. True, Miss Emma Felsenthal and Miss Martha M. Guenther of Iowa Wesleyan library.

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1933-34

President, Bertha M. Schneider, University of Ohio Library.

First Vice-President, Mabel M. Conat, Detroit Public Library.

Second Vice-President, Myron M. Getchell, Dewey Decimal Classification office, Washington, D.C.

Secretary-Treasurer, Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library.

Member Ex-officio, Jerome K. Wilcox, John Crerar Library.

Trustees of Endowment Fund: J. S. Cleavinger, 1932-35; Margaret Hutchins, 1933-36; Anna May Price, 1931-34.

SALARY STATISTICS

It has been a long while since statistics have been compiled concerning the types of positions in which our graduates are located, concerning salaries, and other data of similar interest to the alumni as a group. In order that such a compilation may be made for the next issue of the Alumni News Letter, will you please fill in and return as soon as possible the blank enclosed for that purpose.

MEMBERSHIP DUES—S.O.S. CALL

The membership in the Association is at a very low ebb, and it is necessary for more alumni to join if the News Letter is to be continued. There are over 1200 former students of the School in active work, of these nearly two hundred are life members and so contribute only to the Graduate Scholarship Fund. This makes the publication of the News Letter entirely dependent on the $1.00 annual membership dues. It is not a large sum and it is probable that most of the alumni would join if they just gave it a little thought. Isn't it worth a dollar to keep in touch with your professional Alma Mater? When you go to the A.L.A. dinner reunion of the Library School Alumni, isn't it worth a dollar to feel that you are taking an active interest in the gathering, making a contribution to the Student Loan Fund, to the costs of the News Letter, to the general feeling of unity in the professional group with which you are most closely allied? Think it over and see if you haven't a dollar to send to the treasurer.

SCHOOL NEWS

Our estimated enrollment of fifty students for the Summer Session is now complete, but applications continue coming in. Two of the first year courses will be taught by Mr. Charles H. Stone, '16. Mr. Stone has had years of library science teaching experience. He organized the Library School at George Peabody College for Teachers, and continued his teaching at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina when he left Nashville for Greensboro. Various summers have been spent in teaching at the Columbia School of Library Service.

It seemed opportune to present the new course in Children's literature, offered by Miss Hostetter, for those who have had their training before such a course was included in the curriculum, and who may feel the need for such training in connection with their public library or school library work at the present time.

The advanced work stresses government documents. In connection with the interest aroused in this field through the programs of the A.L.A. Public Documents Committee, we have found a growing desire for training in it. While the courses as outlined seem like a heavy diet of one ingredient, still we feel that librarians might care to specialize this year in this one phase.

Twenty-eight of the students of the class of 1933-34 who are without prospects for positions for the coming year co-operated in issuing, with the consent of the Faculty, a series of printed records of their training and experience. The individual record is on heavy paper of post card size and includes beside the information indicated, a photograph and personal data. The group of records has been sent to large university and public libraries, to state commissions, to state and city supervisors of school libraries, and to a selected group of other institutions where it was considered there might be an interest in Illinois Library School graduates. Each student has a small supply of his own slips for personal applications.

The response from the organizations to which the records were sent as a group, have all been commendatory so far, but as was expected there was no indication of immediate possibilities of placement. It is hoped, however, that with bettering business conditions, the project will really justify itself.

We shall be glad to send "circulating" copies of the records to librarians interested.

Lucy Lewis, B.L.S. '06, director of the libraries of the State of Oregon and librarian of the Agricultural College at Corvallis was elected to Phi Beta Kappa by the Oregon state chapter in May. It is the custom of the chapter to elect each year three members of the faculty who have been outstanding in their achievements in their field and this year Miss Lewis was one of the three.

Winifred Fehrenkamp, B.L.S. '12, died in New York City on March 18th, 1934 after a long illness from pneumonia. Since 1926 she had been a librarian of the Avery Library of Architecture in Columbia University. From 1912-23 she had been librarian of the Ricker library of Architecture at the University of Illinois, and from 1923-26 librarian of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin. In her long and varied career she was always quick to see the possibilities for service which her libraries afforded and she made strong friends in the two architectural Schools and also on the faculty of Lawrence College. She was interested in all forms of art and had spent much time in Europe studying these subjects. She was remarkably loyal to her friends and her interests outside the library field were varied. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and active in its alumni work. She was a member of a number of other social organizations and always took an active part in them. She was President of the University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association 1930-31. She was a devoted and active Churchwoman all her life. Funeral services were held in Kings Chapel for her many friends in Columbia, and later in Milwaukee, her old home.

Jesse L. Rader, '20-21, librarian of the University of Oklahoma received unusual recognition for his twenty-five years of service when members of his staff and faculty members of the school of library service presented his portrait to the University, on March 8, 1934. The portrait was painted by Patricio Gimeno, a member of the University faculty and was presented by James J. Hill, B.S. '29, assistant librarian in a special ceremony in the office of the President, Dr. W. B. Bizzell. There were many members of the faculty present at the ceremony. Dr. Bizzell in accepting the portrait paid a high compliment to Mr. Rader. He said, "Although I have been on the campus only nine years, I have learned to value Mr. Rader's knowledge of books and his ability to direct the library. He has taught me a great deal during this time and has interested me in collecting good books." Mr. Rader graduated from the University in 1908 and that fall became the librarian. The portrait will hang in the treasure room of the library.

Number 21

June, 1935

GREETINGS FROM THE SUNSHINE OF THE ROCKIES

Here's to a big reunion in Denver in June! The usual "library school dinners" evening is being scheduled for conference week. With the local Illini in charge and an enthusiastic welcome ready for the faculty and alumni from away this dinner should be a gala event.

The state chairmen of the Alumni Association are hereby asked to continue their work as outlined last year by our ex-President—Bertha Schneider.

The Secretary-Treasurer reminds us that the news letters are not paying for themselves. Therefore I am hoping that the state secretaries will be busily engaged in getting in new annual and life memberships to report at the June business meeting.

The annual dinner and meeting will be held Thursday evening June 27th at the Shirley-Savoy Hotel. Mildred A. Kenney of the Denver Public Library is Chairman of the committee for the reunion.

With greetings again and a cordial invitation to come to Denver in June, I am

Yours sincerely,

HARRIET E. HOWE, President

MONTREAL MEETING

The annual dinner and meeting of the Association was held at the Windsor Hotel on June 28, 1934. There were one hundred and three present.

At the close of the dinner, Bertha Schneider, President, called the roll by classes; 1930 was the banner class with ten members present. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer was read and accepted. Mr. Cleavinger gave the report of the Trustees of the Endowment Fund. A report of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund Board was read by Miss Bond.

Miss Schneider said that the Executive Board had been working on three lines of endeavor during the year. (1) For a close unity among the alumni by means of reunions, such as breakfasts or dinners held at state meetings and in cities where a number of alumni were gathered permanently. (2) The appointment of a secretary for each state to arrange for meetings, collect dues, and news items and to send such collections to the Secretary-Treasurer who is also the editor of the News Letter. (3) An effort to increase the annual membership of the Association especially by urging the more recent graduates to join. She reported that the reunions had been unusually successful and hoped that they would be continued as a permanent custom.

Miss Lucy Foote the recipient of the Katherine L. Sharp Scholarship for 1933, the first scholarship granted from the Alumni Endowment Fund, was then presented and spoke for a few minutes. Miss Krieg gave a few minutes talk on the placement situation and presented various statistics which were of interest. Miss Phelps spoke of the various changes in the Library School curriculum. Miss Boyd gave a graphic account of the dinner which had been given to Mr. Windsor on the occasion of his 25th anniversary as librarian and director of the School. Mr. Cleavinger spoke of the loyalty and affection of the alumni for Mr. Windsor and moved that the Association appoint a committee to confer with the University authorities with regard to naming the Library the Windsor Library. Mr. Windsor hastened to protest because he said there was a University rule of long standing which forbade the naming of any building after a living person and he was very much alive. Mr. Cleavinger protested that he wished the Association to go on record as desiring such an action and the motion was passed. Mr. Trotier was then presented as the new Head of the Catalog Department of the University and he spoke for a few minutes on his appreciation of the cordiality he had experienced since his appointment.

Mr. Windsor devoted most of his talk to expressing his appreciation of the anniversary dinner and of the beautifully bound book of letters which was presented to him on that occasion. He had the book with him and an opportunity was given for its examination.

The Nominating Committee then presented the following slate which was unanimously elected: Harriet E. Howe, President; Arthur Smith, 1st Vice-President; Floy Carroll, 2nd Vice-President; Josie B. Houchens, Secretary-Treasurer; Louise B. Krause, Trustee for the Endowment Fund, 1934.

A telegram of greeting was sent to Miss Simpson expressing the regret of the Association that she could not be present.

Miss Howe was then presented as the new President and she responded with a very cordial invitation to attend the next reunion which would be held at Denver.

ETHEL BOND, Secretary, pro-tem.

President—Harriet E. Howe, School of Librarianship, Denver University, Denver, Colorado.

First Vice-President—Arthur Smith, Kansas State Agricultural College Library, Manhattan, Kansas.

Second Vice-President—Floy Carroll, Kearney State Teachers College, Kearney, Nebraska.

Secretary-Treasurer and Editor of News Letter—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library, Urbana, Illinois.

Member Ex-officio—Bertha M. Schneider, University of Ohio Library, Columbus, Ohio.

ALUMNI ENDOWMENT FUND REPORT

Two scholarships of $300 each have been paid to the University in the spring of 1933 and 1934 respectively, for use during the succeeding academic year; the amounts have been taken from the accrued earnings of the fund.

The resources of the fund which are at present in the hands of the Trustees are as follows:

6 per cent stock certificates of the Commercial Building & Loan Association, Urbana, Illinois.....	$5,600.00
On deposit in Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.....	962.59
Total.....	$6,562.59

Sources of this amount:	Reported, 1933	Year, 1933-34	Total to date
From life memberships and special contributions, augmented by authorized advance of $596.00 from the general treasury in 1927	$5,293.50	$132.50	$5,426.00
From interest collections.....	1,529.02	207.59	1,736.61
Less scholarships paid.....	(300.00)	(300.02)	(600.02)
	$6,522.52		$6,562.59

The 1933 report was made as of October 1; the net increase in the hands of the Trustees since that time is $40.07. The apparent excess of expenditures over income from interest is due to the fact that the report covers receipts for only eight months; another interest payment of $150.00 from Building & Loan is due July 12.

June 1, 1934

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. CLEAVINGER

Liabilities—None.

It is probable that payments on deposits in closed banks will average about 40% of the totals now on deposit.

It is urged that members make an effort to pay their dues with more regularity and that the more recent graduates join the Association in greater numbers.

JOSIE B. HOUCHENS,
Secretary-Treasurer

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Have you paid your dues this year? The fiscal year of the Association coincides with the college year. The membership is at a very low point just now and if the News Letter is to be continued, at least 200 alumni must pay the annual fee of one dollar. The Executive Board feels that the letters should be self supporting and that the small reserve fund in the general treasury should not be drawn on to any great extent. This fund has been very useful in making loans to students who have found themselves in unexpected need and has been frequently turned over without a single loss.

You will find attached to this letter a pink slip, fill it out, attach a dollar and send to the Treasurer without delay so that a News Letter may come out in the fall. If you have paid your 1934-35 dues, you have a right to feel complacent but do not let it rest there, help out by getting some one else to pay theirs.

THE ADAH PATTON MEMORIAL FUND

As a good many of the Alumni know, this memorial to Miss Patton was started in 1932 under the auspices of the Library Club of the University Library to establish a fund for publishing in the general field of library science but especially in cataloging, classification and bibliography.

In spite of the adverse economic conditions the fund has been growing steadily and at the last meeting of the Library Club, the Memorial Fund Board reported that $1,521.38 had been received in gifts.

Our Library School Alumni could undoubtedly provide much valuable professional literature that would be worthy of publication, indeed the School has several items on hand already if funds could only be found for their publication. To this end, many Alumni may feel that they would like to contribute, even though they did not personally know Miss Patton. Checks may be sent to Miss Eleanor Robertson, Catalog Department of the University of Illinois Library, Secretary-Treasurer of the Board.

MARGARET AMIDON GRAMESLY

Margaret Amidon Gramesly, B.L.S. '04, who has been a member of the faculty of the University of Illinois Library School for the past twelve years, died suddenly Sunday, August 12, at her home in Urbana. She had not been well for some time, but with the courage so characteristic of her, she made light of her condition and insisted on fulfilling her contract to teach in the Summer Session at Baton Rouge. As her death came only a week after her return, her friends now realize that these last weeks must have been a terrific ordeal and only her will power carried her through.

Miss Gramesly was born in Charleston, Illinois, where she attended the public schools. After attending Illinois State Normal University at Charleston, she entered the University of Illinois and was granted the B.L.S. degree in 1904. Between that time and 1922 when she returned to the University of Illinois Library School as instructor in library administration, she served in many capacities in the public libraries of Illinois and Tennessee, and in the state commissions of three states: Missouri, Ohio and Iowa.

She was Children's Librarian in the Jacksonville, Illinois Public Library from 1904 to 1905; Branch Librarian, Cossitt Library, Memphis, Tennessee, 1905-06; Manager, Traveling Libraries, Missouri Library Commission, 1906-12; First Assistant, Traveling Library Department, Ohio Library Commission, 1912-15; Librarian, Charleston, Illinois, Public Library, 1915-21; Organizer, Iowa Library Commission, 1921-22.

Besides teaching at the University of Illinois, Miss Gramesly taught during the summers of 1927-31 at George Peabody College for Teachers, and during the summer of 1934 at Louisiana State University School for Library Service. She was a popular teacher and brought to her students a broad perspective of the library field as well as an appreciation of all phases of library work. Her students and her many friends will always remember her for her gay sense of humor, her vivacity, and her personal interest in them.

SALARY STATISTICS FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ALUMNI

For a number of years the University of Illinois Library School has collected, from its former students, statistics on salaries and positions. These have been published about every three years in the News Letter and present an interesting picture of salary trends.

The last tables in 1930 represent probably the peak in library salaries. Before that the trend was slowly up and since then rather rapidly down. It is impossible to make these tables show a true picture of the whole salary situation for the figures are taken only from blanks returned, and many Alumni did not reply and some who replied omitted the salary. Out of 1127 in active work, there were 834 replies which could be used. As usual, some of the Alumni whose salaries fall in the higher brackets did not return their blanks.

The peak first year registration of the Library School was in 1930 with 152 students, and in 1931 with 134 students. Since then the registration has been held down to about 60 in an effort to relieve the placement problem. This has meant that applicants were rejected each year, and not that there has been any appreciable decrease in the numbers seeking to enter the profession.

Table 1 gives the average salaries for men and women who have taken the one and two years course since 1917. This shows clearly the rise to 1930 and the decline since the depression. Figures in parenthesis give the number of replies.

Table 2 will show how many people are receiving the same salaries, and the spread of the salaries over the entire group. In 1927 there were 46 people reporting who received $3,000 and over; in 1930, there were 76; whereas only 38 reported that salary in 1935. In the middle group the figures for 1927 showed 204 receiving $2,000 to $2,900; in 1930, this number showed a slight increase to 234; in 1935, it has fallen to 177. For 1923, 1927, and 1930 the largest group receiving the same salary was the $1,800 group, but the 1935 statistics show that this figure has fallen to $1,500 or the level in 1920.

1917—228 replies; 19% received $1200; 28% received more and 53% less
 1920—280 replies; 15% received $1500; 40% received more and 45% less

 1935—834 replies; 11% received $1500; 51% received more and 38% less

The salaries for women with the Master's degree still show an advantage over the first year group; however, the two year group has suffered severely. Where the 1930 figures (191 reporting) show that the largest number in this group receive $2,500 and over, the 1935 figures (193 reporting) show that the salaries received by the largest number of two year women lie between $2,500 and $1,800 with a disturbingly large group receiving less than $1,800.

The salaries for women with only one year of training show a similar decline. In 1930 the median salary for the group was $1,800, and in 1935 it was $1,500. When we consider that this group is composed of college graduates, a supposedly picked group (if the Library School requirements mean anything) that they have had one year of additional college work (which in almost any other subject would entitle them to a Master's degree), it seems that the rewards of library work are too meager to continue to attract the most desirable type of college graduate.

Salaries for men also show a decided decline, but this is partly due to the increase in the number of young men who have entered the profession in the last five years. In 1930, only 41 reported; in 1935 the number was 71, almost double. Even with this increase in numbers, the salary figures are decidedly encouraging as compared to those for women. (See Table 1.)

Table 3 is based on a classification by types of position and by types of libraries. The distribution between university and college libraries, and public libraries is in favor of the former. Cataloging still claims about 25% of the number reporting. School library work shows an increase from 70 in 1930 to 119 in 1935. Special libraries have attracted 59 in 1935 as against 24 in 1930.

University and college salaries are still a little better than public library salaries for similar positions. Catalogers' salaries make a good comparative showing. Positions under teaching and related work continue to offer better average salaries than the more technical library positions.

Table 4 appears for the first and we hope the last time. It is cheering to note that 56 people were fortunate in receiving no cut in salary and that 31 were actually handed a gift from the gods—an increase. The fact that in some cases cuts have been restored is a hopeful sign. The other figures speak for themselves.

The compilation is based only on the blanks which gave specific information on the subject. Some were too vague to be included.

Unemployment—The known list of unemployed Alumni now numbers 110 of these a number had temporary employment either for all or part of the year largely through substituting during the leave of absence of some former student or on some FERA or CWA projects.

However 70 either had no temporary employment or did not report any. Eleven of these belonged in the classes from 1902-18, 25 in classes from 1919-30, and 34 from 1931-34. The graduating class in June has 55 members. Of these, 33 are as yet unplaced though some have established contacts which may lead to positions. Perhaps it is a sign that optimism is really growing that 132 former students have written in this spring desiring a change of place.

In 1930 it seemed that when a person had been out of Library School for from 10 to 15 years there might be a reasonable expectation of a salary of at least $2,500 as that figure had held since 1923. This figure shows a drop for 1935, it will be interesting to see if it is restored by the date of the next tabulation.

The cuts range, in the first case, from 8% to 46%; in the second case, from 5 1/2% to 58 1/3%.
It is well to note, however, that in both cases the greatest number of cuts was found in the 15% group and the next greatest number of cuts was found in the 20% group. In the first case 65% have 20% cuts or less. In the second case 71% have 20% cuts or less.

DISTRICT ALUMNI REUNIONS

ILLINOIS

The meeting of the Illinois Library Association at Decatur was the occasion for an Alumni breakfast, Friday, November 2, at the St. Nicholas Hotel. The following Alumni were present: Eugenia Allin, Ethel Kratz, Opal Stone, Fay Hart, P. L. Windsor and wife, Ruby Kerley, Elizabeth Windsor, Vera J. Smith, Ethel Bond, Mae Hessler, Fern Garrett, Grace Murray, Hazel I. Beale, Mary J. Booth, Alleen Wilson, Katharine L. Arzinger, Anne Benner, Maybelle Leland, Lucy Errett, Margaret Dick, Lila Stonemitz, Julia Lind.

INDIANA

The Indiana Alumni of the University of Illinois Library School met informally for breakfast at the Morningside Hotel in South Bend, Friday, October 28 during the annual I.L.A. meeting. Those present were: Frances Kraft, Gary; Alice Van Zanten and Estella Stringer, Fort Wayne; Barcus Tichenor, Leela Smith, Sally Robards and Elizabeth Hinckley, Muncie; Esther Schlundt, Lafayette; Edna Gillogly, South Bend; and Nell Coats, Hazel Whiteleather and Helen Clark, Indianapolis. Marguerite Anderson, Indianapolis was elected Chairman for the 1935 meeting and Eleanore Cammack, Lafayette, Secretary.

HELEN CLARK

KANSAS

On October 24, 25, and 26 the Kansas Library Association met in Manhattan, Kansas. At this time the Illinois Library School Alumni had a grand reunion and dinner party at the Kansas State College cafeteria. Martha Cullipher, Mildred Camp, and Louise Barry arranged the dinner and carried out the Illinois colors with flowers and place cards carrying Illini seals which were sent P.D.Q. from Urbana express for the occasion. It was a gala affair and even the one man enjoyed it. The group who enjoyed the reunion was: Alice L. Beach, Gayle Clark, Mary E. Hoff, Mary E. Sherfy, Ruth Hammond, Jessie Gulick, Josephine Cowles, Louise Barry, C. P. Baber, Grace Crumpacker, Mildred Camp, Alice H. Buckner, Grace E. Derby, B. Howard Holt, Martha R. Cullipher, Gladys Judy, Elizabeth H. Davis.

B. HOWARD HOLT

KENTUCKY

At the annual breakfast meeting of the Illinois Library School graduates in Kentucky, I was requested, as president of the group, to write you about our meeting which was held as a part of the meeting of the K.L.A. in Louisville in October.

The following Alumni were present at the breakfast: Margaret Tuttle, University of Kentucky; Lena B. Nofcier and Perma Rich of the Kentucky Library Commission; Evelyn Schneider and Elizabeth Hause of the University of Louisville; Mary Dildine, Union College, Barbourville; Ione Williams, Sue Bennet College, London; Miss Katterjohn, University of Kentucky; Phoebe Dimock, Pikeville College, Pikeville; and Edna Bothe, Western Kentucky Teachers College, Bowling Green. Miss Williams, who was elected Treasurer collected eight dollars alumni dues from those present. Elizabeth Hanson who could not be present because of illness sent her dues to Miss Tuttle. Miss Williams has forwarded these dues to Miss Houchens.

We were very sorry to learn of the death of Miss Gramesley. We know she will be missed not only by the faculty and students but by all those who knew her and loved her.

Our group from Illinois in Kentucky is growing each year. At the first meeting of the K.L.A. which I attended in 1929, Miss Noficier and I were the only Illinois graduates present. Now we have an enthusiastic group of ten or twelve present at the breakfast every year. I believe we have more Alumni in the state than any other library school; at least we seem to be the only group that gets together. We always enjoy our group meeting and those of us who attend the K.L.A. look forward to it each year.

EDNA BOTHE

MINNESOTA

Amy C. Moon, '01, has been chosen as Secretary of the Illinois Library School Alumni Association in Minnesota. In October this group held a reunion in St. Paul and sent a message of congratulations to Mr. Windsor on the completion of his 25th year as Director of the school.

NEW YORK

The New York Alumni were entertained at a tea in November given by Margaret Hutchins at her apartment on Riverside Drive. Mr. Windsor who was attending the dedication ceremonies at the opening of the new Columbia University Library was the guest of honor.

NORTH DAKOTA

At last, the Illini in this section have had a get-together. I am enclosing an account of a dinner given on Friday evening, January 11, when the librarians of Fargo, N. D., and the adjoining city of Moorhead, Minnesota, met at dinner at the Gardner Hotel in Fargo, in honor of Miss Julia Wright Merrill. Librarians from the State Library Commission, and from various libraries in the state of N. D. were also in attendance. Miss Merrill spoke of the library planning, and the proposed effort to receive federal aid.

In addition to Miss Merrill, the following Illini were present: Miss Marion Phillips, Librarian of the Moorhead Public Library; Miss Sarah Hougham, Librarian of the Moorhead State Teachers' College; and Miss Harriet A. Pearson, Assistant Librarian, North Dakota Agricultural College.

HARRIET A. PEARSON

SOUTHWESTERN ALUMNI

Graduates of the Library School, to the number of 41, met together at dinner in Memphis at the Southeastern and Southwestern Library Associations. There were twelve states represented, Georgia, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Illinois. The occasion was a very informal one. Each one introduced himself and gave his present position, and Mr. Stone, who was presiding, called on a representative from each state to make a few additional impromptu remarks. Regret was expressed that no one representing the Library School could be present.

OLA M. WYETH

WASHINGTON, D. C., AND VICINITY

We arranged a dinner for our group on November 16, 1934, at the American Association of University Women's headquarters and nineteen were present. Besides the Washington people, Grace Barnes and Alma Hook from the University of Maryland and Lois Crouch from Goucher College, Baltimore, were present. Much interest was shown and it was a very pleasant evening, and a congenial group.

MAUDE DAVIS

TEXAS

A group of 27 met on the second morning of the convention of the Texas Library Association to honor Illinois and Mr. Windsor, who was guest speaker at the 25th anniversary of the Association. Octavia Rogan from Waco paid a tribute to Miss Gramesley, then Mr. Windsor gave some inside information, which was just what the group wanted to hear, about the University of Illinois.

Julia Grothaus of the San Antonio Public Library presided. There were in the group librarians representing school, college, and public libraries, as follows: Octavia F. Rogan, Waco; Opal Williams, Commerce; LeNoir Dimmitt, Austin; Anna Harriet Heyer, Fort Worth; Harriet Dickson, Houston; Frances Burrage, College Station; Lola Mae Rozzell, Lubbock; Mrs. Antillia Branch, Wichita Falls; Mary D. Taylor, Denton; Mary S. Buffum, Denton; Mary E. Goff, Austin; Arthur R. Curry, Galveston; Mrs. Arthur R. Curry, Galveston; Lorena Baker, Austin; Mary Clay, Belton; Fannie M. Wilcox, Austin; Mary Jeanne Treichler, College Station; Benthol McCollum, Austin; Madeline Canova, Austin; Marguerite Bowles, College Station; Alice S. Harrison, Austin; Gretchen Howell, Commerce; Edith Houston, San Antonio; Julia Grothaus, San Antonio.

The following hymn composed by Arthur R. Curry, '16, librarian of the Rosenberg Library of Galveston, was sung for the first time.

LIBRARY SCHOOL HYMN

Sacred to loving hearts, stands our alma mater,
Born of devoted lives, nurtured with love,
Guiding her children, guided from above.

Strong with the strength of right, gracious in her beauty,

Loyal in thought and deed, valiant for truth,
Counting her treasure what she gives to youth.

Through all the coming years, how shall we adore her?

How but in better lives, built by her aim?
Be all her children worthy of her name.

ALUMNI NEWS

Metta M. Loomis, 1896-97 (Armour), retired from her position as Librarian of the College of Medicine Library, University of Illinois, Chicago last September and has gone to California to make her home.

Miss Jane E. Cooke, B.L.S. '99, retired from the Library of Congress July 1st, 1934, after a service of thirty-three years in the Catalogue Division. For the greater part of this period she had specialized in English and American literature and had a knowledge of this field that cannot be easily replaced. To her natural ability, developed by academic training in school and university, she had added a wide range of reading in the best literatures, and an unusual knowledge of books of reference. Her familiarity with Shakespearean literature was outstanding. Quietly, unostentatiously, she made an invaluable contribution to the Library of Congress, both in actual cataloguing and in the training of others. She is now with her family on a farm near Bradford, Vermont.

Edna L. Goss, B.L.S. '02, resigned her position as Cataloger and Bibliographer, Stanford University Library, Stanford University, California, September 1, 1934. After a trip East and a visit with friends and relatives near Chicago she will be at home 2414 Telegraph Avenue, Berkeley, California.

A. May Ingles, 1900-01, Librarian of the Technical High School Library, Omaha, Nebraska, vacationed in Labrador last summer.

Torstein Knutson Jahr, B.L.S. '00, died during the summer of 1934 at his home in Holmestrand, Norway. He was a member of the Library of Congress staff from 1901 to 1928 when he resigned because of ill health. He was born in Norway in 1871 and was a graduate from Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, in 1896, and from the University of Illinois Library School in 1900. While a member of the Catalog division of the Library of Congress he continued his studies and travelled extensively abroad. A specialist in Scandinavica, he was a frequent contributor to various journals on historical, literary, and bibliographical subjects.

Mary E. Todd, B.L.S. '01, is now Librarian of the Onondaga Valley Academy Library at Syracuse, New York.

Grace O. Kelly, B.L.S. '03, —it's Dr. Kelly now—the University of Chicago having awarded her a Ph.D. degree. Thesis: "The Classification of Books in Libraries, in Terms of Use." She is readers consultant in the Queensborough Public Library, Long Island, N. Y.

Anna V. Jennings, B.L.S. '03, Librarian of the Nebraska State Teachers College and Normal School, Kearney, Nebraska, vacationed in Europe last summer.

Francis K. W. Drury, B.L.S. '05 Librarian of the Carnegie Library at Nashville, Tennessee and Mrs. Will R. Reeves were married on December 1, 1934. It will also interest the many friends of Mr. Drury to know that his son Jack was married this spring, we understand to a Nashville girl, though actual details are lacking.

Grace D. Phillips, B.L.S. '05, resigned her position as Librarian of the Divinity Library, University of Chicago, last summer, and accepted a position as instructor in the Boone University Library School, Wuchang, China.

She began her new work in September and writes with enthusiasm. "I am really very happy over here in China and not a bit disappointed. The more Chinese I know, the more I like them and I am in love with my work. I like my students very much. I cannot imagine a brighter or more eager group. There are five boys and five girls in the junior class, nine boys in the senior class, but no girls because last year there was no dormitory provision for the girls. In each class there are one or two who have trouble with English, but by dint of writing on the blackboard, letting them use my lecture notes and having one explain to the others in Chinese, we manage to get along very nicely.

I am to live in a little three-room bungalow near the library and it is all being done over for me. I have had to do the shopping for furnishings, this is usually done in Hankow, across the river, a city of about 800,000. I usually take a Chinese friend along to help with the shopping as I do not care to pay double for being a "furriner." China makes one calm and take life easily, nothing can be done in a hurry, already my patience has come to the fore and all nervousness has dropped away. The director, Mr. Seng, and Mrs. Seng, have been most cordial and solicitous for my comfort."

Later she writes that she is settled in her own home, with a house boy named Teh Pao to look after her comfort. She has joined the International Club in Hankow, and at a banquet at the Club she met over sixty women representing nine nationalities. The feast itself consisted of about a dozen courses; there was bird's nest soup, shark fin, pigeon eggs poached in deep oil, roast pigeon, lamb stew with Chinese cabbage, and much else. It was all delicious, there was a tiny cup of Chinese wine at each plate, which they drank to various guests. After the feast they broke up, as it is the custom to do the visiting before and during the meal.

Lucy Lewis, B.L.S. '06, Director of the libraries of the State of Oregon, and Librarian of the Agricultural College at Corvallis, was elected to Phi Kappa Phi in May, 1934, and not Phi Beta Kappa, as stated in the last Letter.

Sara Abbott, 1906-07, has accepted a temporary position in the Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D. C.

Grace Emma Herrick, B.L.S. '11, Assistant Professor of Library Science, School of Library Science, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma, since 1929, died very suddenly Monday, February 4, 1935, from pneumonia at Norman, Oklahoma. Miss Herrick graduated from Carleton College with the B.A. degree in 1895. She was a teacher in Huguenot Seminary, Greytown, Natal, South Africa, 1896-1903; Librarian of the Western College for Women from 1911-27; Cataloger, Public Library, Okmulgee, Oklahoma, 1927-28; Cataloger, Christian University Library, Fort Worth, Texas, 1928-29.

Mr. J. L. Rader, Librarian of University of Oklahoma, Norman, wrote: "Miss Herrick was a hard and faithful worker, a good teacher, and a loyal supporter of our school. I have never known anyone so faithful in her work. She became ill with influenza a week ago last Wednesday. As late as Saturday afternoon her physician told me that she was progressing satisfactorily. Sunday she was stricken with pneumonia, and she was rushed to the University Infirmary where she died just before noon, Monday, February 4th."

Elsie Louise Baechtold, B.L.S. '16, sends her address as 2134 South Logan Street, Denver, Colorado. In the report of the Denver District meeting in the last News Letter a misplaced comma gave the impression that she was connected with the Denver High School. Such is not the case.

K. Dorothy Ferguson, 1914-16, was on leave of absence from her position as Librarian of the Bank of America in San Francisco and spent the spring and summer of 1934 in New York on the staff of the Special Libraries Association working with various Trade Associations in establishing libraries for these associations. She returned to San Francisco in December making the trip via the Panama Canal.

Katherine Hitt Beatty, 1916-17, is now living at 219 West Lincoln Highway, De Kalb, Illinois. Mrs. Beatty was formerly Reference Assistant of the Ryerson Library, Art Institute, Chicago.

Lola A. Shepard, 1916-17, died at Waukegan, Illinois, September 23, 1934, after an illness of some months. She resigned from active library work about ten years ago but prior to that date she served as cataloger both in the State University of Iowa and in the University of Ohio.

Edna White Decker, 1917-18, is now Librarian of the Wright City Junior College Library at Chicago. Since 1931 Mrs. Decker has been in the Reference and Circulation Department of Northwestern University School of Commerce Library.

Julia M. Rogers Waldron, 1917-18, is now Senior Reference Librarian of the State Library at Sacramento, California.

Edith Cavitt Ware, 1917-18, died in May, 1929, according to information recently received in the Library School office. Miss Ware was formerly Chief Cataloger of the U.S. Army Air Corps Service Library, Washington, D.C.

Sarita Robinson, 1917-19, superintendent of the Catalog department of the University of Iowa Library and Frances Warner, B.L.S. '19, Serial Librarian of the Iowa State College, had a vacation in Europe this spring and attended the International Library Association meeting in Madrid in May.

Margaret Doherty, 1919-20, gives her home address as 6506 Ellis Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Florence Blackburn (Mrs. W. S. Thorne), B.L.S. '21, who has lived in Los Angeles for a number of years where she was on the staff of the Library of the Los Angeles City Schools Department, writes that after April her new address will be Wawaka, Indiana.

George F. Hennegan, s.s. '22, is now a practicing physician and surgeon in Omaha, Nebraska.

Jennie Ten Cate, 1921-22, is now Librarian of the Fenger High School Library, Chicago.

Luella Cory, B.L.S. '23, who has been in ill health for some time, is now at Cragmore Sanitarium, Cragmore, Colorado, where it is thought she is slowly gaining strength.

Jesse Reid (Mrs. Charles Ferris Spencer), B.L.S. '23, who has been living in California, writes that her husband's business has taken them to England to live and that they will make their home in London, their address being 11 Highbury Place, London, N.5, England.

Neva Nelson Ford, 1923-24, was married on July 7, 1934 at Fort Collins, Colorado, to Mr. Bert Fox Miller. They will make their home at 1115 Grand Ave., Laramie, Wyoming. Mrs. Miller was head of the Circulation department of the University of Wyoming for several years.

Esther F. Morris, 1923-24, accepted the position of Librarian of the Veterans' Administration Facility Library at Coatesville, Pennsylvania, early in December, 1934.

Otye B. Brown, s.s. '25. Word has just been received, indirectly, of her marriage to Mr. Robert Bly. Mr. and Mrs. Bly, we understand, are residing at Lakeland, Florida.

Leora J. Lewis, s.s. '25, has resigned her position as Director of the South Dakota Free Library Commission at Pierre, South Dakota, and is now Library Consultant of the F. E. Compton & Co., 1000 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Annemay Vandiver, s.s. '25, is no longer in library work, but is now Mrs. Summers. Mr. and Mrs. Summers are living at Andrews, North Carolina.

Kitchel Florence Adkins, 1924-25, was married on June 30, 1934, at Grinnell, Iowa, to Mr. Oliver Ottis Hawk. Mrs. Hawk was formerly employed in the Public Library at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Vivian G. Reynolds Boughter, 1924-25, is attending Columbia University School of Library Service this year. Her address is Apartment 4-G, 435 West 119th Street, New York City. Her husband, Mr. I. F. Boughter, was accidentally killed on March 16, 1934.

Grace Palmer, 1924-25, Librarian of the Southwest Missouri State Teachers' College Library, Springfield, Missouri, toured Russia last summer.

Helen G. Stroup, 1924-25, was married on October 12, 1934, to Mr. Kenneth Young. She is continuing her work in the Reference Department of the Public Library of Grand Rapids, Michigan. The new home address is 637 College Avenue, S.E., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Henry C. Cox, B.L.S. '26, is an assistant in the Circulation Department of the University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona. Mr. Cox has also established a model subsistence homestead in Arizona. He has been dividing his time between the library and the farm and hopes that when the work on his ranch is finished, "to be a farmer rather than a librarian."

E. Fay Hart, B.L.S. '26, Librarian of the Wheeler Library of the Southern Illinois State Normal University, Carbondale, Illinois, toured Russia last summer.

Gertrude Suess (Mrs. Sheldon Brumbaugh), M.A. '27, is located for the present at 906 First St., East, McCook, Nebraska.

Louise Winn Getchell, B.S. '27, has recently accepted the position of Assistant Cataloger in the University of Maryland Library at College Park, Maryland.

Ruth Krueger, B.S. '27, returned to the University of Illinois on a leave of absence from the Eastern State Teachers College at Madison, South Dakota, to finish her work for the Master's degree and is working part time at the Loan Desk. She will teach Cataloging this summer in the Library School at the University of Illinois.

Esther Stallmann, B.S. '27, is a substitute instructor in Library Science at the Syracuse University Library School this semester, Feb.-June, 1935. She will teach at the George Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tennessee, during the 1935 Summer Session.

Christine Sanders, 1926-27, accepted the position of Librarian of the Public Library at St. Albans, Vermont, in August. She is also Director of a very interesting Regional Library experiment in Franklyn County, Vermont.

She wrote that "the experiment in this County was a follow-up of a larger piece of work conducted in 1931-33 with Burlington as a center. The St. Albans Public Library is the present center offering six towns library service. One thousand dollars was available, in addition the State Free Public Library Department loaned a book truck and the use of about 500 more books and the help of two librarians working under the E.R.A. It was no part of the plan to destroy the individuality of the small libraries located in these towns, rather it was hoped to bring them into a strong cooperating unit for that region.

The entire book collection of St. Albans and the books loaned by the state are to be used interchangeably in the region. Titles found in one library may be borrowed for use in another. Schools in the region will be offered service. It was planned to offer reference and advisory service where needed.

Downing P. O'Harra, M.A. '28, was married on December 20, 1933, to Miss Elene G. Grantham of Moline, Illinois. They are living at 307 Park Street, Winfield, Kansas. He has just been appointed librarian of the Municipal University of Wichita, Kansas.

Louise G. Prichard, M.A. '28, is substituting in the position of Head of the Reference Department at Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana, 1934-35, while Helen James, B.S. '31, is away on leave of absence.

M. Lois Albert, B.S. '28, is now Mrs. Thomas Davis. Mrs. Davis was Librarian of the Ensley Branch of the Birmingham Public Library before her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Davis, we understand, are residing in Birmingham, Alabama.

H. Elaine Boylan, B.S. '28, resigned her position as Librarian of the Wewoka, Oklahoma, Public Library, the last of February to become Librarian of the Dallas Morning News, Dallas, Texas, March 1.

Miss Helen Coffin, B.S. '28, for several years Cataloger at S.M.U. has been taking the place made vacant by the leave of the Assistant Librarian at Stephen F. Austin Teachers College, Nacogdoches.

Alice Ellen Daly, B.S. '28, was married November 3, 1934, to Mr. James Charles O'Connor, Jr., in Chicago. Mrs. O'Connor continued in her position at the Chicago Historical Society Library until May 1, 1935. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor are now residing at 7743 North Marshfield Avenue, Chicago.

Louise Fant, B.S. '28, has a position in the University of Georgia Library assisting the librarian, Mr. Burnet, with his work as Chairman for Georgia of the Union List of Newspapers.

Virginia J. Gray, B.S. '33, is teaching French and acting as Librarian in a high school for the children of missionaries in the Belgian Congo. Her address is Care A.P.C. Mission Lubondai (Tshimbula) Congo Belge via Lobita, Africa. She has written several very interesting letters relating her experiences in making the long trip via auto from Matada to the interior. While everything was interesting and often picturesque, she was disappointed not to see tigers and crocodiles at every turn. For nine days they drove over every sort of country from mountains to vast stretches of sand, and it was more often cold than hot. The native villages were especially fascinating, some just grass huts, others of clay with white-washed walls and crude drawings on them. The natives were curious but friendly. Lubondai is a lovely spot located in a plateau 3000 feet high; there are five residences, two guest houses, a church, the hospital, and the buildings of the native boys and girls homes, all of the houses being built of brick made by the industrial workers of the school.

A later letter tells of a vacation she took with two other teachers in a Chevrolet truck. "After much discussion as to whether three girls should go off alone, we jogged away and had a better time than has been had in many a Rolls-Royce. We must have made a ridiculous picture tho, with tropical tin trunks, chop baskets, sun helmets, and the native boy. Driving in the Congo presents difficulties, torrential rains may wash away parts of the road, or deep sand may be encountered. Native villages swarm with humans, and animals of all kinds, especially starving dogs. A Congo ferry is a plank platform stretched out on native pirogues or canoes. You get onto it across two boards about a foot wide. It's quite a trick to center the wheels and once on not to plunge off the other end."

She spent Christmas at Bibango where another native school is located. This is a beautifully located station, "it teeters dizzily on the crest of a peak, the houses are built with their backyards in neighborly proximity, and their faces out in the atmosphere; the view is made up of peaks and abruptly rolling hills which are carpeted with lush green grass, but the narrow valleys between are thickly forested. Living in sight of that panorama for two weeks was worth giving up many of the joys of civilization."

Louise Hart, B.S. '33, who was married last December to Mr. Merrill Darley, resigned her position as Librarian of the Science Library at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Darley will be at Orleans, Indiana.

THE LIBRARY OF THE

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS Number 22

Dear Fellow Alumni:—

I wish each and every one of you could have been with us at Denver when we filled the Venetian Garden at the Shirley-Savoy Hotel, and listened to the songs and applauded the dances of the West as presented by a group of talented high school students in appropriate costumes. Everyone felt that the committee on arrangements deserved a special vote of thanks for such a delightful dinner and program.

The evening was not all devoted to levity, however. It was a source of genuine satisfaction to hear that unemployment among our graduates is gradually getting less acute, to listen to the encouraging reports of scholarships awarded from our Endowment Fund and to learn of the growth of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund.

We may well be proud of these two contributions to library progress, at the same time, with our rapidly growing list of alumni, we should consider that we have just made a beginning. Think how much more could be accomplished if every graduate were an active, contributing member of the Alumni Association! Whatever is done in the name of the Alumni Association reflects credit on all the graduates of the school, whether members of the Association or not; each and every one of us owes the chance to carry on our chosen work to the school that gave us the training and keeps an ever watchful eye on our professional progress. Is it so little to ask that we, in turn, join the Association and pay one dollar ($1.00) a year, or, if we prefer, get it all over at once and pay twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for a life membership? Even selfish reasons would justify us, for an active alumni group means a stronger school and the stronger the school the more valuable is a degree from it. Think it over!

This year, the American Library Association is coming Southeast to historic and beautiful Richmond. The splendid highways which lead to Richmond from all parts of the country will, we hope, tempt many of you to make the trip by motor, and those of you who cannot come that way, will have the advantage of the new air-conditioned trains which make traveling a joy. In other words, there is every inducement for you to come and we hope the Illinois dinner will be the largest one yet held.

Cordially yours,

OLA M. WYETH

DENVER MEETING

The annual dinner and meeting of the University of Illinois Library School Association was held at the Shirley-Savoy Hotel, Thursday, June 27, 1935, with Harriet E. Howe, President, presiding.

The tables were beautifully decorated with columbines (the state flower), miniature covered wagons above which spirals of smoke floated up from outlets in the roofs, and unique place cards in the form of lariat-throwing, chaps-wearing cowboys. Miss Howe expressed for the members present sincere appreciation to the committee on arrangements: Elsie Baechtold, Vera Campbell, Edna Gustafson, Mildred Kenney. Miss Howe told how Miss Campbell made an early morning trip to her cottage in the mountains for the deep blue columbines. The large orange and blue "Illini Pup" (borrowed by the manager of the hotel from his grandson) added Illinois atmosphere to the decorations, and much merriment as his vociferous bark was used to secure the silence necessary for the business session. During the dinner, the Rebel Rangers, an association of pupils from South High School, Denver, in quaint costumes, sang cowboy songs and danced square dances.

Harriet E. Howe opened the business session with a roll call by classes. Almost all classes were represented, 1929 (18) and 1931 (14) being the banner groups.

Mr. Windsor paid tribute to Miss Margaret A. Gramesly, a much loved member of the faculty who had passed away since the last meeting at Montreal. At Mr. Windsor's suggestion, the association stood in silence one moment in memory of Miss Gramesly. Mr. Windsor then announced the appointment to the faculty of Mr. Guy R. Lyle, formerly librarian of Antioch College, and regretted that Mr. Lyle could not be present to be presented and to receive the welcome of the Association. Beginning with the summer of 1936, Mr. Windsor said, Library School will offer second semester courses for the benefit of those who may not be granted a leave of absence for attendance during the winter semester. It is the expectation of the School to provide enough graduate courses that the M.A. degree may be earned by attending four summer sessions.

Mr. Windsor announced that the Katherine L. Sharp Memorial scholarship had been awarded for 1935-1936 to Miss Mary Silverthorn of the Saginaw, Michigan, Public Library. He spoke of the real pleasure which he and Mrs. Windsor always have in attending the Illinois dinner-meetings.

Miss Frances Simpson spoke briefly, stating that she had timed her trip to California so as to be present at the conference, and expressed her pleasure in seeing so many friends at the dinner.

Miss Krieg presented some interesting statistics about placement work and distribution of 871 graduates according to type of library service and according to geographic location. She urged every graduate of the School with specialized knowledge in any subject, especially in the sciences, to record that fact in the records of the Library School.

The report of the secretary-treasurer was read and accepted. Mr. Trotter read a report of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund.

The officers presented by the nominating committee in their report were unanimously elected: Ola M. Wyeth, President; Charles H. Stone, First Vice-President; Julia Pressey, Second Vice-President; Josie B. Houchens, Secretary-Treasurer; and J. S. Cleavinger, Trustee of Endowment Fund 1935-38.

The meeting was then adjourned with the hope that many graduates of the School would attend the Richmond Conference.

MARIE M. HOSTETTER, Secretary pro-tem.

ENDOWMENT FUND

Financial report of the Trustees of the Alumni Endowment Fund, for the year ending May 31, 1935:

The third annual scholarship of $300.00 was paid to the University in February, 1935, for use during the year 1935-1936, the amount being taken from the accrued earnings on the fund.

The principal sum has been increased by $145.00.

The resources of the fund at present in the hands of the Trustees are:

5 per cent stock certificate, Commercial Building & Loan Association, Urbana, Illinois.....	$5,000.00
5½ per cent bond, Scovill Manufacturing Co. ($1,000 par value).....	990.00
On deposit in Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.....	771.43
Total.....	$6,761.43

Sources of this amount:	Reported, 1934	Year 1934-35	Total to date
From life memberships and special contributions, augmented by authorized advance of $596.00 from the general treasury in 1927.	$5,426.00	$ 145.00	$5,571.00
From interest collections.....	1,736.61	353.84	2,090.45

In closed First Nat. Bank, Urbana.....	192.28	841.05

Liabilities

None.

During the year the First National Bank of Urbana paid a dividend of 35% of the deposit which was in the bank when it closed March 4, 1933.

The First National Bank of Champaign paid 30% on the deposit which was there when the bank failed in 1932.

It is probable that more dividends will be received from each bank.

The attention of the Association is called to the fact that only $103 was received from annual memberships. This seems a very poor showing when we consider the large number of alumni in the active field. Approximately 200 alumni are life members and so pay no annual dues, there are still at least 800 members from whom we might expect some returns.

The costs of the News Letter have not been entirely met for several years and in consequence the frequency of the letters has been reduced.

The cooperation of the State Secretaries in sending reports of alumni gatherings and news of former students in their states has been most helpful and it is hoped that there will be more news sent to the editor all the time.

JOSIE B. HOUCHENS
Secretary-Treasurer

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1935-36

President—Ola M. Wyeth, Librarian, Savannah, Georgia, Public Library.
1st Vice-President—Charles H. Stone, Director Library Science Department, William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.
2nd Vice-President—Julia C. Pressey, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.
Secretary-Treasurer—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library, Urbana, Ill. (Editor, News Letter)

LIFE MEMBERS

The list of alumni taking out life membership in the Association has not been published for several years. The following is a list of recent members. We hope that their example will be followed by others.

BESS BRYAN, B.L.S. '10
LOIS CROUCH, M.A. '30
BEATRICE H. HOLT, M.A. '32
CLARICE KRIEG, M.A. '35
ALICE M. NORWOOD, B.S. '32

MABEL RAWLINGS, B.S. '31
LILLIAN M. SKEELE, B.S. '31
PHILLIP J. STONE, B.S. '35
ELVIN WARRICK, M.A. '32

It is interesting to note that the more recent graduates are beginning to realize that a life membership is a very good investment. It saves all the bother of thinking about annual dues and it ought to give a feeling of satisfaction at having made a contribution to the Scholarship Fund.

EDWARD HERTZBERG

With the death of Edward Hertzberg in Chicago on December 31, 1935, the world lost a master craftsman in the art of fine binding but the alumni of the Library School lost a sincere friend.

When the drive for funds to endow an alumni scholarship was being made several years ago, Mr. Hertzberg heard about it and wrote down to the school saying that he had a deep interest in all former students, many of whom were his friends and patrons and that he would feel it a privilege if he might make a gift to the fund. Shortly after he sent down a check for $200.00. In 1931 he sent another check for $100 and in 1933 he supplemented this gift with an additional $50.00. Thus he was the largest single contributor ($350.00) to the Endowment Fund.

When the Library School made inspection trips to Chicago, one of the high spots of the trip was the visit to the Monastery Hill Bindery where the students had an opportunity to see the best methods of book binding. On these occasions they also had a chance to see many examples of Mr. Hertzberg's own beautiful bindings and realize through this exhibit and his talk the vast difference between artistic and commercial binding. Then a delicious tea was served and often each member of the class was presented with a souvenir made in the shops.

The Monastery Hill Bindery will be carried on by Mr. Hertzberg's son and daughter who have been brought up in the work and are no doubt known to many alumni.

The Monastery Hill Bindery received its name from the old monastery ruin in Granzow, Germany, where Ernst Hertzberg, founder of the firm, played in his childhood. This monastery had been the home of monks who had made beautiful bindings for manuscripts and this tradition inspired Ernst Hertzberg to his chosen profession of bookbinding. When Lawrence Hertzberg takes over the management, he will be the third generation of the Hertzberg family to carry on the high ideals of the founder of the firm.

SPECIAL SUBJECT KNOWLEDGE INDEX

I am starting to compile an index to the special subject knowledge of our alumni. We are having an increased number of calls asking for very specific information as to amounts of training in given fields, and it is difficult to find this data without checking lengthy transcripts. Besides, our records often do not include information concerning special study since a student has left here. I should be glad to have notes from those of you who do have special subject equipment, especially from those of you who have not been here recently.

I am also interested in listing all alumni who have had any experience in the teaching of Library Science. If you write me, do tell me the schools or libraries at which the teaching has been done, and describe the work briefly, that is, give me some idea as to the number of classes in the session, the brevity or completeness of the course, and the objective, e.g., for teacher training, for school librarians, for accredited library courses, for orientation.

If there are graduates who are willing to serve in a secretarial capacity in addition to library duties, I should be glad to have them so indexed. A knowledge of stenography and typing is necessary in this case.

ALUMNI REUNIONS

ILLINOIS

The Illini present at the meeting of the Illinois Library Association in November at Rockford, Illinois, gathered together for a breakfast at the Faust Hotel. The following were present: Hazel I. Beale, Thelma Van Ness, Mary J. Booth, Dorothy Busch, Amelia Krieg, Lois Farr, Mary C. Bigelow, Ethel Bond, Evelyn Ball, Grace M. Murray, Ethel G. Kratz, Alice B. Wesley, Helen Beckworth, Emma Scheffler, Elizabeth Windsor, Leora J. Lewis, Vera J. Smith, Isabel G. Horne, Helen Norris, Dorothy Johnson Scoville, Julia Lind, Anna May Price, Nelle Steider Skinner, Doris Foley, Maybelle Leland, William Baehr, Henry Coleman, Wintress Brenman, Ruth Hardin, Nellie Parham, Katharine Adams, Elizabeth Curry. Mr. and Mrs. Windsor were also present.

MINNESOTA

The Illini who met at the Minnesota Library Association dinner on the 10th of October had a very pleasant time. We sent greetings to Mr. Windsor. There were only six present but we hope for a larger reunion next time. Miss Starr was unable to be present at the dinner or any of the meetings owing to illness. She had worked very hard planning the fine program for the meeting. Previous to the meeting, I sent out a circular letter to all the alumni in my district. The following were present: Isabelle T. Anderson, Bessie Medd, Amy C. Moon, I. Charlotte Campbell, all of St. Paul; Lynne G. Worth of Duluth, and Amy Penrose of St. Cloud.

AMY C. MOON

KENTUCKY

The graduates of Illinois Library School who have positions in Kentucky held their fourth annual meeting at the regular meeting of the Kentucky Library Association in Owensboro, October 11 and 12. Since most of our time was taken up by the program of the Association, we arranged to sit together at the Book Dinner. We always enjoy getting together in an informal way. There were eight present and we are quite proud of the fact that we again had one hundred percent membership in the Illinois Alumni Association. Each person present paid her dues and Miss Hazel Moyer, who could not be there, sent her dues with a greeting to the group. I am forwarding the dues to Miss Houchens and asking those who were not present to send theirs to our Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Ione Williams, London, Kentucky.

Those present at the dinner were: Lena B. Nofcier and Perma Rich of the Kentucky Library Commission at Frankfort, Frances Wallace, Berea, Margaret Tuttle and Elizabeth Hanson, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Evelyn Schneider and Mary Powell Sublett, University of Louisville, Edna Bothe, Western Ky. Teachers College, Bowling Green.

I shall be glad to know of other Illinois graduates in the state for we should like to have them as members of our group.

Sincerely yours,

EDNA BOTHE

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES OF ALUMNI

A.L.A. Committees—Checking the list of Committees and Boards in the Handbook of the American Library Association, we found it fairly bristling with Illinois Alumni: James Bennett Childs, Amelia Krieg, Della J. Sisler, Arnold Trotter, Harriet E. Howe, Helmer L. Webb, Elsie L. Baechtold, Margaret Mann, Emma Felsenthal, Mae C. Anders, Effie G. Abraham, Amy C. Moon, Anne M. Boyd, Rudolph H. Gjelsness, Julia C. Pressey, Beatrice Prall, Arthur E. Gropp, John S. Cleavinger, Jeannette M. Drake, Jackson E. Towne, Jerome K. Wilcox, Ida F. Wright, Francis K. W. Drury, Margaret M. Herdman, Vera J. Snook, Ola M. Wyeth, Thomas P. Ayer, Dorothy Black were among the names we noticed.

Elaine Boylan, librarian of the Dallas Morning News, is on the publicity division of the Project Study Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

William Baehr, librarian of the Augustana College, Rock Island, presided over the College and Reference Section of the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Lorena Baker, Circulation department, Texas University, is on the Unemployment Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

Mary C. Bigelow, assistant librarian of the Public Library, Rockford, Illinois, arranged the exhibits at the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Mary J. Booth, librarian of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, gave a paper on "Some Problems of a Teacher's College Library" before the Illinois State Library Association meeting.

Anne M. Boyd, assistant professor of Library Science, University of Illinois, talked on "Book Selection, Whatever That Is" before the Illinois Library Association last October.

Mary Isabella Brokaw (Mrs. E. E. Wallace), librarian of the Standard Oil Company at Whiting, Indiana, was elected one of the directors of the Special Libraries Association for 1935-36 at the October meeting in Chicago.

Katherine A. Brose, Circulation department, Mills College Library, is secretary of the first district (Frisco Bay region) of the California Library Association.

Nellie Mae Coats, head of the Catalog department of Indiana State Library, is chairman of the Ohio Regional group of catalogers for 1935-36.

Mrs. Maude Cowan, librarian, Southeastern Teachers College, Durant, Oklahoma, sent a program giving the Commencement exercises of the James Earl Russell High School of Southeastern Teachers College. This took the form of an historical pageant commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of secondary schools in the United States, 1635-1935. Mrs. Cowan planned and managed the pageant and used over a hundred children in the various scenes.

Grace A. Campbell, document librarian of the State A. and M. College, Stillwater, Oklahoma, read a paper, "Government Documents," at the meeting of the Oklahoma Library Association, Tulsa, April, 1935.

James Bennett Childs, chief of the Document Division of the Library of Congress, presented a paper on "Acquisition of Publications of Foreign Governments for the Public Documents Committee of the A.L.A." He is contributing to the Monthly Checklist of State Documents, New Deal publications currently issued in the states.

Florence M. Craig, head of the Catalog department at Stanford University, and chairman of the Catalog Sections Committee on Publications, gave a report at A.L.A. on the "New Catalogers' and Classifiers' Yearbook," presenting an interesting history of the yearbooks in which credit was given Grace O. Kelley and Helen K. Starr for engineering the publication of the first yearbook.

Eleanor J. Conway, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Special Libraries Association, Illinois Chapter for 1935-36, at the October meeting held in Chicago. Miss Conway is Supervisor of the Catalog department of the Chicago Historical Society Library in Chicago.

Arthur Curry, librarian of the Rosenberg Library, Galveston, Texas, is chairman of the Unemployment Committee of the Texas Library Association Committee, 1935-37. He was elected 1st vice-president of the Association for 1935-36. A very interesting report and summary of the work of the Galveston Public Library appeared in the Galveston Daily News for January 27, 1936.

Grace Derby, librarian of the Agricultural College Library, Manhattan, Kansas, is president of the Kansas Library Association.

Harriet Dickson, children's librarian, Public Library, Houston, Texas, is on the standing Publicity Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37. She was also elected treasurer of the A.L.A. Section for work with children.

Lenoir Dimmit, extension loan librarian, University of Texas, was elected president of the Texas Library Association for 1935-36. Miss Dimmit was the subject of a very interesting article which appeared in the News Notes of the Texas Library Association for July, 1935.

Irene Doyle presided over the Small Libraries Round Table of the Catalog Section at A.L.A. She is also secretary-treasurer of the Tennessee Library Association.

F. K. W. Drury, librarian of the Public Library, Nashville, Tennessee, was president of the Tennessee Library Association last year.

Rudolph H. Gjelsness, University of Arizona Library, presided over the Large Libraries Round Table of the Catalog Section at Denver. He was also president of the Arizona Library Association, 1934-35.

Arthur E. Gropp was acting chairman of the Committee on Library Cooperation with Latin America at the A.L.A. Conference and wrote the brief report of the meeting for the Library Journal, September 1, 1935.

Ruth E. Hammond, librarian of the Wichita (Kansas) City Library, gave an address on "Public Library Friends and Memorial Gift Plans" before the Library Gifts Round Table at the A.L.A. Conference.

Alice S. Harrison, librarian of the Austin, Texas, High School, is on the School Libraries Division of the Project Study Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

May C. Hessler, reference librarian, State Library, Springfield, Illinois, gave a talk on "Reference Aids on Illinois Authors" at the Illinois State Library Association meeting in October.

Vivian Hedgecock, librarian of the New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas, talked on "The School Librarian Presents School Library Service to the Schoolman" at the New Mexico Library Association annual meeting at Albuquerque, October.

Isabel Horne, librarian of the Public Library at Maywood, gave a demonstration on mending books before the Public Library Section of the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor of the University of Illinois Library School, was elected chairman of the Professional Section and chairman of the Board of Directors of the School Libraries Section.

Paul Howard, librarian of the School of Mines and Metallurgy, University of Missouri, has been elected chairman of the Junior Members Round Table of the A.L.A. for 1935-36.

Gretchen Howell, cataloger, East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce, Texas, is on the Publicity for Project Division of the Project Study Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

Ruth L. Hoff, head of the Periodical department of the University of Kansas, was on the program of the Northwest District library meeting which was held in Topeka last October.

Harriet E. Howe, director of the Library School, Denver, has been elected President of the Colorado Library Association.

Helen E. Inness, librarian of Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas, was on the program of the Northwest District Library meeting held at Topeka in October.

Mary Helen James, librarian of the Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Junior Members Round Table of the A.L.A. for 1935-36.

Mildred Kenney, chief of the Genealogical Section of the Denver Public Library is on the "Preliminary Committee upon the publication of a consolidated Genealogical Card Index Service." She will have added opportunity to pursue her main interest, her vocation as she calls it, when the Genealogical collection of the State Library is moved to the Denver Public Library, as it will be shortly.

Ethel Kratz, librarian of the Champaign Public Library, talked on "Home Made Aids" before the Public Library Section of the Illinois Library Association in October.

Olive Lewis, assistant classifier of the Newberry Library, Chicago, is secretary of the Chicago Library Club, 1935-36.

Bernita J. Long, University of Illinois Law Library, was elected to the Executive Committee of the American Association of Law libraries at its Denver meeting. Mrs. Long is also active on the Legislative Committee of the Champaign County League of Women Voters.

Amy C. Moon, head cataloger of the Public Library of St. Paul, Minnesota, is District Chairman for the Middle West Regional group of Catalogers.

Carlyle Morris, reference assistant in the Chicago Public Library, gave a paper on "Some Amenities and Asperities of Reference Work in a Large Public Library" before the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Oscar E. Norman, librarian of the Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Company, Chicago, Illinois, is Secretary of the Business Libraries Section of the A.L.A. for 1935-36.

Grace D. Phillips, instructor in the Boone Library School at Wuchang, China, was invited by Director T. L. Yuan to visit the Peiping National Library and make a report of her impressions of the efficiency of their records and routine in various departments. She has also contributed an article about this library to the Boone Library School Quarterly, special number on national libraries of the world. December, 1935.

Esther Piercy, Cataloging department, New Mexico University Library, Albuquerque, talked on "Cataloging in a College Library" at the New Mexico Library Association annual meeting at Albuquerque in October. She was secretary-treasurer of the Association last year.

Cora Case Porter, librarian of the Public Library, Muskogee, Oklahoma, was president of the Southwestern Library Association in 1935.

Nannie H. Rice, librarian State College Library, State College, Mississippi, was president of the Mississippi State Library Association 1934-35.

Octavia F. Rogan, B.L.S. '24, is on the Revision of Constitution Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

Christine Sanders, regional librarian at St. Albans, Vermont, has issued a report on the "Experiment in Regional Library Service, St. Albans, Vermont, September 1934 to September 1935." Having described in a very interesting way the conduct of the experiment and the various handicaps which had to be overcome, she concludes, "It would seem that the regional library idea is the most practical one for the extension of book service to people who live in rural communities, whether the whole county is served, or only part of it or even parts of adjacent counties. But it is a slow process to prove that this is the best way. The more efficient the service, the more speedily, of course, can it be accomplished." She also opened the summer school of the Vermont State Public Library department with a very stimulating talk on "The Librarian—her qualifications, education, functions and opportunities." The second week she lectured on problems of general administration.

Mary E. Silverthorn, formerly reference librarian of the Hoyt Library, Saginaw, Michigan, gave a paper on "Reference Work from the Point of View of the Branch Librarian" before the University and Reference librarians at the Mid-winter meeting of the A.L.A.

Wilma Shelton, librarian of the University of New Mexico Library talked on "A Public Document Program for New Mexico" at the New Mexico Library Association annual meeting at Albuquerque. She was elected president for 1935-36.

Esther A. Smith, head of the Catalog department of the University of Minnesota, is chairman of the A.L.A. Catalog section committees—(1) Regional groups, (2) "Refer from" Subject references.

H. Dean Stallings, B.S. '35, spoke at the College and Reference Section of the South Dakota Library Association meeting on "Reference Material on the New Deal."

Helen K. Starr, James Jerome Hill Reference Library, St. Paul, Minnesota, reported at A.L.A. as chairman of the Committee on Subject Headings. She is also on the Advisory Committee on Cooperative Cataloging.

John Paul Stone, librarian of the State Teachers College Library at San Diego, California, is chairman of the College and University Section of the California State Library Association for 1935-36.

Eleanor Taylor, Washburn College Library, was on the program of the Northwest district Library meeting held at Topeka, Kansas, in October.

Mary Torrance, head cataloger of Emory University Library, spoke on work planning for the Small department before the Small Libraries Round Table of the A.L.A.

Jackson E. Towne, librarian of Michigan State College Library, was elected chairman of the College and Reference Section of the A.L.A. for 1935-36.

Arnold H. Trotter, catalog librarian of the University of Illinois Library, was elected chairman of the Catalog Section of the A.L.A. for 1935-36. He is also a member of the advisory committee on A.L.A. Catalog Code Revision.

Margaret H. Tuttle, University of Kentucky Library, sent a mimeographed copy of a most interesting "Library Letter to the Alumni" of that University. Mary Elizabeth Anderson, Katherine Katterjohn and Anne Sue Montgomery are also members of that staff, and we suspect that they all had a hand in making up the letter.

Thelma Van Ness, assistant librarian of the Public Library at Bloomington, gave a paper on "The American Primers" before the general session of the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Alice Wesley, librarian of the Public Library at Urbana, gave a talk on "Book Repair by P.W.A. Workers" before the Public Library Section of the Illinois Library Association in October. She has been appointed on a committee of the Illinois library association.

Marian Wheeler, librarian of the Public Library at Hinsdale, Illinois, gave a talk on "Books We Should and Would Have Bought" before the Public Library Section of the Illinois Library Association meeting in October.

Esther Wilkie, librarian of the State Library Extension Service, Santa Fe, New Mexico, talked on "Library Extension Work in New Mexico" at the annual meeting of the New Mexico Library Association at Albuquerque.

Elizabeth E. Wilson, head of the Catalog department of the Public Library, Cincinnati, is secretary-treasurer of the Catalog Section of the A.L.A.

Opal Williams, is on the State Library and Library Development Division of the Project Study Committee of the Texas Library Association, 1935-37.

Ida F. Wright, librarian of Evanston Public Library, talked on "Your I.L.A. Team and Its Goal" before the Illinois Library Association meeting in October. A most interesting report of the Evanston Public Library has been published in the Evanston Review, January 16, 1936.

ALUMNI NEWS

Eliza Jane Skinner, Armour, 1896-'97, reviser-cataloger in charge of bibliographical literature in the Catalogue Division, Library of Congress, died Tuesday, Dec. 31, 1935, at her residence in the Dodge Hotel, Washington, D.C.

Miss Skinner was born at Princeton on July 15, 1859, and was educated at Zurich, Heidelberg and Paris and at the Library School of the Armour Institute of Technology.

Before going to Washington in 1902, she was librarian of the University of West Virginia.

Her work in the Library of Congress during the past thirty-three years was that of aiding in the development, by cataloging and classification, of their extensive bibliographical collection. She was familiar with bibliographies in all fields of knowledge and an expert on books relating to printing, binding, paper, the book industries in general and library administration.

Because of the character of her abilities and services, Miss Skinner was among the first to be exempted by executive order of the President from the provisions of the retirement act prescribing automatic separation from the Library personnel on attainment of retirement age.

Miriam E. Carey, Armour, 1898-'99, is on the faculty of the Minnesota Library School. Her home address is The Marlborough at 9th Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Agnes M. Cole, B.L.S. '01, has resigned as head of the Catalog department of the University of California, Berkeley. From 1903-06 Miss Cole was head of the Catalog department of the University of Illinois Library. This year she is taking a real vacation visiting family and friends in the East. Next year she plans to resume work in her old department but only for part time. Her home address is 2414 Telegraph ave., Berkeley.

Clara E. Howard, B.L.S. '01, died on December 7th, 1935, at Emory University, Georgia. She had not been well for some time, but her death was a great shock to her family and friends. Miss Howard had been Dean of the Library School at Emory University since 1930.

Miss Howard's name is also closely associated with the development of High School libraries through her notable work as librarian of the Schenley High School at Pittsburgh from 1916 to 1927. Previous to this she had been a member of the staff of the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh.

In 1928 she took her Master's Degree at the School of Library Service, Columbia University. For two years she was director of the Library School at the New Jersey College for Women going from there to Emory. She was very active in her professional interests and was a member of many organizations. She was editor of the School Libraries Yearbook for 1931. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Adeline M. Baker, B.L.S. '02, acting head cataloger, University of Nebraska Library.

Ellen Garfield Smith, B.L.S. '02, librarian of Walla Walla, Wash., had her 25th anniversary as librarian celebrated on February 22 by her staff and former members of her staff. The occasion was the annual staff luncheon and the celebration was a spontaneous expression of the high esteem and affection with which Miss Smith has always been held by those who have worked with her. Owing to Miss Smith's popularity in the community and the difficulty of limiting the attendance if all her friends were invited, it was decided to make it a staff party.

Fanny Elliott Miller (Mrs. D. P. Taylor), 1902-'03, died some time ago in California according to word received by the Kappa Alpha Theta Chapter at Illinois. She was for some years librarian of the High School library, National City, California.

Jeannette M. Drake, B.L.S. '03, has resigned her position as librarian of the Pasadena Public Library to take effect January 1, 1936, and will retire from active library work.

Miss Drake is recognized as one of the outstanding librarians on the Pacific coast and has served as president of the California Library Association. She is called by one Pasadena newspaper the "brilliant leader of a great institution of public education." Miss Drake expects to continue making her home in Pasadena.

After going to Pasadena she had much to do with the planning of the new library building there. It was dedicated in 1927. She introduced many innovations in library service which afterwards were adopted by libraries elsewhere. Her outstanding achievements in the library world have been listed in "Who's Who in America."

Helen T. Kennedy, B.L.S. '03, died on July 8th, 1935, at Tujunga near Los Angeles, California.

She was born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, in 1877. She graduated from the University of Illinois Library School in 1903, and held positions in the Public Libraries of Jacksonville, Illinois and Kewanee, Illinois, until 1907, when she was made Instructor in the University of Wisconsin Library School. In 1910 she was invited to become Library Organizer of the Oregon Free Library Commission.

From 1911 to 1931, Miss Kennedy was a member of the Los Angeles Library staff. For a year she conducted the Los Angeles training school, aiding in its development. In 1912 she was made Principal of Branches, but continued to give courses on administration and library buildings in the Training Class. In 1925 she was made second assistant librarian and was busy with the activities of the Central Library.

Miss Althea Warren, City Librarian of Los Angeles writes: "Miss Kennedy's illness which caused her to resign in 1931 brought a loss to the library profession. Her indomitable spirit and fine idealism will long be remembered. Her unselfish devotion to the development of the branch library system in Los Angeles will ever be a part of library history."

Mr. Ainsworth, in The Los Angeles Times, wrote: "Miss Helen T. Kennedy is dead. She died as she lived, simply. Few persons even realize that the 'Mother of the branch libraries of Los Angeles' has gone. Yet she probably has done more to bring the joy of books to untold thousands than anyone connected with the library system. She left behind more than one monument. She left a score of them."

"Twenty of the branch libraries of the Los Angeles Public Library system stand as direct proof of her zeal and ability. From 1912 to 1925, when she was head of the branches, she saw to it that these book centers were erected in strategic parts of the far-flung metropolitan area. She brought books to the people, and a new world was opened up to a vast population."

"The branch libraries became individual community centers, the nuclei of a new kind of cultural opportunity. Behind it all was the quiet shadow of Miss Kennedy. She never thrust herself forward. She worked, kept in the background and let the pleasure of others be her reward."

"She was never in robust health. Finally in 1931 her ill health forced her to retire, but she kept up a most active interest in library work. She couldn't keep entirely away from the work and for some months did cataloging in the Santa Fe State Museum Library in New Mexico."

She is survived by her mother, Mary Elizabeth Kennedy, and a brother, The Reverend Melville Kennedy of Champaign, Illinois.

Sara Abbott, 1906-'07, is doing editorial work with the Federal Housing Administration, Vermont & K Streets, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Clara Brooks, B.L.S. '12 (Mrs. R. A. Bennett), sent a Christmas card showing a kodak of her two handsome sons Sunny and Billy and their dog, Peg. The Bennetts are temporarily located at Breese, Illinois.

Margaret Winning, '14, formerly head of the Allen County Department, Fort Wayne, Indiana, Public Library, has been appointed librarian of Berkeley Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Antoinette Helen Goetz, B.L.S. '15, has been made acting head of the Catalog department of the University of California Library at Berkeley, to succeed Agnes M. Cole, retired.

Charles Holmes Stone, B.L.S. '16, resigned as librarian of the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro, North Carolina, to become head of the Department of Library Science and assistant librarian of the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Virginia.

Ella Seaver Campbell, B.L.S. '17, is assistant librarian at the Pintosco Branch of the Public Library of Pasadena, California.

James R. Gulledge, 1919-'20, M.A. '32, resigned his position in the Loan department of the University of Illinois Library, December 31, 1935, to become librarian of the East Carolina Teachers College Library at Greenville, North Carolina, starting his new duties January 2, 1936.

Janet May Arie, 1920-'21, resigned her position as supervisor of the High School Libraries at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and was married July 28, 1935, to Mr. George J. Roe. Mr. and Mrs. Roe are living at 1st Avenue Road, S.W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Jim P. Matthews, 1920-'21, M.A. '33, formerly associate librarian at the University of Arkansas, has been appointed librarian. One of Miss Matthews' first duties in her new capacity will be the moving of the University Library into its fine new building.

James B. Childs, B.L.S. '21, and Mrs. Childs are the parents of a fourth son, Daniel, born Feb. 10, 1935. Mr. Childs is on the staff of the Library of Congress at Washington, D.C.

Leonore K. Schuppert, 1923-'24, who has been librarian of the Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio, since 1927, was married on Saturday afternoon, January 11, 1936, to Mr. William Low Russell of New Haven, and a graduate of Yale, at her home in Macomb, Illinois. Mr. Russell is geologist at the Tidewater Oil Company with headquarters at Ardmore, Oklahoma, where Mr. and Mrs. Russell will reside.

Jeanne Everaerts, 1923-'24 (Mrs. A. E. Gray), sent four years dues to the Association in November. Her present address is care of the American Consular Service, Bordeaux, France. We wish she had also sent a letter with news of herself.

Ralph M. Whiting, 1923-'24, died Sunday, February 10th, 1935 in Los Angeles, California. Death was due to pulmonary embolism and lobar pneumonia, a condition which was aggravated by an old war injury.

Mr. Whiting was born in Whitman, Massachusetts, February 7, 1893. He was educated in the public schools of Brocton, graduating from the High School in 1911. Soon afterward he went to work for the General Electric company in Lynn.

On June 14, 1917, he enlisted at Alliston as corporal in the 101st Infantry, Field Signal Corps, of the 26th Division. In September he went overseas with that unit and was cited for gallant conduct at Sieheprey on April 20, 1918. The following June 19th he was severely wounded at Beaumont and he never fully regained his health.

At the close of the World War, Mr. Whiting attended Columbia University and the University of Illinois, receiving his degree of Bachelor of Science in Education in 1925 at the latter institution. For two years he served as assistant in the Business branch of the Minneapolis Public Library, after which he became assistant librarian of the municipal Reference Library at Los Angeles, California. Because of failing health in the summer of 1931, he asked to be transferred to the Catalog Department, but his health forced him to resign March, 1932.

When he first came to California he was greatly interested in library activities and organizations until his health began to interfere.

He was a member of the A.L.A. until 1933. He was secretary and treasurer of the Southern Californian Chapter of the Special Libraries Association 1928-29, and he was president of same 1929-30.

Mentally, he was very active; he read incessantly. Besides following certain lectures and programs on the radio, he studied astronomy and microscopy as a hobby. With the development of economic and political changes, he read and studied every change from every angle possible and became so well informed that men from all walks of life, both friends and strangers, came to him for advice and information.

Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Ada (Nelson) Whiting, B.L.S. '25, librarian of the Hyde Park Branch of the Los Angeles Public Library, whom he married August 4, 1925; also a sister, Miss Esther M. Whiting, a teacher in Brocton, Mass.

Phyllis Crawford Scott, B.L.S. '24, has resigned her position with the H. W. Wilson company to supervise a WPA project in New York City. The project is to furnish a pictorial index to American design, beginning with costume and architecture.

Virginia Gray, B.S. '33, writes that she has completed one year of the three she is to stay in Africa. Apparently she views the passage of time with regret. Her letter contains most interesting accounts of the rainy season in the Belgian Congo, the native agriculture, and the food habits. "Their menus include all kinds of flesh from the dogs of their villages to the tough muscles of leopards, crocodiles, and hippopotami. They like all sorts of birds and eat insects. When a swarm of locusts appear they are exultant over the feast of the moment, forgetting the damage to their crops. There are flying ants which, at one season, comes swarming out of their holes at twilight every day. Crowds of natives squat around the holes catching the ants as they appear and popping them into their mouths alive."

The women work in the fields, but the men are not idle. They build the mud huts, they hunt, they make the family money. Not every family has money, but more and more is coming into circulation, and in native markets exchange is on a money basis as well as in kind. Many native men work for the missions, for the state on road work, for the plantations. All transportation is done by man power either by crude carts pushed by men or bamboo poles laid across muscular shoulders. There was much more of equal interest. Her address is Care A.P.C. Mission, Lubondai (Tshimbala) District dei Kasai, Congo Belge, Africa.

LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 23

Dear Fellow Alumni:—

Greetings! It is probably "news to you" that I am your president this year and you will hardly have grasped the fact before it will no longer be so, for by the time you receive this our next annual meeting will be only three months off. One might say that the president of this association exists principally for the purpose of appointing the committee to nominate his successor! This curious situation is due mainly to the fact that there is, most of the time, no medium of communication between the officers and the members of the association and that is due, not to lack of interest on the part of the officers, but to lack of funds for publishing a news letter, which in turn may be due to the fact that the officers have no opportunity to stimulate growth and sustain loyalty in the membership—and there we are back again where we started from!

Now, wouldn't it be a fine thing if we could give our next president a chance to "get things going" for our Fortieth Anniversary (yes, we have the "Ruby Wedding Anniversary"—see World Almanac, 1937:491—of the Armour Institute Library School and the University of Illinois to celebrate next year) by paying up our annual dues for this year and next and by persuading other alumni of our school to join our alumni association? And how about you young folks taking out a life membership—shall we say 'gainst the next depression? Nay, nay, there ain't goin' to be no mo' any such thing, but just the same it's an awfully good feeling to have a paid-up life membership in an association—makes you think that you have "arrived" and are somebody.

So, next year we are going to have regular issues of the News Letter, if everyone does his duty, and by the way, the secretary will want some news to put into it—news of individual alumni and stories about Illinois breakfasts, or luncheons, or dinners, at state library association meetings, too.

Speaking of dinners, don't forget the dinner in New York this coming June, on the night for school dinners, whenever that is. The dinner committee is doing its best to keep the price under $2.00, which isn't so easy in N.Y.C., so that everyone can come across with that dollar for the association. They have engaged one of the Schrafft private dining rooms in the vicinity of the conference headquarters, which has proved especially satisfactory to groups of librarians. We also have the promise of a guest speaker whose charm we have experienced and would like to share with others. It will be necessary to know definitely beforehand how many are coming to the dinner. So be making up your mind whether you are coming to A.L.A. in readiness to send in your reservation when the call comes. You might also be deciding with whom you want to sit. We'll do our best to give you congenial table companions.

Till June then!

Faithfully yours,

MARGARET HUTCHINS, President

RICHMOND MEETING

The University of Illinois Library School Association held their annual dinner and meeting at the Commonwealth Club, Richmond, Virginia, on May 14, 1936. In the absence of the president, Miss Ola M. Wyeth, the vice-president, Mr. Charles Stone, presided. One hundred sixty-nine were present.

The tables were decorated with garden flowers and an unusual and delicious menu was served in one of Richmond's most attractive clubs. Thanks are due Mr. Ayer for making such splendid arrangements. At the close of the dinner, a quartet from Hampton Institute sang spirituals and other songs. The Association was indebted to Miss Florence Curtis, director of Hampton Institute Library School, for this very enjoyable feature of the program.

The business session was opened by a motion, which was carried, to approve the minutes of the last meeting as printed in the News Letter of March, 1936.

The report of the secretary-treasurer was read and accepted. The report of the trustees of the endowment fund was presented by Mr. John S. Cleavinger. Motion was carried to accept the report. Miss Eleanor Robertson made a report of the progress of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund and told of plans for the future.

A telegram of greeting from Miss Frances Simpson was read and the secretary was instructed to express regret to Miss Simpson and Miss Wyeth that they could not be present.

Classes were asked to stand by groups, all before 1910, 1910-15, etc., and the later classes beginning with 1931, by years. All groups were well represented.

Mr. Windsor brought news of the Library and Library School. He talked of the changes taking place in the library world as well as in other fields of educational work. He brought greetings from members of the faculty not present and called upon those present for a brief talk. Miss Bond, Miss Hostetter, and Mr. Lyle responded.

It was suggested that the secretary send a letter of greeting to President A. C. Willard of the University of Illinois, and a letter of greeting and appreciation to Miss Ahern. Motion was carried to that effect.

Miss Krieg talked of the placement work of the Library School and stated that unemployment had decreased considerably. She gave an interesting analysis of the 164 requests for recommendations received during the last year, stating that one-half of these were from college and university libraries, one-fourth from public libraries, one-eighth from school libraries, and the rest from special libraries and miscellaneous types of work. Forty-four per cent were filled by the School and eight per cent are now pending. This represents a good percentage when compared with other placement agencies. There is an increasing demand for catalogers with M.A. degrees, and ability to do research work; also for men in public libraries. Miss Krieg announced that forty-seven degrees of B.S. in L.S. and six M.A. degrees will be conferred in June and that degrees will be given, for the first time, at the close of the summer session. The brief course not leading to a degree, formerly given to Illinois librarians in the summer term, will be resumed this year on account of the interest in certification.

Mr. Thomas P. Ayer, librarian of Richmond Public Library, spoke briefly.

The Nominating Committee presented the following names for election: Margaret Hutchins, president; Rudolph H. Gjelsness, first vice-president; Dorothy Black, second vice-president; Josie B. Houchens, secretary-treasurer; Margaret Williams Jones, trustee of the endowment fund to succeed Margaret Hutchins. Motions were carried that these officers be declared elected and the meeting adjourned.

ENDOWMENT FUND

Financial report of the Trustees of the Alumni Endowment Fund, for the period ending April 30, 1936:

This report covers the eleven months from June 1, 1935 to April 30, 1936; the period of each report is conditioned, of course, by the time of the annual meeting of this Association.

There have been no additions to the principal sum during the period covered; interest has been collected in the amount of $290.65. There have been no changes in investment during the year except the interest collections added to the fund in the Bowery Savings Bank, and the withdrawal from that fund of $300.00 for the annual scholarship payment. The annual income from our invested funds at the present rate is $305.00 to which is added the earnings on the savings bank balance, amounting in the present period to $18.13. The full yearly amount of income from invested funds was not collected during the present period, as a result of an adjustment in the dates of paying interest by the Building and Loan Association.

The fourth annual scholarship of $300.00 was paid to the University in March, 1936, for use during 1936-1937.

The resources of the fund at present in the hands of the Trustees are:

5 per cent stock certificate, Commercial Building & Loan Association, Urbana, Illinois.....	$5,000.00
5½ per cent bond, Scovill Manufacturing Co., ($1,000 par value).....	990.00
On deposit in Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.....	762.08
Total.....	$6,752.08

Sources of this amount:	Reported, 1935	11 mo., 1935-36	Total to date
From life memberships and special contributions, augmented by authorized advance of $596.00 from the general treasury in 1927.....	$5,571.00		$5,571.00
From interest collections.....	2,090.45	$ 290.65	2,381.10
Less scholarships paid.....	(900.02)	(300.00)	(1,200.02)

Respectfully submitted,

New York City, May 1, 1936

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1936-37

President—Margaret Hutchins, School of Library Service, Columbia University, New York City.
1st Vice-President—Rudolph H. Gjelsness, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona.
2d Vice-President—Dorothy Black, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.
Secretary-Treasurer—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.
Member Ex-Officio—Ola M. Wyeth, Public Library, Savannah, Georgia.
Trustees of Endowment Fund—J. S. Cleavinger, 1935-38, Louise B. Krause, 1934-37, Margaret Williams Jones, 1936-39.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

Two more recent graduates have been added to the Honor Roll,
MARGARET WINDSOR, '34 ELIZABETH WINDSOR, '32

There is an acute need for additional life members so that the principal of the endowment fund may be increased. For the past four years the interest on this fund has been sufficient for one three-hundred dollar scholarship each year. However, interest rates are being lowered from five to four, and even three per cent, and our capital invested at such rates will no longer yield the necessary amount.

The younger alumni might well consider such a membership as an investment in their profession, for this scholarship will help some especially qualified fellow alumni to a year of graduate study, which might otherwise be impossible.

NEWS ! ! !

Your secretary, who is also the editor of the News Letter, has great difficulty in collecting all possible notes about the alumni. The professional activities and publication items are the most illusive. Many such items are omitted in each letter because we have not had access to all state library association programs nor have we been able to read all the periodicals to which alumni may have contributed. So please help by mailing us a copy of any program on which you appear, any newspaper notice of your community activities, as well as references to any articles or books you may write.

LIBRARY SCHOOL RECORDS

Is your record in the Library School correct? Have you sent in information concerning that last salary raise? Have you changed your position or been promoted without reporting it? Have you been married? If so do we have the new name and the new address? It would be very helpful if each former student would send such data to the office promptly.

ALUMNI REUNIONS

KANSAS

The enclosed list gives the names of those who were present at the University of Illinois Library School breakfast at Pratt City, Kansas, on October 23. This breakfast was one of the social events of the Kansas Library Association conference which was held October 21-23. Our School had by far the largest representation.

I enclose a program with the names of all Illinois individuals appearing thereon checked. Each one of our Illinois people who appeared on the program gave an exceptionally good paper or talk. It was a splendid meeting—altogether the best state meeting that I have ever attended.

The following were present at the breakfast: Ruth Hammond, Wichita City Library; Mary Barrett, Fort Hays Kansas State College; Alma E. Grass, Larned Public Library; Ruth L. Hoff, periodical librarian, Kansas University, Lawrence; Gayle Clark, circulation department, Wichita; Gladys Judy, librarian, Public Library, Pratt City; Alice L. Beach, librarian, Friend's University, Wichita; Evelyn Elliott, assistant professor of library science, Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia; Elsie D. Sullens, head of catalog department, Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia; Grace E. Derby, associate librarian, Kansas State College, Manhattan; Elizabeth H. Davis, reference librarian, Kansas State College, Manhattan.

ELIZABETH H. DAVIS

KENTUCKY

The Illinois Library School Alumni in Kentucky held their annual meeting during the Kentucky Library Association conference, which met at Horse Cave, October 9-10.

Officers were elected for the coming year and friendships were deepened at the informal luncheon meeting. Eight persons were present. All either paid their dues at the meeting, or had already done so.

The eight Illinois Alumni present were as follows: Edna Emilie Bothe, '29, Western Kentucky State Teachers College; Numia Lee Fouts, '35, High School Library (send mail to home address, 325 Riverside, Russel, Ky.); Mary Elizabeth Hause, '32, catalog department, University of Louisville; Catherine Lynn Katterjohn, '32, catalog department, University of Kentucky; Blanche Lane, '28, catalog department, Berea College; Lena Barbara Nofcier, '28, Kentucky Library Commission; Perma Allegra Rich, '28, Union College Library; Evelyn Julia Schneider, '30, University of Louisville.

Three alumni holding office in the Kentucky Library Association are Miss Lena B. Nofcier, second vice-president; Miss Edna Emilie Bothe, director; and Miss Evelyn Schneider, director.

PERMA A. RICH

LOUISIANA

The alumni present at the Louisiana Library Association last March gathered for a breakfast. A telegram of greetings was sent to Mr. Windsor, signed by the following: Wilhelmina Carrothers, Helmer Webb, May Webb, Metella Williams, Florinell Francis, Margaret Herdman, Maud Merritt Cook, Louise Prichard, Ralph McComb, Dorothy M. Gropp, Lois Shortess, Arthur E. Gropp.

MINNESOTA

This year the Minnesota Library Association met in Duluth, October 1-3. Miss Lynne Worth obtained the list of Minnesota-Illini from me and sent out cards to them in advance.

On the night of the banquet nine of us sat together at the Illinois table. There were eleven in all, but Miss Ingram and Miss Penrose had to sit at the head table. We enjoyed being together and it was a very happy occasion.

The credit for this reunion is due to Miss Worth, who spared no pains to make it a success.

Those present were: Amy C. Moon, Saint Paul Public Library; Isabelle T. Anderson, Ramsey Co-Medical Society; Helen Weaver, Buhl; Lynne G. Worth, Duluth Public Library; Elinor Chapple Salters, Duluth; Marion Phillips, Moorhead Public Library; Sarah Lawson, University of Minnesota; Helen K. Starr, Saint Paul; I. Charlotte Campbell, Saint Paul; Alma M. Penrose, St. Cloud; Leone Ingram, Saint Paul.

AMY C. MOON

TEXAS

Eighteen Illini met at breakfast at the Texas Hotel, October 24, 1936, during the Southwestern Library Association Meeting in Houston. There were other Illini at the meeting who were unavoidably prevented from attending the breakfast.

Miss Jim P. Matthews presided. Mr. Icko Iben, though a graduate of the Illinois Library School, was an honor guest at the breakfast, as he succeeded by election of the executive committee Mrs. Cora Case Porter as president of the Southwestern Library Association for the unexpired term.

Mr. Iben led the singing of "Hail to the Orange." A telegram of greeting and news from the Illinois Library School was read from Mr. Windsor. It was voted to send a response to Mr. and Mrs. Windsor. It was also voted to send a message to Mrs. Cora Case Porter, who resigned the presidency on account of illness, to say how much we missed her.

Purposely no formal program had been prepared so that there might be more opportunity to become better acquainted. Practically each person present contributed a news item about other Illini or about recent Illinois Library School happenings. Those present, including several guests, were: Frances Burrage, Dallas Public Library; Mary Clay, Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton; Flora Eckert, cataloger, University of Texas, Austin; Opal Williams, librarian, East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce; Addie Smith, cataloger, A. & M. College, Stillwater, Okla.; Harriet Dickson, Houston Public Library; Helen T. Cofin, librarian, La Retama Public Library, Corpus Christi; Octavia F. Rogan, librarian, Masonic Grand Lodge, Waco; Florinell Francis, Louisiana State University Library School, Baton Rouge (Instructor, Library School, 1931-1933); Ralph W. McComb, Tulane University Library, New Orleans, La.; Ethel K. Millar, Hendrix College, Conway, Ark.; Julia Grothaus, librarian, San Antonio Public Library and Bexar County Free Library; Mildred Botts, circulation desk, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, N. M.; Ruth McFayden Cunningham, University of Arkansas Library, Fayetteville, Ark.; James J. Hill, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla.; Icko Iben, A. & M. College Library, Okla.; Jim P. Matthews, University of Arkansas Library, Fayetteville, Ark.; Arthur E. Gropp, Department of Middle American Research, Tulane University, New Orleans, La.

OCTAVIA F. ROGAN

Mae C. Anders, assistant librarian of the Des Moines Public Library, was appointed chairman of the Plaque Award Committee of the Iowa Library Association.

C. P. Baber, librarian of the State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, had a paper on "The living Jefferson" by James Truslow Adams at the State Library Association meeting at Pratt City. His paper was read by Ruth Hoff.

Lorena Baker, loan librarian of the University of Texas, was in charge of the program of the Austin Library Club on Staff Organization. At that meeting she gave a paper and lead the discussion on "Division of professional and clerical duties."

Mary E. Baker, librarian of the University of Tennessee Public Library at Knoxville, was chairman of the College and Reference Section of the South-eastern Library Association in October.

Grace Barnes, librarian of the University of Maryland, presided over the Agricultural Libraries Section at Richmond.

Mary Barrett of Fort Hays State College, discussed the "Library trained teacher and her training" before the College Library Section of the Kansas Library Association meeting in October.

Florence Beck McGlachlin, librarian of the State Teachers College at Conway, was elected secretary of the Arkansas Library Association for this year.

Alice L. Beach, librarian of the Friends University, presided over the College Library Round Table of the Kansas State Library Association.

Lucile Brumbaugh, librarian of the State Teachers College, Maryville, Missouri, will be treasurer of the Missouri Library Association for 1937.

Wilhelmina Carothers, librarian of Dillard University, spoke on "Professional cooperation" at the first general session of the Louisiana Library Association at New Orleans in March.

Flora M. Case, librarian of the Public Library of Elkhart, is president of the Indiana State Association.

Mary H. Clay, librarian of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton, Texas, presented a digest of the A.L.A. Friends of the Library groups at a luncheon meeting of the College and Reference Section of the Southwestern Library Association meeting. She also read in the absence of the author, Roy A. Crouch, a paper, "The new curriculum and library planning for the Southwestern states."

The survey is financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and will take two years, alternate six-month periods being spent in the field and in the library of the Middle American Research department in New Orleans. In order to get the proper perspective for his data, Mr. Gropp will also make brief community surveys in the places where he finds libraries or archives. This project is expected to be the most comprehensive survey ever attempted in the Latin-Americas and will make the library of the department of Middle American Research at Tulane, already the finest library in its field, the center for information on Latin-American research sources. Results of this survey will be published as a guide to Middle American Libraries and Archives. Mr. Gropp is also chairman of the A.L.A. committee on library co-operation with Latin-America. This committee hopes for a library survey of all Latin-America.

ALUMNI NEWS

Miriam Eliza Carey, 1898-99, died at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. E. G. Abbott, on January 9, 1937, at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Her illness was brief and her death due to influenza.

Miss Carey was a pioneer in the field of Institutional Libraries. Indeed, when she accepted the position of Supervisor of Institution Libraries in Iowa in 1906, it was the first office of its kind created by any state. In 1909, she went to Minnesota as a member of the Library Commission to work with Institutional Libraries. In 1913, she accepted the newly created position of Supervisor of Institution Libraries with the Minnesota State Board of Control. From 1918-19 she was the field director for the A.L.A. war service of all hospital libraries in Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and North and South Carolina. She returned to her position with the Minnesota State Board of Control and was there until she resigned in 1927. Since her retirement she has continued her active interest in her field of library service and has been connected with the faculty of the Library School at the University of Minnesota.

The following appreciation by Miss Perrie Jones, Supervisor of Institutional

Libraries, State Board of Control, Minnesota, appeared in the Library Journal for February 1, 1937.

"The bare facts of her library life indicate something of her independent pioneer spirit, but not at all her rich but self-effacing personality, her dignity, her quiet, deep sympathy, her salty humor, her kindliness, her wisdom and her unyielding independence.

"She was one of that nucleus of remarkable women whom the turn of the century saw shaping the future of library affairs in these midwestern states. The apostle for libraries in prisons and hospitals, Miss Carey went up and down the country carrying the gospel in her own inimitable, dry, direct, effective manner to the American Prison Association, the A.L.A., state groups, library schools and clubs.

"To try to translate the remarkable spirit of this woman into phrases is futile, but there is a duty to the young to pass on the tradition, so far as one is able, of these unique figures in our profession. Some spoke of her as the Quaker aristocrat who never grew old, as one of those a part of whose charm is the extraordinary ability to laugh at themselves; a wise, kindly woman with strict integrity and deep loyalties. What Miss Carey said and did is already becoming part of the traditions of library experience in this state and fortunate is that one to have such traditions as part of his or her inheritance."

Alice P. Bixby, '98-Feb. '00, head cataloger of the Ryerson Library, Art Institute, Chicago since 1921, died of pneumonia December 17, 1936 at St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago. Miss Bixby had had a very liberal education, studying in Berlin and Zurich from 1909-10, and graduating from the University of Michigan in 1913. Her experience had been most varied, as may be seen from the following list of positions: libr., Bur. of Chemistry, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, 1901-04; cataloger, Berkeley (Calif.) Pub. Lib., 1905-07; checker, Off. of Supt. of Docs., Washington, 1907-09; cataloger, U. of Mich. Lib., 1910-18; U.S. Ordnance Dept. Lib., Washington, 1918; Gen. staff col., Washington, 1919-20; Asst. Tech. Dept., Carnegie Lib., Pittsburgh, 1921; classifier, Amer. Acad. Lib., Rome, 1914-15. She was a member of A.L.A., Chicago Lib. Club, Archaeol. Inst. of Amer., D.A.R., Presbyterian Church.

Miss Anna L. Chapin, a cousin, is the closest living relative.

Delia C. Sanford, B.L.S. '00, resigned her position as classifier at the University of Wisconsin Library, Madison, and has gone to Pasadena, California, to make her home. She is living at 295 Markham Place.

The following 1901 notes were taken from the Illinois Alumni News.

Minnie Clarke Bridgeman, B.L.S. '01, has lived in Clinton, Illinois, ever since her marriage to Leonard Ward Ingham in 1905. They have four children, all through college, a daughter Alice, married J. Howard Corzine, lives near Taylorville, Illinois, and has a small son. Mrs. Ingham keeps up her library interest by being a trustee for the Clinton Public Library.

Edna L. Goss, B.L.S. '01, whose address is 2414 Telegraph Avenue, Berkeley, California, has given up her active library work and is preparing a pamphlet covering pioneer days as recorded in some rare old letters written by her father and grandfather.

Frances E. Jones, B.L.S. '01, whose permanent address is Morris, Illinois, after nearly 20 years of "irregular library work," became interested in social work about the time of the World War. She took graduate courses at the University of Chicago and at Smith College, and for the past fifteen years has been with several family agencies. In 1929 she entered the field of child welfare, and is now supervisor in the Chicago district of the Illinois Children's Home & Aid Society. Her chief recreational interest is travel, at home and abroad. In 1927-28 she made a trip around the world.

Mary E. Todd, B.L.S. '01, for fifteen years in charge of the science room of the New York Public Library, returned to her home in Syracuse six years ago this spring, expecting to give up library work and take care of her family, but now she is making a "come-back" on a "one-man-job" in a Syracuse school library. She writes, "Like you, I am short and fat, but it is only recently that I have had my hair bobbed. I have been so busy all my life that I never realized until recently that I wasn't young any more, and so at last I bobbed my hair, hoping it would rejuvenate me." Mary has had three trips to Europe and two across the continent, and the joy of rehabilitating a 100-year-old cottage and making a garden. "I can find lots of thrills wherever I am, even if it is nothing more than a sunset, or possibly once in a while a sunrise," she says. The New York sunsets are magnificent, we see them often, but we are unable to remember any New York sunrise.

Alice L. Wing, B.L.S. '04, writes that she has been acting as a representative of several Chicago book publishers for the last two years and that she enjoys the freedom and variety of the work very much. She is at present connected with the George L. Shuman Co., 203 North Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Grace Darling Phillips, B.L.S. '05, who has spent the last two years as an instructor at the Boone Library School, Wuchang, China, has returned to the United States and for the present is at her home, 3021 Forest Avenue, Kansas City, Mo. She is lecturing on China and has for exhibition beautiful Chinese costumes and works of art.

Della J. Sisler, B.L.S. '05, is acting director of the School of Librarianship, University of California, Berkeley. She taught advanced cataloging at the School of Library Service, Columbia University last summer.

Frank M. Bumstead, 1905-06, head of the accessions department of the University of California at Berkeley, is ill at the Alum Rock Sanatorium, San Jose, California. He would be glad to have letters and notes from friends.

Stella Blanche Hedrick, 1908-09, has resigned her position as head of the department of acquisitions at the University of Missouri Library, Columbia, Missouri, where she has been since 1921. Miss Hedrick has retired from active library service.

Oscar E. Norman, 1908-09, librarian of the Peoples Light, Gas, and Coke Co. in Chicago, was married during the Christmas holidays.

Margaret Winning, 1913-14, has been appointed superintendent of the extension department of the Brooklyn Public Library. From 1927-35 she was head of the county department of the Fort Wayne, Ind., Public Library.

Margaret M. Herdman, B.L.S. '15, associate director of the School of Library Science, Louisiana State University, is on leave of absence this year and is taking graduate work at Chicago University Graduate Library School.

Norma Lee Peck, B.L.S. '15, sent us a picture of the Book Truck in which she makes bi-weekly trips to rural patrons, stopping at the gates of isolated houses or in the center of a group of homes in a small community. From September to the end of May the adults are catered to, but during the summer children's books are added. There is a panel on the outside of the truck which opens and the small children can select their books without going in.

Margaret S. Williams (Mrs. Edward H. Jones), B.L.S. '16, now has Flat Rock, N.C., as her permanent address. Dr. Jones bought an estate close to Flat Rock and they have been very busy restoring the old house. This spring they will decorate and furnish it and make it their home. Formerly called the Lodge, they have renamed it Heaven Trees, because of the magnificent trees which cover such a large portion of the estate.

A RECORD OF WHICH TO BE PROUD

Several times in the last few years the University has made studies of Alumni Relations calling on the various colleges and schools of the University to give an account of the way in which they have kept in contact with their alumni and the way in which their alumni have manifested their continued interest in their college and the whole University.

In such studies the relation of the Library School and its alumni have received most favorable comment; few colleges maintain such an active placement bureau or make a definite effort through a separate alumni association to keep their former students united.

When the University Foundation, for the purpose of unifying and perpetuating alumni giving, was organized Mr. Windsor sent the following resumé of the generous and loyal activities of the Library School Association to President Willard, to Carl Stephens, Secretary of the general Alumni Association and to other University officials.

Thirteen hundred alumni of the University of Illinois Library School are now working in libraries scattered from one end of the country to another. They are, for example, nearly as numerous in the State of California as they are in Illinois, aside from those in Urbana.

These alumni, like most librarians, have a strong esprit de corps; they have manifested their loyalty to the School and to the profession in many ways, as may be gathered from the following paragraphs.

1. The alumni and former students of the School (including those of the Library School of Armour Institute, the predecessor of our own School), have had an Alumni Association of their own since 1898 and for years at every annual conference of the American Library Association the organized alumni present have held a reunion dinner, with an attendance ranging in recent years from 100 to 220. This dinner, which is largely a social affair, chiefly for reunion purposes, has done much to keep the alumni of the School acquainted with each other and interested in the School from which they graduated.

2. At many annual meetings of state library associations, similar, though smaller, meetings of Illinois alumni are held.

3. The reputation of our alumni influences students to come to Illinois for their professional training.

4. In 1920-22 the alumni of the School raised a fund of about $1200 and commissioned Lorado Taft to make a bronze bas-relief tablet of Miss Katherine L. Sharp, who was organizer and director of the Armour Institute Library School 1893-97; and from 1897, when the School was moved to the University, was director of the School and librarian of the University until 1907. That bronze tablet now hangs in the Library building, near the rooms occupied by the Library School.

5. When Miss Frances Simpson, Assistant Director of the Library School, was about to retire six years ago after many years of service, the alumni contributed nearly $1200 and presented it to her in cash, in token of their affection and their wish to add to the pleasures of her announced trip around the world.

6. The Library School Association, about ten years ago, authorized life memberships at $25, the money for these life memberships to go into a permanent fund to endow one or more scholarships or fellowships in the Library School. That endowment fund now amounts to nearly $7000 and each year a Graduate School scholarship of $300 for second year students in Library Science is provided by the income.

7. The annual dues of the Library School Association are $1.00. Generally from 75 to 200 annual memberships are paid, and this money is used, first, in paying the ordinary running expenses of the Association, which are small; second, in printing and mailing to each former student an occasional alumni "News Letter"; and finally, the surplus goes into a loan fund for students in the Library School. This loan fund now amounts to over $1000.

8. The University of Illinois Library Club which, while officially not a part of the Library School, nevertheless is closely related to it, recently established the Adah Patton Memorial Fund, in memory of Miss Patton, long a librarian in the University of Illinois. This fund now amounts to $2000 in cash, and will, when it grows to $4000 or $5000, furnish an annual income which will probably be used for printing occasional bibliographical and other works of special value to the work of librarians.

Most of the Library School alumni are graduates of other colleges and universities who have later come to Illinois for a year or two of professional study in the Library School; these naturally owe a loyalty to the other institution as well as to Illinois. When we consider this, and the fact that librarians generally have only modest salaries, the above record is most commendable.

We all are in entire sympathy with the General Alumni Association of the University of Illinois and with the newly organized University of Illinois Foundation; many of us are members of the general Alumni Association, and will work with it and the Foundation. However, it seems quite natural for the Library School Alumni Association to continue to be somewhat independent, perhaps just because it always has been independent, and because of the professional ties that bind the members together.

RESERVATIONS—A.L.A. DINNER

The annual dinner and business meeting of the Association will be held at seven o'clock, Thursday evening, June 24, in the Grill Room at Schrafft's, 556 Fifth Avenue, near 46th Street, two blocks west and three south of the Waldorf-Astoria. Tickets ($1.75) will be on sale at A.L.A. Headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria, but, as the number is limited, those who expect to attend are urged to send in reservations as soon as possible (not later than June 18) to Mr. Gordon W. Gray, Reference Department, College of the City of New York Library, 139th Street and Convent Avenue, New York City. Tickets will be set aside first for those who have made advance reservations. Tickets are necessary for admission to the dinner and none will be sold at the door. The dinner will be informal.

DINING IN NEW YORK

The following are some suggestions of inexpensive places for couples and small groups who wish to eat well in pleasant surroundings. As soon as warm weather comes everyone makes for outdoor eating places. Especially in the last two or three years sidewalk cafes have blossomed out all over the city, from the Hotel Brevoort and the Fifth Avenue Hotel, down near Washington Square (take a Fifth Avenue bus marked Washington Square), up to the Childs (!) Restaurant at Broadway and 111th Street. If you have an Anglo-Saxon dislike of eating under the eyes of the passers by, there are the roof gardens and the courts and backyards. Tea at the British Empire Exhibition Room at Radio City is a delightful occasion, with big plates full of the thinnest slices of bread and butter you ever ate outside of England itself, out on an English lawn away up above the street—one of the hanging gardens of New York. That, of course, is only two or three blocks from the Waldorf-Astoria. It's also possible to eat at the top of the Empire State Building, American food, but what a view of New York!

If it is warm, you will find it a cooling trip on the top of a Fifth Avenue Bus up to the Claremont Inn just above Grant's Tomb. There you can eat out on a terrace overlooking the Hudson. Plan to be there at sunset. It's usually gorgeous. 'Phone ahead for a table "on the west side of the house toward the north" if you want to be quiet and a bit by yourselves. A Number 5 or Number 19 bus going north ("uptown") by Riverside Drive, or a Number 4, by Fifth Avenue and Central Park, will take you there in about an hour early in the evening. You may have heard that the Claremont is very expensive. It isn't any more. You can get a dinner for a dollar and a half or less—or more.

If you want to go to the "Village" (and what visitor doesn't!!) take bus marked Washington Square, going downtown, get off at Eighth Street, don't cross the Avenue, but turn on to Eighth Street and in a couple of blocks or so you will reach the Jumble Shop on one side of the street and Alice McCollister's on the other. Both set tables outdoors in the back. If it is rainy there is the Brick House on MacDougal Street opposite the Jumble Shop, which is very good, (the Jumble Shop itself is quite quaint on the inside, too) and further along Eighth Street is the Pepper Shop.

Remember you do not get any views in the Village. You are all shut in by buildings. Another place to eat where you can get a fine water view, this time over the harbor to the famous sky-line (instead of the Claremont's view up and down the Hudson) is the Marine Roof Garden at the Bossert Hotel in Brooklyn. You have to take the subway, which isn't so pleasant on a hot night, but it's really worth it when you get there. Sunset there is also glorious. The St. George Hotel Roof in Brooklyn offers a splendid view of the harbor and sunset, has a less interesting dining room than the Marine Roof, but is also less expensive and there is a wonderful swimming pool in the hotel.

Places nearer Headquarters? Well, there's Theresa Worthington Grant's, southern cooking, outdoor tables, and leisurely service! Many New Yorkers, librarians and other professional people with refined tastes and slim pocketbooks, say they have gotten the best dollar dinner in New York at the Hearthstone on 48th Street just south of the Waldorf, (the Blue Bowl just opposite the Hearthstone is also recommended)—but if you are up near Columbia University you can get just as good a one, if not better, for 99 cents or less at Butler Hall, 119th Street and Morningside Drive. That is a roof garden and has a terrace with a fine view over the city in every direction, and is very cool.

Foreign places? They are apt to be rather hot and stuffy in the summer time. Some of the Italian restaurants west of Fifth Avenue have "gardens," but they are inside buildings. However, if you are hungry, of course there is no cheaper way of getting filled up than an Italian restaurant, unless it is a Chinese or Japanese one. It is fun to eat at the Japanese restaurants where they cook on your table, if you have plenty of time! Wherever you see a sign Suki Aki you will find Japanese food. There are two or more in the Forties, west of Fifth Avenue. Good Swedish places abound, Stockholm offers a cool quiet place for lunch or dinner and a Smörgåsbord table loaded with delectable dishes, both hot and cold.

Places outside the city? If you have a car at your disposal, drive out over the new Spuyten Duyvil Bridge and the Hendrik Hudson Parkway, at the upper end of Riverside Drive, and on out the Sawmill River Parkway to Woodland Tavern. That's a very pleasant place to eat dinner overlooking the Sawmill River. You may get a very poor dinner or a very good dinner there. It's a toss-up. It's a pleasant drive anyway and you seem to be much farther from the city than you really are.

Finally, if you can spare the time from four or five in the afternoon on into the evening, you can drive to the nicest place of all, the terrace of the central pavilion at Jones Beach where you can look out over the greenest grass and the pinkest flowers and the whitest sand in the world to the open sea and watch the great ocean-going vessels steam by 'way out on the horizon. Don't let the waiter inveigle you inside. Better a simple blue-plate of sea-food out in the open than a full course dinner shut up in a dining room. With a car you can get there easily inside two hours without breaking the law (Mr. Windsor can probably do it in an hour, if he doesn't get pinched) by way of the Tri-Borough Bridge, which is a marvelous sight in itself and the easiest bridge to drive on, and the Grand Central and Southern State Parkways. The sign for Jones Beach is a seahorse. So follow the seahorses and you'll reach the sea in due time. And surely any one from the inland doesn't want to visit the coast and not put at least his fingers into salt water!

Perhaps a picnic would appeal more. Cross the George Washington Bridge, take the drive along the Palisades and continue on to Bear Mountain, here on the very top is the quietest picnic spot in the world, and a view of New York State. Take an afternoon for this or have lunch there on your way home, if you are driving by the Roosevelt Trail.

President—Margaret Hutchins, School of Library Service, Columbia University, New York City.

1st Vice-President—Rudolph H. Gjelsness, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona.

2d Vice-President—Dorothy Black, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

Secretary-Treasurer and editor News Letter—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

Member Ex-Officio—Ola M. Wyeth, Public Library, Savannah, Georgia.
Trustees of Endowment Fund—J. S. Cleavinger, 1935-38; Louise B. Krause, 1934-37; Margaret Williams Jones, 1936-39.

WANT TO GO TO CHINA?

If anyone is interested in a library school position in China at a salary of $800 a year in United States currency, please get in touch with the Library School office. The prospective candidate is expected to pay his or her own passage both ways. One can live quite comfortably for $30 a month. Age: 35 to 42 years. Good health is essential. Episcopalian preferred.

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIPS

You say you are not ready to become a life member; that may be true, but why not join now on a regular membership of one dollar a year and help us defray the expenses of the News Letter. For several years the cost of this has exceeded our income, thus drawing on the reserve which we had hoped to keep for a loan fund. Out of over twelve hundred alumni actively engaged in library work, only one hundred and seventeen paid their dues last year. Surely dollars are not so scarce now—don't you just forget?

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

Several more names have been added to the Honor Roll

CATHERINE MCIVOR, '34

MARY LOUISE SEELY, '36

There is an acute need for additional life members so that the principal of the endowment fund may be increased. For the past four years the interest on this fund has been sufficient for one three-hundred dollar scholarship each year. However, interest rates are being lowered from five to four, and even three per cent, and our capital invested at such rates will no longer yield the necessary amount.

The younger alumni might well consider such a membership as an investment in their profession, for this scholarship has helped and will help especially qualified fellow alumni to a year of graduate study, which might otherwise be impossible.

ALUMNI REUNIONS

LOUISIANA

MINNESOTA

On March 19, 1937, at a dinner meeting at Minnesota University, was held the 50th anniversary celebration of the establishment of the first library school at Columbia University.

The program consisted of a clever little play, called "A Conversation with Mr. Dewey," given by members of the staff of the Minneapolis Public Library. It took us back to the days of the first class in 1887.

Mr. Frank Walter gave a short talk on the library training idea, and a paper, written by Mr. J. Christian Bay, was read, entitled "The Library School and Library Life."

Fifteen library schools were represented and twelve Illini were seated together.

Miss Isabel Anderson was the Illinois member of the general committee and it was through her efforts that arrangements were made for our happy reunion, though she herself was unable to be there.

The Illini present from the Twin Cities were: Jessie L. Arms, Flora M. Brown, I. Charlotte Campbell, Cleona L. Case, Katharine Foster, Maxine Heg-land, Sarah Lawson, Bessie Medd, Amy C. Moon, and Helen K. Starr. Out of town Illini were Grace M. Mostue from the Fairmount High School Library, and Alf Houkom from St. Olaf College Library.

AMY C. MOON

OHIO VALLEY

A number of Illinois alumni were present at the Ohio Valley Regional Group of Catalogers meeting held in Bloomington, Indiana, on May 15, 1937. Several members of the Catalog Division of the University of Illinois Library also attended this meeting.

Those present at the luncheon were: from Ohio, Nellie M. Coats, Elizabeth Wilson, D. Martin, Ena Oertli, Lois E. Goan, Grace Mitchell, Blanche Lane, Verna Harris Pate, F. Cantrall, Rosemary Martin; from University of Michigan, Laura Peck; from University of Illinois, Cleo Lichtenberger, Mary Louise Seely, Edna Brown, Ethel Bond.

TEXAS

ALEXANDER MOFFIT

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Three very successful luncheons were held with the following present:

March 13—H. J. Chamberlain, Florence B. Currie, Maud Davis, L. M. Falk and wife, M. W. Getchell and wife (née Louise Winn), Bess Glenn, Alma Hook, Anne Jensen, Dorothy Cornwell Lewis, Katherine M. Knoop, Gwendolyn Murphy, Arthur G. Renstrom, Nannie G. Sanders, Olga Skartvedt, Dorothy J. Hill.

April 10—Grace Barnes, Mrs. Vivian Reynolds Boughter, Helen Clark, Florence B. Currie, Maud Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Dunkin, Dorothy J. Hill, Alma Hook, Katherine Knoop, Mrs. Dorothy Cornwell Lewis, Gwendolyn Murphy, Julia Pressey, Olga Skartvedt, Ruby Wilson, and my mother.

May 8—Florence B. Currie, Mildred Ann Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Dunkin, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Getchell, Leslie Falk, Dorothy J. Hill, Gladys Johnson, Elva Krogh, Nannie G. Sanders, Olga Skartvedt, Philip Stone, and Ruby Wilson.

The Washington alumni are hoping that they will see many Illini in the capital this summer.

DOROTHY J. HILL

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor in the University of Illinois Library School, has been granted a sabbatical leave for the first semester of 1937-38. She will spend most of the summer in Washington, D. C., working on a new edition of her book on Government Documents. The demand for a revised and enlarged edition has been so insistent from librarians that H. W. Wilson Co. persuaded her to undertake it. Next winter she will be in New York.

Frances Burrage, cataloger of the Public Library, Dallas, presided over the catalog section at the recent meeting of the Texas Library Association, Dallas.

Madeline Canova, instructor, Library Science Department, Texas College for Women, Denton, took part in a symposium on the certification of librarians at the recent meeting of the Texas Library Association.

Nellie M. Coats, chief, catalog division, Indiana State Library, represented Indiana in the discussion on Regional Cooperation in bibliography:

the field and its possibilities, in the Ohio Valley Regional group of catalogers meeting held in Bloomington, Indiana, on May 15, 1937.

Arthur R. Curry, as vice-president of the Texas Library Association, presided over the third general session of their meeting in Dallas, April 29-May 1.

LeNoir Dimmitt, director, Extension Loan Library Bureau, University of Texas, gave the president's address, "Signal Lights," before the Texas Library Association meeting at Dallas in April.

Mildred W. Easton, circulation department, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Carnegie Library, writes that she was to broadcast over the "Know Your Library Program," and that she was joining the Writer's Club, so that "my time for loafing is definitely at an end."

Myron Getchell, associate editor, Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., is teaching classification at the Summer School Session at the Catholic University.

Josie B. Houchens, binding librarian and lecturer in the Library School, University of Illinois, will again be an instructor in reference and bibliography in the Summer Session of the School of Library Service, Columbia University.

Blanche Lane of Berea College Library, was secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Valley Regional Group of Catalogers meeting held in Bloomington, Indiana, on May 15, 1937.

Anne Fraser Leidendeker, head of the science and technology division of the Los Angeles Public Library, has been elected one of the directors of the All City Employees Association, and is very active in the campaign to establish a retirement fund for city employees. The library staff is almost one hundred per cent members of the Association.

Mary Alice Matthews, librarian of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Washington, D. C., expects to attend the A.L.A. conference in New York and then sail on June 19 for Paris, where she will be engaged in reorganizing the European Center Library of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, located at 173 Boul. St. Germain, Paris. She expects the work to occupy all summer.

Miles O. Price, librarian of the Law Library of Columbia University, will teach a special course in Law Library Service at the Summer Session of the School of Library Service, Columbia University.

Perma A. Rich, librarian of Union College, Barbourville, Kentucky, calls attention to the fact that she is not president of the Kentucky Library Association, as reported in the last News Letter, but is president of the Illinois Library School Alumni in Kentucky.

Elizabeth Sanderson of the Missouri Library Commission, gave a book review during the Library Hour sponsored by the Missouri Library Commission and the Missouri Library Association over KFRU at 4:15 p.m. Wednesdays in March.

Wilma Loy Shelton, librarian and professor of library science at the University of New Mexico, expects her new library building to be completed in 1938. A government appropriation made it possible for the university to erect the building which will be one of the most interesting of university libraries. The plans, drawn by John Gaw Meem of Santa Fe, are representative of the architecture of the Southwest. The building will provide for three reading rooms, thirteen seminars, and cubicles for research workers. It will seat 700 readers and house about 450,000 volumes, but is so placed on the campus that extensive additions may be made. Special features will be a Coronado Room for Southwestern materials, and a Spanish Room.

Miss Shelton has been librarian since 1920 and has built up the present library from a very small number of books to the present collection. The library report is printed and gives a good survey of the activities of the library. A checklist of New Mexico newspapers was issued by the staff as one of the University Bulletins. Work is now in progress on a list of serials in the University of New Mexico Library, together with those in other libraries in Albuquerque, and a list of state publications.

She has been very active in library activities in the Southwestern Library Association as president and vice-president, has been president of the New Mexico Library Association, and is a member of the A.L.A. Subscription Books Bulletin Committee. She has also been very active in university and civic affairs.

Sister M. Norita, librarian of St. Xavier College, Chicago, was on the program of the Annual Convention of the Catholic Library Association which met in Louisville, Kentucky, April, 1937.

Howard B. Sohn attended the meeting of the East Central district of the Ohio Library Association at Steubenville in April. He presented a paper. His annual report of the Alliance Public Library was presented in an unusual manner—"Your Library reports to its stockholders," with a statement of assets, liabilities, and prospects.

Helen K. Starr, librarian of the Hill Reference Library, St. Paul, gave a paper on "Subject Headings for a Scientific Library" before the annual meeting of the Medical Library Association, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Jeannette VanderPloeg, assistant professor of library science and head cataloger, State College Library, San Jose, Calif., will be an instructor in the Summer Session of the University of Illinois Library School.

Marcia Wheeler, librarian of the Hinsdale Public Library, is a member of the committee to organize a Junior Members Round Table for Illinois.

ALUMNI NEWS

Alice P. Bixby, '98-Feb. '00. The last News Letter carried the news of the death of Alice P. Bixby, for many years head cataloger of the Ryerson Library in Chicago. Now we have just heard of an interesting provision in her will whereby "a trust is set up for the education of certain heirs with the further provision that upon the completion of their education or in the event they decline to accept the trust benefits, the fund shall be conveyed to the University of Illinois to be invested and the income used as the Alice P. Bixby Scholarship" for the benefit of some worthy, indigent girl, who is a graduate of the public schools of Danville, Illinois. Any balance remaining may be applied to assist in the education of other girls at the University.

Miss Bixby had been born in Danville and spent her girlhood there.

Lavinia Steel, B.L.S. '02, who has been assistant librarian of the Iowa Masonic Library at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, since 1925 until recently, has announced her engagement to Mr. Frederic Bateman at Greenlock, New Jersey.

Frances Simpson, B.L.S. '03, formerly assistant director of the Library School, and now Professor Emeritus, gave several lectures before the class in History of Libraries this spring, and felt on familiar ground, for this was one of her old courses. Miss Simpson will spend the early part of the summer in California, where her address will be Hotel Chelsea, Los Angeles. Returning to Urbana late in July she expects a visit from Emma Rhoads Nickolay.

Bessie E. Stover, '06-'07, is retiring from active library work on June 30th. Early in May the staff at the University of Iowa gave a beautiful afternoon party for her at the University Club. Besides the catalog department, the older members of the staff who have known her well were there. The staff presented to her a handsome traveling bag and there were letters from many of her former associates and friends. She plans to take some trips about "our own country" and looks forward "to a chance to putter around my garden."

Harriet A. Pearson, '12-'13, writes she is no longer in library work and that she is living at 119 East Fairview, Glendale, California. For a number of years she was assistant librarian of the State Agricultural Library at Fargo, North Dakota.

LeNoir Dimmitt, '14-'15, as president, presided at a meeting of the Texas Library Association in Houston at the close of the Southwestern Library Association meeting at which a bill for state aid and regional libraries for Texas was discussed.

Isabelle G. Horne, '21-'22, who has been librarian of the Maywood, Illinois, Public Library since 1933, died March 6, 1937, after an illness of several months.

Emma Rhoads Nickolay, '23-'24, whose husband, Dr. Edward H. Nickolay, died so suddenly in Beirut, Syria, on March 13, 1937, will land in

New York in July. She plans to make her home in Urbana, where she and Dr. Nickolay have so many friends.

E. Beatrice Broughton, '24-'25, is now an assistant in the catalog department of the Winnetka, Illinois, Public Library.

Alice Daly (Mrs. James C. O'Connor), B.S. '28, writes she and Mr. O'Connor are the proud parents of a daughter born a week before Christmas, 1936. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor are living at 915 Washington Street, Evanston, Illinois.

Mildred A. Kenney, B.S. '28, is now Mrs. Miles E. Rost. Mr. and Mrs. Rost are living at 1114 West Street, Oceanside, California. Mrs. Rost was for some years in charge of the genealogy department of the Denver Public Library.

Downing P. O'Harra, M.A. '28. Mr. and Mrs. O'Harra have recently adopted a baby girl, Nancy Jean. Mr. O'Harra is librarian of the Municipal University at Wichita, Kansas.

Gladys E. Evans, B.S. '29, is now Mrs. Russell Nesemeier. Mr. and Mrs. Nesemeier are living at Rock Grove, Illinois.

Margaret M. Ritchie, B.S. '29, resigned her position as librarian of the High School Library at Two Harbors, Minnesota, to become librarian of the Senior High School and Public Schools at Mankato, Minnesota.

Florence Woods, B.S. '29, is now assistant librarian at Western College, Oxford, Ohio. For several years she had been librarian of Christian College, Columbia, Missouri.

Grace A. Anderson, B.S. '30 (Mrs. Clair C. Olson), is librarian of the North Park College Library, Foster and Kedzie Avenues, Chicago.

Mary Jane Anderson, B.S. '30, head of the catalog department of the Carnegie Free Library, Alliance, Ohio, died on April 26th after an illness of only a few hours. She was a graduate of Mt. Union College and of the University of Illinois Library School. The summer of 1934 was spent in graduate work at Columbia. She was an active member of professional associations and was secretary of the Junior Members Round Table for the Youngstown region. Mr. Sohn, librarian of the Alliance Public Library, wrote of her, "A monument to her will be the constantly improving collection of books. Always a good reader, she contributed greatly to the selection and ordering of new books, besides her work as cataloger. She will be missed by many patrons who looked to her for guidance in reading." The Alliance Review carried almost a column devoted to an appreciation of her life and work.

Lucy E. Jones, B.S. '30, librarian of the Veterans Administration Facility Library, Ft. Lyon, Colorado, has been transferred to the same library at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, March, 1937.

Ernest J. Scheerer, '30. Mr. and Mrs. Scheerer announce the birth of a daughter, Ruth, born May 21. Mr. Scheerer is assistant in the loan department of the University of Illinois Library.

Alice B. Wesley, B.S. '30, librarian of Chula Vista, California, has inaugurated a series of lectures and travel talks to be held in the Public Library. Announcement of the lectures was made through attractive book-markers distributed at the main library. The first attraction was Max Miller, a well known columnist, newspaper man and author of a number of popular books on subjects ranging from Hollywood to Mexico and from the San Diego waterfront to the Bering Sea. The Chula Vista Star carried a long front page story about the lecture series, and Max Miller in particular. On May 10, T. J. Kelly, lecturer and traveller, was to talk on Religious Temples of the World, and on May 21, Jonathan Kent, world wanderer, was to give a travelog.

Virginia Beach, B.S. '31, (Mrs. Ben W. Howk) announces the birth of a son, Phillip Churchill, on April 5, 1937. Mr. and Mrs. Howk are at present living in Wilmington, Delaware.

Harry L. Griswold, B.S. '31, is W.P.A. district library supervisor for Cass County Library Projects and is located at Ashland, Illinois.

Mary E. McConnell, B.S. '31, is librarian of the West Junior High School, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Evelyn Perkins, B.S. '31 (Mrs. H. L. Baldwin), writes of Arizona, "Tucson is marvelous at this time of the year (March)—too bad you can't move the Library School down here for a time." Mr. Baldwin will be principal next year at Sahuarita, Arizona.

Merle M. Peterson, B.S. '31 (Mrs. M. M. Sloan), writes of the birth of her daughter, Nancy De Haan, on March 15. Before her marriage she was librarian at State Teachers College, Minot, N. D. Her home at present is in Chinook, Montana.

James Still, B.S. '31, writes: "The Library School Association News Letter has just come, and as this is the first I've seen in several years, it was particularly enjoyed. It is good to know again what Illinois graduates are doing—especially the Class of '31.

"The little item concerning me in the last letter was not correct in every detail. I am librarian of the Hindman Settlement School Library, Hindman, Kentucky. This is interesting country here on Troublesome Creek in the Kentucky hills. I have been writing a good bit about it for various publications. My poems and short stories have appeared during the past two years in the following publications: Atlantic Monthly, Nation, Saturday Review of Literature, Yale Review, New Republic, Virginia Quarterly Review, Esquire, Sewanee Review, Poetry: A Magazine of Verse, etc.

"My first book, a volume of poetry entitled 'Hounds on the Mountain' is to be published June 7 by the Viking Press, New York."

Mary Louise Anderson, B.S. '32, is now Mrs. Otis Burke and is librarian of a Junior College in the Texas Panhandle.

S. Louise Borchelt, B.S. '32, has been transferred from one of the branches to the order department of the Evanston, Illinois, Public Library.

Doris A. Foley, B.S. '32, resigned her position as W.P.A. district library supervisor in February to become librarian of Christian College at Columbia, Missouri.

Ruth M. Heiss, B.S. '32, assistant cataloger, State Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colorado, has been selected to receive the Katharine L. Sharp Alumni Scholarship for 1937-38.

Rose Marie Kersey, B.S. '32, resigned her position as librarian of the Louisburg College Library, Louisburg, North Carolina, to join the Public Library staff of Jackson, Michigan.

Edna Miller, B.S. '32, resigned her position as librarian of the Indiana Central College at Indianapolis, to become reference librarian at Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana.

A. Esther Wilkie, B.S. '32, was married December 22, 1935, to William T. Cox. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are living at 608½ South Main Street, Fort Worth, Texas.

Lee F. Zimmerman, B.S. '32, until recently librarian of the Junior College at Virginia, Minnesota, has been appointed director of libraries of the Minnesota State Department of Education, St. Paul.

Esther Eytcheson, B.S. '33, resigned her position at Butler University to accept a position in the catalog department of the Gary, Indiana, Public Library.

Virginia Gray, B.S. '33, who has been teaching in the Central School for Missionaries at Lubondai, in the Belgian Congo, will return to the United States during the summer after three years in Africa. The school is maintained for the children of the missionaries located in that district. In her last letter she described the life at the school, which she finds so engrossing. "In a sense it is a narrowing life, but in another sense, ever so broadening. The not infrequent visitors among us are invariably people of travel, culture and depth, people who are fascinating or inspiring, people who bring us ideas from the whole wide world. Our daily schedule is a full one but it moves in a leisurely way as every thing will in the tropics. The recreations during the late afternoon hours may be any one of several, but I usually find myself out for a walk. I swing off along grass-bordered paths under a dazzling blue and white sky, to stroll back facing a tropical sunset. Even though our daily life only brings us into contact with a semi-civilized rim of Africa which its name implies, often that untrammelled half of the real Africa appears starkly to remind us that we are in a world apart and different. When the men are gone from Lubondai for an hour and return with two antelopes; when the natives drag in from the forest a ten-foot python; when I wake up in the night to hear the wailing bark of a coyote, then the wild life of Africa becomes a reality . . ."

W. W. Harkins, B.S. '33, was appointed assistant librarian and head of the catalog department of the University of Mississippi in February. He has been doing graduate work in the University of Michigan Library School.

Sarah J. Moore, B.S. '33, resigned her position in the children's room, Millicent Library, Fairhaven, Massachusetts, to become an assistant in the catalog department of the Queens Borough Public Library, Jamaica, New York.

Lucile E. Lucas, B.S. '34, has returned to the Rio Grande College Library at Rio Grande, Ohio.

Robert S. Alvarez, B.S. '35, was transferred from the reference department to the science and technology department of the Rochester, New York Public Library this year. He has taken a year's leave of absence to continue his graduate studies at the University of Chicago, starting February, 1937.

Elma P. Anderson, B.S. '35, resigned her position in the loan department of the University of Illinois Library to become assistant librarian at the University of Kansas City Library, Kansas City, Kansas.

Mary E. Dallera, '34-'35, is now librarian of the Santiago College University of Chile. While teaching romance languages in the University of Illinois she completed about fifteen hours of Library Science which she is now putting to good use. She says, "with the help of the chief librarian of the Public National Library I reorganized the Santiago College collection of books, and now I have been reappointed to continue the job among the University libraries for next year. Life here is very pleasant. Mother and I are living in a beautiful bungalow just built for us. But everything is very expensive, nothing is cheap but wine and fruit. There is no country with peaches, plums, cherries, grapes, etc. like Chile. Santiago is a very modern city with large up-to-date buildings and modern parks. People are very European in their manner of life and there is not a cultured person who does not know three or four foreign languages. Chilean food is highly seasoned and of great variety. Chilean women are slender and graceful and dress in the latest style, though clothes are very expensive, most the good dresses come from Europe and the duty on imported goods is very high." Her home address is Av. Julio Prado 1140, Santiago, Chile.

Flora Eckert, M.S. '35, resigned her position in the catalog department of the University of Texas Library at Austin, Texas, to become head of the catalog department at the University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona, May 17, 1937.

Marian Kanak, B.S. '35 (Mrs. John C. Settelmayer), will resign her position in the catalog department of the State University of Iowa, at Iowa City, July 1, 1937, and will join Mr. Settelmayer in Urbana. Mr. and Mrs. Settelmayer will reside at 808 West California Street, Urbana.

F. Lois Ott, B.S. '35, assistant in Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, has accepted a position in Northwestern University Library beginning July 1.

Pearl J. Sneed, B.S. '35, who has been librarian of the Canton, Mississippi High School for several years, is now secretary of the Mississippi Library Commission at Jackson, Mississippi.

H. Dean Stallings, B.S. '35, librarian of the South Dakota State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, after four months on the job writes of many activities and hopes and plans for next year. He is to teach a course in High School libraries to prospective teacher-librarians this summer and a course in the "Use of the library" next fall to all freshmen. He is to be in charge of the college and school section of the South Dakota State Library Association and is preparing the program now.

Selecting books for a browsing room as well as planning and securing the furniture and equipment in time to open it on June 6, has been another interesting project. He is hoping to drive to New York if he can secure several passengers.

Etta M. Westenhouse, B.S. '35, resigned her position at Willamette University Library, Salem, Oregon, August 15, 1936, and is now Mrs. Judd. Mr. and Mrs. Judd are living at 1951 Chestnut Street, Berkeley, California.

C. Mildred Botts, S.S. '36, assistant in the circulation department of the University of New Mexico Library, Albuquerque, New Mexico, was married in December, 1936, to Mr. Hubert Griggs Alexander. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are living at 404 Cornell Avenue, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Helen E. Hilton, B.S. '36, has resigned her position in the order department of the State University of Iowa Library, Iowa City, to become librarian of Shurtleff College at Alton, Illinois.

Arabell Peirson, B.S. '36, is an assistant in the Kitselano Branch of the Public Library of Vancouver, B.S., Canada.

Chula M. Remington, S.S. '34, S.S. '35, S.S. '36, resigned her position with the Eau Claire, Wisconsin, Public Library to go to the Edina School Library, 50th and Wooddale Streets, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Edna J. Shenton, B.S. '36, resigned her position as temporary librarian at the Marengo, Iowa, Public Library to be an assistant in the order department of the State University of Iowa Library, at Iowa City.

Number 25

OCT 10 1937

NEW YORK MEETING

The annual dinner and meeting was held at Schrafft's June 24th, 1937. The number in attendance was one hundred and twenty-four. In the absence of Margaret Hutchins the president, Rudolph Gjelsness, first vice-president presided.

The dinner and all the arrangements for the meeting were excellent and the Association is indebted to Gordon W. Gray and his committee for a very delightful time. The guest speaker at the dinner was Mr. Cockburn Kyte, librarian of Queens University Library, Kingston, Canada. Mr. Kyte has had a varied experience in cataloging notable private libraries, among them the library at Sandringham, belonging to King George the Fifth. With unusual charm and humor he related stories of his adventures among rare books in ancestral collections where he often unearthed treasures of which the owners were unaware.

After this talk the business meeting was held. The report of the Secretary and Treasurer was read and approved. Mr. Cleavinger presented the report of the endowment committee, calling attention to the fact that lower rates of interest made it important that this fund should be increased. An informal report of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund was then read by Miss Robertson, treasurer of the board.

Mr. Gjelsness then discussed the advisability of celebrating the 40th anniversary of the founding of the school at the meeting of the association in 1938. A motion was made and carried that a committee be appointed to consider such a celebration.

Anne M. Boyd, the only member of the Library School faculty present at the dinner, gave greetings from Mr. Windsor, Miss Krieg and read a telegram from Miss Simpson.

As is customary the president called on the classes to stand in groups of five years, there were present representatives from 1910 through 1937.

The nominating committee proposed the following names for the coming year and they were unanimously elected: Wilma L. Shelton, president; Donald Kohlstedt, first vice-president; Dorothy Black, second vice-president; Josie B. Houchens, secretary-treasurer; Carlyle Morris, trustee of the endowment fund to succeed Miss Krause.

The secretary was instructed to send telegrams to Mr. Windsor and Miss Simpson expressing the regret of the association that they could not be present. A message of sympathy was also sent to Miss Hostetter on the death of her father.

ENDOWMENT FUND REPORT

Financial report of the trustees of the Alumni Endowment Fund, for the period from May 1, 1936 to May 31, 1937:

During the thirteen months' period covered there have been additions of $295.00 to the principal sum; earnings on the investments have amounted to $411.68.

On May 1, 1937 the $1,000 Scovill Manufacturing Co. bond, which was soon to be called, was sold at a profit of approximately $100 over what we paid for it in November, 1934. The money thus realized, supplemented by income which had been temporarily placed in the Bowery Savings Bank, was reinvested in $2000 first mortgage bonds of the University of Illinois Women's Club in Urbana at 5%. The annual income from the $5000 in Commercial Building and Loan shares at the present rate of 4½% is $225.00 and from the Women's Club bonds $100.00; these two investments will return enough to meet an annual scholarship payment of $300.00 as long as the rate of interest is not reduced further.

The fifth annual scholarship of $300.00 was paid to the University in March, 1937, for use during 1937-1938.

The resources of the fund at present in the hands of the Trustees are:

ADAH PATTON MEMORIAL FUND

At the Association meeting the treasurer reported that the fund had reached $2055. Since then $198 has been subscribed to the Illini Foundation payable to the fund, so that the total sum to date is $2253. At the meeting of the Board in September Arnold H. Trotter, head of the catalog department of the University of Illinois, was elected secretary-treasurer.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

Esther Peterson, B.S. '28, Catalog department, University of Minnesota Library is the latest name to add to the honor roll.

It is important that the alumni should not lose sight of the fact that it is necessary to increase the amount of our Endowment Fund so that the interest from it may continue to be sufficient for the scholarship grant. While we are at present fortunate in having our money invested so that the yield just about covers the $300 needed each year, the ever lower tendency in interest rates, which it is possible to obtain on safe investments, may at any time reduce the amount below the minimum.

This alumni scholarship has really meant so much to the holders and so much to the school as an evidence of the interest of the alumni in advanced professional training, that it has been more than worthwhile.

THE ILLINOIS FOUNDATION

No doubt you have all been receiving literature in regard to the University of Illinois Foundation and it is probable that most of you have laid it aside thinking, "What can that mean to me? Illinois has all the loyalty that I owe to the sound professional training which I received there, but I haven't the least intention of contributing to a Union Building." In order to place the purpose of the Foundation more properly before you, the following explanation is made.

The University of Illinois Foundation was organized a few years ago as a sort of subsidiary to the Alumni Association and to the University, in order to care for some matters which the other two bodies, as organized, can not conveniently nor effectively handle. Their first major project is the Illini Foundation Fund, and it is in connection with the campaign for the Fund that appeals have gone to the Library School alumni as well as to all others.

The permanent character of the Foundation and the fact that they are asking for money not only for a Student Union building but also for scholarships, fellowships, or any other worthwhile object which the alumni feel disposed to support makes the movement of real interest to our alumni. They have announced that any donor may indicate any particular purpose around the University to which he wishes his contribution allocated, which shows an unusually generous and cooperative spirit on the part of the Foundation management.

When the Foundation drive was conducted in the Library Building, most of the members of the staff and faculty who contributed, and there were many, asked to have either all or part of their contribution allocated to the Adah Patton Memorial Fund or to the Alumni Association Scholarship Endowment Fund, and this has been done by the Foundation.

We feel that Illinois has been very slow in asking for alumni support, and now that it is being done, that the move is in every way deserving of the support of our alumni.

The following excellent statement was taken from the Illini News which is published by the Foundation:

A Foundation for Illinois Purpose and Program

The University of Illinois Foundation is an agency of the alumni of the University of Illinois established for the purpose of making their alma mater a greater and finer institution.

To accomplish this purpose, the Foundation is undertaking to enlist financial support and aid in every possible way the work of the University as a whole, and the work of its various colleges and departments. The Foundation has concern, too, for the reputation of the University everywhere and its support by all the people of the state.

Directors of the Foundation, some of them at the University and the others in various parts of the United States, represent the alumni body in looking into the needs of the University and taking action to promote special projects which will add strength and prestige to this already-great institution.

In recent years, the University has fallen behind in its income. As a result, the faculty and the physical plant are beginning to suffer. It is impractical to wait for all needs to be satisfied through legislative appropriation. The Foundation, of course, will not undertake to supplant any of the regular financing of the University. But, through the Foundation, the alumni now have the opportunity to do their alma mater a lasting service by helping finance a number of important advancements.

In arriving at a decision as to what projects to give active sponsorship at a particular time, the Foundation seeks to consider immediate needs and satisfy them before focusing attention on a long list of items which deserve recommendation.

The Foundation does not seek to route all contributions through its offices. But it offers to serve as a central agency for those who wish to make use of the conveniences and leadership it affords. Alumni and other friends are encouraged to make gifts for any worthy purpose either directly or through the Foundation.

The advantage of dealing through the Foundation is that to be derived from organized effort; from concentration on particular gifts at a given time; accomplishment of one project before turning to another; pooling of numerous gifts to form one large sum for a specific purpose; opportunity to have gifts handled through a responsible organization geared to the express task of making them serve the purpose for which they are intended.

The Foundation places great reliance on the recommendations of University officials as to needs which merit the attention of the alumni. At the present time University officials urge that the proposed Union building, to be a great center for Illinois life and spirit, be given the consideration and hearty support of alumni and other friends everywhere.

Foundation directors share this opinion and gladly carry this message to the sons and daughters of Illinois. While encouraging every form of gift and expression of loyalty and faith, the Foundation believes that its first great mission is to urge the alumni to make construction of the Illini Union building an immediate major concern. It asks the co-operation of the alumni as it sends news of the University and its alumni from time to time and invites your pledges and gifts to make FIRST the Illini Union and LATER many other projects, realities.

The University needs help. This is the message of the Foundation to 130,000 alumni.

LIBRARY SCHOOL FACULTY NEWS-NOTES

The Library School roster and schedule of courses has shown many changes in the past two or three years.

Miss Singleton was the first instructor to take leave for study at Columbia University, School of Library Service, the first semester 1935-36. Miss Phelps spent last year at the University of Chicago, Graduate School of Library Science preparing for her doctorate. She is carrying only two courses this first semester so that she may have time to study for her preliminary examinations.

Miss Marion V. Higgins, who taught Miss Singleton's and Miss Phelps' courses during their absence, has gone to Emory University as instructor in Reference and Bibliography.

Miss Boyd is on a sabbatical leave of absence this semester. She spent the past summer in Washington, D. C., revising her book on Government Documents, and is at present studying in the office of the Publisher's Weekly gathering material on American publishing. Incidentally, she is visiting many other libraries in New York, and seeing many University of Illinois Library School alumni.

In order to arrange for Miss Boyd's absence, courses have been rearranged as follows. The Order course has been distributed in three other courses. Trade Bibliography has become part of Reference and Bibliography, now 4 hours, under Miss Singleton. Order routines are handled as administrative techniques by Mr. McDiarmid in his 4 hour course. Miss Hostetter is teaching Book Selection, and is including some new information on publishing. This course bears 3 hours credit this year.

The Administration course has been under the direction of three different men in three different years. Mr. Guy R. Lyle came from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and left us for the University of North Carolina Women's College Library, Greensboro, North Carolina. Mr. Herman H. Henkle, his successor, came from graduate study at the University of Chicago, Graduate School of Library Science, and in the spring accepted the position of Director of the Library and Library School of Simmons College, Boston, Massachusetts.

Mr. Erret W. McDiarmid, Ph.D., University of Chicago, Graduate Library School, and formerly librarian of Baylor University, Waco, Texas, is our new instructor in Administration. Mr. McDiarmid has served on the Advisory Committee on Junior College Libraries, and is at present working on a book related to library surveys. It is anticipated that Mr. McDiarmid will give a graduate course on Library Surveys in the second semester.

Placement: Since placement is considerably more active than it has been for years, it is wise to keep the Office informed of your latest salary, title, duties, honors, etc. Catalogers and order assistants are in demand. Have I been neglecting any of you who can profitably make changes in these fields for $1300-$1500? Are any non-catalogers interested in changing?

The demand for individuals with the Master's degree is increasing.

Please keep your record in the office up to date.

AMELIA KRIEG

JUNIOR COLLEGE LIBRARIES

As Illinois graduates in charge of Junior College Libraries have written in to tell that they are located in schools receiving grants from the Carnegie Corporation, they have expressed a wish to know how many other Illinois graduates were in charge of libraries receiving grants. We find that ninety-two Junior Colleges received grants varying from $1500 to $6000. Only fifteen of these were administered by Illinois graduates. Only one library received the smallest sum and two the largest, seven received $3000 and five were given $4500. The libraries are scattered in all sections of the country but as might be expected eight are in the middle western section. Of the next largest group, three are in the southeastern section. The libraries included are:

Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, Pa., Noreen R. Chalice, B.S. '33.

Sue Bennett College, London, Ky., Lone Williams, B.S. '31.

Tennessee Wesleyan College, Athens, Tenn., Fannye Mackey, B.S. '35. (Miss Irene Gelinas, B.S. '32, was in charge of Tennessee Wesleyan College when the grant was awarded.)

Joliet Junior College, Joliet, Ill., Pauline Dillman, S.S. '21, '22, '36, '37.

La Salle-Peru-Oglesby Junior College, Maysel O. Baker, B.S. '31.

Morton Junior College, Cicero, Ill., Genevieve Darlington, B.L.S. '03.

North Park College, Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Claire A. Olson, '23-'24.

Ironwood Junior College, Ironwood, Mich., Margaret C. Rehring, B.S. '37.

Virginia Junior College, Virginia, Minn., Wayne L. Noggle, M.S. '33.

Christian College, Columbia, Mo., Doris A. Foley, B.S. '32.

William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., Dorothy Jennings, B.S. '36.

Northern Montana College, Havre, Mont., Evelyn Starkey, B.S. '31.

Southern Branch of the University of Idaho, Pocatello, Ida., Ina D. Stout, B.S. '29.

Modesto Junior College, Modesto, Calif., Helen F. Pierce, B.S. '29.

ALUMNI NEWS

Elizabeth Bradish Wales, '93-'94, on the staff of the Teacher's Room, Chicago, Illinois, died June 27, 1937 from a heart attack. She had been very active in professional circles and had been connected with a good many libraries. She was formerly Secretary of the Missouri Library Commission; Librarian of the Carthage, Missouri Public Library; Librarian of the Oconto, Wisconsin Public Library; of the Marlborough, N. H. Library and of the Public Library at Quincy, Illinois, and Assistant Librarian of the Braddock, Pennsylvania Public Library.

May Louise Martin, B.L.S. '00, head of a division of the School department of the Cleveland Public Library, died at Huron Road Hospital, June 21, 1937 after an illness of three weeks. Miss Martin was born in Geneva, where her family settled as early as 1804. She was a graduate of the University of Illinois Library School in 1900 and shortly after was appointed to the staff of the Cleveland Public Library. A member of the Woman's City Club, Miss Martin had maintained an active interest and membership in several other civic and educational institutions.

Edna E. Goss, B.L.S. '02, has again accepted a part-time appointment from April until September, 1937, at Stanford University Library, Stanford University, California. She is spending the winter in St. Paul and is staying with her friend Amy C. Moon. Their address is 76 Western ave., St. Paul, Minnesota.

Wilhelmina E. Carothers, '03-'04, formerly head of the catalog department of Atlanta University Library, Atlanta, Georgia, is now librarian of the Dillard University Library, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Mary Elvira Smith (Mrs. A. P. Graham), '08-'09, librarian of the Senior High School at Ashland, Oregon, died May 6, 1937. At various times she had been on the staff of the following libraries, Stanford University, State College of Washington, University of Wyoming. Her death is regretted by her many friends.

Anne Fraser Leidendecker, B.L.S. '08, head of the Science and Industry section of the Los Angeles Public Library, is President of the California Library Association for 1937-38.

Elizabeth T. Stout, B.L.S. '08, is Tax Research librarian of the Department of Taxation and Finance at Albany, New York.

Denver of heart trouble on April 28, 1937. Since 1934 she had been engaged in bibliographical work in Denver and in April 1935 organized the Rocky Mountain Center for Bibliographical Research with headquarters in Denver. She was a graduate of Grinnell College in Iowa in 1911 and took her degree in Library Science at the University of Illinois in 1916. From 1914-15 she was in the catalog department of the University, 1915-16 she spent in the loan department, and 1916-19 was spent in organizing and developing the engineering library for the College of Engineering; 1919-20 she was re-organizer of the science and industry department of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1920-24 she was librarian of the Irving National Bank, New York City, and from 1921-32 she was head of the personnel and editorial department of the Irving Trust Company, New York City.

Miss Baechtold was unusually successful in any branch of library work she undertook and her wide experience in various library and commercial fields made her invaluable to the Bibliographical Center. Some of the bibliographical projects she supervised were a Consolidated list of periodicals in the regional libraries of that section and several Bibliographies of Western literature. At the time of her death she was engaged on a "Bibliography of American Literature, especially fiction, having some phases of engineering as its theme."

Miss Baechtold made many friends wherever she lived and they will hear of her death with sorrow.

Eleanor Davis, '16-'17, has resigned her position as librarian of the Natrona County Public Library at Casper, Wyoming, to become senior librarian in charge of traveling libraries for the Library Division of the State Department of Education, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Caroline Orvis, '16-'17, resigned her position in the Catalog Department of Nebraska State Library Commission at Chadron, Nebraska, to become assistant librarian of the Northern Normal and Industrial School Library at Aberdeen, South Dakota.

Edith Hague, B.L.S. '18, writes that her address is changed from 130 W. Kingsbridge Road, New York City, to Oteen, North Carolina.

Rudolph H. Gjelsness, B.L.S. '20, resigned his position as librarian of the University of Arizona Library at Tucson, Arizona to become Professor of Library Science at the University of Michigan Department of Library Science at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Hortense Eggmann, '25-'26, assistant librarian of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Missouri, was awarded a scholarship by the college this summer and commenced work on her master's degree at Columbia School of library service during the summer session.

Esther Stallmann, B.S. '27, resigned her position as assistant Professor of the University of Tennessee Library School, Knoxville, Tennessee, and will enter the University of Chicago Graduate Library School this fall. Miss Stallman taught in the summer school of the University of Tennessee the first session, and the second session at the George Peabody College for Teachers Library School this past summer.

Grace F. Crumpacker, B.S. '28, M.A. '32, is now head of the reference department, Kansas State Library, Topeka, Kansas.

Mary E. Hoff, B.S. '28, is now head of the order department, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas.

Jerome K. Wilcox, B.S. '27, M.A. '28, resigned his position as head of the acquisition department at Duke University Library, Durham, North Carolina, to become assistant librarian of the University of California at Berkeley, September 1, 1937.

Margaret A. Wisherd, S.S. '28, recently a teacher in the Cole Junior High School, Denver, Colorado, died February 25, 1937 according to information gleaned from a note in the May 15th issue of the Denver University Bulletin.

Harold W. Hayden, B.S. '29, superintendent of the Periodical Reading Room at the State University of Iowa Library, Iowa City, Iowa, has been awarded a Carnegie Fellowship at the University of Michigan Department of Library Science for 1937-38, where he will secure his Master's degree, majoring in Library Science. Mr. Hayden has been granted a leave of absence from the State University of Iowa.

Geraldine Elizabeth Kirkham, B.S. '29, was married on July 18, 1937 to Mr. Lloyd Haynes. Mrs. Haynes will continue as assistant librarian of the San Diego State College Library, San Diego, California. Mr. and Mrs. Haynes will reside at 3394 Grim Street, San Diego, California.

Elizabeth L. Wyant, B.S. '29, resigned her position in the order department of Northwestern University Library at Evanston, Illinois, to become assistant reference librarian of the Hackley Public Library at Muskegon, Michigan.

Nellie M. Bredehoft, B.S. '30, has joined the staff of the Kewanee, Illinois, Public Library.

Dorothy M. Coie, B.S. '30, formerly an assistant on the Salem, Oregon, Public Library staff, is now Mrs. A. Cassellius. Mr. and Mrs. Cassellius are residing at 157 South Winter Street, Salem, Oregon.

Irene M. Doyle, B.S. '30, M.S. '31, is to be head of the catalog department at Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tennessee, 1937-38. She has a partial leave of absence from the Library School of George Peabody College for Teachers and will continue part-time teaching in the college.

Lenna A. Guthrie, B.S. '30, resigned her position as head of the circulation department, Oregon State College Library, Corvallis, Oregon, to marry Dr. Walter Hall, on the staff of the University of Kentucky 1936-37. The wedding took place June 24, 1937.

Gretchen Knieff, B.S. '30, for three years librarian of Siskiyou County Library, California, has just been appointed librarian of Kern County to succeed John D. Henderson who has gone to the State Library of California to be field representative. Kern County is the third largest county library in California only exceeded by Los Angeles and Fresno counties. For several years after leaving the Library School she was on the staff of the Los Angeles County Library and went from there to Siskiyou. Her many friends among the Southern California librarians and elsewhere rejoice that her splendid work has been recognized by this promotion.

Ruby H. Mauch, B.S. '30, resigned her position as librarian of the Hyde County Library, Highmore, South Dakota, to become assistant librarian of the School of Mines Library, Rapid City, South Dakota.

Wave Lynn Noggle, B.S. '30, M.S. '33, resigned his position in the Exchange Division of the University of Illinois Library at Urbana, to become librarian of the Virginia Junior College Library, Virginia, Minnesota.

Ruth Rothenberger, B.S. '30, has resigned her position in the University of Illinois Library and will spend some time at her home 3320 Ruckle Street, Indianapolis, Indiana recuperating from an attack of bronchial pneumonia which she had during the summer.

Raymond H. Shove, B.S. '30, M.A. '36, resigned his position in the order department of the University of Illinois Library to become head of the order and accessions department of the University of Minnesota Library, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Elsie D. Sullens, M.A. '30, resigned her position as head of the catalog department of the Kellogg Library, Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, and started her new duties September 1st as senior cataloger at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

Sue Townsend (Mrs. James Lake, Jr.), B.S. '30, announces the birth of a son, John Townsend, September 9. Mr. and Mrs. Lake are living at 100 Lincoln Avenue, Riverside, Illinois.

LATE NEWS

Arthur E. Gropp, M.A. '31, sends the following interesting letter: "We have just returned from Central America culminating the first part of the Central American Library and Archives Survey, and are glad to see home soil again. Living from a suitcase, airplane weight, for eight months is none too easy. Nothing serious occurred to us on the entire trip except that Dorothy had a "nigua" (nē gwā) which she contracted in Antigua, Guatemala. This little parasitic animal of almost microscopic proportions burrows in, nests and reproduces, and unless removed, it continues to live ad infinitum. Any native is well versed in the knowledge of how to remove them.

There have been added to our mailing list some 250 names, as well as many government offices, societies and institutions. From all these, we have received excellent cooperation and assistance and we met many interesting and internationally known people.

From San Salvador to Panama, we traveled by Pan American Airways, stopping off at the capital of each succeeding country and working out from there as a center. We have about decided that there is nothing more pleasant and convenient than traveling by air. However our pilot, Mr. Shepherd, who took us to the Maya ruins of Copan, smashed his plane in the jungles of Nicaragua and was killed.

I found no fully trained librarians in Central America. This is an indication of the lack of emphasis on librarianship as a profession. Universities in the Central Americas, with the exception of the University of Panama, which has a liberal arts course, offer professional courses only—medicine, law, pharmacy, and engineering. Consequently none of these students are interested in attending the library schools of our country, since when finishing their university work, they are ready to enter their chosen profession."

Mary S. Buffum, M.A. '27, librarian and director of the library science department of the college for women at Denton, Texas has a biographical sketch included in the 1935-36 edition of "Presidents and Professors of American Colleges and Universities," she is also listed in "Women's Who in America" and the recent Texas Who's Who.

Mary D. Taylor, M.S. '30, associate professor of library science at the Texas state college for women at Denton has a biographical sketch included in Women's Who in America.

Pearl J. Snead, B.S. '35, is secretary of the Mississippi State Library commission and has been actively engaged in making a survey of the present library facilities in that state in order to obtain the information necessary to build up a unified program for the library development of Mississippi.

Mrs. Bertha L. Sharp Schroepfel, 1910-11, 1934-35, has recently become an assistant in the catalog department of the University of Illinois Library, at Urbana.

Isabelle F. Grant, B.S. '29, M.A. '37, for several years an assistant in the order department of the University of Illinois Library, was made librarian of the Seventeenth Century Book Room at Illinois this September.

LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 26

OCT 10 1938

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNI:

When Eleanor Robertson wrote to me and sent a copy of the minutes of the New York meeting, I was overwhelmed by the news that I was made President of the Association. I want to thank you for the honor that you have conferred upon me, and only hope that I can measure up to your expression of confidence placed in me.

It is the objective of the Association to secure as many life members as possible from the alumni for scholarships and not less than one dollar for annual membership dues from each for current expenses, publication of the News Letter, and student loan funds. It is the least that we can do to show our gratitude for our professional training received at Illinois and the world of opportunity it has afforded us.

May I also urge your cooperation in connection with the Illinois Foundation which is asking for money, not only for a student union building but also for scholarships, fellowships, or any other work at the University which might be designated by the donor. What is your reaction to the suggestion that the Library School Alumni, as an association, contribute to the Foundation and have the Library School designate the manner in which the contribution is to be spent?

Let's make a supreme effort to get every possible member to attend the American Library Association Convention in Kansas City, so that our meeting can go down in history as an outstanding meeting of the Illinois Library School Association.

Sincerely yours,

WILMA L. SHELTON, President

ALUMNI REUNIONS

Kentucky—Only a small number of the Illinois alumni were able to have luncheon together during the meeting of the Library Association at Berea, Kentucky, in October. We were delighted that Miss Nofcier was elected president of the association. I am enclosing dues for Mary Elizabeth Hanson, Lena B. Nofcier, Perma A. Rich, Mary Powell (Mrs. J. L. Sublett), Ione Williams.

(Signed) BLANCHE LANE

California—Margaret Windsor sent in a note of the reunion at the state meeting at the Yosemite National Park last June. Anne Fraser Leidendeker, Gretchen Knief, Elizabeth Bryan, Margaret Windsor, Julia E. Curry, and Letha McGuire were present.

Texas—The following telegram was received by Mr. Windsor after a breakfast of former Illini, held at the recent meeting of the Texas Library Association: "As agreed at the Illinois-Texas breakfast this morning, Illini Arthur Curry, Lenoir Dimmitt, Eloise Agnew, Lillian Ashenbeck, Lois Holladay, Julia Grothaus, Ardless B. Nixon, Clydene Stickney, Gretchen Howell, Mrs. Norah K. Weems, Mrs. Mary Jeanne Treichler, Fannie M. Wilcox, Mrs. Ruthilia Eubank Branch, Margaret Sims, Helen T. Coffin, Octavia Fry Rogan, Mary Clay, and Texas Exes Winnie Allen, Mrs. Elнора Edgar Buchanan, Edwin Sue Goree, Mary Forrest, Dorothy Lee Hetrick, and Elizabeth Howard West unite in reciprocating your and Mrs. Windsor's greetings. The Texas Library Association Conference at Waco in 1906 was attended by about twenty persons. Today we have registered 175 and more are expected tomorrow."

LIBRARY SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Hostetter will be on leave of absence for the academic year 1938-39 for study at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School. Her substitute has not yet been appointed.

Miss Boyd and Miss Houchens will be teaching at Columbia University School of Library Service during the Summer Session. Miss Singleton will be studying there during the same term.

During the second semester Dr. McDiarmid has visited several teachers' college libraries for the A.L.A. College Advisory Board.

Those students who were in the Library School from 1912-17 will be interested in the honor which recently has come to Ernest J. Reece, professor at the School of Library Service at Columbia. The Carnegie Corporation recently has presented Columbia with an endowment of $150,000 to establish a Melville Dewey Professorship of Library Service in memory of the originator of professional education for librarians. The first incumbent of the new chair will be Professor Reece. After leaving Illinois he was Director of the Library School of the New York Public Library until it was absorbed by Columbia in 1926. At that time he joined the Columbia faculty. Mrs. Reece was Sabra E. Stevens who graduated from the University of Illinois Library School in 1914.

The first volume of the definitive edition of Horace Walpole's Correspondence, published by the Yale University Press, acknowledges the services of the class in Advanced Reference in the identification of certain obscure eighteenth century persons. The class this year, as two of its predecessors, has worked on literary allusions, on biographical questions, and on the identification of quotations in the Walpole Correspondence. In recognition of this work of successive classes, the Library School is receiving the volumes of the Correspondence as they appear. A reproduction of a portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds showing Walpole as a young man, which was sent out to all supporters of this edition, has been framed and hung in Miss Phelps' office.

N.B. It would be ideal if in some way we could convince our alumni that they should tell us of such important events in their lives as raises in salary, changes in responsibility, marriage, etc. It is very disconcerting to make recommendations of past students only to find that their salaries are now considerably higher than the salaries for which they have been recommended, or that for several years they have not lived in the locality indicated, or that their names have been radically changed. Employers feel that placement service is inefficient and undependable if one or more such incorrect items are included. They fail to take into consideration the personal factors involved. Every graduate, who has not definitely indicated that she or he is out of the profession, is potentially on the placement list. Won't you help us keep our information up to date?

Younger graduates, who have sought the aid of other agencies besides the U. of I. Library School in securing positions, might do well to remember that the other agencies also are interested in having correct records.

A CORRECTION

DEAR MISS HOUCHENS:

I read the October 19th issue of the Library School Association News Letter with a great deal of interest. News of fellow graduates is most interesting. The Library School Faculty News-Notes were enlightening, and I was pleased to note that Dr. McDiarmid is the new instructor of administration.

However, when I turned to the list of the junior college librarians, who received grants from the Carnegie Corporation, the method of listing the librarians in charge of these libraries appeared somewhat contradictory to me. In a few cases the librarian who was instrumental in securing the grant was not given full credit, whereas in another case, when there evidently was a change in the librarian since the grant was made, the librarian responsible for the grant was listed. Although Miss Mackey was listed as the librarian of the Tennessee Wesleyan College, Miss Gelinas was the librarian in charge when the grant was awarded. In case of the neighboring Virginia Junior College Library, Mr. Noggle was listed as the librarian and apparently the one who was in charge when the grant was made, but Mr. Lee Zimmerman, an Illinois graduate, the librarian of the Virginia Junior College Library at the time the grant was made, was not mentioned. I am familiar with this case, and I feel that Mr. Zimmerman, who worked hard to secure the grant, should be given the credit as Miss Gelinas was. Miss Rehling is noted as the librarian of the Ironwood Junior College

Perry, 1925-26, librarian of the College of the Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash., writes, "Last spring Dr. Bishop asked me to aid in the visits to junior college libraries in connection with the survey conducted by the Carnegie corporation which has resulted in grants to various junior college libraries all over the country. I visited the junior college libraries in Washington and Montana. I was pleased to find that the best junior college library I visited was in the capable hands of an Illinois graduate, Miss Evelyn Starkey of Northern Montana College, Havre, Mont."

Lois F. Shortess, 1922-23, state supervisor, school libraries, state department of education, was chairman of the resolutions committee and the policy committee on bulletin for the Louisiana Library Association.

Sister Mary Mark Orr, B.S. '33, assistant, The Saint Mary College Library, Leavenworth, Kans., spoke on "Pupil Assistants in the Library," at the school libraries round table at the Kansas State Teachers Association meeting last November. She was chairman of the college round table discussion at the second annual regional meeting of the Catholic Library Association at Lawrence. Saint Mary College organized this unit of the association in January, 1937. Representatives were present from five states.

Sister Mary Reparata, B.L.S. '24, director of the library school of Rosary College, River Forest, Ill., has been appointed editor of the official organ of the Catholic Library Association. She is the first woman to hold this position.

Vera J. Snook, 1912-13, librarian, Public Library, Little Rock, Ark., as president of the Arkansas Library Commission, gave a brief description of the present library program in that state and discussed the provisions of the "State-aid" bill at the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the Oklahoma Library Association at Shawnee, Okla., in October.

H. D. Stallings, B.S. '35, librarian, South Dakota College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, Brookings, S. Dak., has been elected president of the State Library Association for the coming year.

Charles H. Stone, B.L.S. '16, director of the department of library science, College of William and Mary, is president of the Southeastern Library Association and gave an address on "Library Objectives for the Southeast," before the Florida Library Association in April.

ALUMNI NEWS

Ellen Garfield Smith, B.L.S. '02, for 25 years librarian of the Walla Walla Public Library, announced her resignation to her board of trustees February 25. Although Miss Smith has contemplated retirement for two or three years, her final decision was received regretfully by all those who know her. She plans to travel, study, and enjoy her freedom from active duties.

Margaret Norton, '06-'07, for many years reference librarian of Smith College Library, died on April 7, 1938, after a short illness. She graduated from Smith College in 1906 and then attended the Library School from 1906-07. The following year she had a position in the University of Chicago Press. She then went to the Louisville, Ky., Public Library for two years, then after two years of cataloging at the University of Chicago Library she returned to her beloved Smith College in 1912 to remain there, with the exception of 1921-23, which she spent in the library of Constantinople College where her mother was also located. There during vacations, she had trips to Egypt, Palestine, and neighboring countries.

Indeed her favorite recreation was travel, and last summer she had a long trip to the Scandinavian countries and Russia. She had many friends who loved her for her vivacity, her unfailing optimism, her humor, and her absolute unselfishness.

Bessie Esther Stover, 1906-07, formerly an assistant in the catalog department of the State University of Iowa Library, Iowa City, has retired from active service.

Anne Fraser Leidendecker, B.L.S. '08. Some friend sent us the following clipping from a Los Angeles magazine:

"We've made a pathetic discovery. Librarians, whose whole lives are involved with authors, almost never meet any.

"This revelation came when Anne Leidendecker, president of the California Library Association, in charge of the science department at the Los Angeles Public Library, asked for our aid in plans for the big convention to take place at the Ambassador in May. There's to be a banquet on May 20.

"And oh, we do want some famous guests of honor," pleaded Anne.

"Movie stars"? we snipped.

"Good gracious, no. We want some really popular authors, just to look at them, you know. You'd be surprised how rarely a librarian sees an author. Most of us have never even seen a minor one, much less a celebrity," she said with wistful yearning."

Bertha L. Sharp Schroepfel, '10-'11, '34-'35, is now an assistant in the catalog department of the University of Illinois Library, Urbana.

Clara Brooks Bennitt, B.L.S. '12, writes most interestingly of her trip to South America, where her husband has a position. They will be located at Valparaiso, Chile, Cia, Constructora del Pacifico, Casilla 66, V. They were eighteen days on the trip with the ship rolling and tossing most of the way. They stopped at many ports where the tourists had a chance to roam around the towns. She writes: "Christobel was the first stop at the beginning of the Canal. It is on a narrow strip of land governed by the U. S. A. On the other side of Main street is Colon, governed by Panama. Such thousands of West Indian negroes everywhere, shops filled with silks from China, and needlework from the Philippines, primitive objects made by the Indians of the interior, millions of things you have always wanted and could not buy. Lima was full of interest. The cathedral built by Pizarro in 1500 is too impressive to grasp with one visit. We viewed Pizarro's bones as he lay in his casket, with his heart and birth certificate in a bottle beside him. The museum of Inca art was deeply interesting to me, of course, and the boys too enjoyed it."

Edith H. Ford, B.L.S. '13, has resigned her position as record librarian of the Margaret Hague Maternity Hospital Library at Jersey City, N. J., to become record librarian of the Decatur Macon County Hospital Library, Decatur, Ill.

Charlotte Ryan, '16-'17, resigned as librarian of Jacksonville, Ill., Public Library, to become chief of the extension division, Illinois State Library, Springfield, January 17, 1938. She was chairman of the loan and reference section of the Illinois Library Association and presided at the meeting in Chicago.

Grace M. Murray, B.L.S. '20, resigned as librarian at the Elmhurst, Ill., Public Library to become Librarian of the Jacksonville, Ill., Public Library, March 15, 1938.

Janet May Arie (Mrs. George J. Roe), 1920-21, gave her address as 405 8th St. S. E. Cedar Rapids, Ia., on a card received in December. The sympathy of her many friends is extended to her on the news of the death of Mr. Roe from apoplexy in August, 1937. She plans to teach this summer at the State University of Iowa Library School at Iowa City.

Arthur R. Curry, B.L.S. '21, is now state library supervisor of the State-wide Library W.P.A. Project, Smith-Young Tower, San Antonio, Tex.

Lenore Schuffert (Mrs. William Russell) sent as a Christmas card a snapshot of her young son aged six months. Young William looked as if he were enjoying life. She was spending Christmas with her father, Prof. W. L. Shuffert of the Western Illinois Teachers College.

Warren L. Perry, '25-'26, librarian of the College of the Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash., has a son, John Francis, born October 22, 1937.

Octavia F. Rogan, B.L.S. '24, has resigned from the librarianship of the Texas Masonic library and is now W.P.A. Library supervisor for district nine, comprising sixteen Texas counties.

Hortense F. Eggman, '25-'26, assistant librarian of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo., was granted a fellowship by the college for graduate work at Columbia University School of Library Service last summer.

Charles R. Flack, B.L.S. '26, librarian of the Southwestern College for Teachers in Louisiana, resigned April 1 to accept the librarianship of Hampton Institute.

Ruth C. Krueger, B.S. '27, M.A. '36, resigned her position as librarian of the Teachers' College library at Gunnison, Colo., to become head of the circulation department at the Oregon State Agricultural College Library at Corvallis, Ore.

Mary LaRue, S.S. '27, 1926-27, resigned her position in the catalog department of the General Library Division of the Illinois State Library at Springfield, and returned to the University of Illinois to finish her work for the degree of B.S. in Library Science in June.

Helen Marie Phillips, B.S. '27, died August 8, 1937, from heart trouble. Her home was at Maroa, Ill. She had held positions in the Lincoln Library at Springfield, the Public library at Clinton, Ill., the Township High School Library at Belleville, Ill., and the Extension Division of the State Library at Springfield, Ill.

Ruth C. Ringo, B.S. '27, assistant in the catalog department of the University of Tennessee Library, Knoxville, Tenn., is now assistant in the Department of Justice Library, Washington, D. C.

Mary Barrett, B.S. '28, resigned her position at the Forsyth Library, State Teachers' College, Hays, Kans., to be married to Clarence C. Keyser September 23, 1937. Mr. and Mrs. Keyser are living on a ranch about eight miles from Polson, Mont. She writes: "Polson is located on Flathead Lake, a very beautiful lake which is, I am told, the largest body of fresh water, except the Great Lakes, in the United States. Mountains are everywhere, and Glacier Park is less than one hundred miles away."

Cleona L. Case, B.S. '28, has recently been made acting librarian of the Caney Junior College Library, Caney Creek Community Center, Pippapass, Knott County, Ky.

Lily S. Koivisto, B.S. '28, is children's librarian of the Henry Adams Branch of the Los Angeles Public Library.

Estella Roy Crane, B.S. '29, has resigned her position at the Wheeler

Library of Southern Illinois State Normal University at Carbondale, to accept a position in the circulation department of Northwestern University Library at Evanston, Ill.

Evelyn M. Kayser Jackson, B.S. '29, writes they are the parents of a daughter, Lauren Wells, born January 18, 1938. Dr. and Mrs. Jackson are living at 185 Highfield Lane, Nutley, N. J.

H. Katherine Kirtley Weed, B.S. '29, has resigned her position as librarian of the Daytona Beach, Fla., high school, to teach Library Science at the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, starting this summer.

Mary Ellen Moyer, B.S. '29, resigned her position at the Academy, Hazel Green, Ky., to accept a position in the catalog department of the Illinois State Library, Springfield, January 17, 1938.

Arnold W. Rosaaen, B.S. '29, M.A. '35, resigned as librarian of Adelbert College Library, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O., to be assistant to the chief librarian of Brooklyn, N. Y., Public Library, November 15, 1937.

Alleyn Baumgartner, B.S. '30, M.A. '37, writes of her new work in Pittsburgh: "Did I tell you that my location is Westinghouse high school? We have an enrollment of about 3000 and a faculty of 100. Those numbers alone show that two librarians manage to keep out of mischief all of the time. Our pupils consist of about one-third negroes, one-third Italians, and the others plain Americans. The discipline is not easy at times. The library is a pleasant room on the first floor and seats about 150, is fairly well equipped and has a book collection which compares well with the other city schools. Pittsburgh is proving to be an interesting and friendly place."

Sister Mary Rose Cofey, B.S. '30, is now librarian of the Mercy Hospital of Nursing Library, 2537 Prairie Avenue, Chicago.

Lenna Guthrie, B.S. '30, writes that she was recently married to W. K. Hall and is no longer engaged in library work. Their present address is 1316 Short St., New Orleans, La.

Blanche Hargis (Mrs. Edgar A. Roehm), B.S. '30, writes: "To go back in history a bit, we left Santa Barbara June 1, 1936, and returned to Los Angeles about December 15, 1936, so we have lived here a little over a year. Most of the intervening time we spent in Baltimore while Dr. Roehm worked at Johns Hopkins Hospital. In Baltimore and Washington we met and enjoyed visits with some of the Illini holding positions there. While east we took in some of the south, Washington and New York. New England in the fall was beautiful.

"I have always wanted to do reference work and in August was fortunate in securing a position in that department of the University of California at Los Angeles. It is located in our Westwood Village and so is very convenient for me. Dr. Roehm has his office in the Village; we like it very much and have bought a home. We have met a lot of people whom we like. Celebrities are under foot at every turn, so one never lacks for excitement."

Henrietta Howell, B.S. '30, M.A. October, '37, resigned her position as reviser of the University of Illinois Library School to become cataloger at the Florida State College for Women Library at Tallahassee, starting in September.

Leone I. Ingram, B.S. '30, was married on October 14, 1937, to a Mr. Brower, so we hear. (More definite information would be appreciated.)

Samuel S. Isa, B.S. '30, is librarian of the Albertson Library of Witherpoon College at Buckhorn, Ky.

Donald W. Kohlstedt, B.S. '30, A.M. '35. The following unique announcement was received from Kohlstedt House, Inc.:

"We present a limited edition entitled Roger Winston; date of publication, April 7; shipping weight, 8 lbs., 12 oz.; bound in the finest embossed art vellum attractively trimmed with brown fringe; autographed by the authors, Ethelyn and Don. You are cordially invited to visit the second floor of Providence Hospital, Kansas City, Kans., where this edition will be on display until April 21. At home after this date at 2527 Nebraska Avenue."

Harriette E. MacFadden, B.S. '30, is librarian of the Stockbridge, Mass., Library Association, starting her new duties October 15.

Nellie Myers McNabb, B.S. '30, called at the Library School office a short time ago to exhibit her daughter and son. Her husband resigned his position with the Farm Security Board on October 16th to accept a position as assistant farm adviser of the Jo Daviess county, October 18. Mr. and Mrs. McNabb will live at Elizabeth, Ill.

Nellie Fern Morris, B.S. '30, resigned her position at the Watseka, Ill., High School, to become Librarian of the Normal, Ill., Community High School, in January, 1938.

Elizabeth Ogan, B.S. '30, is now Librarian of the Oakland City, Indiana, College Library.

Jessie Rigby, S.S. '31 and S.S. '32, head of the reference department of Cornell College Library at Mount Vernon, Ia., died on February 1, 1938. She was graduated from Cornell College in 1900 with highest honors. In 1906 she became a member of the College Library staff where her scholarly aptitudes and her literary tastes made her a valued consultant for the students and faculty. For some years she extended her service to the graduates of the college by reviewing for the Alumni Bulletin the worth-while books of the year. The news of her death will bring sorrow to the many who were her friends.

Ernest J. Scheerer, B.S. '30, M.S. '38, resigned his position in the loan department in October, to be in charge of the Chemistry Library at the University of Illinois.

Olga E. Skartvedt, B.S. '30, resigned her position in the Department of Labor Library at Washington, D. C., to become an assistant in the catalog department of the Oregon State Agricultural College Library at Corvallis.

Vera J. Smith, B.S. '30, resigned her position as librarian of the Lockport, Ill., Township Public Library, and was married to Victor V. Jensen of Chicago on September 4, 1937. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will live in New York City at 159 West 85th St., Apt. 2C. She continues library work as an assistant in the Saratoga Branch of the Brooklyn Public Library.

Bessie G. Tressler, B.S. '30, recently resigned her position at the Arizona State Teachers' College Library at Tempe, Ariz., to accept the position as serials cataloger at the State University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Manie L. Berry, S.S. '31 and '32, is now librarian of the Tupelo, Miss., Junior High School.

Marguerite E. Bowles, B.S. '31, was married on June 22, 1937, to Howard Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell is continuing as assistant cataloger in charge of periodicals at the Texas A. & M. College Library at College Station, Tex.

Mrs. Florence O. Garrison Garber, B.S. '31, is working in the catalog department of Manchester College Library, North Manchester, Ind.

Margaret A. Hager, B.S. '31, resigned her position as librarian of the Rushville, Ind., Public Library, to become librarian of the La Porte, Ind., Public Library.

Helen F. Helmick, B.S. '31, resigned her position as N.Y.A. district library supervisor of district No. 4, Decatur-Danville, Ill., to become librarian of the Lockport, Ill., Township Public Library, starting October 11.

Frances E. Wallace, B.S. '31, resigned her position in the Berea College Library, Berea, Ky., to become an assistant in the catalog department of the Southwest Missouri State Teachers' College Library at Springfield, Mo.

Ione Williams, B.S. '31, resigned her position as librarian of the Sue

Bennett Junior College Library at London, Ky., to become librarian of the Faulkner County Library at Conway, Ark., April 1, 1938.

Opal Williams, B.S. '31, librarian of the East Texas State Teachers' College, Commerce, Tex., sent dues for two years and an appreciative note of the News-Letter. She attended the A.L.A. last year and went on the post conference trip to Bermuda and had a wonderful time.

Dorothy Benjamin, B.S. '32, resigned as assistant librarian and executive secretary of the Jackson County Medical Society Library, Kansas City, Mo., April 1, 1937, to take a trip around the world. She is at her home at present, 2600 Illinois Avenue, Granite City, Ill.

Mary Elizabeth Hause, B.S. '32, is an assistant cataloger in the University of Florida Library this year. Her address is 1108 West Union Street, Gainesville, Fla.

Grace M. Mostue, S.S. '32, S.S. '33, S.S. '37, resigned as librarian of the Junior and Senior High School Library at Fairmont, Minn., to become librarian of the Senior High School, Albert Lea, Minn.

Margaret Wardell, B.S. '32, M.A. '37, is now assistant librarian of the Western Illinois State Teachers' College Library at Macomb.

S. Ambrose Wetherbee, B.S. '32, resigned his position with the Illinois State Historical Library at Springfield, Ill., to become Document Archivist and Classifier in the Archives Division of the Illinois State Library, also at Springfield.

Eugene Wilson, B.S. '32, M.A. '33, Ph.D., minor in library science, major in education, June, 1937, resigned from Ohio Wesleyan College Library in April to become librarian of Iowa State College at Ames, May 1.

Ruth E. Wood (now Mrs. Alfred Wood Engle), B.S. '32, has a seven months' old son, Fred David Engle. Mr. and Mrs. Engle are residing at 7324 Clarence Street, Chicago.

OFF THE MAIN ROAD

Jessie Reid (Mrs. C. F. Spencer) has moved from London to Melbourne, Australia; her present address is 12 Neptune St., St. Kilda, S2, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. She recently sent her friends a most interesting round robin letter, telling of her 12,000 mile voyage to her new home. The letter follows:

"After living in California we did not like the dull rainy days of London and we do enjoy the warm sunshiny climate here.

"We live in St. Kilda, three miles from Melbourne's main business section and ten minutes by electric train. St. Kilda is Melbourne's most popular beach resort; we live just five minutes walk from the beach with its park of palm trees.

"Melbourne has a fine classic stone library and the reading room under the rotunda reminds one of the Library of Congress. The catalog, however, is terrible. The first library school has just been established in Australia. The University librarians are sent to the U.S.A. to be trained. Free public library service has not been so well developed but Australia is ahead of the U.S. in many economic reforms. The Australians are very sport minded and every sport may be indulged in all year around. The children are perhaps the healthiest in the world as there are playgrounds everywhere. The women are better dressed and more progressive than the English women. American customs are followed rather than English.

"It is the eighth city of the British Empire, and the capital of Victoria, with a population of over a million. It is one of the most progressive cities; the main business streets are more thronged with people in the busy hum of the day than Oxford Street, London, or Broadway, New York. Through its electric railway station with its suburban traffic more people pass in one day than any other station in the world. Its stores are modern and very American. It has been described by a famous artist as the city with the perfect skyline. Wide clean streets, stately and imposing architecture, spacious parks and gardens, are some of its distinctive features. Its botanic gardens, probably unexcelled anywhere in the world, contain the finest existing collection of Australian flora. Picturesque boulevards, among them the famous St. Kilda Road, shaded by wide spreading trees, lead from the city to delightful mountain and seaside resorts. It is a city of patiently created and zealously cherished loveliness. It has a charm all its own; its inhabitants are well-dressed, kindly, friendly, generous. This is where we are to make our home."

Cleona L. Case writes as follows from Caney Creek Community Center, Pippapass, Knott County, Ky.:

"Lack-a massy me! Can this be I? So said I to myself as I took a brisk walk down the one street of this mountain valley village just before the 5:30 supper tonight. And now I sit here all by myself in MY LIBRARY, preparing to let you all know where I am and why. (This is the one free day of the week, because an earlier librarian was an Adventist and refused to work on that day. So that is the rule now, and I work four hours on Sunday!

"But some of you do not even know how I come to be way down here in the mountains of Southeastern Kentucky! On February 7th, through the recommendation of the American Library Association, I received a letter asking if I would be interested in an immediate position here, and replied that I would. As time went on, ten days passed, so I finally decided that someone else must have had the appointment, when all of a sudden on the 17th I got a telegram, 'Come at once.' The earliest I could leave was on the 21st, so arrived here on the birthday of 'Our Country's Pa.' That sounds simple, but it was by no means!

"When the station agent told me that I would have to travel on six different lines to get to Wayland, Ky., (12 miles from here) I thought it was pretty tough, and was sorry for myself. But that was as the dust of the balance, compared to the rest of the ride which I shall remember to the longest day I have to live! So I will go somewhat into details.

"When I got off the train at Wayland, 12 miles away, and went into the boxcar station they told me that the 'mail hack' for 'the Pass' would be around soon, and began to tell of what a terrible ride it was, but I said I was prepared for almost anything! Elmer Stone, the driver, appeared,—nice looking, about 35, overall-clad. I got to know him well on that memorable trip, and like him. The 'hack' (?), a rickety looking affair, resembling a small loosely draped emigrant wagon, drawn by two large (and well they needed to be) mules. Gathering up my skirts for a large step, I was safely 'histed' up to the almost spring-less seat, and off we started. Behind me I saw my trunk and box and suitcase, numerous bags of mail and boxes of freight. We started following Beaver Creek for some distance; then later he told me it was Caney, the music of whose water I have day and night as it runs a stone's throw from my library. I just hate to start to describe that trip! My feeble words can give but little conception of it! Well, anyway,—for six mortal, endless hours I sat on that lurching seat, finally hanging on with both hands for dear life, lest I be dashed against Elmer, or spilled overboard, sometimes being convinced that I should be wrenched limb from limb. He admitted that it was the worst he had ever seen the roads, as it had rained for a week. He drove so near to the edge of cliffs that once I asked him if he was going to spill us over, but he said, 'No.' Not once for all the twelve miles could the mules go faster than a walk, and one hill I thought they would never be able to pull us up, through the mud.

"I wish I had begun to count how many times we forded that creek! Once with the water almost up to the mules' bodies. He said that occasionally it gets so high that they just don't try to go down. Then for about twenty minutes we rode right up the bed of Caney, there being no other road at all! Once or twice the creek-ride gave space for a few relaxed muscles; then again, when the rocks in the creek bed were large, it seemed almost impossible to endure the racking.

"Finally at 6:30 p.m. Elmer pointed up the Creek and said, 'Well, there is what we have been looking for all these hours!' Through the dusk I could discern a steep mountain side with many buildings at various stages up its base. As we passed one of the first, nearest the road he said, 'That's the library,' and my heart leaped up. It was a fine-looking large one-story stone structure, and I knew that just opposite was little 'Barnswallow,' my own little cottage.

"Caney Junior College has about two hundred, from first grade through two years of college. The central part of the library was formerly the barn! We have twenty-two thousand volumes, and about forty magazines. There are some marvelous sets for reference, though but few late books. Most of the books are gifts! I am under no strain, for girls come daytimes; boys at night! There are no books to buy, no fines to be collected. Mrs. Lloyd, the Director goes after overdue books! BUT, best of all the discipline is nil! Who would believe that 40 boys could gather here nights without one word or thought of anything but studiousness! NOT I! So I love every single one of them to death and will stay.

As space, but by no means material, fails, I shall have to sign off until a later date. Caney and I say, 'Cheerio!'

LATE NEWS

Mary Eileen Ahern, '95-'96, of the Windermere hotel, Chicago, former Indiana State librarian, died Sunday, May 22d, near Atlanta, Ga., while on a train en route to Chicago. Miss Ahern, who was about 75 years old, was editor of the magazine Libraries for 36 years prior to her retirement in 1931. She was born on a farm near Indianapolis, Ind., and was a pioneer in the work of the American public library. She organized the Indiana Library Association and served as its secretary for seven years. She also had been in the library department of the National Education Association, and had charge of the distribution of books of the A.E.F. in France during the World War. Miss Ahern was a life member of the American Library Association, one time treasurer of the Chicago Library Club and a former president of the Illinois Library Association. She was one of the best known figures in the library world. Her keen, Irish wit was much enjoyed and she was always the center of an interested group at library meetings. She was also a member of the Chicago Woman's Club and the Woman's Press Association. In the passing of Miss Ahern, Illinois has lost one of its distinguished alumni.

Frank M. Bumstead, '05-'06, formerly head of the Accessions department of the University of California Library at Berkeley, died May 16th at Alum Rock Sanatorium, San Jose, where he had been a patient for some time.

Nelle U. Branch, B.L.S. '16, librarian of the College of Agriculture Branch Library of the University of California at Davis is to be congratulated on the proposed plans for a new library building which is one of a group of new buildings on a new Campus plan approved by the University Board of Regents recently.

Gladys F. Pratt, M.A. '31, librarian of the State Teachers' College Library, Westfield, Mass., writes that she is sailing the last of June to spend two months in the British Isles, France, and Switzerland. She seems to have been pretty busy professionally. Since 1936 she has been secretary of the Massachusetts State Teachers' College Association and was also a member of a committee to make a survey of library facilities of the various state teachers colleges of the state. In the spring she was a panel member of the library section of a Conference of Elementary School Workers which met at Teachers' College, Columbia.

Grace Palmer, B.S. '25, librarian of the Southwest Missouri State

Teachers College Library, Springfield, Mo., has been taking graduate work this semester at the Columbia University School of Library Service.

Grace Fern Latimer, '36, writes that she is going to spend this summer in Europe. She will visit seven or eight countries and attend a three weeks lecture course at Oxford.

Helen Frances Pierce, B.S. '29, is taking graduate work this year at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School. She has been librarian of the Modesto, California, Junior College Library since 1931.

Genevra Parker, B.S. '30, (Mrs. Austin True), writes that her new address is 4008 Chartres St., Houston, Tex.

Catherine Wisck, B.S. '35, has just been appointed reference librarian of the Peoria Public Library. She has been librarian of the Decatur, Ill., High School Library.

Margaret Mann, '95-'96, Associate Professor of Library Science, University of Michigan Library School was the guest at a dinner given in her honor at Ann Arbor on May 21st. She is retiring after twelve years service at the school. Mr. and Mrs. Windsor and Miss Rose Phelps drove to Ann Arbor to attend the dinner. There were over two hundred present including alumni of the School, faculty of the University, Michigan librarians and other friends. The alumni of the School announced that a scholarship would be established by them in her honor. Miss Mann was Assistant Librarian and instructor in the University of Illinois Library School from 1897 to 1902. The important positions held by her and the great contributions which she has made to Library Science especially in the field of cataloging need no retelling.

LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

Number 27

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNI:

Greetings from California. We hope to see you gathered in large numbers for our reunion at San Francisco. The Pacific Coast alumni have been working hard to make this a gala affair, for it is seldom that we have a chance to see so many of you to renew old ties and form new ones. Each year these reunions have brought news of professional growth and recognition for our school. It has been the privilege of each alumnus to share in the culmination of many fine plans for the University Library and for the Library School, and the alumni body has often expressed its appreciation of these developments.

This year is a specially significant one in the history of our school for it is destined to bring with it the retirement of our Director, Mr. Windsor, whose professional spirit and kindly interest in our association have been of inestimable value. Both Mr. and Mrs. Windsor will be at the dinner, and it will be a chance to share with them the fulfillment of Mr. Windsor's plans for the School during his thirty years of service.

FANNY ALICE COLDREN, President

ASSOCIATION DINNER RESERVATIONS

Tickets for the Illinois Library School dinner will be on sale at a central desk in the Municipal Auditorium at $1.65 a plate. Checks will NOT be accepted at the ticket desk. The local committee will appreciate it if you would send your reservation in advance to Herberta Faithorn, 2602 Sacramento St., San Francisco, Calif. In making your reservation, whether in advance or after arriving in San Francisco, please put your class after your name, as an effort will be made to seat guests by classes. The dinner will be held at the Women's City Club which is just around the corner from the Hotel St. Francis. Kate D. Ferguson is chairman, Jerome Wilcox is in charge of the program, Nelle U. Branch, Bess Bryan, Dorothy Farnsworth, Margaret Windsor, Katherine Brose, Herberta Faithorn, and Josie B. Houchens complete this group. They are full of plans to make this a delightful occasion, so we hope the attendance will be record breaking.

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1938-39

President—Fanny Alice Coldren, University of California at Los Angeles.
First vice-president—Flora Eckert, University of Arizona Library, Tucson, Ariz.
Second vice-president—Nelle U. Branch, University of California, Davis, Calif.
Secretary-Treasurer—Josie B. Houchens, University of Illinois Library, Urbana.
Member ex-officio—Wilma L. Shelton, University of New Mexico Library, Albuquerque, New Mexico.
Trustees of Endowment Fund—John S. Cleavinger, 1938-41; Margaret Williams Jones, 1936-39; Carlyle Morris, 1937-40.

HONOR ROLL OF NEW LIFE MEMBERS

HERBERTA L. FAITHORN
KATHRYN WRIGHT

FRANCIS FEIND HURSH
HENRIETTA HOWELL
ESTHER PETERSON

There is an acute need for additional life members so that the principal of the endowment fund may be increased. For the past four years the interest on this fund has been sufficient for one three-hundred dollar scholarship each year. However, interest rates are being lowered from five to four, and even three per cent, and our capital invested at such rates will no longer yield the necessary amount.

The younger alumni might well consider such a membership as an investment in their profession, for this scholarship has helped and will help especially qualified fellow alumni to a year of graduate study, which might otherwise be impossible.

QUESTIONNAIRE

The Faculty has been studying the first-year curriculum in the effort to adjust instruction to the needs of the profession. A good many internal changes have been made in courses. Before we go further, we should like some concrete evidence of current usefulness of the subject matter of our courses in actual positions.

Will you please fill in the enclosed questionnaire, remembering always to keep in mind the needs of your position? Try to forget your reactions to a course while in school. It is important to tell us what preparation for your work was missing. Remember, too, that there is a graduate year of study. If you were teaching first-year library school students, how would you prepare them for your work?

We consider your cooperation an important service to the profession. We shall welcome all comments whether you completed the work for the degree or not. It is not necessary to sign your name, though that might help us in several ways. Please return the questionnaire to the Library School Office as soon as possible.

KANSAS CITY MEETING

The University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association held its annual dinner meeting on June 16, 1938, at the Hotel Muehlebach in Kansas City during the 60th Annual American Library Association Conference. It was also the 40th year since the organization of our Association. There were 219 present. Following an entertaining program of music and dancing presented by local performers, the meeting was called to order by the President, Wilma L. Shelton, who gave a brief address. Miss Frances Simpson, Assistant Director of the Library School, emerita, was then welcomed by the President, and responded with a few words of greeting to the members of the Association. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Houchens, was read and approved. A letter of greeting from Mr. Windsor was read by the President. Miss Ethel Bond read a letter from Miss Amelia Krieg describing the general prospects for placement of graduates of the School. Miss Bond also announced that Felix E. Snider of Fremont, Missouri, had been awarded the Sharp Memorial Scholarship for 1938-1939. Mr. Arnold Trotier gave a report on the Adah Patton Memorial Fund. The financial report of the Trustees of the Endowment Fund, submitted by Mr. John S. Cleavinger, was read by the acting secretary. The report of the Committee appointed to consider the proposed celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Library School was read by the acting secretary in the absence of Miss Nelle Signor, chairman. The Committee agreed that the celebration should be deferred until 1943 with the prospect of holding a combined celebration with Armour Institute of Technology, which will celebrate its 50th anniversary at that time. The University of Illinois also will be celebrating its 75th anniversary in the same year. The Committee recommended that a permanent committee of five members be appointed to meet together in Kansas City to formulate plans for the celebration. The President announced that since there was still considerable time in which to consider the matter, the appointment of the committee had been left to the incoming president.

Upon motion by Everett O. Fontaine, the secretary was instructed to send to the family of Miss Mary Eileen Ahern the deep regrets of her fellow alumni upon her recent death. Miss Simpson announced that flowers had been sent for Miss Ahern's funeral by members of the faculty and staff of the University Library and Library School.

It was moved by Ida Wright that the greetings of the assembled alumni be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Windsor and Miss Krieg. Mary J. Booth moved that a letter be sent to Miss Margaret Mann, recently retired as Associate Professor of Library Science at the University of Michigan Library School, expressing our appreciation of her service to the profession.

The Nominating Committee composed of Ethel Bond, Della Sissler, and Rudolph Gjelsness, Chairman, proposed the following officers for 1938-39: President, Alice Coldren; 1st Vice-president, Flora Eckert; 2nd Vice-president, Nelle Branch; Secretary-Treasurer, Josie B. Houchens; Trustee of the Endowment Fund, John S. Cleavinger. All were unanimously elected.

The Association is indebted to the local committee for a delightful dinner and program.

The attention of the Association is called to the need for increasing the annual membership list. Evidently the younger graduates are not supporting the Association with as much interest as might be expected; also there are many of the older members who have never joined. Since the cost of the News Letter is defrayed from the annual memberships, an increase in income is desirable.

Attention also is called to the report of the Chairman of the Endowment Committee in which Mr. Cleavinger explains that, owing to the prevailing low rates of interest, the capital sum of about $7,000 is yielding only enough for the Alumni Scholarship. It is desirable for more people to join as Life Members so that this fund may have a slight margin to take care of any further lowering of interest rates.

Two News Letters have been published. Several loans have been made to students who would otherwise have been unable to finish the year. The record on these loans is excellent, all having been repaid as they fell due.

JOSIE B. HOUCHENS, Secretary-Treasurer

ENDOWMENT FUND

Financial report of the Trustees of the Alumni Endowment Fund, for the period from June 1, 1937, to May 31, 1938.

During the twelve months' period covered, there have been no additions to the principal sum; earnings on the investments have amounted to $315.25.

Our income from invested funds has been further reduced by the change of interest rate paid by the Commercial Building and Loan Association from 4½% to 4%, beginning with the payment made December 1, 1937. With this change, our present income from the two major investments noted below is $300—exactly the amount of an annual scholarship. Without additions to the principal fund, therefore, our assets have had no chance to increase appreciably.

The sixth annual K. S. Sharp Scholarship of $300 was paid to the University in March, 1938, for use during 1938-1939.

The resources of the fund at present in the hands of the Trustees are:

4 per cent stock certificate, Commercial Building & Loan Association, Urbana, Illinois.....	$ 5 000.00
5 per cent bonds, University of Illinois Women's Club.....	2 000.00
On deposit in Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.....	174.01
Total.....	$7 174.01

Sources of this amount:	Reported, 1937	June 1, 1937- May 31, 1938	Total to date
From life memberships and special contributions, augmented by authorized advance of $596.00 from the general treasury in 1927....	$5 866.00	$5 866.00
From interest collections.....	2 792.78	$315.25	3 108.03
Less scholarships paid.....	(1 500.02)	(300.00)	(1 800.02)
	$7 158.76	$ 15.25	$7 174.01

Respectfully submitted,

J. S. CLEAVINGER

ALUMNI REUNIONS

Louisiana—A breakfast was held at Natchitoches on April 28 by the nine alumni present at the State meeting.

Oregon—Fourteen alumni gathered for a reunion at Corvallis. They sent Mr. and Mrs. Windsor a big box of lovely tulips which arrived in excellent condition.

Texas—The Illinois-Texas breakfast, held during the 27th meeting of the Texas Library Association, was well attended. Octavia Rogan was active in arranging it.

Ohio—At the Ohio Valley regional meeting a breakfast was held at which twenty-eight alumni were present.

Southeastern Library Association—Twenty-five alumni gathered for a breakfast at Atlanta, Georgia in October.

Southwestern Library Association—Lucy Ann Babcock reported that twenty-four alumni had dinner together at the meeting in Oklahoma City.

Minnesota—Amy Moon reports that six Illini managed to sit together at the Association banquet, no other time being possible.

Washington, D. C.—Dorothy Hill reported a large luncheon last May. Since this group is unusually active, it is probable that we have missed the notice of their meetings this year.

Kentucky—We always can count on a report of a successful effort to have a reunion at the State meeting, and it is always loyal and enthusiastic.

Indiana—On November 28th, the alumni located in Indianapolis and nearby towns had a dinner together. Arrangements were made by Glen Maynard.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Mae C. Anders, assistant librarian, Public Library, Des Moines, is president of the Iowa Library Association for 1938-39.

Katharine Lewis Arzinger, librarian of the Geneseo Township Library, is now president of the Illinois State Library Association.

Anne Benner, librarian of the Urbana Public Library, presided over the Loan and Reference section of the Illinois Library Association at the meeting in October.

Ruth Bergman, cataloger of the University of South Dakota Library, was elected chairman of the College and School Libraries section of the South Dakota Library Association.

Mary Ellen Biery, librarian of the Junior High School at Findlay, Ohio, is chairman of the Library Department of the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' Association.

Dorothy M. Black, of the reference department of the University of Illinois Library, will serve again as chairman of the Subscription Books Committee of the A.L.A.

Alice R. Brasfield, is president of the Kansas City, Mo., Junior Members Round Table. At present she is an assistant at the Northeast Branch of the Public Library at Kansas City.

Mary S. Buffum, director of the Library and Library School of the Texas State College for Women, at Denton, has had the honor of having her school accredited by the American Library Association as an agency for training school librarians. This is the first time that such recognition has been given to any state supported school of library science in Texas. Sharing the honors with Miss Buffum are two other Illinois graduates, Mary D. Taylor, associate professor, and Madeline F. Canova, assistant professor of Library Science.

Mary H. Clay read a report on the "Reorganization of A.L.A." at the April, 1938, meeting of the Texas Library Association in Waco. In May, she was appointed editor of the College and University Section of the official organ of the Texas Library Association, News Notes. In October in Tyler, at the biennial convention of the Texas Division of the American Association of University Women, she gave a paper at the Library Luncheon on "Special Collections in Texas Libraries." She was elected recording secretary of the Texas Division of the A.A.U.W. for the 1938-41 term. On November 26, over Station KTEM in Temple, Texas, she gave a radio talk on "The Bell County Library in Relation to the People's Library Movement of Texas."

In the September, 1938, number of the Bulletin of the Texas Division of the American Association of University Women, on page 6, she had an article printed on "Proposed Library Legislation for Texas."

Miss Clay is librarian of the Mary Hardin-Baylor College Library at Belton, Tex. She is also secretary of the School Libraries section of the Texas Library Association.

John S. Cleavinger, associate professor of Library Service, had a leave of absence from Columbia University and made a survey of library personnel and training agencies in Michigan. This was sponsored by the Board of Education for Librarianship, and took about six months. He returned to Columbia for the second semester.

Nina Marie Cooper, assisting in the Reference department of the University of Arkansas Library, was elected president of the Arkansas Library Commission for 1938-39.

Maude Cowan, librarian of the Southeastern Teachers College Library at Durant, Okla., seems very successful in getting newspaper publicity, judging from the interesting newspaper clippings we sometimes see. Her library has the reputation of being the busiest place on the campus. South-eastern is the Oklahoma Teachers' College and offers the service of a travelling library to the residents of its district. More than 3,000 books are contained in the unit which sends out books for a month's period.

Phyllis Crawford won the $3,000 prize awarded annually by the Julia Ellsworth Ford Foundation in a contest for children's books with "Hello, the Boat," a book published this fall by Henry Holt & Co.

Her book is the story of storeboat life on the Ohio river in 1817, dealing with a family which traveled up and down the river selling dry goods and groceries to the settlers. It is based on research in diaries, pilots' manuals, and biographies of the early Nineteenth Century.

Miss Crawford was born in Little Rock, and attended Randolph-Macon College in Lynchburg, Va. After teaching English for a year at Fairfax Hall, Va., she studied Library Science at the University of Illinois. In 1924 she went to New York as an editorial assistant for the H. W. Wilson Company, library publishers, later becoming an editor. It was while working for the Federal Art Project in charge of research that she came across some manuscripts dealing with boat life on the Ohio river and became interested in the subject.

Lora Crouch, librarian of the Carnegie Library at Mitchell, S.D., gave a talk to the Public Library Round Table of the South Dakota Library Association meeting at Sioux Falls on October 14, 1938 on the subject, "Service to Rural Borrowers from the Standpoint of the City Library." She was also chairman of the Federal Relation Committee of the S.D.L.A. At the A.L.A. meeting at Kansas City last June she was chairman of the Adult Education Round Table for Small Libraries and led the discussion on "An Adult Education Program for the Small Library."

Lucy Wilson Errett, trustee of the Kewanee Public Library, spoke on "Cooperation in Henry County" before the Trustee's section of the Illinois Library Association.

Lois Farr, librarian of the Pontiac Public Library, spoke on "Book Reviews Most Helpful to Librarians" before the general session of the Illinois Library Association in October.

Kate D. Ferguson, librarian of the Bank of Italy, San Francisco, has been president of the local chapter of the Special Libraries Association this year. She is also publicity chairman for the A.L.A. Committee at San Francisco.

Marjorie Glass, cataloger, South Dakota State College, spoke on "Recent Reference Books" before the general session of the South Dakota Library Association.

Julia Grothaus, librarian of the San Antonio Public Library, was elected first vice-president for 1939-40 of the Texas Library Association at their April meeting.

Ruth E. Hammond, librarian of the Wichita, Kan., Public Library, is chairman of the A.L.A. Publicity Committee. She is also president of the Kansas Library Association.

Ruth Hardin, document assistant of the University of Illinois Library, spoke on "Taking the Fear Out of Government Documents" before the Loan and Reference Section of the Illinois Library Association.

Dorothy Hiatt, children's librarian at Jacksonville Public Library, gave a paper on "Cooperation between Librarian and Girl Scout Leaders" before the children's section of the Illinois Library Association.

Selma Hogenson, Augustana College, was hostess at the tea given by the College for the Association.

Alf Houkom, St. Olaf's College Library, was chairman of the College Librarian's section of the Minnesota State Library Association 1937-38.

Mary Helen James, librarian of Western College for Women, Miami, Ohio, is secretary of the Ohio Library Association for 1938-39.

Gladys Judy, librarian of the Public Library at Pratt, Kan., has just been appointed professional supervisor of the library project of the Kansas State WPA. She is also a member of the Library Planning Board for the state.

Ethel G. Kratz, librarian of the Champaign Public Library, gave a paper on "Building up the Business and Technical Collections in a Small Library" before the Loan and Reference section of the Illinois Library Association.

C. H. Linscheid, assistant librarian of the South Dakota State College, read a paper on the "Value and Care of Documents" at the College and School Libraries Round Table of the South Dakota Library Association.

Mary Hays Marable, assistant professor of Library Science, University of Oklahoma, spoke on the "Sociological Significance of the Library" before the Southwestern Library Association in October.

Lois Martin of the Illinois State Library was chairman of the junior members luncheon meeting at the Illinois Library Association in October.

Grace Murray, librarian of the Jacksonville Public Library, spoke on "Recent Books, Non-fiction," before the general session of the Illinois Library Association.

Grace Darling Phillips, who is now located in Kansas City, took an active part in the Religious Books Round Table at the A.L.A. meeting last June.

Warren L. Perry, librarian of the College of Puget Sound, visited teachers' colleges in Washington and California last spring in connection with the survey of college libraries which is being prepared. He also gave a paper on the selection of periodicals for a college library at the meeting of the Pacific Northwest Library Association in August.

Mary Parmalee, librarian of Watertown, S.D., has been secretary-treasurer of the South Dakota Library Association.

Stella H. Pierson, librarian of the Teachers College Library at Kansas City, Mo., has prepared several tests of library usage which may be used to test students' knowledge. Copies of the test may be secured from her.

Rev. August Reyling was the chairman of the joint session of the Catholic Library Association and the Illinois Library Association at their meeting in October. He also spoke on the work of the Catholic Library Association before the general session of the State Association.

Mabel K. Richardson, librarian of the University of South Dakota, appeared on the program as one of the speakers at the "South Dakota Author's Night." She was the author of "Killdeer," a volume of poems published by Dorrance & Co. She also spoke on the "Institute at University of South Dakota" at a general session of the South Dakota Library Association.

Anna M. Roberts, Mississippi State Teachers College Library, is president of the State Library Association, 1937-39; chairman of the Mississippi Library Commission and president of Hattiesburg Branch of the A.A.U.W. for 1937-39.

Christine Sanders, librarian of the Free Library, St. Albans, is president of the Vermont Library Association.

Bertha M. Schneider, head of the catalog department of the University of Ohio, was elected vice-president of the Ohio Library Association for 1938-39.

Pauline A. Seeley, cataloger in the Queens Borough Public Library, was elected secretary-treasurer of the New York Regional Catalog group for 1937-39. Miss Seeley's home address is 170-49 Cedarcroft Road, Jamaica, L. I.

John C. Settelmayer was a member of the committee which prepared "An Inventory for Junior Librarians," published in the Wilson Bulletin of September, 1938.

Lois Shortess, state supervisor of school libraries for Louisiana, gave an address before the School Libraries Section of the Southwestern Library Association.

Howard B. Sohn, librarian of Alliance, Ohio, sent a folder descriptive of the work of his library, which is now serving parts of three counties, including a branch in Sebring, a town of 4,000, several stations in rural stores and schools. Since January this library has operated a trailer branch which is described in the Library Journal for June 15, 1938.

H. Dean Stallings, librarian at State College, Brookings, was elected for the second time president of the South Dakota Library Association.

Emma Lou Taggart, librarian, Sioux Falls College, gave a talk on "Leisure Reading in the School and College Library" before the College and School Libraries Round Table of the South Dakota Library Association; she also presided over the meeting.

Jeannette VanderPloeg, cataloger, State College Library, San Jose, Cal., is secretary of the section for Teachers Training Institutions of the Association of College and Reference Libraries of the A.L.A.

Clara Wurdell, librarian at Gilman, Ill., is secretary of the Illinois State Library Association for 1938-39.

Wayne S. Yenawine, library assistant at the University of Illinois Library, is treasurer of the Illinois State Library Association for 1938-39.

Lee F. Zimmerman, librarian of the Minnesota State Department of Education and chairman of the Library Planning Board, gave a paper suggesting a program for Minnesota at the last meeting of the association. As state director of the state wide W.P.A. Library project, he has been issuing a series of weekly news releases for Minnesota newspapers giving them information on prevailing library conditions.

A.L.A. Committees—No attempt has been made to list all the activities of the alumni in various A.L.A. sections and committees; but an examination of the list in the front of the Handbook showed one and sometimes more Illinois graduates on almost every committee.

LIBRARY GRANTS

Carnegie Corporation of New York made three-year grants to 29 teachers' colleges for the development of their libraries through the purchase of books for general reading.

Illinois graduates are the librarians of 8 of the 29.

ALUMNI NEWS

Ellen G. Smith, B.L.S. '02, formerly librarian of the Walla Walla, Washington Public Library but retired last spring, died after an extended illness on August 15, 1938. The following appreciation written by a colleague, Miss Covington, appeared in the Library Journal of December 15th.

On October 23, memorial services were held honoring the memory of Ellen Garfield Smith, late librarian of the Walla Walla, Washington Public Library. Serving in that office for more than thirty years, she began her work with a collection of 5,000 volumes which increased to 27,000. Miss Smith's devotion to her Library, her staff, and her community while unassumingly quiet was purposeful. On occasions when her viewpoint was sought, one might gather her belief not so much in precept, but in unstinting diligence and sometimes sacrifice. Her efforts were not confined to library pursuits but were extended where there was need in charitable, cultural, and community endeavors. She served on various boards and committees; her activities including the Red Cross, the Archaeological Society, the Art Club, the Symphony Society, Camp Fire Girls, and the Y.W.C.A.

Her professional interests were strong. She was graduated from the University of Illinois Library School in 1902. She had been a member of the American Library Association since 1906 and since 1930 held Life and Contribution memberships. She was active in the Pacific Northwest Library Association and its president from 1929-1931. Miss Smith made herself, through her will, truly one of the "Friends of the Library group" by providing for a trust fund of $25,000 which, upon the deaths of the beneficiaries who share income from it, is to be paid to the city of Walla Walla to be used for library building. In the meanwhile, at the death of each beneficiary that particular income falls to the Library for book purchases. Miss Smith also remembered the Library of the Whitman College of Walla Walla.

Her career, marked by personal industry and resulting benefaction, is very significant of an era in professional development. When she came from library school there were possibly six such schools in this country—the oldest about fifteen years of age. They were not only professional schools, but also experiment stations evolving library policies, directing practices, and stimulating initiative. In a life like that of Ellen Garfield Smith one sees the harvest.

Ida Brown Almy (Mrs. Edward John Dobbins), 1893-94, died on January 27, 1939. She was formerly on the Cleveland Public Library staff and was responsible for much of the development of the circulating library at Wm. Taylor Son & Co. Mrs. Dobbins, a native of Newport, R. I., studied at Armour Institute Library School. She then spent seven years in London and Brussels. She was a librarian in Philadelphia three years. Surviving are two sons, Kemper A., an attorney for the Nickel Plate Road, and Edward J., two sisters and a brother.

Lydia Elizabeth Kohn, '04-'05, formerly a specialist on photographs and slides in the Ryerson Library Art Institute, Chicago, writes that she is acting in an advisory capacity for librarians faced with the problem of housing and cataloging collections of this type. She is listed in the A.L.A. Handbook as "Special Organizer of Photograph and Lantern Slide Collections." In the Library Journal for November 15, 1932, she had an interesting article on the subject. Her address is 4641 Woodlawn Ave., Chicago.

Elizabeth Greene, B.L.S. '05, is working in the private library of Thomas W. Streeter at Morristown, N. J. Her address is 63 Western Avenue, Morristown.

Rose R. Sears, B.L.S. '12, librarian of the Virginia Library, Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago, sends her greetings from San Francisco, Calif., where she is spending some time after a severe illness.

George A. Deveneau, '16, assistant director of personnel for the Panama Canal, a former Chicagoan, died recently in the Gorgas hospital, Balboa, Canal Zone. Death apparently occurred from the shock of a kidney operation. Mr. Deveneau was 49 years old. He had years of experience as a personnel director and technical expert. He was appointed executive secretary of the Illinois state committee on unemployment in 1933. Later he was associated with the P.W.A. in Illinois. In March, 1935, he entered the canal service. He formerly lived in Flossmoor. He was active in community affairs there and served on the school and community church boards. A native of Chicago, Mr. Deveneau was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1912. Later he served in the library of the University of Illinois, and subsequent years with industrial houses as a technical expert. Surviving are his widow, Gertrude; three daughters, Phyllis, Marion, and Eleanor; and a son, Nelson.

Arthur R. Curry, B.L.S. '21, is state wide supervisor of the WPA library project in Texas. His home address is 415 Blanco Road in San Antonio, Tex.

James B. Childs, B.L.S. '21, Chief of the Documents Division of the Library of Congress, has five sturdy sons. Their picture with their father and mother appeared in the Illinois Alumni News in July.

Marie M. Hostetter, B.L.S. '22, assistant professor at the University of Illinois Library School, Urbana, is on leave of absence this year and plans to be registered at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School.

May C. Hessler, '24-25, resigned her position as reference librarian general library division, Illinois State Library, Springfield, to be married April 15, 1939 to Mr. William F. Lacey Jr. of Canton, Illinois. They will live in Springfield, O.

Mary Lois Crouch, '25-26, M.A. '30, who has been assistant librarian of the Nebraska State Teacher's College Library at Wayne, Nebr., writes that she has recently been made librarian.

H. Frances Barnett, '25-26, is working in the Little Rock, Arkansas, Public Library.

Esther Stallmann, B.S. '27, taught at the Syracuse, New York, Library School this summer. She will be registered again this year at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School.

Hazel Rea, B.S. '27, M.A. '29, resigned her position with the Kearney, Nebr., State Teachers College Library, to become cataloger at the University of Redlands Library, Redlands, Calif., starting her new work July 1, 1938.

Mrs. Harriet E. Potter, B.S. '27, resigned her position as head of the Travelling Libraries of the Free Public Library, Montpelier, Vt., August 1st, to become assistant librarian of the Pember Public Library at Granville, New York.

Florence Irwin, B.S. '27, was married last December to a Mr. Fisher, and resigned her position as librarian of the Lincoln Park Branch of the Public Library, Peoria, Illinois in June, 1938.

Lucy Ann Babcock, B.S. '27, M.A. '31, is an assistant in the catalog and reference department of the Oklahoma Library Commission, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Elleine McLellan Stones, B.L.S. '27, has a position in the Social Science Library of the Detroit Public Library. Her many friends in the association extend their sympathy to her in the loss of her husband, Frank Stones, last summer after an extended illness. They had lived at Millbury, Mass., for some years.

Floy C. Carroll, B.S. '27, M.A. '29, has been transferred from her position as Supervisor of Training School Libraries, to the position of assistant librarian and cataloger of the State Teachers College Library at Kearney, Nebr.

Lelia S. Wilson, B.S. '28, started her new duties July 1st as librarian of the Fairfield, Iowa, Public Library. She was elected member of the Board of Directors of the Iowa State Library Association at the meeting in October.

Mary E. Silverthorn, B.S. '28, M.A. '37, resigned her position as instructor at the Carnegie Library School, Pittsburgh, Pa., last June. This past summer she taught in the University of Illinois Library School. In September she went as assistant professor of the Library School at Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto, Ont., Can.

She was in Hankow during air-raids, finally got through to Shanghai. From her recent letter, we quote, "Had a thrilling experience in an eight hour ride in a car through Soochow as it was being bombed, with the chauffeurs and the Chinese boy who was my body guard (so to speak). I pretended I was a twig among the bushes along the roadside for an hour, got a crick in the neck watching planes drop their bombs. From Canton to Hongkong we had a breathtaking halt; the train stopped and as all the lights went out, a calm Cantonese voice informed us: 'This is Tien-tong-Wai-Heaven's Dyke, the most heavily bombed section of the railway.' Fortunately by our playing possum, the reconnoitering planes went on their way without any demoniacal demonstration."

"I have been in Australia for nine months now and have a temporary library position doing a bit of cataloging for the Director of the Melbourne National galleries, but we hope to be able to go back to China by fall. Australia is a beautiful country. It was strange to be having a summer Christmas."

On October 14th she wrote: "Since the beginning of May I have been in Europe studying Fine Arts and Institutional Methods informally. In May and June I motored through France and Switzerland. In July I attended the Conference of the British Museum Association in Belfast, Ireland as the Newark Museum delegate. I was the only American delegate and enjoyed the week as much as anything I have done. The English Museum people are all so kind, and English conferences have a different flavor from American ones. The city of Belfast itself was generous in its hospitality. Have tried to see something of every part of the British Isles. London has claimed many weeks with its wonderful libraries and museums with their historic atmosphere. With it all I am very conscious of being an American who would never wish to live permanently elsewhere. The crisis has been fearful and exciting at this close range. For nearly a week I carried a gas mask about everywhere with me." She returned to America in November and her address is, for the present 420 W. 24th Street, New York City. LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS LETTER

THE LIBRARY OF THE
MAR 20 1940

PHINEAS LAWRENCE WINDSOR

DR. WINDSOR

"Phineas Lawrence Windsor, Librarian and Director of the Library School of the University of Illinois—Native of Illinois; gaining baccalaureate degrees from Northwestern University and the New York State Library School at Albany; serving in the Library of Congress and in the Library of the University of Texas, before coming to his present distinguished post some thirty years ago; combining scholarship with thorough knowledge of scholarship's greatest laboratory, the library, and its care."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler used the above citation in conferring the degree of Doctor of Letters on Mr. Windsor at the one hundred and eighty-fifth annual commencement of Columbia University. Twelve honorary degrees were conferred by President Butler, among the recipients were Dr. Guy Stanton Ford, President of the University of Minnesota, Professor Robert S. Mulliken of the University of California, Sumner Welles, Under Secretary of State, Jean Zay, Minister of National Education of the French Republic, and Eduard Benes, former president of Czecho-Slovakia.

On the day before the Commencement President Butler gave a dinner for the men receiving honorary degrees and Mrs. Butler entertained at luncheon for their wives. The Windsors were also present at the Alumni luncheon and at a reception held at the School of Library Service, where they met many old friends.

When Dr. and Mrs. Windsor returned home they were the guests of the Library staff and the Library School faculty at a dinner in their honor at the Champaign Country Club.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

GREETINGS, FELLOW ALUMNI,

When word came after the San Francisco meeting that I was to be your president for the coming year it was certainly a great surprise to me. I thank you for the honor and shall try to fulfill the duties to the best of my ability.

Illinois has the extraordinary good fortune again this year of having Mr. Windsor continue as Librarian and Director of the Library School. Congratulations and honors tendered him last summer are still in order. It is with pride that we have him still as Our Chief.

Items of news about the alumni, where they are and what they are doing, are always welcome at the Alumni Association Office so please contribute what news you may have. A News Letter can't be published without funds and therefore I ask you to cooperate and send in your dues right away. Remember, if we need news, we also need dues.

Plans are being started for our Alumni Dinner in Cincinnati late in May. The time and place will be announced later. We hope you are all planning to attend this A.L.A. conference and stay for the Illinois dinner and help to make our Library School Reunion a large, happy, and enjoyable affair.

Cordially yours,

MARGARET OLDFATHER, President

EXECUTIVE BOARD 1939-40

President—Margaret Oldfather, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

First vice-president—Glen R. Maynard, Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Trustees of Endowment Fund—John S. Cleavinger, 1938-41; Margaret Williams Jones, 1939-42; Carlyle Morris, 1937-40.

SAN FRANCISCO MEETING

The University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association held its annual dinner meeting on June 21, 1939 at the Women's City Club, San Francisco, California during the session of the American Library Association Conference. About 150 were present. The Illinois colors of orange and blue were carried out in the beautiful floral arrangement at the head table while a pyramidal arrangement in pink and white formed the center pieces for the smaller tables. Distinguished guests present were Director P. L. Windsor and Mrs. Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bay, and Mr. Charles Harvey Brown.

Following a delicious dinner the annual business meeting was called to order by the President, Fanny A. Coldren. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Houchens, and the financial report of the Trustees of the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship Fund, submitted by Mr. John S. Cleavinger, were read by the acting secretary and approved. Mr. Arnold Trotter reported that the Ada Patton Memorial Fund now amounts to $2600, and the first publication will probably be a Library School thesis which is now being prepared for publication. Miss Amelia Krieg announced that the Sharp Memorial Scholarship for 1939-40 had been awarded to Mr. Marion A. Milczewski of the class of 1938 who has been serving an internship in the library system at Tennessee Valley Authority. The nominating committee presented the slate for 1939-40 which was accepted and officers declared elected.

The President then introduced the Chairman of the Dinner Committee, Miss Kate Ferguson. After extending greetings to the members present she turned the meeting over to the toastmistress of the evening, Miss Frances Simpson, former Vice-Director of the School.

The program which followed was in honor of Director P. L. Windsor who was to retire at an early date upon completion of thirty years of service to the University of Illinois Library and Library School. Miss Simpson announced that Columbia University had honored Mr. Windsor with the degree of Doctor of Letters at its recent Commencement on June 6th.

She then introduced Miss Willia Garver, Order Librarian of the University of Illinois Library, who gave the first address on "Our Librarian."

Miss Garver, representing the library staff, spoke as follows: "Tonight it is my great pleasure to try to express what the rare privilege of working closely with Mr. Windsor has meant to those of us on the Library staff who have had that privilege; it is my pleasure to pay tribute to the man who for thirty years has guided our destinies, the Director of the University of Illinois Library.

"The title of Director is a fitting one, for it not only means one who directs, but one who guides, a leader; and through association with Mr. Windsor it has acquired for us the connotation of a man of vision, and a man of influence, not only within his own professional group but within the University and within the civic community as well.

"When our Director came here thirty years ago in August, 1909, the University was comparatively unknown and comparatively small with a faculty and staff of 430, and an undergraduate student body of 4,600. The graduate school was just taking form. The Library contained then 142,804 volumes and the permanent Library staff numbered 34 with some temporary assistants. We now have a total enrollment of 17,500, and a faculty and staff of 2,145; but the growth of the Library has far outdistanced the growth of the University, for the 142,000 volumes has increased to a million and a half and the staff now numbers 99 professional assistants, 19 clerical assistants and 140 undergraduate student assistants, besides 89 N.Y.A. students. In his thirty years as administrator of the Library Mr. Windsor has added over one million volumes to the collection and from an average sized Library, he has with vision and foresight created a great University Library. He has raised the rank of this Library among other university libraries from 19th to 5th place and to 1st rank among state university libraries, truly a monumental achievement.

"To house this great collection, he planned and built some thirteen years ago, a library building that has become a model for its convenience of arrangement and its economy of administration. I can truly say, that he built the library, for I remember the painstaking care with which he watched all of the details of construction. Many librarians and college administrators have sought his advice on their plans and the ideas he incorporated in the library at Illinois, have been followed in other libraries.

"With a sympathetic understanding of the needs of research scholars, both those of the present day and those of generations to come, he has taken advantage of every opportunity that has arisen to add to his Library those materials of research, upon which scholars are dependent for their studies for the advancement of knowledge. The Library has become increasingly a resort for scholars from other institutions and occasionally even from other countries, and more than one has expressed his surprise and his appreciation at finding at Illinois such splendid comprehensive collections in his special fields.

"He has always kept in close touch with the trends at the University and has anticipated demands upon the Library; and his counsel has been sought not only by mature scholars, but by the younger scholars to whom he has been particularly helpful. He has inspired and encouraged them to continue in their studies by placing at their disposal or acquiring for them the books or other material necessary for research in their fields.

"I have mentioned Mr. Windsor's contributions to the library and to scholarship; to give just an estimate of his contributions to the University during his long and distinguished connection with it, to name the University Committees upon which he has been called to serve would take more time than I have at my disposal. The University administration has constantly availed itself of his wise counsel.

"As to his professional contributions, they are so well known to all of you. I feel that some restraint in these remarks is due to Mr. Windsor's modesty, a heritage from his Pennsylvania-German ancestry, as is also his simplicity of manner, his integrity and fair-mindedness, and his unusual ability to see and weigh all sides of a question, to make an honorable compromise when such a compromise is fair; and, when he is thoroughly convinced that his ideas are sound, to fight for his convictions.

"And working side by side with Mr. Windsor, inspiring him and helping him has been Mrs. Windsor, the friend of every member of the staff, and to whom every member pays his devotion. Her appreciation of the finer things in life and her keen intelligence, her active interest in world affairs with her constructive comments have been an inspiration to all of us, and have broadened our outlook.

"As to Mr. Windsor's relation to his staff, that is a subject so well known to all of us, that I feel that anything I can say, will be but an echo of that which is in the hearts and minds of all. Many of us have taken to him not only our professional interests and difficulties, but our personal affairs and tribulations, and he has never been too busy, never too weary from his multitudinous duties to take an understanding interest in our affairs. I am sure there are very few of those who are here tonight who have not at some time in their career been benefited by his wise guidance and sane counsel. He has moulded us professionally and influenced us personally.

"Though of course, we can't hold Mr. Windsor responsible for our shortcomings, I feel that many of us can say in the words of the old song, that I know is familiar to the older alumni and may possibly be known to some of the younger generation.

'You made us what we are tonight,
We hope you're satisfied.'

"But to be serious, I should like to say this about Mr. Windsor.

"He built a great Library on sound foundations, a Library that will endure through the years and more important than that, he built librarians, through whom his influence will be felt down through the years.

"So I pay tribute to Mr. Windsor, builder of libraries and builder of librarians."

Mr. Charles Harvey Brown, Librarian of Iowa State College, spoke from the standpoint of a companion in library school days and as a friend throughout the years. He told interesting incidents of their companionship at New York State Library School and showed how the ideals that had characterized the student were the qualities that had marked the man. A high ideal for his own life, liberality with the faults of others, ability to "walk in slippery places and fall not," and ability to always play a square deal have made him one of the most human of librarians and a real man.

Then followed an appreciation of Mr. Windsor as "Our Director" by Miss Amelia Krieg, present Assistant Director of the Library School. She said:

"When Mr. Windsor came to Urbana in August, 1909, as Director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School, he found a Library School which had an alumni body of about 400 matriculants.

"The requirements for admission demanded three years of college training, 'a broad general education, a disciplined mind and maturity of thought'. Opportunity was afforded for two years of study leading to a B.L.S. degree. The laboratory for study was the 150,000 volume library and the library school quarters were over the old stack at the rear of the building—entry being down from the balcony around the rotunda of the old Library Building. Pictures of the study room show excellent equipment (the reason I say excellent is that many of the desks, chairs, cases, are still showing service though perhaps a bit shabby and squeaky!). The light fixtures were lovely combinations of gas mantles and electric globes, with a single fat pendant electric light globe, frosted at the bottom and with very small round shade like a brief ballet skirt, representing what was probably the very latest in electric lighting features for libraries in that day.

"I wish I had a picture of the young Mr. Windsor in that setting. I expect he was like many a young man here—fairly recently married, a family of three requiring his care. He probably had all the enthusiasm and eagerness we stress today. We ask about young men who want to be administrators: Is he able? Has he vision, originality, practicality? Is he cooperative, or too aggressive, or conceited, mature? And if occasionally the enthusiasm of youth means an overabundance of a desire to change the world, we say, 'He'll outgrow that trait.'

"So I wonder whether all those personal elements which have helped make the successful career of Director Windsor were apparent in the young man who came to Urbana in August, 1909. Was he wise as he now is? Did he immediately become known for his ability to see all sides of a question? Kindliness and the ability to get along with people most certainly have been strong qualities, as well as the courage to state his convictions, a tendency toward flexibility in analysis, and the persistence necessary to accomplishment.

"Mr. Windsor did not see the rush of closing a Summer Session back in August, 1909, because no summer session training was being given then. The Library School seems not to have issued a Circular covering the first year of Mr. Windsor's administration, but the year was by no means an inactive one.

"In 1910 the Board of Trustees approved a change in regulations providing that beginning with 1911 only college graduates or those possessing the equivalent in training should be admitted. Miss Katherine L. Sharp had initiated this policy in 1906, but it remained for Mr. Windsor to see it to a happy completion.

"Since that time a general glance at the curriculum might show little change in names of courses, but the faculty could tell of many meetings during which extension of courses, selection of essential topics to meet the changing needs of the field, correlation, analysis of course content and method to meet changing professional and academic standards were discussed and decisions made under Mr. Windsor's guidance.

"The degree granted continued to be the B.L.S. for two years of study until 1926. For years the first year graduates (or juniors as they were then called) poured complaints concerning their lack of standing in academic and professional fields into the sympathetic ear of Mr. Windsor, who not only listened but acted. Quietly, in his customary manner, he talked about changing the degree—to members of the profession, to alumni of the Library School, to members of the University faculty—always paving the way for a successful presentation of a new regulation to a University Board of Trustees which might not understand nor appreciate the specific problems of the Library School group. When the request for a change in degree policy finally came, it was granted, and Mr. Windsor had the pleasure of presenting his first group of candidates for the B.S. in L.S. degree and for the Master's degree to the President at Commencement in June, 1927.

"Today Mr. Windsor directs a school whose alumni number around 2600 with a yearly registration of about 90 first year students and 40 graduate students, and with a summer session enrollment considerably larger. The faculty no longer are staff members and the number has been nearly doubled. Quarters and equipment are very much more extensive, and the University Library of over a million volumes is a laboratory not for practice work but for study and observation.

"But the development of the School and the maintenance of its high standards of teaching are only part of the contribution of Director Windsor to the field of professional education.

"I doubt whether non-university people realize the problems relating to the administration of a school within the University, realize the constant vigil necessary to maintain high standing within the University, and acquire and maintain the respect of University officials and faculty. This is especially true with regard to professional education and the newer degrees. Mr. Windsor's inter-university contacts and committee work have been important not only from the standpoint of his contribution to scholarship, but also from the standpoint of the advancement of professional prestige through the continued willingness of the University of Illinois to follow his leadership in suggestions of change of degrees.

"His state relations are as important for professional education as for the development of library service. He has carefully watched the needs for service training of the public librarians who could not meet requirements for admission to regular training. The problem of training for teacher-librarianship in Illinois is one of the current problems which holds his interest.

"During two different years Mr. Windsor served as President of the Association of American Library Schools. In addition he has served on committees and has given freely advice to others serving in similar capacities.

"Though he himself has not felt the urge for setting down his opinions and having them printed, he has been constantly on the alert to find ways and means to help others, especially younger members, to publish material of value to the profession as a whole.

"While these evidences of leadership and accomplishment are splendid, it seems to me there is one other phase of Mr. Windsor's professional activity which might in ways transcend the value of his other successes because of the element of continuity implied—that is, the time and thought he has given to guiding, encouraging, stimulating younger people on his staff or alumni who come to him for advice.

"As a man Mr. Windsor is admired by all who know him for his sincerity, his loyalty, his sense of fair dealing, his practical common sense, his emotional balance, and his fine sense of humor."

In a speech in which much humor was mingled with expressions of high regard, Mr. J. C. Bay, Librarian of John Crerar Library, told of the long professional friendship between Mr. Windsor and himself, a friendship dating back to early days in their career when both were on the staff of the Library of Congress. He said retirement was a mere fable, for the sanity, wholesomeness and well-balanced judgment of the man would live on. It would be said "Phineas Windsor came this way." He presented to Mrs. Windsor for safe keeping a little book which he considered the first textbook for librarianship published in 1711, viz.

Bartholin, Thomas.

Viri doctissimi Thomae Bartholini de libris legendis dissertationes, quas . . . publicae luci restituit et de vana librorum pompa preafatus est Joh. Gerh. Meuschen . . . 1711.

In presentation of the Alumni gift in honor of Mr. Windsor, Fanny A. Coldren said, "I have deemed it a privilege during the past year to represent the Alumni in the capacity of President of the Library School Association.

"It is now my pleasure to speak for you in reporting the realization of our hopes for the year as expressed in the accomplishments of a committee which has worked so effectively under the chairmanship of Miss Grace Derby together with the enthusiastic support of the Alumni.

"As alumni we have wished to express through a gift to the Library School our appreciation of your long and successful career as Librarian of the University of Illinois and as Director of the Library School, and our high regard for you personally.

"Our gift holds much of the Past in it, something for the Future and this hour of the Present.

"Of the Past we note with satisfaction and pride the progress of the Library as evidenced in a fine collection of books and other materials of research. We commend your wisdom in the selection of a staff competent to assist you in the administration of this admirable collection and in the appointment of an able faculty responsible for the training of librarians.

"There is our just pride that you have been actively interested in professional affairs and have participated in the shaping of library policies and that you have shown at all times a sympathetic interest in individuals and institutions seeking assistance. These are some of the tangible results of your administration.

"Of those intangible things which constitute our fondest memories of individuals and institutions, I wish to quote from a communication received this year in which referring to you it was stated, 'Modestly he has chosen to invest his Library Service largely in intangibles such as sympathetic interest in individuals in the professions rather than in the tangible property of public office and professional publications.'

"These, Mr. Windsor, are the elements of the past caught up in our gift and held together for the future by the promise of the Alumni to continue to lend our loyal and enthusiastic support to the Library School.

"It is now my very happy privilege to announce to you that there is deposited in Urbana a sum amounting to $3400, the use of which will be determined by the committee in consultation with you."

Miss Grace E. Derby, chairman of the committee was presented.

Mr. Windsor responded very graciously saying he looked upon the group as friends as well as colleagues and appreciated the goodwill and loyalty they had shown to the school, the institution, and himself. He bespoke for his successor the same loyalty, devotion, and support on the part of the alumni.

Telegrams of greeting were read from Mary E. Silverthorn of the University of Toronto, Bertha Schneider, Margaret Oldfather, Gladys Scott, and Louise Edmundson of Ohio State University Library. The meeting closed with a word of thanks from Mrs. Windsor and a few remarks from the President to the effect that good material does not stay on the shelf but continues to circulate and that now Mr. Windsor would be able to circulate more freely than ever before.

FANNY DUNLAP

PHINEAS LAWRENCE WINDSOR

As Mr. Windsor was an alumnus of the New York state library school at Albany it was fitting that the following appreciation of his work should appear in the Library Service News published at the School of Library Service at Columbia University.

"The University of Illinois Library and the Library School are both monuments to the wisdom, the vision, and the untiring efforts of P. L. Windsor who since 1909 has been their director.

"Under his directorship the University Library has grown from a small collection of 127,000 volumes to over 1,130,000. With remarkable foresight and appreciation of the needs of scholars and research workers, and with real understanding of the academic and professional needs of a large state university, he has personally supervised the selection of over a million books and periodicals. He has built a collection strong in many fields, adequately reflecting the interests of the entire institution it serves.

"The planning and construction of a new library building in 1924 has been one of Mr. Windsor's noteworthy achievements. Erected in units, the last in 1939, it represents one of the outstanding examples of modern university library planning. Librarians from far and near, from abroad and at home, have as a result, consulted with him on library building plans.

"In addition to his services to the University as librarian and Library School director, Mr. Windsor, as a member of the University Senate and Council, has actively participated in determining policies and practices both for the instructional program and the administration of the University. His services in these bodies have been held in high esteem due to his calm judicial temper, his sound business judgment, his high standards of scholarship and personal integrity, his sympathy and understanding of the problems of youth. Recognition of his value to the University in extra-library matters is evidenced by appointment to numerous important committees. Notable among these is the Budget Committee, on which as one of three members he served for some years, planning the biennial budget for the entire University; also the famous Committee of Nine, a special Senate Committee which under President Chase in 1931-1932, was authorized to make a thorough investigation of the organization and efficiency of the University with a view to drafting a constitution for it. His work on this committee helped greatly to strengthen the independence of the University and to clarify the strong position a university library must occupy if it is to develop simultaneously with the institution. The statutes in the constitution pertaining to the library are models. As a member of this committee he was able, through sub-committees of faculty and library staff, to study the cultural influence of a state university library and the broad implications for its future growth. Recommendations of these sub-committees have provided support for administrative reorganization and new appropriations. Out of it all has developed on the part of faculty and student body, a new and tremendously significant appreciation of the place a library should, and at the University of Illinois does, fill in an educational institution.

"Mr. Windsor's influence on state wide library progress in Illinois will long outlive him. From its formative years to the present he has generously shared his experience and wisdom with the Illinois Library Association. To him should be given a goodly share of the credit for piloting the I. L. A. to a ranking position among state agencies. Twice he was president of the association—in 1912 and in 1934. And to many other presidents of the Association he has served as a mentor, especially in times of difficulty.

"It is probably true that every important useful library law passed in Illinois since he became librarian of the State University, bears the imprint of his advice and encouragement. Many of these laws were largely drafted by him, and his strong influence with legislators helped to secure their passage. Among these may be mentioned that which established a library extension service in Springfield, later called the State Library Extension Division. In this connection it may be recalled that as librarian of the University of Texas, before coming to Illinois, he was largely responsible for drafting the bill which created the Texas Library Commission. The impression he left upon the libraries of Texas during those early days of his career was deep enough to span the more than twenty-five years he has been away and is well illustrated in a recent letter from a group of Texas librarians in which they write, 'You helped to get the Texas Library and Historical Commission established and we need your help today in fitting it into changing times . . . as chairman of the Illinois Library Planning Committee you will have much to give to the Texas group.'

"Always actively in support of certification, as Chairman of the Board for several years he has accomplished much toward raising the standards of librarianship throughout the State. He has also helped to raise and maintain these standards by providing in the Library School professional training courses, not only for those with college education, but also for those with limited educational opportunities who must serve in the very small public school libraries of the State.

"Only those who are privileged to be closely associated with Mr. Windsor can realize the actual extent to which his professional influence is felt in Illinois. His advice and help are continually being sought by village and city library trustees, by librarians trained and untrained, by school teachers and officials, and by readers from every walk in life. They know, from long years of experience, that he, the librarian of the State University, understands and is interested in their problems and that he will provide the help they need. He has never failed them.

"Mr. Windsor's horizon has not been limited to local or statewide library affairs. He has continuously during the last thirty-five years attacked national library problems modestly but vigorously. He has been an active member of the American Library Association for almost forty years, serving as its first vice-president in 1923-24. He has been a member of the Executive Board and of the Council for three different terms, the last term ending in 1941. His committee services include the following committee chairmanships: Professional Training Section, 1910-11; Committee on Standardization of Libraries and Certification of Librarians, 1917-22; Committee on Code of Ethics, 1926-28; Finance Committee, 1937-.

"Mr. Windsor's interest in national librarianship is also exemplified by the fact that he has served three terms as President of the Association of American Library Schools, (1921-22, 1926-27, 1934-35); has been a Fellow in the American Library Institute for many years; and has served as Second Vice-President of the Bibliographical Society of America (1931-33) of which he has been affiliated for many years.

"During the World War, 1917 and 1918, Mr. Windsor was granted a leave from the University to become Assistant Director of the American Library Association War Service, with headquarters at the Library of Congress. His contribution was notable among those of our national library war service.

"Nor has Mr. Windsor limited his interests to professional matters. He has been a civic and religious leader in his community. For many years he has been an active member of the Urbana Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary Club. He has served as a member of the local Public Library Board and as Trustee of his church and the Wesleyan Foundation for students of the Methodist Church.

"There are achievements, rare and unmeasurable, which cannot be designated by objective description. They are of the spirit, and observable only as reflected in such personal expressions of others as loyalty, devotion, respect. It is this sort of achievement, perhaps, for which Mr. Windsor will be longest remembered. It is the deep devotion, the profound respect, and the personal loyalty that he has inspired in members of his staff and in the Library School. To these persons and to others in the profession, his greatest achievement is in being a wise and just counsellor, a true professional and personal friend."

DR. CARL M. WHITE TO BE NEW DIRECTOR

Dr. Carl M. White of the University of North Carolina who has been appointed as director of the University Library and director of the Library School is at present university librarian and chairman of the division of the Library and Library School at the University of North Carolina.

He received the Master of Arts degree from Mercer University in 1928 and the Ph.D. degree in philosophy from Cornell University in 1933. He obtained a B.S. degree in library science from Columbia University in 1934. From 1934 to 1938 he was librarian and professor of philosophy at Fisk University, and instructor in the department of library science at the University of Michigan in the summer of 1938. He has been librarian at the University of North Carolina from July, 1938, to date.

One of the younger librarians in the nation whose reputation is growing, Dr. White's understanding of the problems of library work is widely recognized. His work as a library administrator has met with general approbation in the field. Dr. White is active in professional associations, is a good speaker, and has contributed a number of worthwhile articles, largely on university libraries, to periodicals.

Among his articles are "Freshmen and the Library," in the Journal of Higher Education, January, 1937; "The Bearing of John Dewey's Philosophy of Education on Problems Confronting Librarians," in School and Society, 1937; and "Trends in the Use of University Libraries," in School and Society, 1938.

Dr. White is married and has two children of pre-school age. Mrs. White was an instructor in home economics from 1930 to 1934 at Cornell University, and has a Master's degree from the University of Iowa.

OUR UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

In an address before the Associated Friends of Rutgers University on "The Place of the Library," Dr. Lane Cooper, Professor of Language and Literature at Cornell University and a graduate of Rutgers, said:

"What of war, and what have libraries to do in counteracting that? We hear it stated that another war, vaster than the one that went before it, which was the greatest war to date, will shortly put an end to modern culture. Has anybody really thought this matter out? The last war certainly did not kill religion at Louvain, intensified it, rather, and the outward damage has been repaired. And the last general war was not relatively so disturbing as the Napoleonic wars, which upset Europe off and on from 1798 till Waterloo well-nigh a generation later. Let us suppose, however, that alien bombers shortly bombed the Harvard Library, or the library of Yale, but did not damage both, or ruined both of these, but did not damage Brown, or even wrecked the libraries in New York or Washington, but not the aforesaid libraries of Harvard, Yale, and Brown. Or suppose that all the libraries on our Atlantic coast were wrecked, or most of them, while the great universities of the Middle West and California went unscathed? Would civilization in America then be ruined? While we talk about the place of libraries, think how they are placed in our own country. It would take more system than the Continental nations yet possess to ruin all each other's libraries, and after that the libraries at Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, and London, at Oxford, Cambridge, Manchester, and other British universities, and then come over here to bomb all other libraries from Maine to Oregon and from Los Angeles to Durham and Chapel Hill. With the newer means of duplication, almost any library today can have a copy of any book or writing in the world. A moderate college library today is richer in books than most of the great libraries in the day of Waterloo. Think merely of the difference between our Rutgers Library now and the old collection in Kirkpatrick Chapel only forty years ago. The preservation of the library at Urbana, Illinois, if only that were saved out of a universal ruin, would save modern culture, if some spiritual gifts were saved as well." From Journal of the Rutgers University Library December 1939.

LIBRARY SCHOOL ORIENTATION PROGRAM

For several years the Faculty has been considering devoting some time at the beginning of the school year to an organized orientation unit. It was decided to try such an experiment in September, 1939.

The unit consisted of lectures, reading and discussions, arranged in such a manner that all instructors and most of the students participated. It was designed (1) to introduce the philosophy and ideals of library service to the student group, and (2) to prepare them for two aspects of the Library School curriculum: the character of the professional education given; and their needs in preparing for given types of positions. In addition, the class visited the Library, and were entertained by the Library Club. The program required the remainder of registration week.

Students have apparently found the program of value, though naturally they do not know whether they would have been equally happy without it. A majority of them think they wouldn't have been.

It is interesting to compare with this the reaction of the Alumni who answered the Curriculum questionnaire from the June News-Letter. The majority favored the presentation of an orientation program. Since those who never had such an introduction think it might be valuable, and those who have had it say that it has proved valuable in general, it is likely that the program will be continued at least another year.

CURRICULUM QUESTIONNAIRE

The returns on the questionnaire inserted in the News-Letter of June, 1939 were so disappointingly low that no summary can be presented to the Alumni.

We do want to thank those graduates who responded. Their comments have been helpful.

We are still interested in having late returns. Why not hunt up your June issue, fill in the questionnaire now, and send it to us? Unfortunately extra copies of the questionnaire are not available.

ALUMNI REUNIONS

Colorado—I am a little late in my report of the Illinois Alumni in attendance at the Colorado Library Association held at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs in October. As you know, the Broadmoor is a gay and swanky resort hotel so we not only enjoyed fine meetings but also all the excellent opportunities for fun which the hotel affords. There were only a few Illini in attendance but we made ourselves known at the formal dinner party on Saturday night. The only real news of importance is that Mary Ella McConnell is now Mrs. Johnson. She was present, as was also Grace Andrews of Colorado Springs. Others in attendance were Henry Waltemade of the University of Colorado, and from Denver, Vera Campbell, Edna Gustafson, Harriet Howe, Florence Pickett Foltz and myself.—BEATRICE HOLT

Indiana—We had a breakfast meeting of the Illinois Library School graduates during the Indiana Library Association meeting. There were thirteen or fourteen present. Miss Margaret Turk of the Indiana State Library had charge of the arrangements. The group is fairly active here, at least we get together for a dinner meeting about twice a year besides the I. L. A. breakfast. There is no formal organization, one or two persons being selected each time to plan the next meeting.—GLEN R. MAYNARD

Kentucky—The Illinois Library School Alumni Association of Kentucky held an informal breakfast meeting at the Brown Hotel, October 14, during the meeting of the Kentucky Library Association in Louisville.

Those present were Lena B. Nofcier, '28, Library Extension Division, Frankfort, Kentucky; Elizabeth Hanson, '27, University of Kentucky; Mrs. Alene Christine, '27, Louisville Free Public Library; Mrs. Mary Powell Sublett, '38, University of Louisville Library; Evelyn J. Schneider, '30, Librarian, University of Louisville; Ruth Graham Field, '36, '38, University of Louisville Library; Marethal Burquin, '37, Louisville Free Public Library.

Miss Schneider gave a very interesting report on the Alumni dinner in San Francisco in honor of Dr. Windsor.

Mrs. Mary Powell Sublett was elected Secretary-treasurer for the coming year, and Ruth Graham Field, President.—RUTH GRAHAM FIELD

Missouri-Kansas—I am enclosing a list of those present at our little get-together which was in the form of a breakfast meeting Saturday morning, October 28th. There were 33 present, two of whom were guests.

I think we were particularly fortunate to have Miss Krieg with us. She told us news of the school, faculty, status of placement and the Windsor fund. It was good to have her give us the latest news first hand. I didn't succeed in scaring up many news items—only two or three that I'll append to the list of those attending the breakfast.

I am glad we can get together as Illinois Alumni at these various and sundry meetings and conventions. It has always struck me that there has seemed to be a particular spirit of unity or call-it-what-you-will among the Library School alumni. Maybe it's because we're proud to be one.

Those present at the meeting were Mildred Forney, Cerilla Saylor, Yelieve Goldner, Gladys Judy, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kohlstedt, Kathryn Adams, Esther Park, Frances E. Wallace, Mae Cowden, Harriet Nordhem, Barbara Bartley, Leona Krehbel, Lucile Brumbaugh, Gayle Clark, Isabelle Prugh, Jean Eleanor Taylor, Matilda Wiley, Jean White, Aurevia Graham, Doris Foley, Amelia Krieg, Zelia Jane French, Mary Elizabeth Hinkley, Ross Lloyd Crigler, Maurine Doores, Olive Weaver, Josephine Cowles, Felix E. Snider, Grace Palmer, and Paul Jean Burnette.—PAUL JEAN BURNETTE

Ohio—Thirty alumni met at breakfast at the Ohio Library Association and sent a telegram with greetings to Mr. Windsor and the Library School faculty. Those present were Margaret Oldfather, Iva McConagha, Estrilla

Daniels, W. A. Oldfather, Eleanor Stahl, Pansy Myers, Dorothy Besuden, Gertrude Wulfkoetter, Jessie Jones Price, Esther Kelly, Grace Goodale Keator, Clytie E. Strahler, Esther Nichols, Mary Helen James, Ena Oertli, Dorothy M. Reuss, Dorothy V. Martin, Mary H. Hall, Howard B. Sohn, Louise Edmondson, Gladys Scott, Christiana H. Gordon, Mary W. Crumrine, Helen Hefling, Mary Alice Justice, Else Newcomer, Elizabeth Jordan, and Gertrude Cordt.

Oklahoma—Illinois alumni and former students had a special table at the Dinner Miscellany of the Oklahoma Library Association on the night of October 12, 1939. Six attended, including: J. J. Hill, University of Oklahoma Library, Norman; Grace Campbell, Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College Library, Stillwater; Lee Nix, District Supervisor of WPA Library Project, McAlester; Lee Spencer, Oklahoma Baptist University Library, Shawnee; Ernestine Harris, Bacone College Library, Muskogee; and Winnie Arnold, Public Library, Stillwater.

Other alumni and former students who were present at other sessions of the Oklahoma Library Association were: Mrs. Mary Hays Marable and J. R. Rader of the University of Oklahoma Library, Norman; Bess Stewart, Carnegie Library, Oklahoma City; Roy Holleman, Addie E. Smith, Margaret Walters and Icelle E. Wright, Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College Library, Stillwater; and Orva Henkins, Public Library, Stillwater.—WINNIE ARNOLD

South Dakota—There were eleven Illini attending the State library Association meeting, and ten of them were present at an informal get-together luncheon at the Sylvan Lake Hotel in Custer State Park on October 14. None of our group had been present at the San Francisco meeting so we were glad to have our news about the Windsor Fund. Mr. Stallings and I had attended Summer School so we had lots of Illinois news to pass on to the rest. Those present were: Chester H. Linscheid, Harris D. Stallings, Ella McIntire, Lora E. Crouch, Della M. Haft, Ruby H. Mauch, Ruth E. Bergman, Mary F. Parmelee, Maud R. Carter and Caroline Orvis.—LOIS CROUCH

Tri-State Meeting—Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin held a meeting at Milwaukee, but there was such a crowd and such a multiplicity of meetings that it was impossible to have a satisfactory Illinois reunion. At the Banquet, Michigan and Illinois shared a table. At the end of the dinner the Chairman asked Alumni of various schools to stand.—AMY MOON

Virginia—There were too few Illini present to have a reunion and every one seemed to be commuting back and forth and not staying at the hotel. We did get together for a talk about Illinois however—our group consisting of Charles Flack, Tom Ayers, Mae Graham and myself. We were much interested in the news about the Windsor Fund and were delighted to know that Mr. Windsor will stay on for another year. Mae Graham was elected first vice-president of the association for next year.—CHARLES H. STONE

Kathryn Adams of the order department of the Kansas City Public Library is an assistant editor of Library Staff News published by the Kansas City, Missouri Public Library staff.

Ruth Bergman of the catalog department of the University of South Dakota was in charge of the school and college section in preparation for the annual convention of the South Dakota Library Association.

Dorothy M. Black, reference assistant of the University of Illinois Library, gave a paper on "Methods used in evaluation of subscription books" before the Illinois Library Association in November.

Paul J. Burnette of the reference department of the Southwest Teachers College, Springfield, Missouri has been elected chairman of the Missouri Junior Members, and so is a member of the executive board of the Missouri Library Association. He is also vice-president for 1939-40.

Grace A. Campbell in charge of the documents division of the Oklahoma A. & M. College was secretary-treasurer of the Oklahoma Library Association for 1937-39.

Mary H. Clay, librarian of the Mary Hardin-Baylor College, has been asked to be one of a group of college and university librarians who have been asked by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to prepare a set of practical criteria for the measurement of the adequacy of college libraries. Her special work is to assist in ranking by subject a provisional list of reference tools and another list of periodicals according to their importance for use in college libraries.

Will H. Collins, librarian of the Akron Public Library, conducted a publicity consultant service at the Ohio Library Association meeting. He was also chairman of the nominating committee.

Lois Crouch, librarian of the State Teachers College, Wayne, Nebraska, was chairman of the Scholarship committee of the Nebraska Library Association and gave quite an extensive report based on the results of a questionnaire before the meeting.

Lora Crouch, librarian of the Mitchell, South Dakota Library, gave the report of the Federal Relations Committee before the South Dakota Library Association. She also gave a talk on the Library Inventory and is a member of the Association planning committee.

Arthur Curry, state supervisor of the Texas Library Service Project, spoke before the Oklahoma Library Association on "The Library Profession."

Myrtle Deason is chairman of the certification committee of the South Dakota Library Association.

Virginia Ebeling, cataloger at the Ohio County Library, Wheeling, West Virginia, was elected president of the West Virginia Library Association at their meeting in October. She has already served as treasurer and vice-president.

Edith M. Foster, project supervisor of Nebraska's union catalog, spoke before the Nebraska Library Association on their work.

Hoyt R. Galvin of the Regional Library Extension Department writes, "A considerable portion of my time during the past year has been occupied with state library activities. We have secured the passage of a Bill establishing a Public Library Service Division (Alabama's first agency). I am serving as President of the Alabama Library Association, and I was recently appointed by the Governor as Chairman of the State Board for our new Public Library Service Division. I have felt that a functioning state agency could be the best insurance for the permanent functioning of our Regional program, and I have consequently felt justified in spending time in this work."

Louise Winn Getchell of the catalog department of the University of Maryland is the Maryland representative on the Executive Board of the Maryland, Virginia and D.C. regional group of catalogers.

Myron W. Getchell, associate editor of the Decimal Classification at the Library of Congress, is also teaching two courses in Classification during the summer at Catholic University. On the occasion of the death of Miss Fellows, he wrote an appreciation of her work which appeared in the Library Journal and Wilson Bulletin—it has also appeared in a Japanese translation in the official organ of the Young Japanese Library Association, Toshanken, Kenkyu.

Bernadine Glaser, area supervisor, district No. 2 state-wide W.P.A. Library project took part in a panel discussion at the Nebraska Library Association.

Mae Graham, assistant professor of library science at William and Mary College, was elected first vice-president of the Virginia Library Association for 1939-40.

Alma E. Grass, served as chairman to the southwest district library meeting of the Kansas Library Association which met at Larned, Kansas on April 15, 1939.

Dorothy J. Hill of the catalog division of National Archives sounds very busy—"We have started our seminars in the various divisions for the fall and winter sessions. I gave a report on reference sources used for various types of films and recordings. I also reported in the department of Commerce Archives on the type of records that the division of Cataloging made for the Commerce collections. My law courses seem much more interesting this year and I enjoy my association with the legal people in the University."

Ruth Heiss now on the staff of the Indianapolis Public Library was a speaker at the panel discussion "Should library extension be handled by a single state agency" at the San Francisco conference.

Mary Elizabeth Hinkley is in charge of a series of weekly broadcasts for the Springfield, Missouri Public Library.

Selma Hogenson, librarian of Augustana College, gave a talk on the Orientation Course in the Library before the South Dakota Library Association. She was Vice-President of the Association for 1938-39.

Alma Hook, head cataloger at the University of Maryland, is chairman of the Regional Group of Classifiers and Catalogers for that section of the country.

Leona Krehbiel was in charge of the college section of the round-table meetings of the South Central District meeting of the Kansas Library Association in Newton, March, 1939.

Lucy Lewis, director of libraries for the Oregon state system of higher education, acted as a consultant in the clearing house for library problems at the A.L.A. Conference at San Francisco.

Selma M. Lindem in July returned to the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, as librarian after a six-month leave of absence during which she organized a central library project for hospitals in New York City. The Junior League sponsored the project.

Miss Lindem assembled and catalogued the central library, and developed plans for volunteer service under Junior League auspices in a number of hospitals. She also assisted in organizing or reorganizing library service in ten hospitals, and with the cooperation of the United Hospital Fund of New York made a survey of library service in twenty-nine hospitals. She then gave volunteers an intensive training course in hospital library work. For nine years Miss Lindem has directed the library service at the Presbyterian hospital under the auspices of the woman's board. The board has built up a library of 7,000 volumes, and a bedside library service utilized by about 300 different patients each month.

Glen Maynard, librarian of Butler University, Indianapolis, writes, "A department of Library Science has been established here at Butler. The courses we offer are intended entirely for School librarians in order to meet the State requirement of library training for School Librarians."

Euphemia Nesbit of Wooster was chairman of the Junior Members Round Table at the Ohio Library Association meeting.

Margaret Oldfather of the catalog department, University of Ohio, gave a report on the check list of state documents at the Catalogers and Classifiers breakfast at the Ohio Library Association meeting. She was also co-chairman of the College and University Libraries section.

Grace Palmer, librarian of the Teachers College, Springfield, Missouri, is carrying on an appraisal of the resources of the library. Her methods are unusual and have attracted much interest from other libraries.

Mary Parmelee, librarian of Watertown, South Dakota, was secretary-treasurer of the South Dakota Library Association for 1938-39. She also gave a talk before the Association on the Black Hawk County Book Truck.

ALUMNI NEWS

Louise B. Krause, 1897-98, who was librarian of the H. M. Bylesby & Co. Library, Chicago, has retired and is now living at 724 Boston Street, Covington, Louisiana. She writes, "I am still a very active person and have all kinds of nice things to do. I am living with a friend and we have a house, and garden space for one of my hobbies. This is a peaceful little town, very pretty, and the bus makes three trips each day to New Orleans, where I have many friends. New Orleans is a lovely old town and I like it better than any other city. There are many library interests in Louisiana to keep me professionally interested."

Blanche Seeley, B.L.S. '00, died in Minneapolis on November 17th, 1939. She was born in Fredericton, New Brunswick, but was educated in Minnesota, receiving a B.L. degree from the University of Minnesota in 1896. She attended the University of Illinois Library School from 1898-1900. Her first position was in the University of Pennsylvania Library for a year; from 1902-05 she was a member of the staff of the John Crerar Library. In 1905 she became a member of the staff of the Minneapolis Public Library and for the past twenty-five years she had been head of the branch division of that library. Miss Seeley was very successful in her work and was especially liked and respected by those who knew her.

Edna Lucy Goss, B.L.S. '02, formerly head of the Catalog Department of the Library of the University of Minnesota, died August 16, 1939. The following brief appreciation was written by her friend and former colleague, Amy Moon:

"She was born in Plano, Illinois and attended Morgan Park Academy and received her degree of B.L.S. in 1902 from the University of Illinois Library School. She was reference assistant in the University of Illinois Library from 1902-1903 and was librarian of the Illinois State Laboratory of Natural History from 1905-1906.

"Miss Goss held cataloging positions in several libraries, the University of California Library, Bryn Mawr College Library, John Crerar Library, Stanford University Library and the University of Minnesota Library. Her longest period of service was fifteen years as Head of the Catalog department of the University of Minnesota Library.

"It is with a feeling of deep regret and sorrow that we record the death of Miss Goss. She was very dear to her many friends and her fine character was much appreciated by all who knew her.

"As a librarian she ranked high in the profession. She was a true bibliographer and scholar, with a thorough knowledge of cataloging and classification and the languages, also with an excellent administrative faculty.

"Miss Goss was a member of the American Library Association and was Chairman of the Catalog Section from 1916-17. She took an active interest in various local and state library organizations. She gave several papers and addresses at meetings of these organizations, many of which were issued afterward in library publications.

"The library profession has lost a member of rare ability and admirable character in the death of Edna Goss."

Beatrice H. Holt, B.S. '27, M.A. '32, assistant professor at the School of Librarianship, University of Denver, wrote in a recent letter:

"I had a most exciting spring and early summer. I sailed for Europe early in March on the German luxury liner Europa, arriving in time for all the Czechoslovakian trouble; then in April I found myself in Italy when Albania was taken and helped (?) celebrate the event in Florence. On May 1st in Germany, National Socialist party day, after listening to Hitler's speech, my Nazi friends entertained me by taking me to the famous beer cellars and gardens and all of the night clubs of the city. It was an experience which will never come again and which I don't care to have again. At times I was really scared inside but I pretended to be very brave. I was all alone on my adventure and perhaps it was for that very reason that I got into homes of the people in nine different countries. Wasn't that wonderful? The war now is breaking my heart for the friends I made."

Mr. Boorkman was recently married to Ruth Ellen Reuss, S.S. '38, who resigned her position as branch librarian of the Lincoln Branch of the Public Library at Aurora, Illinois.

Amie Alice Burnham, B.S. '38, was married to James Francis Martin of Toronto, Ontario, on September 9, 1939, in Chicago, Illinois. Mrs. Martin will continue working in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Martin may be addressed at Building 12, Veterans' Administration Facility Hospital, Hines, Illinois.

Gilbert L. Campbell, B.S. '38, who was formerly assistant in the School of Mines and Metallurgy Library at Rolla, Missouri, has been made acting librarian of the school.

Paul T. H. Chen, B.S. '38, received an M.A. in Sociology at Drew University before returning to China, and is now librarian of the Nanking Theological Seminary, 128 Museum Road, Shanghai, China.

Mary Edna Colby, B.S. '38, resigned her position at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, at the close of the school year in June, 1939. On September 23 she was married to Richard Roy Little. Mr. and Mrs. Little are living at 1005 South 6th Street, Champaign, Illinois, and Mr. Little is employed by the Illinois-Iowa Power Company.

Estrilla M. Daniels, B.S. '38, has resigned her position as librarian of the Public Library at Pomeroy, Ohio, to become the librarian of the Township Library at Mentor, Ohio.

Madlyn Emily Hayward, B.S. '38, was married at her home in St. Louis, Missouri, to Harold Walton Tucker, B.S. '38, Sept. 16, 1939. Mr. Tucker is an assistant in the Science and Industry department at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Maryland. Mrs. Tucker will be an attendant at the Information Desk of the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Maryland.

Marie Frances Kelly, B.S. '38, resigned her position as an assistant in the Foreign Language Library at the State University of Iowa, to accept a position as an assistant in the Circulation department in the Wayne University Library at Detroit, Michigan.

Elizabeth Franklin Loeffler, S.S. '38, was married to Mr. Edwin McMunn Swengel on June 10, 1939. Mr. and Mrs. Swengel are living at 507 West Illinois Street, Urbana, Illinois.

Ruth Reuss, S.S. '38, resigned her position as branch librarian of the Lincoln Branch of the Public Library at Aurora, Illinois, to be married to Charles John Boorkman, Jr., B.S. '38, who is librarian of the Public Library at Quoddy, Maine.

Marjorie D. Smith, B.S. '38, resigned her position in the catalog department of the State University of Iowa Library at Iowa City, Iowa, to accept a similar position in the catalog division of the University of Washington Library at Seattle, Washington.

Harold Walton Tucker, B.S. '38, assistant in the Science and Industry department at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Maryland, was married on September 16, 1939 to Madlyn Emily Hayward, B.S. '38, at the bride's home, 551 Warren Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri. Mrs. Tucker will be an attendant at the Information Desk at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Maryland.

Marian Van Sickle, S.S. '38, resigned her position as teacher-librarian of the Sandwich, Illinois Township High School, to be married August 28, 1939 to Roy J. Hendricks. Mrs. Hendricks has a position in the Yale University Library and Mr. Hendricks is studying there.

Else M. Wild, B.S. '38, has recently accepted a position as General Assistant in the Public Library at Royal Oak, Michigan.

Ruth L. Verwey, S.S. '38 and '39, died from a cerebral hemorrhage in Champaign, July 10, 1939, while attending summer session at the University. Miss Verwey had been a teacher-librarian in the Mattoon, Illinois Senior High School since 1936; for several years before this she had been on the staff of the Armour Institute Library.

Pearl E. Amundson, S.S. '39, has accepted the position of assistant librarian at the Morningside College Library, Sioux City, Iowa. Miss Amundson was formerly a teacher-librarian in the high school at Kansas, Illinois.

Lucile Huntington, M.A. '39, had lots of variety last year, changing from the University of Illinois Library to the State Teachers College at Kearny, Nebraska in February, then in the summer she accepted a position at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina.

Frances E. Elliott, B.S. '39, who was employed as an assistant in the catalog department of the Muncie, Indiana Public Library, has accepted a position as assistant in the catalog department of the Ohio State University Library at Columbus, Ohio.

Ada Esther Wilkie, B.S. '39 (Mrs. William T. Cox). The news has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Cox are the parents of a son born early last spring. They are living at 218 Elmwood, Austin, Texas.

SOME OF THE AIMS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL

By CARL M. WHITE

An address to the University of Illinois Library School Association, Boston, June 23, 1941

One of the significant developments in the field of higher education during the last decade was the revision of standards for higher institutions by the North Central Association. The series of monographs entitled Evaluation of Higher Institutions is one of the most tangible products of this development. The significance of these monographs lies not entirely in their content but also in the fact that they represent a changed approach to measuring the performance of an educational institution. The former standards of the North Central Association, as of other accrediting bodies, implied, in the language of Dean M. E. Haggerty, "minimum conditions of acceptability, uniformity of pattern, and, too often, mediocrity of status." The new procedure presupposes a different conception of accrediting. It seeks flexibility, continued growth, accomplishment in terms of the ideals and objectives of individual institutions.

This new approach met a felt need, and prompt recognition of its value followed. Today in higher education we hear less of standards in the old sense of quantitative criteria of excellence and more of evaluation—that is, appraisal of educational programs in terms of the aims and objectives they are set up to realize. As one writer put it recently, there are two basic questions which need to be faced before a program can be justly evaluated: (1) what are the objectives of the program? and (2) what are the evidences that the program will attain these objectives? Failure to map out our objectives tends to produce confusion. Failure to make the program an implement for attaining the objectives agreed upon means inefficiency.

Conscious of the important role played by the University of Illinois Library School in professional education for librarianship in the past and eager to see it face the future with calm assurance that we shall at least not slip backward, I turned to the faculty at the beginning of the school year 1940-41 with the request that they tell me something of the problems, however minor, which in their judgment the School needs to be thinking about at present and something of their hopes and dreams for the School's future. When these faculty memoranda came to my desk, related matters were thrown together, and the results were five single-spaced pages of topics and questions proposed for study. Following are random samples of questions raised:

What can we do about enlisting recruits which meet the specifications of the profession? Can we get any better idea than we now have as to what these specifications are? Can we obtain from placement agencies, including our own library school, an indication of the kinds of library service for which Illinois ought to train most of its students? Can we train equally well for all types of positions and, if not, what is to be the basis for specializing our work? Is the course load carried by library school students reasonably well adjusted or is it too heavy? How much ground should we attempt to cover with the first-year curriculum, and what should govern us in inclusion or exclusion?

These and other questions raised the more fundamental question, what are we trying to do? What goals are we seeking to attain?

Our first step in dealing with our five pages of faculty comments and questions, therefore, was to assay a statement of fundamental aims and objectives. That is a task I assigned myself. I shall enumerate some of the objectives as they were outlined at one of our faculty meetings. I do so somewhat hesitantly. The statement is not as well-rounded or as detailed as I should like it to be. I stress now, as I stressed when I spoke to the faculty, the imperfections of the statement, and I invite you to help them and me consider thoughtfully the whole subject of what we are doing and what we ought to do. The following, then, are broad objectives set down for purposes of discussion and subsequent revision in the light of thoughtful criticism.

1. Maintain Keen and Steady Interest in Library Practice.

The work of a professional school should be practical, although the term 'practical' should not be interpreted too narrowly. A library school, as any other professional school, should not allow itself to lose touch with the field and become something apart, sheltered, enclaved, and self-contained. Rather the contrary. The library school should provide leadership and guidance in improving practice. Too often in adding up accounts a profession finds at the bottom of the ledger that its schools have lagged behind instead of leading the advance in professional practice. Finally, and by way of rounding out this side of the picture, a library school should prepare young librarians with the proper background and ability to take positions in the field with the minimum adjustment alike on the part of the employing library and the new employee—a task which with the increasing claims made upon the library school by the profession is becoming increasingly difficult to accomplish in a single year of study.

2. Provide for Systematic Study of Librarianship.

This aim should be thought of as the obverse side of the one just mentioned. The highest proficiency involves more than a mastery of specific methods and practices often so very necessary for prompt adjustment in the first position secured after leaving library school. Emphasis upon specific, practical ways of doing things was, of course, the strength and the weakness of apprenticeship and of the "training classes." I shall not dwell on the strength of apprentice methods and programs that bear the imprint of apprentice training. They have proved useful when the task has been primarily one of training to do a well-defined job with no questions asked as to what, if anything, lies beyond that job. They are not so useful in preparing for a full-length professional career spanning many years and embracing a variety of jobs. What sort of preparation is practical and what sort is not thus depends a good deal on the way you look at it—whether from the standpoint of the first year after graduation or from the standpoint of a lifetime. If we concentrate all of our attention on getting the young librarian ready for his first job, it may turn out that the training we give him is only theoretically practical for the years ahead. Preparation for a career as librarian must, if it is to be practical in the long run, seek to acquaint the student with the accumulated sum of library experience. It must set forth the aims and the criteria of effective library performance. It must systematize the principles by which these aims can be achieved in practical situations; and it must, above all, cultivate that active and supple intelligence without which no profession is able to undergo the constant reconstruction that inner growth and social change require.

The library school of today is thus called upon to serve as a meeting ground of theory and practice. When we speak of psychological theory, musical theory, or cataloging theory, we are not singling out something completely divorced from practice, but rather that phase of a subject which involves basic principles, viewpoints and relationships. Breadth of comprehension and the critical poise that go with professional maturity cannot be attained apart from familiarity with such basic considerations. To paraphrase a famous maxim, "Theory without practice is empty; practice without theory is blind."

3. Uphold the Ideal of Service.

A distinction needs to be drawn here. Stress on the service motive has sometimes led to treating librarianship as a species of missionary endeavor dealing not with necessities of life, but with some of the "oughts" of life. An illustration may be found in the encouragement we give to the formation of the reading habit. Now it is true that people ought to read—as we are fond of saying—but why? It is hardly enough to say, "They ought to read because they ought to read."

No, a better approach is a functional one which sees society creating the instruments it needs to get its work done. The library is one such creation. As the social scene changes, demands made upon libraries and librarians change. But whatever its role at a given time, the library exists broadly to serve society, and it is in this sense and because of this fact that the ideal of service should be held clearly in view in all of the work of a library school. It is an idea which, to be realized, depends not simply on fine sentiments about the value of reading—worthy as these are—but upon an understanding of the modern world, of the place of the library in this world, of reader interests, means of satisfying those interests, etc.

4. Carry the Torch of the Literate.

Again a word of caution as to what I do not mean. Librarianship has often been accused—and justly—of being identified too closely with the literary tradition in the sense in which literature means belles lettres. Viewed in this light, the central function of the library is to collect the best literature, while the emphasis in training for librarianship falls on standards of literary criticism, personal acquaintance with works of literary merit and the best methods of securing their use.

This conception of librarianship is good as far as it goes. But it does not go far enough, and a training program that tacitly assumes it does goes wide of the mark and gives a mistaken emphasis.

Suppose we take a cord roughly eighty feet in length and let it represent the total span of time man is supposed to have lived on the earth. Ten inches from the end to the right let us suspend a stone inscription to indicate roughly the proportion of time during his earthly existence that man has been writing; one inch from the end let us suspend a line of metal type to indicate the proportion of time he has used printing as a substitute for writing by hand. Too much meaning should not be read into the illustration, but the facts back of it enable us to say that during most of man's long sojourn on earth he has been illiterate. Illiterate in the etymological sense that he has been without the use of letters. But the long span of his illiteracy is no less impressive than the close parallel between the span of written records and the span of civilization. The parallel is a reminder that Western civilization is largely the creation of those who use letters—written symbols—as a means of recording and communicating ideas. That is to say (dropping the first syllable of il-literate), civilization is largely the handiwork of the literate. When in the course of time these written records became sufficiently numerous, a new division of labor concerned with their protection and use arose—and librarianship was born.

Librarianship thus arose as a reflection of an effort to conserve human experience—essentially the same motive that produced and still produces books and libraries. The range of the librarian's interest, therefore, is as wide as the range of recorded experience; the 500's, 600's, or 900's fall as directly within his province as the 800's. Ours is not a responsibility for the status of knowledge in these fields; that belongs to the subject specialist. We are concerned rather with the literature of these fields and the status of knowledge as reflected in this literature. If I were to use a phrase which sums up the whole duty of the librarian, I should say it is not simply with the "backs of books" but with the career of the human mind. The librarian shares with those spiritually akin to him the honor and the responsibility of illuminating the world with the torch of the literate.

5. Aid in Creating Professional Literature of High Quality.

The practitioner in a profession is often obliged to give himself so completely to the task at hand that he has little or no time to create a deserving literature. The tendency has been present in the library profession as in others. In view of this fact, the library school has an opportunity, and also a responsibility, to encourage productive scholarship. In a few leading library schools, all of the essentials for fruitful scholarly contributions to librarianship should be found: a stimulating atmosphere where theory and practice meet, leaders of vision, clear historical perspective, sound scholarship, and suitable library facilities in library science and related fields with which to work.

6. Accept Regional Responsibilities.

I do not mean that the University of Illinois Library School should supply librarians for one region only. It is one of the national schools and should remain so. While we do not need many library schools which supply librarians to the nation as a whole, it is to the interest of libraries throughout the country to have at least a few.

But the state of Illinois and neighboring states in the Midwest and Upper Mississippi Valley have a special claim on the Illinois Library School. By acknowledging this responsibility, society may be saved the needless expense of duplicating expensive centers of training. It would be an advantage all the way around to have one first-rate library school carry the load for a region than to distribute that load between two or more second-rate library schools.

7. Spirit, Methods, and Standards Creditable to the University.

It would not be far wrong to say that the transfer of the Library School from Armour Institute to the University of Illinois set the pattern of establishing American library schools at American universities. But, on the whole, universities have received library schools faster than our library schools have risen to the occasion with what we might call a university level of performance. As early as the Williamson report and as late as the Munn and Munthe reports, we have been reminded of the fact that the presence of a library school on a university campus is not in itself proof that it is an integral part of university life. The lag is understandable. After all, ours is a young profession. We have made rapid progress considering the time we have had. But without dwelling on the past, if professional education for librarianship is to be distinguished from the narrow vocationalism that is sometimes associated with the term 'library training', the distinction must be earned by the schools which hold themselves to standards of performance which are creditable from the standpoint of the university.

8. Provide Opportunity for Professional Growth of the Faculty.

Regular teaching provides its own opportunity for growth. But if we are to overtake older professions which prepare their recruits at our universities, we cannot depend for faculty development on teaching alone. Instructors in our library schools need more opportunities than most of them now have for leaves for further study. A leave enables a scholar to take up residence at another institution where he is free from his regular responsibilities, where he can prosecute his studies systematically, where he can have competent guidance, and, last but not least, where he can have a healthy change of scenery for a while. In arranging leaves for most of those who teach in library school we are often faced with a vicious circle. These teachers need to continue their studies before they are able to compete successfully with other members of university faculties who seek leaves of absence, and yet they cannot present to university committees which recommend leaves proposals for the use of time that are as attractive as those presented by their more highly trained competitors on the university faculty.

9. A Well-planned Curriculum.

In the first place, the basic curriculum should be designed to meet the greatest professional needs of the greatest number of those we are to educate. But that question, "whom we are to educate" is sometimes troublesome. It is a question that is inseparable from conditions and needs in the field. In other words, library schools ought to educate the number and type of young people required to fill library positions that need to be filled. I do not wish to over-emphasize the relation between field requirements and the curriculum, but these requirements should be reflected in a well-planned curriculum.

There are two other principles in curriculum planning which may appropriately be mentioned on an occasion of this kind. Students come to library schools with noteworthy differences in educational background and practical experience. So far as practicable, these individual differences should be taken into account in planning their professional education. In the second place, the curriculum needs to be treated as a unit. The whole instruction program should be handled in such a way as to produce a well-rounded and unified experience for the individual student. It is easy for us to think of the curriculum in another way—as a collection of courses, each of which is separate and entirely distinct from the other.

We set out in September, 1940, to take stock and it was January before we got around to our tentative statement of aims and objectives. In the meantime, it had become clear that the faculty itself was too busy with the day-to-day work of the School to follow through and evaluate our program in terms of our somewhat hurriedly formed objectives, and so we decided to see what we could do in turning our disadvantages into an advantage. We turned to the Carnegie Corporation and pointed out that occasional systematic study of its program is a wholesome thing for a professional school and asked for a small grant with which to pay honoraria and travelling expenses of a small committee to come to Illinois and help us. The grant was approved. Keyes D. Metcalfe was selected to direct the study. John Dale Russell was selected to assist him. The Committee set to work in April. The study will not be finished until the spring of 1942. At first we planned to have a committee of three—two librarians and one specialist in the field of higher education. We decided in the end, however, that it would be better to have a committee of two and use the third honorarium to secure the services of additional special consultants as needed.

This is apparently the first time that a careful and somewhat detailed study of a single library school and its program has been undertaken. It is an expression in professional education for librarianship of the same efforts at self-evaluation and appraisal that is represented by the new accrediting procedures mentioned earlier. The profession in general may be interested in the study, but we do not care to have any fanfare about what is being done. Our main interest is centered in 1943. The Illinois Library School was founded in 1893. In 1943 we shall celebrate our fiftieth birthday. That occasion deserves to be celebrated by appropriate ceremony. However, we hope to be able not only to celebrate the achievements of one of the oldest library schools but to lay plans in the meantime which will insure its continuation as one of the best.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, CINCINNATI, OHIO, MAY 23, 1940 AT THE NETHERLANDS PLAZA HOTEL

The annual dinner and meeting of the Library School Association was held on the evening of May 23, 1940 in the Pavilion Caprice of the Netherlands Plaza Hotel, with 216 present. The committee in charge of the dinner, of which Mary Helen James of Western College was chairman, had made excellent arrangements for the accommodation of the group. The meeting was presided over by the president, Margaret Oldfather. After reports of the secretary-treasurer and the Endowment Committee, there was a roll call by classes.

Evelyn Schneider, second vice-president of the Association and librarian of the University of Louisville, greeted the alumni and gave an interesting account of the early settlement of the Ohio Valley and of social and cultural developments along the Ohio river. At the president's request, Miss Krieg then gave some news items about the Library School, after which she called on each member of the faculty present to rise.

Miss Grace Derby, chairman, reported that the committee to honor Mr. Windsor had decided to use the alumni gift of $3400 for a publication fund. Miss Frances Simpson then gave a brief talk, saying how pleasantly she remembered her long association with the Library School and how happy she was to be present on this occasion.

At this point the business of the Association was suspended in order that those present might listen to the special broadcast of the Town Meeting of the Air, on the subject of propaganda. At the close of the broadcast the meeting of the Alumni Association was resumed with a talk by Mr. Windsor, who was next called on by the president.

Mr. Windsor expressed his appreciation of the gift in his honor which he said he felt sure was given because of deep affection on the part of the alumni for the University and the Library School and which he knew would result in great good to the School. He spoke of the School's professional pride in the educational significance of the work done by its alumni and expressed confidence that the ties of loyalty between the alumni and the School would be strengthened with the years. What might have been a feeling of sadness at his last alumni meeting as Director was changed to one of satisfaction as he looked back over the years with a conviction of the success of the School's work. For, he said, if the alumni are successful, that work has been immensely successful. He looked forward to retirement while still in full strength and able to enjoy life. He then spoke of the problem with which the University had been confronted in choosing some one to carry on the work of the School and said he would now ask the president of the Association to call on two alumni to present greetings to the new Director, Dr. Carl M. White, and his wife.

Miss Oldfather first called on Adam Strohm, librarian of the Detroit Public Library, to greet Dr. White on behalf of the early alumni. Mr. Strohm expressed the belief that the foundation of the Library School had been well and firmly laid and said he would not presume to make any suggestions or demands, as he felt sure the future would take care of itself by safeguarding the past. He stressed the importance of maintaining a consciousness of change in library service and of preparedness for it, and mentioned particularly the need for training for special phases of library work, such as social sciences, fine arts, science, and adult education. "We will give Illinois our good will in the future as in the past," Mr. Strohm said. "We feel our new director will be a worthy successor and go forward with high spirit, and our alumni will give generously of themselves in his support."

Miss Margaret Hutchins, assistant professor of library science at Columbia University, was the next speaker. She said that about seven years ago she faced a certain class with a Ph.D. in it. She had never taught a Ph.D. before and felt rather nervous about it, but before long she found that Dr. White was the kind of student who would appeal to an instructor, that he had a great capacity and willingness to learn, combined with humility, and before the semester was over, she had earmarked him as a good candidate for Illinois. She felt sure he had the qualities which would make him a valuable leader.

Mr. Windsor then presented Mr. White, expressing confidence in the latter's ability and desire to conduct the affairs of the Library School and the Library so that they would both attain new heights professionally.

Mr. White said in response: "I am conscious of the considerable challenge which falls on my shoulders. I am not a speech maker but it gives genuine pleasure to my wife and me to think of joining the great Illinois family. We have many friends among the Illinois alumni and we have always felt the spirit of the Illinois group exerting its leadership in all sections of the country." He paid a tribute to his predecessor, Mr. Windsor, who he said, was retiring from a post he had made distinguished; that it was true of Illinois and Dr. Windsor that "an institution is the length and shadow of a man." He said that he would begin his new work depending on the cooperation of all and that though he was taking over the controls, it was an inspiration to feel that he would have the support of the old pilot, that he was going forward with the sincere cooperation of his comrades in the great adventure.

Mr. Windsor then asked Mrs. Windsor to present Mrs. White to the alumni. Mrs. Windsor said that thirty years ago when they arrived at Illinois, they had three little girls of their own and found a staff family of about twenty; whereas Mrs. White on arriving had only two little girls, but she would find a staff family of over one hundred. She gladly welcomed the Whites saying she was sure they would feel the loyalty of the alumni as they themselves had. She added that she and Mr. Windsor were not yielding their own places but felt that the Whites would make a place for themselves.

The report of the nominating committee was then presented and the following officers were elected: President, John S. Cleavinger; First Vice-president, Winifred Knapp; Second Vice-president, Dorothy Hill; Trustee of the Endowment Fund, Bertha Schneider; Secretary-Treasurer, Josie B. Houchens.

The meeting then closed and was followed by an informal reception for Dr. and Mrs. White and Dr. and Mrs. Windsor.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, BOSTON, MASSACHU- SETTS, JUNE 23, 1941 AT THE WOMEN'S CITY CLUB

The meeting was called to order by the President, J. S. Cleavinger. One hundred and forty-six members were present. As the local program committee had arranged that the members attend the Pop Concert immediately after the dinner, it was necessary to conduct the business part of the meeting while dinner was being served.

The minutes of the last meeting were not ordered read as they were printed in full in the News Letter.

In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Josie B. Houchens, the treasurer's report and that of the Windsor Publication Fund account were read by the acting secretary, Anne M. Boyd. At the request of the President a brief resumé was given by the acting secretary of the meeting of the executive committee held June 22 in the Statler Hotel.

The President, being also the chairman of the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship Fund Committee, read the report of this committee.

In the absence of Marie Hostetter, chairman, the report of the Nominating Committee was read by the President. It was moved that the report be accepted and that the secretary cast the ballots of the members for the candidates. This was unanimously passed. The following officers were elected for next year: President, Mabel L. Conat; First Vice-president, Donald W. Kohlstedt; Second Vice-president, Milton A. Drescher; Secretary-treasurer, Josie B. Houchens; Trustee of the Endowment Fund for three years, 1941-44, J. S. Cleavinger.

The President spoke of Miss Houchens' loyal and unstinting service as secretary-treasurer to the Association. The Association applauded heartily this expression of appreciation.

As there was no further business, the President turned over the meeting to Mrs. Helmer Webb whom the local program committee had invited to serve as toastmaster of the evening. Mrs. Webb presented Miss Laura R. Gibbs, chairman of the local committee, who graciously welcomed the Association to New England. The other members, Miss M. Winifred Knapp and Miss Eleanor R. Buchl, were also presented, and the committee was thanked by Mrs. Webb, in behalf of the Association, for the splendid dinner and program that had been arranged.

Miss Simpson, introduced as "Exhibit A+" by Mrs. Webb, briefly recounted a few recent humorous experiences in Boston and then read the following letter from Mr. Windsor written from the Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago, Illinois, where he was convalescing from an operation:

Chicago, Illinois

Dear Friends, Library School Alumni:

Mrs. Windsor and I deeply regret the fact that my disability prevents our attendance at the meeting in Boston.

During the past months since my retirement from active service in the University of Illinois, we have travelled in thirty-three states of the Union and have called on or met with about one hundred and seventy of our former students.

We had hoped to round out this record by visits in the New England states and by seeing all of you at this Alumni dinner. Not to be there is a real disappointment, for our School dinner is always the high spot of the conference for us.

Our message to you, then, must be merely the warmest of friendly greetings and of hearty good wishes for each and every one, and we bespeak again for our successors, the Whites, who are so swiftly making their own place in the University, the same friendly loyalty you have accorded us for so long.

We are looking forward to future meetings.

Sincerely,

(Signed) P. L. WINDSOR

Mrs. Webb called upon Miss Krieg to give a brief account of the affairs at the school. Miss Krieg spoke of the encouraging situation regarding placement and increase in salary for the less experienced students. She also spoke of Dr. White's successful year as the new director and gave a message from the faculty in which appreciation of and loyalty to Dr. White were expressed. Miss Krieg was followed by Dr. White who gave the main talk on the program explaining his aims for the school.

The meeting was then adjourned to Symphony Hall for the Pop Concert.

Acting secretary

The investment of the principal of this Fund presented many difficulties as it was desirable to find some investment which would yield enough interest and yet give us a sound equity in a firm representing one of the really indispensable businesses of this country. We consulted several of the best investment houses and after further consultation among the Executive Board, it was finally decided to get 21 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Company at a price which would yield a little over 5%. The dividends and any money accumulating from further contributions will be set aside in a savings fund for the present, awaiting further decisions by the Association.

DIRECTOR EMERITUS WINDSOR AND MRS. WINDSOR

Upon his retirement in the summer of 1940 Mr. Windsor, with Mrs. Windsor, started out upon a leisurely motor trip through the Northwest, West and Southwest, returning to Urbana late in November. In February following they drove Southwest again as far as Oklahoma and Texas, there turning east and continuing their tour through the South, Southeast and East as far north as Mrs. Windsor's home in Lockport, New York. They returned to Urbana in June because of Mr. Windsor's illness, which necessitated his operation.

During their travels the Windsors sent back to the Library School and Library interesting bulletins regarding the many alumni and other friends by whom they were entertained or with whom they met.

On March 15, Mr. Windsor gave the chief address at the dedication of the new library building at Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania. His subject was: "The Library in the Land-Grant College or University."

Their friends in Urbana are glad to have the Windsors back at home once more with Mr. Windsor again in good health and frequently on hand at his office in the library for consultation with faculty, staff and students.

MISS KRIEG RESIGNS

Miss Amelia Krieg, Assistant Director of the Library School and Assistant Professor of Library Science has resigned to become head of the Catalog Department of the Seattle Public Library, effective January, 1941.

This news came as a surprise even to those who realized that Miss Krieg has retained a deep interest in the administration of a Catalog Department as well as in actual cataloging practice. The Northwest offers a particular attraction to Miss Krieg just now as her sister, Clarice Krieg, '33, has this fall accepted a position in Eugene, Oregon.

Seattle's gain of an experienced and highly efficient cataloger is Illinois' loss. The sincere good wishes of the Library School faculty, students, and alumni go with Miss Krieg to the new position.

LIBRARY SCHOOL NEWS

In September, 1940, Dr. Carl M. White, formerly librarian of the University of North Carolina, became Director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School. Since then he has found time, in spite of the many duties entailed in this joint position, to give several talks before regional and other library groups. This fall Dr. White has taken over the editorship of College and Research Libraries, the quarterly publication of the Association of College and Reference Libraries; Dr. Errett Weir McDiarmid, Assistant Professor of Library Science is the associate editor of this publication. Recently Dr. White was appointed consultant to the Library Service Division of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Rose B. Phelps, who has been on leave of absence during the first semester, 1941-42, to continue work toward her Ph.D. degree at Chicago University will resume her teaching at the University of Illinois, in February, 1942. During Miss Phelps' absence, Gwladys Spencer, who received her degree from the Chicago Graduate Library School, has charge of her classes.

Courses for the teacher-librarian are being taught for the first time in the regular school year by Miss Alice M. Lohrer, B.S. in L. S. University of Illinois, formerly librarian of the Hinsdale, Illinois, High School. The background for this course was laid in October, 1940, when Dr. White and Dean Thomas E. Benner of the College of Education, appointed a joint committee from the faculties of the two schools to study the relation of the University of Illinois to the problem of the training of the teacher-librarian. As a result of the recommendations of the committee, a well rounded program in Library Science for teacher-librarians was first offered on an undergraduate basis, during the summer session of 1941; the instructors were Miss Lura E. Crawford, B.S. in L. S. University of Illinois, librarian of Gage Park High School, Chicago, and Miss Ada Mae Wood, B.S. in L. S. Columbia University, librarian of Lake Forest, Illinois, Public Schools.

Alumni will doubtless be happy to learn that in September, 1941, a full time librarian was for the first time assigned to the library of Library School. This position is being filled by Miss Frances E. Hammitt, formerly assistant librarian and instructor in library science at Pennsylvania State Teachers College, Kutztown, Pennsylvania. Miss Hammitt is a graduate of the School of Library Service, Columbia University, and has a master of arts degree in political science from the University of Cincinnati.

Prior to the creation of this new position the collection had suffered from the fact that the various Library School assistants assigned to the task had been unable to devote sufficient time to keeping records complete and accurate, attending to the binding, and especially to the selection of material. Now that departmental library status has been attained, with the full time librarian in charge, it will be possible to maintain a well-rounded, live collection of professional literature which will be more readily accessible to faculty, students, and staff members.

KATHARINE L. SHARP SCHOLARSHIP

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship for 1941-42 was awarded to Katharine Louise Kinder, A.B., Miami University, who received the degree of B.S. in L. S. from Columbia University School of Library Service in 1936. Miss Kinder, whose home is Rockford, Ohio, is on leave of absence from Williston Memorial Library, Mt. Holyoke College where she has been head of the circulation department and readers' adviser since June, 1938. The general subject of her research at the University of Illinois is the rate of promotion among library workers.

THE NEWS LETTER

With the growth in the number of alumni, it becomes increasingly difficult for the editors of the News Letter to keep posted as to their activities. Your cooperation is earnestly requested if the Letter is to fulfill its purpose. In the past, the Secretary of the Association has been editor of the publication. With this number, two assistants have been called in, Dorothy Black and Eunice Collins Mohr. It is the hope of the editorial committee that letters will be issued with more regularity after this, probably in November and May.

While the editors will be vigilant in collecting news items, the information as to alumni publications and alumni professional activities must come largely from the alumni themselves. Please send to the Secretary of the Association notes concerning periodical articles, book notices, newspaper clippings, programs giving the topic of your papers, or other items regarding alumni which come to your attention.

ALUMNI NEWS

Nellie E. Parham, 1897-99, who had been librarian of the Bloomington, Illinois, Withers Public Library, for forty years, retired Oct. 1, 1940. Of Miss Parham, who was one of the outstanding library leaders of Illinois, the Bloomington Pantagraph said in its editorial columns:

"Miss Nellie E. Parham has achieved a notable record—one without parallel—in the cultural life of Bloomington . . . she has served through all these years as a sympathetic counsellor of this community, including youths and adults, in their reading habits . . . Miss Parham is a great librarian, and beyond that a broad minded, helpful member of the community. In her coming retirement she will carry the appreciation of every citizen."

Renee B. Stern, 1897-98, died in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, May 19, 1940. Miss Stern was at one time on the staff of the Chicago Public Library, and was known as an editor, writer, and lecturer.

Elizabeth M. Davenport, B.S.'40, resigned her position as secretary in the Catalogue Division of the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., to sail for Cape Town, South Africa, where she was married to Basil Wrigley Wilson on February 27, 1941. In an interesting letter Mrs. Wilson tells of their motor trip along the Indian Ocean to their new home in Johannesburg. Of libraries in South Africa she writes:

"Undoubtedly you'll be interested in a bit of first-hand information, however trustworthy it may be, about libraries, but the Johannesburg Public Library is the only free one, and that for only a year and a half. One afternoon I barged into the librarian's office, and had a nice chat with Mr. Kennedy, the librarian, who had Miss Smith, a cataloger, show me around the building, about 8 years old, with an African museum and geological exhibition on the top floor. In their reference collection were many books we'd studied at Illinois—including the latest W. P. A. State Guides. The books on open shelves in the main reading room were classified according to Dewey, and the first 3 letters of the author's name, with a classified catalog, and an author and the title catalog separate—a rather unsatisfactory arrangement. The children's department and the municipal reference department were in separate rooms, as well as committee rooms, staff room where tea was served at 11 and 3:30, music room, study rooms, large lecture room and a library theater. At present they're collecting books for the troops, and last December opened up their first native libraries. On another day Mr. Kennedy invited me to lunch with Miss Smith, Mr. Johnson, a young American from Springfield, Massachusetts, in charge of the native libraries, and himself. That afternoon we inspected a bookmobile in action in the suburbs and the native libraries. Mr. Johnson went to Moody Bible Institute, then went out to Africa to do Sunday School work, which dissolved when war broke out. Mr. Kennedy put him in charge of these branches because he knew how to work with natives and was sympathetic towards them, not because he knew anything about libraries. Mr. Kennedy had previously been in London libraries and toured the States in 1938 to study branch libraries. He modestly attributes his ability to get more out of the City Council for the library budget than he asks for to tips he was given in the States. The other library I visited was the Witwatersrand University Library in the city, where I had tea one afternoon with Mr. Freer, the librarian—a thing I'd never dream of in the States! He too had visited our libraries on a Carnegie grant at the turn of the 30's, to get an idea of library architecture, as their old library had burned. They go according to L. C. cataloging and classifying rules, and find it convenient to order from L. C. sheets, because the books and cards arrive about the same time. Both libraries find it cheaper to have their books sent to England to be rebound, than to have them done in South Africa. Miss Hartman, assistant to Mr. Freer, had also toured America and Canada. Mr. Freer is revising the 1927 list of scientific periodicals in the country, a particularly valuable piece of work because mining is so important here. Leaders in the library field are shifting their gaze from England to the States as a pattern to follow, but this is still a new country and has a long way to go. Books are expensive, even though there isn't any duty on them. Craven's Art Masterpieces costs approximately 17 dollars in book shops here. It's much cheaper to wait for Colonial editions published in England or American best sellers, than to buy an American edition.

"Illinois is very dear to the hearts of both Basil and myself, and we'd be pleased to hear from any of you. We're planning very strongly on a trip back after the war. "Cheerio" from south of the line,

FOR THE LOST AND FOUND DEPARTMENT

Lost: The President's file of Alumni records. The Secretary-Treasurer writes, "There used to be a good deal of material which the outgoing President was supposed to send on to the incoming officer, but it must be lost, or probably is reposing forgotten in some President's archives." Will anyone who finds these records kindly send them on to me, and "no questions asked!" Reward offered: the undying gratitude of this President and all that follow.

MABEL L. CONAT

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

GREETINGS, FELLOW ALUMNI:

We have some good news which I know you will all appreciate! Dr. White, our new Director, is greatly interested in having the Alumni News Letter placed on a sound footing, and is making plans looking toward its regular publication at least twice a year.

To do this, however, your cooperation is very much needed—news + dues will help do the trick! And that reminds me. Someone who was asked what the difference was between a graduate and an alumnus replied, "a graduate takes his diploma and leaves, while an alumnus buys his football ticket and comes back." Well, in the Library School, he buys his ticket to the Illinois dinner at the annual A.L.A. conference; he takes an active interest in, and responsibility for, the welfare and prestige of his school; and he pays his alumni dues. (Maybe you have forgotten that the annual dues are $1.00 and a life membership is $25.00, with five years to pay it? What a bargain that is for you young alumni!)

Do you know that the year 1943 marks the fiftieth anniversary of the Library School? Plans are being laid for its celebration and they will be announced at the Illinois dinner next June.

We hope that you are all planning to attend the meeting at Milwaukee and that you will take an active part in our discussions.

Cordially yours,

MABEL L. CONAT, President

THE LIBRARY OF THE
DEC 30 1931

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

DR. ERRETT WEIR McDIARMID has been offered the position of Assistant Director of the University of Illinois Library School and President A. C. Willard has approved the appointment, which is to become effective September 1, 1942. The Assistant Director will succeed Miss Amelia Krieg, who resigned the post of this year to become head of the Catalog Department of the Seattle Public Library.

Dr. McDiarmid is a graduate of Texas Christian University with the class of 1929. The following year he received his A.M. from the same institution. In 1931 Emory University granted him a B.A. in Library Science. He also holds a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago, awarded in 1934. From 1934 to 1937 he was librarian of Baylor University, joining the staff of the University of Illinois Library School in 1937. As Assistant Professor he has been in charge of classes in library administration, and during the past semester has headed the school's committee on instruction. From March 1 to September 1, 1941, Dr. Mc-

ERRETT WEIR McDIARMID
Named Assistant Director

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS BULLETIN

VOL. 39

MAY 19, 1942

Entered as second-class matter December 11, 1912, at the post office at Urbana, Illinois, under the Act of August 24, 1912. Acceptance for mailing at the special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized July 31, 1918. Published weekly except for vacations and holidays.

Diarmid was on leave of absence from the University to make a study of administrative organization in American public libraries, under a grant from the Carnegie Corporation. The results of this study will be published shortly. The American Library Association published his book, The Library Survey, in 1940. Dr. McDiarmid is Managing Editor of College and Research Libraries. His work with various committees of the A.L.A. has given him a wide acquaintance with those in the profession which, coupled with his demonstrated research ability, make him an admirable choice to assist Director Carl M. White in steering the work of the Illinois Library School in so critical a period. The new Assistant Director is married and has a small daughter, aged three.

"I think the Library School will be indeed fortunate if it can secure the services of Dr. McDiarmid as Assistant Director," wrote Miss Mabel L. Conat, President of the University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association, on hearing of the possibility of Dr. McDiarmid's appointment. "Dr. McDiarmid is a young man of high standards of scholarship and professional attainment who has already made significant contributions to his profession. Endowed as he is with considerable research ability and with his experience in scholarly fields, he would seem to me to be a happy choice for the appointment as Assistant Director."

From the President of the American Library Association, Charles H. Brown, Librarian of Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, comes the following estimate of the new Assistant Director: "For three years I have worked with Dr. McDiarmid, who was first a member of the A.L.A. Third Activities Committee and later Chairman of the A.L.A. Committee on Constitution and By-Laws. My opinion of him has steadily risen. His help and advice have been invaluable to me as President of the American Library Association. In view of his proved ability in research, in view of his sound common sense, I believe he should make an admirable head of any library school."

Dean R. D. Carmichael of the University of Illinois Graduate School comments enthusiastically, saying: "In personality, in professional training and experience, and in the successful pursuit of scholarly investigation, Professor E. W. McDiarmid is a colleague with whom it is a pleasure to be associated. He is mature enough for responsibility and is young enough to permit the expectation of highly useful service as Assistant Director of the Library School."

Miss Frances Simpson, Assistant Director, Emerita, expressed pleasure over the appointment in saying, "It was with real satisfaction that I learned recently of the selection of Dr. Errett Weir McDiarmid as Assistant Director of the Library School. Dr. McDiarmid is no stranger to us since he is completing a fifth successful year on our faculty, and also, since the first of January, has shared with Miss Boyd the duties of the office which he is about to take over. The Library School and the University are to be congratulated upon Dr. McDiarmid's appointment. As one who knows from her own experience something about this office, may I venture to congratulate 'Mac' on the interesting work which lies before him."

"Because of his ability, his gracious manners, and his excellent work in the field of Library Science, he has earned the confidence of his colleagues in the Library School and in the other Colleges and Schools on the Urbana Campus," writes Director Coleman R. Griffith of the Bureau of Institutional Research of the University of Illinois. He further states, "Under his leadership, the University community can look forward with satisfaction to the further development of one of its most important areas of educational service."

On receiving word of Dr. McDiarmid's appointment Director Emeritus Windsor wrote the following letter:

"To the Alumni:

I wish to add my own good wishes to Dr. McDiarmid as he takes over the Assistant Director's work, and to bespeak for him the loyal support you have always given the School. He has the personality and the professional qualifications which will, I believe, make for unqualified success in the work of the School and in relations with you, our alumni.

Cordial greetings to you all,

1942 Summer Session Program

The University of Illinois has adopted a twelve week summer term for 1942. There will be two terms of six weeks each, the first beginning June 8, and the second beginning July 20 and ending August 29. The Library School will conform to the general university policy and in addition to the two terms will hold an institute for librarians of public libraries on August 5, 6, and 7.

The program has been planned after a careful study of present library conditions and in view of the increasing need for professionally educated librarians. Alumni will doubtless be interested in the following announcement being made by the school.

The University of Illinois Library School announces an accelerated summer session program for 1942. Courses will be offered:

1) For undergraduates interested in teaching or in positions as teacher-librarians, permitting total credits of up to eleven semester hours.

2) For first year Library School students leading to the degree of B.S. in Library Science.

a) New students and students with 7 to 8 hours of credit may earn up to 12 semester hours of credit in 1942 and secure the degree by attendance in a total of three summers.

b) Students with 15 to 16 hours of credit may complete the work for the degree by attendance in both 1942 summer terms.

c) Students with 22 to 23 hours of credit may secure the degree by attendance during the second six weeks term.

3) For advanced first year students and students in the second year's program leading to the Master's degree. By attendance in both six weeks terms a total of three units of graduate credit may be earned, making it possible to secure the Master's degree in three summers.

Institute for Librarians of Public Libraries

A three-day institute for librarians and staff members of public libraries will be held August 5, 6, and 7. Recent developments in public library practice will be the subject of the Institute. Special attention will be given to the activities of public libraries in time of war. Rooms will be available at about $1.00 per day and meals should cost from $1.00 to $1.50 per day. No admission fee will be charged.

Recruiting of Library School Students

From all sides come indications of a possible shortage of professionally educated librarians within the near future. One estimate places the possible shortage as high as 1000-1200. Whatever the exact figure may be it seems clearer than ever that the University of Illinois Library School has a real opportunity to make an important contribution to the welfare of the country.

While more and more requests are continually coming in for librarians with all types of background, there are certain more immediate shortages. As might be expected the demand for librarians with scientific and technical backgrounds is much greater than the supply. With closer relations developing between the United States and Latin America, the need for librarians who can converse easily and fluently in Spanish is great. Reports from the American Library Association's Committee on Library Cooperation with Latin America call attention to several positions which it has been difficult to fill with properly qualified American librarians who can speak Spanish or Portuguese. More and more requests for librarians emphasize the importance of forcefulness, leadership, and personable qualities.

In recognition of the need for well-educated librarians the Library School has adopted an accelerated summer session program. In addition the School proposes to call to the attention of qualified college graduates the fine opportunities now emerging. Alumni of the School have always been devoted agents in recruiting, and now more than ever can make a contribution to the School and to the profession. But if success is to be attained a positive rather than a neutral attitude is needed. That is, each alumnus should regard himself or herself as a committee of one to discover young persons who give promise of success in librarianship, and call to the attention of these young people the opportunities ahead. The School will be grateful for suggestions or names of persons who might be interested, and who might appreciate a direct word, or further information.

The Placement Situation

Miss Anne M. Boyd, Chairman of the Library School Placement Committee reports on the employment situation as follows:

"The placement picture presents both an encouraging and a discouraging aspect. Encouraging, because the prospects are very good for desirable positions for every graduate in the first year class due to a larger number of positions and to a smaller number of graduates than for some years past. Salaries range from $1200 to $1500, depending upon experience. Discouraging—despite A.L.A. predictions of a shortage of 1500 trained librarians—because there are few notices coming to the School of positions offering $1800 or more. Since most of the Alumni who want to change positions are in this group, in addition to our graduate school students, there may be disappointments in store for many. Colleges and universities, especially, are having to cut salaries, to eliminate positions, or not to fill them, because funds have greatly shrunk in the past few months due to decreased enrollment and to new and expanded programs."

Library School News

During the second semester of the current academic year the Library School under Director Carl M. White has been in charge of two committees. Placement work has been handled by a committee composed of Miss Anne M. Boyd, chairman, and Miss Marie Hostetter, Miss Rose Phelps, Miss Mary Kinney, and Miss Frances Hammitt. The Instruction Committee in charge of applications, schedules, curricular changes, petitions and student relations has been in the hands of a committee headed by Dr. McDiarmid, other members being Miss Ethel Bond, Miss Alice Lohrer, Miss Mildred Singleton, and Miss Gwladys Spencer.

Changes in the Second Year Program

During the current year the faculty has been giving considerable study to strengthening the second year program leading to the Master's degree. Several faculty meetings have been devoted largely to this program. At a recent meeting two plans of study were adopted. Under one plan the student follows the usual program of work which culminates in the writing of a thesis involving investigation and research. A second plan has been provided for those students who need advanced study more than experience in research. Under this plan students will devote more time to subjects, both in the Library School and in other departments of the University, and will substitute for the thesis a paper or essay dealing with their major field of interest. Work in other departments of the University will be correlated with the work in the Library School. Under both plans, each student will work closely with a faculty adviser, best qualified to aid him in his chosen field of interest.

Considerable thought has also been given to specific courses, need to provide a wider variety, and balance of offerings at the second year level. Final decision has had to await the settling of certain budgetary questions, which because of war conditions are particularly difficult to resolve. It appears safe to predict, however, that the 1942-43 offerings will take a long step toward filling some of the present gaps.

Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship Award

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship has been awarded to Agnes Lytton Reagan. Miss Reagan is assistant, Agnes Scott College Library, Decatur, Georgia. She received her A.B. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1935, her M.A. degree from Emory University, 1936, and her B.A. in L.S. also from Emory in 1939.

After the applications were carefully studied by all the Library School faculty members, Miss Reagan's name was recommended to the Graduate School of the University of Illinois. She will begin her work at Illinois in September, 1942.

The Spring Inspection Trip

The 1942 inspection trip began April 6 and ended April 10. Although all students went to the Chicago area, two slightly different itineraries were planned, one for students primarily interested in college and university library work, and one for students primarily interested in school and public library work. All students visited the Evanston Public Library, the Chicago Public Library, Northwestern University Library, the American Library Association, and various other institutions. The "college" group visited Illinois State Normal University, LaSalle-Peru Township High School and Junior College, and Rockford College Library. The "school and public" group visited Hinsdale Township High School, Lyons Township High School and Junior College, La Grange, River Forest Public Library, Oak Park Public Library, and New Trier Township High School, Winnetka.

The trip this year was in charge of Miss Marie M. Hostetter and Miss Mary R. Kinney. Director White accompanied the group for the first few days.

Faculty Notes

Director Emeritus Windsor and Mrs. Windsor drove to Rockford, Illinois, May 1 to attend a dinner honoring Miss Jane Hubbell on the occasion of her retirement after fifty years as librarian of the Public Library. Miss Hubbell has been succeeded by Mary C. Bigelow, B.L.S.'10. With the Windsors went Professor Ethel Bond of the Library School, B.L.S.'08, and Theresa Gillett, B.S. in L.S.'31, M.A.'39, of the Catalog Department, University of Illinois Library.

Miss Frances Simpson, assistant director of the Library School, Emerita, has returned to Urbana after spending the winter months at Kappa Hearthstone in Winter Park, Florida. Miss Simpson had the misfortune to break her ankle while in Florida, but is now able to walk about with the aid of a brace.

Miss Marie M. Hostetter has been granted a leave of absence for the academic year 1942-43, during which time she plans to continue her study at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School.

Miss Helen Small, stenographer in the Library School, submitted to an operation in March. Alumni will be happy to learn that she is making a satisfactory recovery and is now back at her desk.

Library Film

Contact with Books is the title of a new motion picture designed to instruct the undergraduate student in the use of the library. It was prepared by a committee of University of Illinois Library staff members under the direction of Wayne S. Yenawine, M.A.'38, now assistant librarian, University of Georgia, and de Lafayette Reid, B.S. in L.S.'40. The filming was done by the University of Illinois Photographic Laboratories. The picture, on sixteen millimeter film, is equipped with sound, including background music and the voice of a narrator. While it depicts the University of Illinois Library in particular, the film is well adapted to illustrate the use of any college or university library. It may be borrowed by other libraries through the University's Visual Aids Service.

Alumni With Army and Navy

George B. Brown, B.S.'37, M.S.'40, has received a military leave from his position as assistant order librarian at the University of Illinois to report for duty, April 21, as a first lieutenant at Camp Wallace, an anti-aircraft training center near Galveston, Texas. He is engaged in instructional work.

The librarian of the Brooklyn Naval Hospital Library in Brooklyn, New York, is Eloise Givens, B.S.'40.

Marjorie Hall, B.S. in L.S.'40, who for a short time was assistant in the Binding Department of the State University of Iowa Library, at Iowa City, Iowa, has resigned to accept a United States Navy library position.

A member of the library staff at the Camp Callan Library in San Diego, California, is Louis Kenney, B.S.'40, who entered the army in the summer of 1941. This is the largest library in the ninth corps area and contains over 5,500 volumes. The librarian, Miss Rachel Dent, and six enlisted men form the library staff. Mr. Kenney has a military leave from his position as an assistant in the Engineering Library at the University of Illinois. He writes that fiction is most popular, including everything from mystery stories to the classics, but of non-fiction the mathematics books are most in demand.

Kate Palmer, B.S. in L.S.'32, has been granted a leave of absence from her position as high school librarian in Whiting, Indiana, to become post librarian at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Edward Ratcliff, B.S.'40, assistant in the Agriculture Library at the University of Illinois now on military leave, writes philosophically of army life. "Never before have I in so short a time been able to learn as many different things, most of them applicable to life outside of the military as in. The objectionable things are in no sense the more prevalent, and with reasonable flexibility and adaptability will prevent its being burdensome or unpleasant to the normal person. Most of the fellows I know are draftees . . . and morale is high." He mentions the great joy that mail call produces each day. His address is Battery B, 33rd Battalion, 8th Training Regiment, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Elizabeth Roper, B.S. in L.S.'39, resigned her position in the Department of Justice Library and joined the staff of the Naval Hospital Library of the Great Lakes Training Station in Waukegan, Illinois, on April 20, 1942.

Martin Schmitt, B.S.'39, suspended his graduate work toward a master's degree in journalism at the University of Missouri in February to enlist in the armed forces. He is serving on the Library Staff at the Army War College, Washington, D.C.

Sybil Tubbs, B.S. in L.S.'33, librarian of the United States Army Seventh Corps Area Library at Omaha, Nebraska, writes that she attended an Illinois alumni dinner where she had the pleasure of hearing President Willard and of seeing movies of the campus. She was thrilled by the beauty of the Illini Union.

Carl E. Welchner, B.S. in L.S.'35, holds the position of chief, Library Section (Director, Air Forces Field Technical Libraries) Headquarters, Army Air Forces, Washington, D.C.

One of the youngest camp librarians is Evelyn Young, B.S. in L.S.'38, of the library at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, according to a clipping sent in by Sybil Tubbs of the class of 1933, who also says Miss Young is doing a splendid job.

Class of 1935

An interesting letter from Lucile Huntington Wilkinson, written December 18, 1941, from her home at 3786 Anuhea, Honolulu, T. H., gave her friends at the University of Illinois Library a vivid picture of conditions there during the first air raids and the subsequent ten days. In part she says "... knew nothing until about 10:30 when the news was again broadcast. We were told not to use our telephones and to stay off the streets. Since I had to stay at home and wanted to keep busy I got out all the dirty clothes and washed them. I couldn't let a little thing like a raid on Oahu keep me from washing." She continues by telling about some of the actual damage done during the raids, and about the trenches dug in front of the library, where she was working part time. She says, "The patrons are coming back to the library as more of them get rooms blacked out and can read at night." Mrs. Wilkinson is now reorganizing the files of one of the army officials in Honolulu.

Mrs. Catherine McIver Rowland has resigned her position at the National Archives.

Election of Library School Association officers will be held at the annual dinner meeting June 24 in Milwaukee. The Nominating Committee is composed of the following members: Willia K. Garver, University of Illinois Library, chairman, Ruth Hammond, Wichita, Kansas, Public Library, and Ernest Miller, Technology Department, Detroit, Michigan, Public Library.

Word has been received as we go to press that Mr. Herman Henkle, Preparations Division, Library of Congress, will be the speaker at the Illinois Library School Association dinner.

Illinois Alumni Dinner

Wednesday, June 24

At the Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee

Greetings, Fellow Alumni:

We hope that you are coming to the A.L.A. Conference at Milwaukee, and that you will be on hand for the Illinois dinner the evening of June 24. The local committee, under the efficient chairmanship of Milton Drescher, our second Vice-President, has secured for us the Crystal Ballroom at the Hotel Schroeder (Headquarters Hotel), the largest and finest accommodation available. Don't disappoint their faith in Illinois loyalty; they feel sure we will turn out in large numbers in spite of the tire shortage. Put on your seven league boots and come! After you arrive in Milwaukee, be sure to sign up early for the Library School Dinner, and indicate your class after your name, as an effort will be made to arrange the seating by classes.

In the Treasurer's report for last year the statement that only twenty-seven dollars ($27.00) was received from the annual memberships caught my attention. I would like to think that all the other alumni had life memberships, but we know that this is not so. We all enjoy reading the "Alumni News Letter" and we miss it when it is not forthcoming. To keep it coming, keep the annual dues going to our Secretary-Treasurer!

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

University of Illinois Library School Fiftieth Anniversary

THE general committee appointed by the Illinois Library School Association for planning a program marking the fiftieth anniversary of the school met in Milwaukee June 24, 1942. The members of that committee are Phineas L. Windsor, Errett W. McDiarmid, Frances Simpson, Josie Houchens, Helen Crane, Grace Derby, Margaret Hutchins, Ruth Krueger, Margaret Oldfather, Ida Wright, Paul Dunkin, Metella Williams, and Ida Tod, chairman.

As the University of Illinois is planning to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding on March 2, 1943, our committee decided to celebrate our fiftieth anniversary on the same date, thus making it a double celebration for the Library School. Our tentative plans provide for a one-day meeting ending with a reception or dinner in the Illini Union. We hope many of you can arrange to be with us in Urbana at that time.

Because of conditions due to the war, Professor T. C. Pease, chairman of the University committee, informed us that their program will be limited to the holding of a University convocation and to the publication of the history of the University which is near completion.

It was agreed by our committee that a history of the Library School would be a valuable contribution to our program—not that it could be completed by March 2, 1943, but that it could be well under way by then. Mr. Windsor has accepted the committee's invitation to serve as compiler of the volume. He will be assisted in the work by an editorial committee.

Most of the historical facts for that history will be found in the University records, but the committee feels that much of interest can be contributed by the faculty and students who were connected with the School during those years. Letters have been sent to the faculty, and the committee hopes to reach all the alumni through this News Letter and the state committees.

The committee has divided the country into eight geographical areas, each in charge of a member of the general committee (see list below). A state committee with a chairman for each state will assist in collecting such data as will add color to the history, and which can be used as source material for it. These state and regional groups will be useful also in planning community or state celebrations, if desired, on March 2, 1943, or some time later, for those who find it impossible to be in Urbana on that date.

Such data as the following will contribute much to our plan: the Library School from the student viewpoint; the School curriculum; the part the School has played in preparing you for your professional career or for the work you are engaged in now; the influence the School has had in the nation-wide professional development and academic recognition of librarianship; its contribution to librarianship in foreign fields; your personal reminiscences of school days; and letters, news items, class and individual pictures, snapshots, and biographical sketches of alumni, both foreign and American. The committee would like to have this material early, at least by January 1, 1943.

If you have group or regional programs, the committee will welcome accounts of them, the alumni in attendance, the group picture, any newspaper publicity or reports, the number of alumni in the various libraries represented, etc. This material may be sent to the state chairman as soon as possible, or to the general chairman, Ida Tod, 908 West Nevada Street, Urbana, Illinois.

The general committee is eager to have personal reminiscences from as many former students as possible in order to give a human interest touch to the historical narrative.

The committee hereby extends a cordial invitation to all alumni to attend the celebration in Urbana. No individual invitations will be issued because of the wartime need for economy.

Plan now to be with us in Urbana on March 2, 1943.

IDA TOD, Chairman of the Committee

The geographical areas assigned to the following members are: Crane, Helen—N. Dakota, S. Dakota, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Derby, Grace—Kansas, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. Dunkin, Paul—Washington, D. C., Maryland, Virginia, W. Virginia, N. Carolina, and S. Carolina. Hutchins, Margaret—New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, and Massachusetts. Krueger, Ruth—Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, and Montana. Williams, Metella—Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. Oldfather, Margaret—Ohio, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Delaware, and Nebraska. Wright, Ida—Illinois (excluding Champaign-Urbana), Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Illinois Library School Association Meeting

Held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, June 24, 1942

The dinner meeting of the Association was held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Schroeder Hotel with Miss Mabel L. Conat, President, presiding. There were 183 alumni present. Mr. Donald Kohlstedt, Vice-President of the Association, called the roll of the alumni by classes. Miss Houchens, Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, then gave the Treasurer's report. She reported the receipt of only $129 in annual membership payments and $125 in life membership payments.

Miss Bertha Schneider, representing the trustees of the endowment fund for the Katharine L. Sharp scholarship, then gave the financial report sent by Mr. Cleavinger. She said that the trustees suggested that the sum of $300 be taken from the balance of the scholarship fund now on deposit in the bank for the purchase of U. S. defense bonds, series E. This was unanimously approved by the Association. She then made the request that the signature of the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Houchens, be made valid for the withdrawal of funds from the endowment account. At the present time Mr. Cleavinger's signature is the only one authorized for withdrawal. A motion was made to this effect and carried.

Miss Conat then reported on the discussion of the Executive Board meeting concerning the Windsor Publication Fund. She said they had decided to appoint two committees. The first committee would be the Editorial Committee to consider publications. The members of this Committee would be appointed for five years with a rotating membership. The Committee appointed was to consist of Mr. Windsor, Miss Grace England, Mr. Everett O. Fontaine, Miss Anne M. Boyd and Mr. Raymond Shove. The second committee would be financial, to control and administer funds. This Committee was to consist of Mr. Windsor, Miss Josie B. Houchens, and Mrs. Margaret Williams Jones. It was moved and seconded to appoint the committees as recommended and the motion was carried unanimously.

Miss Grace England, Librarian of the Downtown Library of Detroit and chairman of the Committee on the Windsor Publication Fund gave a report of progress under the following three heads:

Finances. The fund consists of $3,500 which the Committee agreed is not to be regarded as a permanent fund but is to be disbursed in a reasonable time. Both principal and interest may be used if necessary but it is preferred to keep it as a revolving fund.

Policies. The purpose is to encourage the publication of manuscripts as memorials to Mr. Windsor and to reflect credit on the University of Illinois Library School. Preference is to be given to Illinois graduates but graduates of other schools are not to be excluded.

Procedure. Every manuscript is to be examined by all members. A unanimous decision must be reached if by mail, or a majority decision if by discussion. All publications are to be in a numbered series. No decisions have been reached yet as to a particular publication. The Committee will hold in strict confidence any suggestions, plans, etc., which may be sent in.

Miss Ida Tod, Librarian of the Education, Philosophy and Psychology Library of the University of Illinois and Chairman of the Fiftieth Anniversary Committee, gave the report for the Committee. The Committee met on Wednesday, June 24. The following had been appointed by Miss Conat as members: Miss Tod, Mr. Windsor, Miss Simpson, Dr. McDiarmid, Miss Houchens, Miss Hutchins, Miss Oldfather, Mr. Dunkin, Mr. McComb, Miss Crane, Miss Derby, Miss Krueger and Miss Wright. These members had been chosen as representing all sections of the country and both old and recent graduates. Since the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Library School occurs in the same year as the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the University it had been decided to plan the celebration for the same time and to accept such a date as the University decided on. A plea was made to everyone to help in the planning of the celebration and in making contributions to the program for each state or locality. The Committee felt that they would like to use this occasion to publish a history of the Library School which should include contributions, reminiscences, evaluation of the School's educational program and influence on other library schools and on the library profession in the United States and other countries.

Mr. Ernest Miller, Head of the Technology Department of the Detroit Public Library, gave the report of the Nominating Committee: Miss Willia K. Garver, Chairman, Miss Ruth Hammond and Mr. Miller. They proposed the following slate: Miss Dorothy J. Hill, President; Miss Mary Silverthorn, First Vice-President; Miss Bon-Jean White, Second Vice-President; Miss Josie B. Houchens, Secretary-Treasurer and Miss Stella G. Trowbridge, Trustee of the Endowment Fund. The above named officers were approved and elected unanimously.

Miss Dorothy J. Hill of the National Archives in Washington and president elect was then introduced and spoke briefly. She urged that a fitting and proper celebration of the anniversary of the Library School should be planned and that the organization of the alumni should be stronger and more compact. She proposed to accomplish this through a better organization of classes and through regional groups. Miss Silverthorn and Miss White were present and were introduced. Miss Conat then introduced those seated at the speakers' table. Miss Frances Simpson, Assistant Director Emerita, was called upon to speak to the Association. She gave her personal greetings to her old friends, spoke briefly of her continued interest in the School and of how much she enjoyed being present at the dinner and seeing so many of her former students, and told some amusing anecdotes connected with her Florida sojourn which, because of a broken ankle, could hardly be called a vacation. Dr. Carl M. White, Director of the School, was then introduced and spoke briefly concerning the present situation in the Library profession. He said there is and will be a shortage of from a thousand to fifteen hundred trained librarians and that there were only thirty library schools to supply this demand, that the University of Illinois had had a decrease in enrollment of 21% over-all with a decrease in the Graduate School of 18% to 19% and the College of Law 27%. He told of the accelerated program planned for the summer school whereby students may receive their degrees of B.S. in L.S. in three summers instead of four. The Library program would be in two six weeks sessions with an eight weeks session planned for graduate students who had started on the old plan. He said the placement work for the class of 1942 was progressing satisfactorily. He then introduced Dr. Gwladys Spencer, the newly appointed Librarian of the Education, Philosophy and Psychology Library who will also continue teaching in the Library School. Miss Anne M. Boyd, who had served as chairman of the Placement Committee during the year; Mrs. Eunice C. Mohr, who with Miss Dorothy Black had served as editor of the News Letter; and Dr. Errett W. McDiarmid, new Assistant Director of the Library School, were also presented.

Miss Conat then introduced Mr. Herman H. Henkle, Director of Simmons College School of Library Science and President of the American Association of Library Schools, who had been asked to speak on the subject "Looking Ahead in Education for Librarianship." He said that there was an extensive amount of thinking being done about problems for education for librarianship and a strong effort was being made to find out what was wrong with the present program of instruction. He felt that while there had been much progress in a number of schools no library school had reached perfection. He called attention to the fact that there was a rapidly decreasing emphasis on skills with an increase in emphasis on objectives and principles, and that he felt there was a great need for increasing the emphasis on the knowledge of books and giving the student more chance for intensive use of these books.

Miss Conat then expressed the appreciation of the Association to the local committee, which consisted of Mr. Milton A. Drescher of the Science and Technology Department of the Milwaukee Public Library and Mr. Joseph W. Rogers, Chief of the Book Selection and Order Department of the Milwaukee Public Library, for their excellent arrangement for the dinner which was held in the most beautiful and spacious dining room in Milwaukee. She then declared the meeting adjourned.

KATHARINE L. SHARP SCHOLARSHIP FUND

June 7, 1941, to May 31, 1942

During the period an addition of $100 was made to the principal sum. Earnings on investments were $223.49. It should be noted that an additional $100, which is properly a part of the income for the present annual interval, was received before the closing of the books in 1941 and therefore included in last year's report.

After consultation with the officers of the Association, an additional share of American Telephone and Telegraph stock was purchased in July, 1941, at $161.23, and in August the option was taken up to purchase one debenture at $100. This is the only change made in the investment of the Association's funds during the period.

The Katharine L. Sharp scholar for 1942-43 has been appointed, and payment of $300 will be made to the University after July 1st.

The resources at present in the hands of the Trustees of the fund are:

JOSIE B. HOUCHENS, Treasurer

ASSOCIATION BUDGET, 1942-43

The attention of the alumni is called to the urgent need this year for additional funds to use for the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of the School. We are asking for an increase in annual memberships as an equable way to raise this money. The proceeds from this class of membership has not in the past three years been sufficient to pay for the News Letter and Dr. White has been generously subsidizing it from Library School funds. He has agreed to continue this plan for another year provided the Association will pay for the expenses of the anniversary celebration.

While it is difficult to determine in advance the exact amount needed for each item, the treasurer submits the following tentative budget as the minimum for our need.

Postage, publicity and clerical help.....	$150
Celebration expenses and speakers.....	200
Publication of History.....	450
Total	$700

We have about 2500 alumni. Surely an annual membership of 700 is not too much to expect for this occasion.

As we move more rapidly into war economy and transportation becomes more curtailed the celebration might have to be postponed, but any money collected for this purpose will be set aside for future use.

Adah Patton Memorial Fund Board, University of Illinois Library

Alumni friends of Adah Patton, B.L.S.'02, late catalog librarian of the University of Illinois, will be interested in the following report of the Memorial Fund Board comprised of Phineas L. Windsor (chairman), Carl M. White (member ex officio), Arnold H. Trotier (member ex officio, secretary-treasurer), Emma R. Jutton, and Amelia Krieg.

Urbana, Illinois

Annual Report for 1942

To the University of Illinois Library Club:

The agreement drawn up by this Club under which the original donors made possible the establishment of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund, provides that the Chairman of the Board shall make an annual report to the Club and send a copy of the report to the President of the University.

A year ago, the total assets of the Fund amounted to $2810.77; at the end of the present report year, the assets had increased to $2965.18. These amounts include both direct contributions to the Fund and accumulated interest earned on investments from the Fund. Of the total assets belonging to the Fund on May 13, 1942, $2237.22 represents the amount of direct contributions, and $727.96 represents the accumulated interest.

The action of the Club establishing the Adah Patton Memorial Fund provided that the income from the Fund should be expended for publishing in the general field of library science, but especially in cataloging, classification, and bibliography. In pursuance of this purpose, the Board has given its attention to the selection of an appropriate contribution in the field of library science. Of the various projects studied by the Board, one dealing with problems of uniform catalog entries for anonymous classics has been looked upon as especially appropriate and worth-while. The study has not as yet been completed, however; but the Board still hopes that it may be finished in time to become the first publication of the Adah Patton Memorial Fund.

There is attached hereto the annual report of the Secretary-Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted,

P. L. WINDSOR, Chairman

Library School Placement Records

The cooperation of all alumni in keeping the placement records of the Library School up to date is especially urged during this period when frequent changes in positions are being made. The importance of this both for the individual's own good and from the point of view of his professional obligations is illustrated by two recent incidents.

In the first case, a young woman recommended as a circulation assistant in a college library, a type of work for which she had asked to be considered, could not be located by the prospective employer. She had failed to notify the School of the address where she had taken a temporary position and so lost the opportunity of securing a permanent one.

In the second case a young woman had asked to be considered for positions at the salary she was then receiving or a larger one. She was recommended for three such positions. The School later learned, through the kindness of one of the prospective employers, that she had refused at least one of the positions. It developed that, in the meantime, the young woman had received a salary increase in her present position which caused her to be no longer interested in a change. Her failure to notify the School of this, however, had put the latter in the position of recommending a person not interested in the positions.

Promptness is desirable in informing the School:

1. When a new position is accepted
2. When any change occurs in one's employment status, particularly affecting one's availability, salary, changes in type of work, etc.

This is especially important in view of the fact that during the coming year there will be substantial changes in the nature and character of the placement records.

Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship, which carries a stipend of $300 and exemption from tuition, will be awarded by the faculty of the University of Illinois Library School in March, 1943. The award is made for the second year of study in Library Science. Application should be filed with the Director of the School, Dr. Carl M. White, Urbana, Illinois, before March 1. Application blanks may be secured upon request.

This scholarship was endowed in 1933 by the University of Illinois Library School Association as a memorial to the founder of the Library School. The present Katharine L. Sharp scholar is Agnes Reagan who completed her first year of Library School training at Emory University Library School, Emory University, Georgia. Since 1939 she has been on the library staff at Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia. Others who have held this scholarship are Lucy B. Foote, head cataloger, Hill Memorial Library, Louisiana State University, University, Louisiana; Donald W. Kohlstedt, librarian, Public Library, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Mary E. Silverthorn, assistant professor, Library School, Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario, Canada; Katherine A. Brose, head, Loan Department, Mills College Library, Mills College, California; Ruth M. Heiss, assistant, Science and Technology Division, Cleveland Public Library, Cleveland, Ohio; Felix Snider, librarian, East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, North Carolina; Marion Milczewski, in charge, Books for Latin America Project Sponsored by A.L.A., Washington, D.C.; Katherine Kinder, readers' adviser, Williston Memorial Library, Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Massachusetts.

Summer Session, 1942

In conformity with the general program of the University of Illinois, the Library School in 1942 offered a summer session of two six-weeks terms. Under this program students who needed two summers to complete their requirements for the degree were enabled to finish in 1942 while new students who stayed for the entire twelve weeks began a program which would make it possible to receive the B.S. in Library Science degree in three summer sessions instead of the former four that were required. A total of 139 first-year students attended during the summer while 78 of these attended for only one six-weeks period. This summer's graduating class was the largest in the summer session history of the Library School, 56 students completing all requirements and receiving their degrees as of August, 1942.

The University is attempting to make plans for its summer session earlier this year than last. Better preparations for the 1943 summer session can be made if the necessary preliminary action can be out of the way in the fall instead of the spring as was necessary because of Pearl Harbor last year.

Institute for Public Librarians

The first Institute sponsored by the University of Illinois Library School was held on August 5, 6, and 7 with the cooperation of the Illinois State Library. The general theme of the Institute was "Recent Developments in Public Library Service," and consisted of lectures and discussions. Those included on the program were:

Grace W. Gilman, librarian, Riverside Public Library

Leslie Brown, director, Adult Education, Lincoln Library, Springfield, Illinois

Helene Rogers and Charlotte Ryan of the Illinois State Library.

The meetings were held in the Illini Union and a total attendance of 85 was recorded. An interesting feature of the Institute was an exhibit of public library publicity collected through the cooperation of the Illinois State Library showing examples of library publicity from many libraries in the state of Illinois. Many comments received since the Institute have expressed the hope that it may be continued in future summers.

Class of 1943

On September 16, 1942, the Library School class of 1942-43 gathered for the first time to be welcomed to Illinois by Director Carl M. White. After a brief orientation program, including visits to the University of Illinois libraries, the class began its regular work which will culminate in May, 1943, with receipt of the degree of B.S. in Library Science.

As was expected because of the war, the 1943 class is smaller than in previous years. A total of 44 first-year students are registered as compared with 65 first-year students in the class of 1942. All of the class are women with one exception.

Enrollment in the second-year courses has also declined somewhat: 32 students are enrolled in the second-year work as contrasted with 35 students in 1941-42.

Three-Semester Plan Adopted

Just as the News Letter was going to press, the University Senate convened to decide whether the University should (1) continue the twelve weeks summer session, as in 1942, (2) introduce a summer semester equal in length to each of the two winter semesters, or (3) revert to our usual system of two semesters and an eight-weeks summer session. Earlier Senate action had ruled out a shift to a four-quarter system. The following plan was adopted by the Senate at its meeting on November 11. The Library School will, with other colleges and schools, start to work immediately on details of a program for the summer of 1943 on the basis of this decision:

1. That beginning in June, 1943, and for the duration of the war, the basic operation of the University shall be with three equal semesters, each semester to be sixteen weeks in length (including final examinations), and with a week's interval between semesters and a week's vacation at Christmas. We recommend that the summer session begin about the middle of June, as being a time which will make it possible for high school students from Chicago as well as from other areas to enter.

2. That a summer session of eight weeks shall be offered to run concurrently with the first half of the summer semester.

3. That in cases of University divisions or departments where the operation of a full 16-week summer semester would seem to be unwise or impracticable, Schools and Colleges may recommend to the Central War Committee that instruction in specified subjects be offered only in the 8-weeks summer session. The Central War Committee shall have the authority of determining procedure in these cases, in the light of local conditions and of such requirements as may later on be imposed by the Army and the Navy.

Faculty Notes

Director White spoke at a general session of the Minneapolis Library Association Conference in October, on professional education for librarianship with special reference to the University of Illinois Library School. He gave talks at meetings of the Minneapolis Library Association and the Illinois Library Association on the relation of books and libraries to the warfare of ideas.

Director emeritus Windsor is the subject of a biographical sketch by J. Christian Bay in the October, 1942, issue of Illinois Libraries—one of a series on "Five Illinois Library Leaders." Dr. Windsor and Mrs. Windsor enjoyed a summer vacation of ten weeks at Eagle River, Wisconsin, where they were joined for a part of the time by their daughter, Elizabeth, B.S.'32, M.S.'38, librarian of Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Dr.

Windsor reports that the fishing was good. He gave a talk on the University of Illinois Library before the Eagle River Rotary Club.

This fall the Windsors visited in Akron, Ohio, with their daughter, Mrs. Mary Frances Harding, and her family. While there they called on the John C. Settelmayers, recent arrivals in Akron, where Mr. Settelmayer is now associate librarian of the public library.

Assistant director McDiarmid is the author of an article on "The place of experience in developing college and university librarians" in the July, 1942, issue of Library Quarterly.

Miss Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, has fully recovered from the accident suffered last winter in Florida. She attended the A.L.A. conference in Milwaukee last summer. Miss Simpson is assisting with plans for the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration of the Library School.

Anne M. Boyd was one of the speakers at the Institute on Reference Work for Librarians in Service held at the University of Chicago in July. Her topic was "Personnel and training in reference work." Miss Boyd's book, United States Government Publications, was voted third among outstanding reference books of 1941 in a canvass of reference librarians throughout the country conducted by the Wilson Bulletin, according to a report in the latter's June, 1942, issue.

Guy R. Lyle has rejoined the Library School faculty this year on leave of absence from his position as librarian of the Woman's College, University of North Carolina, Greensboro, North Carolina. Mr. Lyle taught in the Library School in 1935-36.

Marie M. Hostetter, who is studying at Northwestern University while on leave of absence from the Library School, may be addressed c/o Mrs. Harold Beyer, 1900 Orrington Avenue, Evanston, Illinois.

A book by Dr. Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor of library science, is announced for publication in January by the University of Chicago Press. The title is The Chicago Public Library: Origin and Background. Miss Spencer has an article about Dr. Louis Round Wilson in the October, 1942, issue of Illinois Libraries. In addition to teaching in the Library School, Miss Spencer is now serving as librarian of the Education, Philosophy and Psychology Reading Room of the University Library, to which position she was appointed September 1, succeeding Ida Tod, who retired.

During the past summer Alice Lohrer, instructor in the Library School, taught courses in library science for teacher librarians at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. As chairman of the School Library Service Committee of the Illinois Library Association Planning Board, Miss Lohrer is assisting in the preparation of standards for the training of teacher-librarians in the elementary and secondary schools.

On leave of absence from her position on the Illinois Library School faculty, Mary R. Kinney, M.S.'37, is teaching this year at Simmons College.

Alumni Part in Latin American Cooperation

A number of Library School alumni have been taking a prominent part in the movement for library cooperation with the Latin-American countries. Rudolph H. Gjelsness, B.L.S.'20, chairman of the Department of Library Science at the University of Michigan, and Sarita Robinson, 1917-19, superintendent of the Catalog Department, University of Iowa Libraries, spent the summer of 1942 in Bogota, Colombia, establishing a school for South American librarians. Mr. Gjelsness was co-director of summer courses for librarians at the National Library of Colombia, sponsored by the American Library Association and the Colombian Ministry of Education, and Miss Robinson served on the faculty. Miss Robinson is a member of the advisory committee of the A.L.A. Committee on Library Cooperation with Latin America. Mr. Gjelsness presented a paper on "Education for Librarianship in the United States" before the education and recreation section of the Pan-American Child Congress which met in Washington, D.C., in May, 1942.

Arthur E. Gropp, B.S. in L.S.'30, M.A.'31, librarian of the Middle American Research Institute, Tulane University, is now in Montevideo, Uruguay, to establish and direct a library similar to the recently inaugurated Benjamin Franklin Library in Mexico. Mr. Gropp, who is chairman of the executive committee of the A.L.A. Committee on Library Cooperation with Latin America, was engaged for the work in Uruguay by the American Council of Learned Societies. Mr. Gropp is also a contributing editor on libraries to the annual Handbook of Latin American Studies.

James B. Childs, B.L.S.'21, chief of the Documents Division, Library of Congress, is a contributing editor on government to the Handbook of Latin American Studies, and also serves as advisory editor of the quarterly Inter-American Bibliographical Review. Mr. Childs is the author of numerous bibliographical contributions on the publications of the Latin American countries.

Marion A. Milczewski, B.S. in L.S.'38, M.S.'40, is executive assistant of the "Books for Latin America" project through which books in English by United States authors will be distributed to libraries in other American republics. This project, recently initiated by the American Library Association, has its headquarters in the Library of Congress Annex. Mr. Milczewski was one of the compilers of the American Library Association's mimeographed report issued in 1942 on Latin American Activities of the A.L.A.

Miles O. Price, B.L.S.'22, librarian of Columbia University Law Library, spent some time during the past year in South America collecting law books for his library. Exciting aspects of the return trip on a ship laden with munitions are revealed in excerpts from his diary, printed in Law Library Journal, March, 1942. When other passengers disembarked to return by plane, Mr. Price writes, he "stayed put in the face of a virtual order to go ashore and take my 17 cases of books with me." The risk of his ship's being a target for submarines seemed preferable to that of separation from the volumes after his trouble in collecting them.

Alumni Gatherings

Twenty-one Illinois alumni gathered for a breakfast meeting on October 24, 1942, during the Ohio Library Association Conference in Columbus, Ohio. Margaret Oldfather, B.S.'27, M.A.'32, cataloger at Ohio State University, sent in the following list of those present:

Eleanor Peterson,'40, assistant, Sociology Division, Cleveland Public Library; Frances E. Elliott,'39, cataloger, Ohio State University, Columbus; Else Newcomer,'39, librarian, Herrick Memorial Library, Wellington; Mildred Sloane,'39, county librarian, Mansfield; Effie Abraham,'21, head of the Catalog Department, Toledo Public Library; Margaret Oldfather,'27, cataloger, Ohio State University Library, Columbus; Elizabeth Wilson, head, Catalog Department Public Library, Cincinnati; Sally Spencer Patton,'37, bibliographer, Ohio State University Library, Columbus; Howard B. Sohn,'20, librarian, Public Library, Alliance; Elsie Hennegar,'36, reference librarian, Akron University Library; Ena Oertli,'18, cataloging reviser, Ohio State University Library, Columbus; Gladyce E. Scott,'29, librarian in charge of binding, Ohio State University Library, Columbus; Ruth Heiss,'33, assistant state supervisor, Work's Project Administration, Columbus, Ohio; Paul Knapp,'42, head, Technology Department, Toledo Public Library; Mildred Stewart,'39, technical librarian, Public Library, Cleveland; Marguerite Mitchell, librarian, Wilmington College, Wilmington; Mary Helen James,'31, librarian, Western College, Oxford; Helen Louise Edmondson,'27, librarian, College of Education, Ohio State University, Columbus; Harold Walter Batchellor,'33, M.S.'37, librarian, Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea; Mrs. Mary W. Crumrine,'35, librarian, Otterbein College, Westerville; and Gertrude M. Cordts,'39, librarian, Public Library, Bryan.

On October 22, after the first general conference session of the Illinois Library Association, presided over by Arnold H. Trotier, B.S.'26, M.A.'32, president of the organization, about thirty Illinois alumni met in the Illini Center rooms at the Hotel LaSalle to renew acquaintances. Wilma Troxel, B.S.'27, M.A.'32, presided over an informal meeting at which Ida Tod, B.S.'22, spoke of the plans being made by the Fiftieth Anniversary Committee of which she is chairman. Director Carl White, who later presented one of the principal addresses of the conference, reported briefly on the current developments of the Library School.

While studying at the University of Michigan last summer, Rose B. Phelps had luncheon with the following alumnae who were also studying there: Eudocia Stratton, B.S.'37; Bernice Field, B.S.'30; Esther M. Hile, B.S.'30; Elizabeth Findley, B.S.'34, and Frances Burrage, B.S.'30.

Alumni With the Army and Navy

Hollis Barton, B.S.'40, is librarian at Camp Crowder, Missouri.

After completing an intensive training course in naval communications Ensign Frank J. Bertalan, Jr., B.S.'39, was assigned to teach communications to the WAVE's at Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts.

Camp librarian at Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky, is Bonnie Linda Bennett, formerly employed at the East Branch of the Evansville, Indiana, Public Library.

George B. Brown, B.S.'37, A.M.'40, who has been promoted to captain is now stationed at Camp Hulén, Texas, where he is with the Coast Artillery Anti-aircraft.

Joseph B. Grubb, B.S.'42, was inducted into the army on September 19, 1942, and is now located at Camp Grant, Illinois.

Robert W. Kidder, B.S.'41, who resigned his position at the University of Illinois to join the army is in the U. S. Army Signal Corps, School of Cryptography, Warrenton, Virginia. In a letter written in August he comments on the adaptability of college men and their retention of a sense of humor and perspective.

Mrs. Richard Laking, the former Charlene E. King, now has a position in the Naval Training Station Library at Great Lakes, Illinois.

On October 20, 1942, Charles R. Knapp, B.S.'40, joined the Air Corps at Chanute Field, Illinois. He is on military leave from his position as assistant in the Law Library of the University of Illinois.

Joe Walker Kraus, B.S.'39, A.M.'41, until recently in charge of the Seven-day Book Room at the University of Illinois Library, is now in the Army Signal Service. His address is: Pvt. Joe W. Kraus, 855th Signal Service Co., Scott Field, Illinois.

Ralph McComb, B.S.'32, M.S.'36, who until late summer was working for his doctorate at the University of Chicago, is now in the army. During October he was on maneuvers near Leesville, Louisiana.

Martha Lagrone, B.S.'40, writes that she is enjoying her work at Camp Forrest, Tennessee.

Lois Martin, B.S.'37, formerly at the Illinois State Library, Springfield, Illinois, has accepted a position as librarian at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

Resigning her position as librarian of the Training High School Library at Bowling Green, Kentucky, Martha Orendorf, B.S.'40, became camp librarian at Camp Campbell, Kentucky.

The address of Pvt. Fred B. Oxtoby, B.S.'40, is Recruit Reception Center, Headquarters Co., Bldg. 436, Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

Since September 19, 1942, Ruth E. Paul, B.S.'40, has been a member of the WAAC's. She resigned from her temporary position at the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College at Charleston, Illinois, in order to join.

Ruby Porter, B.S.'42, librarian at Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado, may be addressed at #105, 1180 Sherman Street, Denver, Colorado.

After the middle of November, 1942, Corporal Gordon E. Randall, B.S.'39, will have as his address Hdq. Co. A.P.O. 80, Camp Forrest, Tennessee. Previous to joining the army he was junior librarian in charge of the Chattanooga Branch of TVA Technical Library. For a time this fall he was stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky.

After a twelve weeks officers' candidates course at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, Thomas E. Ratcliffe, Jr., B.S.'40, was commissioned second lieutenant in August and word has just been received that he has now been promoted to first lieutenant. He is now stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina where his address is Hq. 2nd Bn., 1st Regt., FARTC.

Granted a military leave of absence from his position in the Order Department of the University of Illinois Library when he joined the Navy last summer, de Lafayette Reid, Jr., B.S.'40, is now a Pharmacists mate 2nd class stationed at a new Navy hospital in Sampson, New York. He was named one of the honor men in his training class at Great Lakes Training Station. His address is de Lafayette Reid, Jr., Ph. M2/c Barracks B-15, U.S.N.T.S., Sampson, N. Y.

A letter from Rolland Stevens, B.S.'40, on military leave from his position as order assistant in the University of Illinois Library, tells of his arduous Pre-Radar course being given in Chicago by the Signal Service of the U.S. War Department. Until about the middle of December, 1942, he and Mrs. Stevens are located at 23 East 73d St., Chicago, Ill.

Sibyl Tubbs, B.S.'33, Seventh Service Command Librarian, Omaha, Nebraska, presented a paper on "Libraries in Camp" at the Nebraska Library Association's convention held in Omaha early in October.

News of the Classes

Class of 1904

The Library School Office has recently been notified of the death of Edna Hopkins Slutes (Mrs. Merrill Clark Slutes).

Class of 1910

Betty H. Pritchett, 1909-10, retired on October 1 as librarian of the Coe College Library, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Class of 1914

Stella B. Galpin Trowbridge died on August 26, 1942, at Yonkers, New York. She had been in ill health for about a year. Mrs. Trowbridge was, before her marriage, a member of the University of Illinois Library staff and had always been one of our most enthusiastic and loyal alumnae. She had maintained an active interest in the profession, and at the Milwaukee meeting of the Association was elected one of the trustees of the scholarship endowment fund. Mrs. Trowbridge was an active community leader in Yonkers and a member of many organizations.

Class of 1916

Class of 1917

In the Wilson Bulletin for April, 1942, Ruth Hammond, librarian of the Wichita, Kansas, City Library, is the subject of a biographical sketch entitled "A Civilized Librarian." Mention is made that Miss Hammond has completed four years as chairman of the A.L.A. Public Relations Committee, and that she was author and director of the Wichita motion picture film, "The Newcomes Visit the Library."

Class of 1919

Among the many important bibliographical contributions of Dorothy E. Cook, is the new Fiction Catalog issued by the H. W. Wilson Company this fall. As one of the leading editors of the firm Miss Cook has been at work on this publication for the past four or five years. She has served as joint editor of the Standard Catalog for Public Libraries, 1940 ed., the Children's Catalog, 6th ed., 1941, and the Standard Catalog for High School Libraries, 3d ed., 1937, and supplements.

Class of 1920

Treasurer of A.L.A. for 1941-42, is Rudolph H. Gjelsness.

Class of 1922

Fanny Coldren is A.L.A. Councillor representing the Association of College and Reference Libraries.

Ida Tod was honored by her friends of the Library staff, the College of Education, and the Departments of Philosophy and Psychology of the University of Illinois at a dinner at the University Women's Club, Urbana, on May 20, 1942. The occasion was her prospective retirement, September 1, 1942, after twenty years as librarian of the Education, Philosophy and Psychology Reading Room of the University of Illinois Library. After informal speeches by members of the various departments represented, a wrist watch was presented to Miss Tod as evidence of the appreciation felt by her colleagues for the efficient service and gracious personality which have characterized her dealings with them. Miss Tod is continuing to make her home at 908 Nevada, Urbana, and is busy during the current year with her duties as president for a second term of the University Women's Club. She is serving as chairman of the committee planning the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration of the Library School.

Class of 1923

Jessie A. Reid Spencer is now living at 2572 North Fair Oaks Avenue, Altadena, California.

Class of 1926

The Division of Cataloging and Classification will be represented on the A.L.A. Council for 1942-43 by Frances Ambuhl, A.M.'28.

M. Lois Crouch, A.M.'30, is president of the Nebraska Library Association for 1942-43.

Class of 1927

Dorothy Moyer Halmos has resigned as librarian of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, and is now living at 909 West California Street, Urbana, Illinois, with her husband, Paul Halmos, who is an associate in mathematics at the University of Illinois.

Class of 1928

Mary E. Bradt recently resigned as cataloger of the Bureau of Reference and Research in Government, University of Michigan Library, Ann Arbor, Michigan, to become cataloger at Oberlin College Library, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ross L. Crigler, who attended summer sessions in 1926, 1927, and 1928, is now librarian of the Cape Girardeau, Missouri, Public Library.

As assistant librarian, Zoological Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, Mildred A. Doss has been collaborating in the compilation of the Index-Catalogue of Medical and Veterinary Zoology. Her name appears on the title page of parts 2-6, published 1938-1942, of this valuable bibliographical tool issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Class of 1929

Greetings From the President

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Do you know that 1943 marks the 50th Anniversary of the founding of our Library School? May I tell you that I consider it an honor to serve as your president during this year. Since there will not be the regular Annual Conference scheduled for Toronto in 1943, please plan to come to Urbana next March for our celebration as planned by the 50th Anniversary Committee.

Your officers have another goal for this year. It is sponsoring a closer organization of the alumni. We should know each other better and we should know more about the interests and needs of our professional school. We propose to do this first by classes and second by regional groups.

May we urge those who have been asked to serve as class representatives to contact each member as soon as possible. That is your business! Please show us and the members of your class that you are the best representative they could select and that your class has "school spirit." We likewise urge those who have been asked to contact alumni in your locale or region to do everything possible to bring together those alumni.

From each of our 2,500 alumni we ask that you contribute news and dues to your Alumni Association which has been organized since 1898. Surely we are worthy of at least one news item and $1.00 a year. Have you contributed your share? Our slogan this year—NEWS AND DUES FROM EVERY ALUMNUS!!

Sincerely,

DOROTHY J. HILL

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

Downs Named Director

THE APPOINTMENT OF ROBERT B. DOWNS AS Director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School, effective September 1, is announced just as the News Letter is going to press. A native of North Carolina, Mr. Downs comes to Illinois from New York University, where he has been Director of the Libraries since 1938. Previous to that time he was University Librarian, Chairman of the Administrative Board of the Library and Library School, and Professor of Library Science at the University of North Carolina, a position he assumed in 1932. Mr. Downs served as librarian of Colby College, 1929-1931. He has also had experience on the staffs of the Columbia University Libraries and the New York Public Library. He holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees, 1927 and 1929 respectively, from Columbia University School of Library Service.

ROBERT B. DOWNS

During the past year Mr. Downs has been teaching a course in college and university library administration at Columbia University. The new Director is a member of the Council of the American Library Association and served as president of the Association of College and Reference Libraries, 1940-1941.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Mr. Downs has made a very considerable contribution to the literature of his profession through the authorship or editorship of such volumes as Resources of New York City Libraries, Resources of Southern Libraries, Union Catalogs in the United States, Guide for the Description and Evaluation of Research Materials and Library Specialization,—all published by the American Library Association.

In a publication on American Humor issued in 1938 by the University of North Carolina press, Mr. Downs collaborated with his wife, the former Elizabeth Crooks, who was herself a librarian. The Downs have two children, both girls, aged eight and five.

The faculty of the Library School and the staff of the University Library are happy to welcome Mr. Downs and his family to the University of Illinois campus. In view of his wide experience in libraries and of the high esteem in which he is held in library circles, the University, the alumni, and the profession look forward to continued progress under his leadership.

Director White Resigns

WITH REGRET THE NEWS LETTER ANNOUNCES the resignation of Dr. Carl M. White, Director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School, who will leave during the summer, to take over his new post as Director of Libraries and Dean of the School of Library Service at Columbia University, New York City. In accepting his new position Dr. White returns to the school from which he received his degree of B.S. in L.S. in 1934.

Following his graduation from Columbia he was librarian and professor of philosophy at Fisk University from 1934 to 1938. The next two years he was chairman of the Division of Library and Library School at the University of North Carolina. He is a graduate of Oklahoma Baptist University and received a master's degree in 1928 at Mercer University. In 1933 he received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Cornell University.

Under his leadership the Uni-

versity of Illinois Library and Library School have advanced along the sound lines fostered by Director P. L. Windsor whom he succeeded upon the latter's retirement in September 1940. This advancement has been indicated in the preliminary report of the Survey recently made at the University by the American Council on Education, which credits the library with improved services and collections in the past decade. Dr. White was one of the few executives cited in the Survey of Business Administration and Organization of the University of Illinois conducted by the firm of Booz, Fry, Allen and Hamilton, as doing "noticeably satisfactory administrative" work. More specifically the survey states that those cited are "doing an excellent job of planning and establishing objectives and an excellent job of directing and controlling their own efforts and those of their subordinates so as to achieve the objectives established."

Director White has wide professional recognition as evidenced by the many responsible positions he now holds, such as the chairmanship of the Policies Committee of the Association of College and Reference Libraries, editorship of College and Research Libraries and membership on the Executive Board of the American Library Association. He has brought to the profession a vision of librarianship as "a career of the human mind."

Both Mrs. White and the two daughters, Sherril and Caroline, as well as Dr. White, have made many friends in the University of Illinois community who will join with alumni, Library School faculty, and the library staff in wishing them success and happiness in the new position.

Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration

The fiftieth anniversary of the Library School was observed on the University of Illinois campus in connection with the seventy-fifth anniversary of the opening of the University, on March 2, 1943, at a dinner in the Illini Union. The affair was informal, with buffet style service because of the shortage of student waiters. One hundred and sixty-three members of the Library School faculty and student body, Library staff, and others attended, including twenty-four alumni from out of town.

Anne M. Boyd served as toastmaster, introducing as speakers Director Emeritus P. L. Windsor; Anita Hostetter, B.L.S.'20, secretary of the A.L.A. Board of Education for Librarianship; Director Carl M. White; and Assistant Director Emerita Frances Simpson. In the course of her address Miss Simpson introduced four visiting alumnae representing some of the earlier classes of the Library School: Mary Josephine Booth, B.L.S.'04, librarian of Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, Charleston, Illinois; Anna V. Jennings, B.L.S.'03 and Anna May Price, B.L.S.'00, both of Lincoln, Nebraska; and Ida F. Wright, B.L.S.'04, librarian of the Evanston, Illinois, Public Library.

The addresses given at the dinner will appear in a volume devoted to the Library School's golden anniversary observance which the University has generously agreed to publish. Other addresses prepared for the occasion by speakers who would have appeared on the program, had not war conditions interfered with the carrying out of original plans for a full day's celebration, will also appear in this publication which will be distributed to alumni, library schools, and others.

Josie B. Houchens, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Library School Association, read greetings from alumni throughout the country. Dorothy J. Hill, president of the Library School Association, sent congratulations and expressed regret that travel restrictions and pressing war work made it necessary to cancel her plans to attend the Urbana dinner. Messages were received from the following alumni who observed the anniversary at dinner gatherings in their own communities:

Cincinnati, Ohio: Elizabeth E. Wilson, Gertrude Wulfekoetter, Esther Ellis, Margaret C. Rehring, Sarah Evins, Elizabeth Chambers, Alice B. Coy, Anita Gorius, Viola Wallace, Alice Hambleton Hall, and Marjorie Lee Jackson.

Cleveland, Ohio: Mildred Stewart, Helen Hefling, Mary Ellen Biery Cole, Eleanor Peterson, Harold W. Batchelor, Leela Smith Jurkanin, and Ruth M. Heiss.

Columbus, Ohio: Bertha M. Schneider, H. Louise Edmonson, Louise A. Jencks, Ena Oertli, Charles J. Boorkman, Sally Spencer Patton, Ruth Hess, Clarene Dorsey, Ruth R. Boorkman, E. Louise Lewis, K. Thelma Sowers, Mildred E. Phalor, Frances E. Elliott, and Margaret Oldfather.

Detroit, Michigan: Adam Strohm, Rae Elizabeth Rips, Mabel L. Conat, Emma Jane Gammell, Ruth L. Jackson, Elleine H. McLellan Stones, Else M. Kelly, Helen M. Crane, Margaret M. Henkel, Anne Tarrington, Zoe M. Tucker, Ernest I. Miller, Anne Kovanda, Ruth Shaftoe, Grace A. England, Harriet Brazier, and Dorothy Kersten.

Lincoln, Nebraska: Ruby C. Wilder, Marie L. McKee, Ruth Long Siefkes, Jessie Robertson, Lillian L. Ekblad, Olsie M. Anderson, and Mignon Almy.

Washington, D. C.: Irma L. Swank, Helen V. Barnes, Florence Williams, Paul S. Dunkin, Major Carl Welchner, Eugene H. Wilson, Lieutenant Robert E. Scudder, Eleanor Ross, Grace Barnes, Dorothy V. Martin, and Dorothy J. Hill.

From Pasadena, California, a message came from Joanna Hagey, Ella S. Campbell, Dora Dixon Jones, Grace E. Switzer, Abby Brayton Ruediger, Willard O. Waters, and Jeannette M. Drake, who met at tea in observance of the anniversary.

Other localities from which groups of alumni sent greetings were:

Iowa City, Iowa: Lillie Cilley, Ellen Schocke Cockrill, Lois Cowgill, Romaine R. Damaske, Ruth Dipboye, Emma Felsenthal, Nina A. Frohwein, Luanna G. Hall, Bertha Hughes, Edith McKerrow, Helene Miller, Anna M. O'Donnell, Aletha B. Rednan, Sarita Robinson, Edna June Shenton, Irene Steidl, Bessie G. Tressler, Patricia Warner, and Grace Van Wormer.

Manhattan, Kansas: A. B. Smith, Grace Derby, Gladys V. Baker, Martha R. Cullipher, Elizabeth H. Davis, Mary Graham, Mary E. Hoff, Mary Eileen Roberts, and Mildred Camp.

Oxford, Ohio: Mary Helen James and Nellie F. Finch.

Saginaw, Michigan: Beatrice Prall, Helen Clears, Irene Mischler, Fern Milles, Vega M. Buchholz, Frances Hinrichsen, and Harriet Brazier.

San Jose, California: Jeannette Vander Ploeg, Reva Nearhood, and Eunice Speer.

New York State alumni present at a tea held on February 28 at Columbia University sent greetings through Helen Geer.

Greetings from the alumni at the Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stillwater, Oklahoma, were sent by Grace A. Campbell; from the alumni of Connecticut, Delaware, and Rhode Island by Marion Van Sickle Hendricks; from those of Corvallis, Oregon, by Ruth Krueger; from those of DeKalb, Illinois, by Katherine Walker; and from the Folwell Club, University of Minnesota, by Phyllis Mansfield.

Individual messages were received from Eugenia Allin, James Millikin University, Decatur, Illinois; Elizabeth Bryan, University of California at Los Angeles; Pauline Calendine, University of Idaho, Moscow; Mary Clay, Northeast Junior College, Monroe, Louisiana; Carlyle Morris, Public Library, Chicago, Illinois; Ina Stout, University of Idaho Southern Branch, Pocatello; Phianna Suttin, University of Wyoming, Laramie; Frank K. Walter, University of Minnesota.

It is impossible to reproduce here all the messages, which were greatly appreciated by the Library School faculty and others gathered at Urbana. Some referred to the value of particular phases of the Library School work in subsequent professional activities. Others mentioned specifically the instructors from whom the authors of the greetings had derived inspiration. The general spirit of appreciation of the School's past and confidence in the future which characterized all is admirably expressed in the message from one gathering:

"This little group of librarians—alumni all—cherish with gratitude the years spent at the University of Illinois to fit ourselves for a useful life. In this hour we join other alumni in toasting the past. We salute the distinguished leadership and the long roster of able educators of our Alma Mater. In honoring its traditions we greet the future in confidence and good will."

Present Officers Continue

Due to the fact that there will be no annual meeting of the University of Illinois Library School Association this year, the present officers will hold over. The constitution provides that the Association's annual meeting shall be held during the American Library Association convention. Since the latter organization has cancelled its convention plans due to war conditions the regular meeting of the Illinois Library School Association is automatically cancelled.

According to Article V of the constitution the officers "shall be elected at each annual meeting and shall continue in office until the adjournment of the meeting at which their successors are elected." Thus the following officers will continue in their present positions:

EXECUTIVE BOARD

President—Dorothy J. Hill, National Archives, Washington, D. C.

First Vice-President—Mary E. Silverthorn, Library School, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario, Canada

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR McDIARMID RESIGNS

The resignation of E. W. McDiarmid, assistant director of the Library School, has just been announced. Dr. McDiarmid will assume his new post of University librarian and director of the Division of Library Instruction at the University of Minnesota about September 1, 1943.

Dr. McDiarmid joined the Illinois staff as associate in Library Science in 1937. In 1941 he became assistant professor and the following year was made assistant director of the Library School.

In going to Minnesota Dr. McDiarmid assumes the directorship of a state university library second in size only to that of Illinois. He succeeds Frank K. Walter, who is retiring after twenty-two years as head of the Minnesota library.

Dr. McDiarmid is the author of The Library Survey, published by the American Library Association in 1940, and has collaborated in various other professional publications. His recently completed study, Public Library Administration, is to be published shortly as the third volume of the University of Illinois Contributions to Librarianship. He has been associate editor since 1941 of College and Research Libraries and has contributed to many professional periodicals. He serves as chairman of the A.L.A. Constitution and By-Laws Committee.

During his short time as assistant director, Dr. McDiarmid has made an intensive study of the Library School curriculum and of the problems of placement. As a result of the latter he has inaugurated a new scientific system of records.

To quote Director White: "Illinois has been Dr. McDiarmid's proving ground. He has come through magnificently and this step forward is fitting recognition of that fact. Illinois is proud to have had a part in his career."

The good wishes of the Library School faculty, the Library staff, and alumni go with Dr. McDiarmid and his family to Minnesota.

FACULTY NOTES

Planning for postwar foreign library service is at present a special concern of Director White, who acts as advisor to the A.L.A. Board of Education for Librarianship for a study devoted to this subject. Dr. White served as chairman of the Conference of Middle Western Research Libraries held at the University of Chicago in January to discuss cooperation between such libraries. Alumni who attended the conference were Kanardy L. Taylor of the John Crerar Library, Jackson E. Towne of the Michigan State College Library, and Grace Van Wormer of the State University of Iowa Library.

"Changes in organization at the University of Illinois Library" is the subject of an article by Dr. White in the December, 1942, issue of College and Research Libraries. His discussion of "The battle of the books" appears in the January 1943 issue of Illinois Libraries.

Director emeritus Windsor delivered the address at the annual Honors Day convocation at the University of Illinois, May 1, 1943. His subject was "Books and the Studious Life." Dr. Windsor is serving as chairman of the A.L.A. Committee on Council Terms of Office. As a member of the Advisory Committee of the Illinois State Library, Dr. Windsor attended the regional library institutes on war and postwar issues held in April in Chicago and St. Louis. Other faculty members attending the St. Louis conference were Professor Anne M. Boyd and Alice Lohrer.

The eightieth birthday anniversary, May 18, of Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, was marked by many alumni and other friends. She was guest of honor at a dinner for fourteen given on Sunday, May 16, at the University Women's Club, Urbana, by Emma R. Jutton, loan librarian, and Alice S. Johnson, reference librarian. Members of the Woman's Guild of the Episcopal Chapel, of which Miss Simpson is a member, entertained her at luncheon, May 18. The same evening Miss Simpson was a dinner guest in the home of Director White and Mrs. White.

Miss Simpson also received many greetings from alumni, to whom she sends the following message in reply:

1108 South Lincoln Avenue
Urbana, Illinois

To the Alumni of the Illinois Library School:

With the kind permission of the editors of the News Letter, I am taking this opportunity of acknowledging with grateful appreciation the many tokens of friendship and good-will which have been reaching me during the last few days. When I add that they have numbered over one hundred, my inability to send individual personal replies will be easily understood.

I wish I could feel that I deserve all the tributes which my friends have expressed, but that I fear would not be quite true; however, I am human enough to be glad that they think I do!

On this my eightieth birthday, may I wish for all my Library School friends as long, and as happy, and as interesting a life as has been my good fortune to experience, and as wonderful a celebration for the completion of four score years as has just been granted to me. Certainly I am a lucky woman!

Cordially your friend,

FRANCES SIMPSON

The important Finance Committee of the A.L.A. is under the chairmanship of Professor Anne M. Boyd who likewise represents this committee on the Budget Committee.

Professor Ethel Bond attended a conference of the Special Committee on Technical Processes and Book Buying held in Chicago in January.

Marie Hostetter, who is on leave of absence for study at Northwestern University, made a brief visit to the campus in March to attend the fiftieth anniversary celebration.

The Publications Committee of the Association of College and Reference Libraries is under the chairmanship of Guy R. Lyle. Mr. Lyle's discussion of "The Reference Function in the College Library" given at the University of Chicago Institute for Librarians last summer appears in the volume The Reference Function of the Library recently issued by the University of Chicago under the editorship of Pierce Butler.

John Herrold Lancaster has been appointed assistant professor of Library Science and will take over the courses in administration at the beginning of the 1943 fall term. Since 1939 he has been librarian at Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio. Before that he was director of student teaching at the same college and has had teaching experience in various high schools in the state of Ohio. Professor Lancaster was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1920, received his M.A. at Ohio State University in 1926. In June 1941 he was awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree by Columbia University and in October of the same year received his B.S. in L.S. degree from the Columbia University School of Library Service. He is author of The Use of the Library by Student Teachers (Teachers College, Columbia University, Contribution to Education, no. 849). Professor Lancaster is married and has two sons.

Mary R. Kinney has resigned her position as instructor in the University of Illinois Library School to accept an appointment as assistant professor of library science at Simmons College, Boston, Massachusetts. Miss Kinney has been on leave of absence from the University of Illinois during the past year while teaching at Simmons.

Summer Session

The University of Illinois Library School summer session of eight weeks started June 14, with the following faculty:

Carl M. White, director, University of Illinois Library and Library School
Errett W. McDiarmid, assistant director, University of Illinois Library School
Ethel Bond, associate professor, University of Illinois Library School
Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor, University of Illinois Library School
Mildred E. Singleton, associate, University of Illinois Library School
G. Flint Purdy, librarian, Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan
Irene M. Doyle, assistant librarian, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin
Winifred B. Linderman, librarian, Garden City High School, New York City
Ada M. Wood, librarian, Lake Forest Public Schools, Lake Forest, Illinois
Lura E. Crawford, librarian, Gage Park High School, Chicago, Illinois
Stephen McCarthy, director, University of Nebraska Library, Lincoln, Nebraska
Frank A. Lundy, fellow, University of Chicago Graduate Library School, Chicago, Illinois

Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship for 1943-44 has been awarded to Miss Ethelyn Markley, head cataloger, University of Alabama Library. Miss Markley is a graduate of Oklahoma College for Women with the A.B. degree in 1927, and of the University of Oklahoma, School of Library Science with the degree of A.B. in L.S., 1931. Miss Markley's experience in library work has been varied and includes work in Wagoner High School Library, Muskogee Public Library, Wewoka Public Library, Louisiana State University Library, Tulane University Library, and the University of Alabama Libraries.

Miss Markley was awarded the scholarship by the Graduate School of the University of Illinois upon recommendation of the Faculty of the Library School. She will begin her work at Illinois in the Fall of 1943.

You Can Help

There is a rapidly increasing shortage of trained librarians for beginning positions. In consequence many libraries have found it difficult (sometimes impossible) to fill such positions. Some libraries have been called upon for extra services, and have had to undertake these services with no additional staff, even with a reduced staff. Although beginning salaries have been increasing, the demand is greater than the supply.

Each librarian has two opportunities to help relieve this situation. The first is by faithfully performing one's duties to the best of one's ability. We may individually and collectively be able to help "take up some of the slack" left by vacancies.

The second opportunity for each librarian to help is by encouraging promising students to prepare themselves for librarianship. Library schools generally are equipped to train many more students than they have had either in 1941-42, or in 1942-43. Larger library school classes in 1943-44 will not solve 1943's problems but they will greatly help in 1944. We should begin now before it is too late. Otherwise it seems likely to be another story of too little and too late.

In encouraging students to enter librarianship, several points may prove helpful.

1. Libraries have been recognized as rendering important services in wartime by such persons as President Roosevelt; John W. Studebaker, Commissioner of Education; and Elmer Davis, Director of OWI.
2. Beginning salaries have been increasing, the amounts varying with particular localities.
3. Librarianship offers an opportunity for important services of education and information.
4. Librarianship offers opportunity for promising young people to prepare now for a career.

The success with which librarianship meets the challenge ahead will depend directly upon each individual's effort. If each Illini talked to one prospect and encouraged her to consider library service, these recruits from the college graduating classes of 1944 would aid very materially in alleviating the present shortage of qualified librarians for beginning positions.

Library Reports Wanted

The Library School is endeavoring to build up files of library reports, handbooks, and staff manuals. Alumni can assist by checking to see that their own libraries have placed the University Library on the mailing list for such publications.

Staff manuals, directions prepared for student assistants, handbooks of all types, as well as annual reports, are especially useful. If annual reports are only in typed form, the School would appreciate carbon copies for the files. We wish also to have statements of book selection policies from all types of libraries. If your library has such a statement of policy, we should appreciate a copy. School and special libraries, as well as public and college libraries, are asked to send such material.

Address copies to the Library School Library, University of Illinois Library, Urbana.

Postwar Planning Institutes

The A.L.A. sponsored a local institute on War and Postwar Planning in each state. Such institutes were held in the spring of 1943 and the following alumni were in charge of the institutes held in their respective states.

Vera Snook, M.A.'12, librarian, Public Library, Little Rock, Arkansas

Lena B. Nofcier, B.S.'28, director, Library Extension Division, State Department of Library and Archives, Frankfort, Kentucky

Lee F. Zimmerman, B.S.'27, director of libraries, State Department of Education, St. Paul, Minnesota

Martha M. Parks, B.S.'27, director, School Libraries Division, State Department of Education, Nashville, Tennessee

Mrs. Gretchen Knief Schenk, B.S.'30, librarian, State Library, Olympia, Washington

Pearl Jean Sneed, B.S.'35, executive secretary, State Library Commission, Jackson, Mississippi

Twenty-one centers were designated for regional institutes and two of these were headed by Illinois alumnae:

Ola M. Wyeth, B.L.S.'06, librarian, Public Library, Savannah, Georgia; chairman, Atlanta center

Ruth E. Hammond, B.L.S.'17, librarian, City Library, Wichita, Kansas; chairman, Topeka center.

Alumni in Armed Forces and War Work

Information given in the following listings is the latest available. Changes in status of those in military service are of great interest to fellow alumni and the editors will appreciate recent news for future publication. The latest address of each person is also given when known.

As the News Letter goes to press word has come that the University of Illinois Press will publish the survey of the Library School as the second in the newly inaugurated series "University of Illinois Contributions to Librarianship." The survey, made by a committee consisting of Andrew D. Osborn, John Dale Russell, and Keyes D. Metcalf, Chairman, was made possible by a grant of funds from the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The report is in two parts. Part I entitled "The Program of Instruction in Library Schools" is devoted to the study of professional education for librarianship in the broadest sense; Part II, the section devoted specifically to recommendations for the University of Illinois Library School, will not be published as it is only of local interest.
